Central Y Plans New Arts Series

Columbus women will be given a chance to participate in an exciting series of arts programs at the Central YWCA, beginning Sept. 26.

Mrs. Trent Smith, general chairman for the program, has announced topics to be covered include fine arts, creative arts, music, dance, yoga, creative writing and culinary art.

The opening series, which begins Sept. 26, will be a series of eight workshops for learning how to create unique objects for Christmas or home decor. Mrs. Richard Sherman will conduct the workshops.

Mrs. Roswell Keller and Mrs. Gerald Donahue are in charge of planning the second of the series — a comprehensive course of seven lectures on fine arts. Guest lecturers will be: Mahonri Young, director of the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts; Harrold McWhinnie, professor of art at OSU; David Hysell, professor of art at OSU.'

The art of listening to music is the subject of the third series of courses which has been planned by Mrs. George Heer and Mrs. Fullerton Miller. Evan Whallon, conductor of the Columbus Symphony Orchestra will be the guest lecturer for this series.

A six-week course in dance has been planned by Mrs. Walter Reckless and Mrs. Donald Vincent.

There will also be a course in creative writing conducted by Mrs. Franklin Trannett, Mrs. William Carlile and Mrs. Joan Fulton.

There will be limited registration for each of the courses. A minimum fee will be charged. Details of registration can be secured from the YWCA, 224-9121.

Alcoholic Inmate Supervision Needed

The need for increasing medical supervision of alcohol inmates was tragically illustrated last week by the death of a man serving a 20-day sentence in the Workhouse for intoxication.

Joseph Fultz, 39, died last Tuesday after he was found unconscious and barely breathing in his cell at the Workhouse.

Acting Superintendent Walter Kraft said the Workhouse has no facilities for dealing with such cases.

"We don't even have a padded cell to put them in," Kraft said.

The acting superintendent declared all Workhouse officials can do is give medication, in this case the drug Thorazine — a tranqualizing sedative.

Kraft also said that personnel problems at the Columbus State Hospital have affected Workhouse programs.

"Last year we would occasionally send some there—but we had them sent back in a couple of days. They've got a problem at the State Hospital and it will take money to get the personnel."

Kraft added that the Workhouse was trying to correct problems. He said there was an opening for a male nurse there, who could take care of alcoholics.

Meanwhile, some progress has been reported on a research study of the problems of the chronic alcoholic offender and alternatives for coping with this question.

The study, authorized by the Ohio Department of Health and the Ohio Crime Commission, is being conducted by a team of specialists from Battelle Memorial Institute's Columbus Laboratories and from its Urban Studies Center in Cleveland.

Two key members of the team—Dr. Edward Truitt, an alcoholism and drug expert, and Dr. H. A. Hovey, economist—both said the team is progressing in its research.

Dr. Hovey said the study revolves around the cost of the existing system.

"What the current system costs us as a society—this is the question," Dr. Hovey remarked.

He added that many experts think they see better ways of doing things, but these ways involve money.

The study will highlight alternatives, some of which stress medical treatment and rehabilitation of the alcoholic rather than putting him in jail for short terms.

300 State Employes Hit The Books Again

September is not only the time when school-age children return to the classroom, but also time for 300 state employes to start hitting the books again.

For some of the employes who are enrolled in the courses sponsored by the State Personnel Department it will be the first time they have been inside a classroom in some time — for others it will be an old story.

The State Personnel Department has been sponsoring a series of continuing, job-related training courses which are designed among other things to improve the skills of state employes.

The classes are open to state employes from Central Ohio on a first-come, first-served basis. Employes attend the tuition-free classes on their own time, though occasionally a small charge is made for a course-related paperback book or supplies.

This fall 10 different subjects are being offered. The initial session for one class was Sept. 3, with the other scheduled to start between now and Oct. 2.

Specialists in various fields are recruited from both private industry and government to serve as instructors. William H. Hunt, employe development specialist at the Defense Supply Construction Center, is teaching classes in human relations, effective listening and creative problem solving.

Other instructors and their classroom topics include: William W. Moore, personnel administrator for State Automobile Mutual Insurance Co., the role of mental attitude in personal and occupational achievement; Thomas J. Schlueb, Central High School counselor and English teacher, report and letter writing.

Charles Thompson, head of the reading center for the Columbus Board of Education, rapid reading skills; Ross A. Barr, West High School teacher and coordinator of the Cooperative Office Education program, office practices.

Also John J. Moglia, DCSC employe development specialist, work simplification; George E. Garrison, supervisor of federal programs for the State Department of Education, first aid; and Wesley Y. Harris, Jr., supervisor of special services for the State Bureau of Vocational Rehabilitation, Afro-American Contributions in the Development of America.

New Citizens Welcomed By Dr. Yochum

Dr. Harold Yochum, president of Capital University, will speak to the newly naturalized citizens of Central Ohio on Sunday, Sept. 15, at 3 p.m. at the downtown YWCA.

The topic of his speech will be By "Mutual Choice and Consent."

The program and reception is sponsored by the Citizenship Committee of Columbus, Inc., an organization which has for 30 years befriended and assisted naturalized citizens.

Among the newly naturalized citizens to be honored are Dr. Hasip Temizer from Istanbul, Turkey, medical director at the Columbus State Hospital; Mr. and Mrs. Jose Gutierrez and Miriam Gutierrez who were among the first Cuban refugees to come to the United State. Guiterrez is an analytical chemist and his wife a medical technologist. Gutierrez' sister Miriam is an IBM operator and will speak briefly about life under Communism.

The public is invited to attend.

The beautifully equipped dental lab where students are trained as dental assistants was the scene of a little instant horseplay when Dr. Beryl Shoemaker, director of Vocational Education for the State of Ohio, without warning assumed the role of "patient" at Eastland last week. With equal alacrity, "Dr." J. W. Fulton picked up his cue—and the tools of his trade. In more serious moments, Fulton, a member of the governor's Task Force serves as general office manager of the Addressograph Multigraph Corporation in Cleveland. Inside The Spectator are other pictures taken at the recent Eastland tour.

WAY PAVED FOR SUBDIVISION

Winchester Council To Ease Engineering Specifications

Amending of the Canal Winchester ordinance governing street construction paved the way this week for the subdivision on Gender Road planned by developer Jim Young of Groveport.

The amendment authorizes, in areas where city water and sewer is not yet available, for streets to be constructed without curbs and gutters. (However, their construction becomes mandatory when trunk lines are extended).

MAYOR MIKE MILLER expressed the opinion that such legislation is desirable as the rigidity of the present code has deterred development in the village.

The proposed subdivision involves 100 acres on Gender Road (known as the Oyler property), at the south corporation line, which Young has under option. He plans to subdivide 80 percent of it (two lots per acre) and dedicate the balance which is within the flood plains to the village for recreation purposes.

An informal meeting was scheduled for later this week to work out possible rezoning of the area with Young and his real estate agent, Kermit Alspaugh, of Ken's Realty.

CURRENTLY THE zoning is R-1 which calls for homes with 1,400 square feet of floor space.

Although Young has no quarrel with the 20,000 square foot lots demanded by the county where septic tanks are used, he would prefer to be permitted to build homes of only 1,200 square feet, now classified as R-2.

Predicting an agreement can be reached, Council President Reno Robinette stressed the aim of Council and the Planning Commission is to "be fair to the developer and fair to the village."

Although complaints are heavy from the Trine and East Waterloo area, Council recognizes it as a city-wide problem that must be dealt with.

Preferring to approach the problem on a volunteer basis, Council is appealing to property owners to remedy the situation — if not now, at least by spring.

IF THE APPEAL goes unheeded, it is inevitable Council will be forced to invoke the law which allows the village to repair and/or lay new sidewalks and assess abutting property owners for the cost.

Council was reminded that the village as well as the property holder is liable to damage if and when someone injures themselves by falling on the walks which are conceded hazardous.

Use of a small room in the basement of the Municipal Building to meet the recreational needs of older men of the community was authorized.

DR. O. W. Jepson has promised furnishings for the area where the men can gather for cards and companionship.

As the room in question is small, it is believed practical to foresee expansion into the section of the basement used by the Boy Scouts if the original facility becomes a popular "hangout." (Whether the female element of the Golden Age set is going to take the "For Men Only" angle sitting down remains to be seen).

Further in keeping with the State Code which authorizes the use of tax-supported buildings by the public, an okay was given to the request of Twig 86 of Children's Hospital to hold a bake sale at the Municipal Building, Saturday, Dec. 7.

A RESOLUTION was passed accepting the tax rates for the village as certified by

Rhodes Tells Eastland Staff 'Criteria' Block Vo-Eds' Goals

Stating that criteria and standards in a vocational school limit the persons that can be prepared for the labor market, Gov. James Rhodes sees Ohio's goal that of aiding "Every girl and boy."

Rhodes' statement was made when a branch of the Development Committee, the Governor's Task Force on Vocational and Technical Education, toured Eastland last week.

STRESSING that the Task Force was on hand "not to inspect, but to help" Rhodes repeatedly referred to the "intellectual snobbery" that leads to millions of students graduating with nothing but "a strong back."

To combat the "false college status" that deters many students from entering a vocational program, Rhodes and school administrators agree that the dignity of vocational education must be promoted and a guidance pro[illegible] initiated at the junior and even elementary level which will familiarize a student with the desirability of vocational education.

Tying in the problem of education with that of development of a community, Rhodes was emphatic that a school such as Eastland can and does attract industry.

TO ILLUSTRATE his point, he quoted the fact that Chrysler Corporation reports it costs from $5,000 to $17,000 to train the conventional high school graduate who is placed on the payroll without specific training.

He added that the community which still believes that it can enjoy low taxes without the help of industry is blinding itself to the economic facts of life.

"Vocational Education cannot be viewed as a program to get the kids off the street," the governor said. "Instead it must be one to get jobs. It's time that we stop treating the problem with a 'band aid and shotgun' approach."

ASKED BY a member of the Task Force what Eastland needs most, Supt. Dave Martin had a simple answer — "Money."

He explained that one of the chief bottlenecks in vocational education today is that of staffing. (Well-qualified men currently in industry are understandably reluctant to leave a well-paid berth to accept a teaching position—and a big salary cut).

Martin also stated that money is needed for a year round, tuition-free program for the undergraduate.

WHEN IT was suggested that a county-wide income tax might be enacted for school support (individual school districts have widely differing tax evaluation per child) Martin indicated the source of funds is of secondary importance to educators who are primarily concerned with education.

Answering Rhodes' plea that the needs of every young adult in Ohio be met, Carlton

T-V Seeks Renewal Of 16 Mills

Voters of the Teays Valley Local School District will be asked to approve a 16 mill renewal operating levy in November.

The levy, which represents no new taxes, is in conformation with new State legislation which calls for all renewal levies as well as new levies to be placed on the ballot on a "continuous basis" rather than the traditional five year period.

THE 16 MILLS represents the six mill levy which expires at the end of 1969, a like levy expiring in 1971 and a four mill levy expiring in 1972.

By making a "package deal" of the millage coming up in the next four years, election expense can be kept to a minimum. (The 3.7 mills inside the 10 mill limitation is not subject to vote).

The School Board has drawn to voter attention that actually school taxes will be somewhat lower this year with the bond retirement rate reduced .8 mills by increased evaluation in the district.

THE NEW BOND retirement rate of 3.5 versus the 4.3 of the current year will bring total school millage to 23.20 rather than 24.

Rhoades Joins Staff Of YMCA

David Rhoades assumed the position of youth director at The South Side Branch YMCA Sept. 15.

According to James Wagner, executive of the "Y" Bill Warren who has been serving in this capacity since Jerry Garver's resignation the first of the year will move up to program and membership director.

He and his wife Charlene are currently house hunting and are interested in living in one of the suburbs near the Hoover-Y Park.

Obetz Council Acts On Street Problems

Advertising has begun for bids to seal the streets in McFadden Acres in Obetz and work is anticipated to begin within 30 days.

Obetz Council took the action necessary this week for the street improvement after the consulting firm of Franklin Engineering Ltd. confirmed the complaints of local residents are more than justified.

ESTIMATED TO COST about $5,000, the project is expected to solve the problem for at least several years, contingent upon grading to improve the existing surface water drainage.

An attempt to meet another problem faced by residents of McFadden Acres is also under way.

Councilman Archie McDole believes that the traffic hazard created by children shortcutting from the subdivision to the business district via the village property upon which the water tower is located is a critical one.

IN AN EFFORT to prevent children from crossing Pine Drive from a point at which the terrain limits the visibility of motorists, McDole wants to see the water tower property fenced off at either end.

Although it was generally conceded that $500 (the estimated cost) is a small price to pay to save a life, a definite decision was postponed until individual councilmen can familiarize themselves with the site.

A third action related to McFadden Acres was the passage of emergency legislation to assess the owners of a dozen lots in the area for cutting weeds by the village.

EACH LOT owner will be billed $20.35. If the assessment is not paid within 30 days, the fee will be placed upon the owner holder's tax duplicate for collection.

James Maxwell, attorney for the developers of Elk's Acres, made a deposit of $1,600 with the village against current and future consulting engineer fees and is waiting only a certificate from the State Department of Health to gain final approval for phase I on the subdivision platted largely for dual mobile homes.

Although local officials agree they have no quarrel with the mobile units being put into place at this point, they were adamant that none shall be occupied until the roadways for the initial phase are completed.

THESE ARE SLATED for final inspection on or before Nov. 15.

Joe Gallione, Obetz building inspector, indicated that he has some doubts about the septic tanks under construction at the development and intends to enforce the regulation that requires such facilities be absolutely water tight. Maxwell and council are also

OHIO PENITENTIARY: LAST IN A SERIES

Complete Ohio Penal Investigation, Reform Urged

"I don't think there is anyone else who has ever done time that understands what prison can do to a guy . . . . They rob you of your understanding of life, the world and how to live."

(An Ohio inmate)

By REV. TOM SAGENDORF

The "Horrible World" series has attempted to show that there is a separate "world" in Ohio which is systematically destroying socially sick human beings daily — and destroying all of society in the process.

The world behind the stone walls is a world in itself, and a horrible world because human beings cannot long exist there and remain whole.

IT IS A WORLD where the twin cancers of retribution and the "lock psychosis" combine to build a suicidal, self-destructive environment where "control" and escape prevention colors everything else and crowds out the possibility of new life through rehabilitation . . .

There's an old saying which says that you can tell a lot about a society by the way they treat their criminals. If this should be true, perhaps the true "horrible world" is outside the walls in a society which allows every unnatural and inhuman living condition be forced upon their criminals . . .

A word of caution is in order.

Nothing less than a complete investigation and a wholehearted reform will be sufficient.

Without complete examination of our notorious failure to eliminate repeated criminal behavior, without stopping to assess where we have blundered, without acknowledging at the policy-making level that new buildings without new practices are futile, we will only compound our vast problems.

We cannot accept the illusion of progress in penology merely through new buildings. The only place to begin is at the beginning: with a thorough investigation and assessment of present practices.

Once Upon A Time

Once there was a time of ignorance. And that might have been a time of innocence.

There was a time when most people in Ohio . . . thought that prisons were to punish people, and, as prisons go, Ohio's weren't so bad . . .

ONCE THERE was a time, too, when people in Ohio . . . thought that there was little they could know and therefore little they could do, even if they didn't like the ominous stone walls and the carefully-guarded silence about "what goes on in there . . ."

Once there was a time also, and not long ago, when people in Ohio . . . thought that the promise of new prisons always meant progress.

They might have thought, for example, that the new super-penitentiary which the state plans to build down in Scioto County is a good thing. After all, who knew the penitentiary would be at least three times as large as the maximum size for any kind of significant rehabilitation?

Or who knew that it would be miles from the essential services which a penitentiary must have for rehabilitation . . .? And who knew that this new penitentiary would be so isolated as to make work-release programs next to impossible? Who knew, after all, that the proposed new super-penitentiary in Scioto County would be another blunder in a blundering system because it would likely set the character and the direction for Ohio penology for at least the next 50 years . . .

BUT THESE TIMES are past. They are done and gone at least for those who have taken the time to read the "Horrible World" series . . . The series has never claimed to be an exercise in penological expertise. Instead, it has meant to say . . . something horrible is happening behind the walls of the Ohio Penitentiary . . .

The Final Question

But what has to happen?

This is the final question, and this will be the last time it is answered.

There must be a thorough inquiry in Ohio into the disposition and treatment of those convicted of crimes . . .

THERE ARE AT least two organizations in the country which make professional studies of prisons and correctional systems and recommend improvements. These organizations are made up of professionals — experts — in penology, and either could be brought into the State of Ohio with the cooperation of the State government to conduct a thorough penal inquiry . . .

No matter how the inquiry is conducted, it would be utter foolishness to neglect as valuable resources several of the penological experts we have within the State . . .

It will also be necessary for the Governor of Ohio and the legislature to act with determination on the recommendations which will be forthcoming . . .

If the inquiry is thorough and honest, there will be many recommendations.

And if the recommendations are followed there will be demanded of Ohio citizens new thinking and a willingness to pay for proper facilities and competent personnel (as with everything else, we get exactly what we pay for) . . .

(Editor's Note: This was the final part of a series by Rev. Tom Sagendorf, now director of the Interfaith Action Council in Michigan, on the Ohio Penitentiary. Rev. Sagendorf turned to the most difficult question confronting Ohioans: what must be done? The Michigan clergyman formerly was an intern chaplain at the pen and in clinical training there.)

Broughton And Mace HMCA Candidates

Jim Broughton and Joe Mace have been named candidates for the presidency of the Hamilton Meadows Civic Association.

Other candidates at the election to be held Tuesday, Oct. 31, are Mrs. Shirley Larimer and J. B. Moore, vice president; Mrs. Diane Stubbins and Russell Swope, secretary, and Mrs. Grace Johnson and Jim Eyssen, treasurer.

BUSINESS AT this week's meeting included setting Thursday, Oct. 31, (which is Halloween) as Trick or Treat night in the Meadows. This date was selected as one that would not conflict with the PTA program at the High School Wednesday evening.

According to George Robinson of the Association, cider will be served to the children without charge at a booth to be centrally located.

Robinson also states that a night-out will be held with a Smorgasbord at Lincoln Lodge Sunday evening.

RESERVATIONS may be made by calling Jay Bell Real Estate at 491-2560.

A notice of motion to change the regular meeting of the Association from the second Tuesday of each month to the first will be voted upon at the November session.

Antoine, guidance and placement director of Eastland, stated the school has turned down no one who applied, and he is confident the goal of 100 per cent placement can be realized.

"At last everyone will have a chance," he said.

HE STATED that a cooperative effort with the Ohio Employment Service is being established with OES to utilize office space at Eastland during the school year and Eastland to place counselors at OES during the summer.

Another step envisioned toward placement is the at-the-school recruitment of potential employes by industrial scouts.

Dr. Martin Essex, State Superintendent of Education, stated that one of the challenges today is equipping the student with an IQ of 75 to 90 with the tools necessary to support himself.

"FROM THIS 20 per cent come our greatest numbers of dropouts — the alienated, the hostile, the bitter, the mean," Essex stated.

Council–

the Franklin County Auditor's office.

The two mills inside the 10 mill limitation is estimated to generate $13,400 in revenue and the two mill street levy and the .8 mill bond retirement levy (both outside) to produce $13,400 and $5,360 respectively.

The proposed additional two mills for operating levy which will appear on the November ballot will bring in another $13,400 to balance the budget.

OTHER BUSINESS included the second reading of the ordinance establishing one-way traffic east in the first alley south of Mound from High Street to Trine, opening of negotiations with the South Central Power Co. for renewal of its franchise to supply the village with electricity, the promise that street numbering will be completed this winter and a report that State Highway Department steps to alleviate traffic hazards at Gender Road and Rt. 33 will not be completed immediately.

Installation of the warning lights can be expedited, but altering of the median is predicted to take somewhat longer.

Conspicuous on the bulletin board was a clipping placed there by Mayor Miller.

TAKEN FROM a Sunday supplement, it is entitled "Future Ghost Town" and is a warning to residents of small Ohio villages to protect themselves against the apathy which can lead to one's home town becoming a "ghost town."

It was apparent that Mayor Miller, who has been sharply criticized for pushing village progress with improved parking patterns, is trying to tell residents something.

GROVEPORT FFA DOES IT AGAIN

Records tumbled when the members of the Groveport Chapter of the Groveport Future Farmers of America totaled up their County and State Fair winnings and realized they had brought home over $2,000 in cash, 10 trophies, 28 championships, two convention trips and 265 blue ribbons. Pictured with the chapter's ribbons board, now on display at the Groveport Branch of the Huntington National Bank, are James Bishop, Groveport Madison principal; students Mitch Fraley, Phil Landis, Russell Bennett, Jim Stevenson, Howard Crumley and Dave Barnhart and FFA advisor Franklin Miller. Mitch earned a place in the picture by winning three trophies with his horse entries. The other boys pictured are the top five cash winners. Their earnings are: Phil—$150 for crops, poultry, dairy cattle and sheep; Russell—$170.50, hogs, hay, home garden, poultry and wood shop; Jim Stevenson—$1,192, beef cattle, hogs, sheep and hay; Howard—$498.50, dairy cattle, hogs and vegetables and Dave—$254.50. The silver tea service was won by Jim whose top cash earnings made him the Sweepstakes winner.

Ashville OK's Teen Center

Ashville officials have long talked about what may be done with the former locker plant given to the village by Dr. Chester Rocky.

Most of these plans went down the drain with lack of funds to convert it to municipal use.

HOWEVER, at last the problem is solved — and to the satisfaction of a great number of persons.

When Ashville Council met this week, Jim Chandler reported to council, as spokesman for a youth group (12 to 18), which is in the organizational stage.

This club, with a tentative membership over 60, will take over the remodeling of the building at its own expense, in return for its use as a teen center. (It is understood that it will be turned back to the village any time it is needed for other purposes.)

PRESENT PLANS involve an area for dancing, a game room and a quiet area for study.

As the project is one of some scope (rewiring, partitioning and wholesale clean up and painting are involved) an adult advisory committee is being formed to assure that "things will be done right."

Already committed to serve on the board are local clergymen, teachers and other responsible adults committed to helping youth meet their recreational needs.

THESE VOLUNTEERS will also provide the chaperonage which the teenagers feel essential to avoid criticism.

Council also heard a report of the Park Committee recommending that the Community Club, the Women's Civic Club, Kiwanis, Little League, the Boy and Girl Scouts, the local churches and the Fire Department be allowed use of the enclosed shelter house without charge.

The matter was brought up two weeks ago when firemen asked the weekly use of the shelter house for game parties through which they hope to pay for their recent purchase of a three-quarter ton grass fire fighter.

ACCORDING TO the new regulations, the shelter house will be available to these groups Monday through Saturday and they will be responsible for janitorial clean-up.

Those seeking use of the facility for private parties or profit-making functions will be charged the customary fee of $10.

It was emphasized that any group which believes that it should be accorded a fee-exempt classification should apply in writing to the Council for consideration.

facing a rather belated protest from the Water Board on the use of water pipe rather than cast iron in the area.

ALTHOUGH THE attorney and council will meet with the water board Sept. 23, it appears the okay given earlier by the council for the use of the pipe manufactured by Johns Manville will stand.

The consensus is that the Water Board is an administrative body and has little say in the establishment of policy —namely, what type of water lines can be laid in the village.

Maxwell pointed out that the limited scope of the subdivision provides an ideal opportunity for a local pilot testing of the pipe and, if completely satisfactory, its low cost may allow the village to undertake expansion of water lines which it otherwise could not afford.

G. R. GALLOWAY, spokesman for the partnership which is building the J. C. Penney warehouse on Groveport Pike off Alum Creek Drive, appeared at council requesting curb cuts and a traffic light west of the existing light at the intersection of Alum Creek and Groveport Pike.

He stated that the slow moving trucks entering the industrial park to reach the service garage that is included in the Penney's layout, coupled with speeding passenger cars, spell a potential smash-up.

Although council questioned whether two lights relatively close together will produce congestion, members gave tentative approval to the proposal.

CURB CUTS were also requested by Marvin Rogers, operations manager for Sinclair Refining.

Sinclair is closing a deal for property with 180 foot frontage on Alum Creek Drive for a service station. (Directly across the road from Howard Street, the new station will be next door to the site of a proposed Marathon station.)

The cuts were approved, and, according to Rogers, construction will begin in the spring.

OTHER ACTION included officially changing the regular monthly meetings from the first and third Mondays at 7:30 p.m. to the first and third Thursdays.

Swine, Ram Sale Oct. 3

The 21st annual swine and ram sale of the Groveport FFA will begin at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 3, at the Madison bus service garage at the junior high site on Hamilton Road.

A Corriedale ram, a Shropshire ram and 38 head of purebred gilts and boars will be auctioned.

Swine offered will include Chester White, Duroc, Hampshire, Yorkshire, Spotted Poland China and Tomworth gilts and boars.

Art and Ruth McCollister are contributing the services of auctioneer and clerk respectively and North Grain Co. and the Landmark Farm Bureau are absorbing printing costs.

The dual purposes of the sale involve bringing better breeding livestock into the community and enabling the FFA members to receive a premium price for their stock.

Merry Moms To Meet Sept. 25

The Merry Moms CCL will hold its first fall meeting Wednesday, Sept. 25, at the home of Mrs. Tyrone Chafin, 4695 Harber Blvd., with Mrs. David Macklin serving as co-hostess.

THE EASTLAND STUDENT ISN'T A POTENTIAL 'FORCE OUT'

When the Governor's Task Force toured Eastland last week, Jeff Eing of Gahanna was introduced to Dr. Beryl Shoemaker, State Director of Vocational Education, as foreman of the carpentry shop. Jeff was typical of the students spot interviewed by J. W. Fulton of the Task Force. Fulton received the impression that students enrolled at Eastland are becoming "Disciples" of vocational education, inspired by the opportunity to immediately apply their classroom-acquired knowledge to a practical situation. At the right, Phil Williams, superintendent of Madison Local, (one of Eastland's five participating districts) joins Dr. Martin Essex. Essex believes vocational opportunities in the service areas (food, health and laundry) are unlimited and that one of the aims of vocational education must be to train students to meet the demands of these occupations.

German Village U.S.A.

VISIT THE OLD WORLD HERE IN COLUMBUS . . .

THE GERMAN VILLAGE NEWS

German Village Page make-up brings to light hidden motherland feelings in the hearts of men who served their country abroad and trampled a bit of Old Country Genil. One looked at it as a tribute to any born abroad, living here in industrial America. A postal employe said: "I hurry home after work to study Russian, but need some one to speak it to get inflection." A Hungarian and Slavic descent businessmen talked warmly of it, moving on to speak of their nativeland and their American war services that offered a trip home.

No other phrase than "I Love You" perhaps is used more frequently in any language. In German, it is Ich Liebe Dich; Polish has it "Ja Kocham Cie" while Russian has it "Ia Tibya Lioubliou." Italians say it "Io T'Amo" while Hungarians say "Szeretlek." Armenian carries it "Kezi Ge Sirem" but in Arabic, it is "Ana Bahebek."

How does one learn a language today? Otilio, Bexley Gift Shop Owner, used the TV as a teacher these past eight years. Her nephew arrived here from Cuba (Spanish tongue) less than two months ago and already speaks English by the same method.

Spectator Pressmen had their first try in setting German in print, worried about the lack of German type. They did well for their first time, and so German wellkommen is understandable.

This portion of German Village Page is for the advertisers. It is the little extra we have offered in addition to the paid price. Until you use it, we bring you tidbits in German about Old World life.

For instance, Christine's Beauty Shop markets her own hair spray. Women will welcome it for it keeps the hair in place, remains soft and natural looking.

The first annual Oktoberfest of Oktober 6, 7 and 8th last year carried on an Old World German tradition of Harvest and Storage time marked by the Full Moon and often seen in ancient language stories. It was the Season to build Cold Cellars in one end of the garden that held cabbage, carrots, parsnips and onions that could be eaten Fresh at Christmastime, or marketed on Saturdays in the City Market. German "hauswaif" carefully built a Mound over garden vegetables for later deep protective blankets of snow. Another type of Cold Cellar was the room built into the side of a hill or under the house, that carried on a wooden door entry, the freezer being the clayey moisture.

German farmers planned to butcher hogs or beef for self consumption in the first three days after the Full Moon. Meat will keep better, be tender and have a fine flavor.

The best tasting and most healthful sauerkraut is made just after the Full Moon, Oct. 6th this year, and when the Moon is in a fruitful sign: namely, Cancer, Scorpio or Pisces.

Harvest time is slow, shifting weather patterns. The Almanac predicts a long lasting winter for the Ohio Valley. These long range effects of tapering storms are noticeable in the harvesting, production and supply of grain.

Farm and Garden booklets always contain an Almanac. October is the time to plant annuals, grain, irrigate, put chemical fertilizers on and sow new lawn to stimulate growth. October 2nd is particularly a good time, and one notes German Village Octoberfest is scheduled during this time, ending at Full Moon and the time to plant potatoes and roots.

Time For Action

Our series on the Ohio Penitentiary by Rev. Tom Sagendorf is now over.

What remains is a feeling that the "Horrible World" will not be drastically altered along modern penal lines, but simply be transposed into the Scioto County hinterlands.

In a sane society, the concept of punishment is no longer needed—as many European countries have already demonstrated.

In a transitional society, punishment of the criminal becomes a way of life which is symbolized by such institutions as the Ohio Penitentiary. If this is what the people of Ohio want, this is what they now have at the penitentiary. And this correctional method is failing.

If we treated our children as some would have us treat prisoners, there would be nothing but chaos and resentment in the world. A child does not grow by being told it is not human.

The Ohio Legislature certainly realizes now the need for a complete and unbiased investigation of our penal system.

The time has past for pretending there are no problems.

Our series has demonstrated some of the difficulties.

Now it is up to us and to our state government to do something.

Proper facilities and competent professionals are needed, but they also need the support of Ohioans.

For every human life which is destroyed in any of our institutions, there is a black mark on each of us.

No man is an island.

In Memoriam

By JOHN MORGAN

Many men find it possible to communicate with their own kind; but it takes a special kind of human being to transcend the barriers of age, race and national origin.

Oscar Smilack, who died more than a week ago in Columbus, was such a breed of man — man in his fullest, most universal sense. During times when much of what it means to be human seems lost, it is to our advantage to ponder what it means to have a soul.

I was not a close personal friend, only someone who crossed Mr. Smilack's path and could not forget the little I knew of him.

The first time we met in The Spectator offices . . . Carrying an armful of pamphlets and two books on Negro history, he talked to me for two hours about what concerned him most: the history of black people and their struggle to be free in a racist society.

I DO NOT REMEMBER the full content of our discussion. But he left me a scrapbook of black art and another filled with copies of articles written about him in our local papers. They were not pleasant articles, but personal records of the agony he had to endure in this community — which seized upon surface topics and seldom followed him into the depths of dialogue.

And he also left me with an uneasy feeling that what I had done for the cause of human dignity in our time was nothing in comparison with what he had done.

I had a chance to see this integrity and openness during the following months, three or four times at church meetings and another after dinner at his home in Worthington.

He laughingly accused me of having a "Robin Hood complex," wanting to take from the rich and give to the poor. I suspect he was also speaking about himself.

The last time I saw him in church two weeks ago we spoke for some time. I confessed to him my feelings of disillusionment with the American scene, particularly after the deaths of Dr. Martin Luther King and Robert Kennedy.

I listened to this man's advice, for I knew he had known more of disillusionment—and yes, victory—than I could hope to know.

He shared with me a very personal letter, which expressed more clearly than I could my sense of frustration. And he spoke of hope and the work ahead in Columbus. I know he spoke the truth.

LESS THAN TWO weeks ago, I picked up a copy of a local newspaper. Turning past the front page I spotted Oscar Smilack's picture. He was carrying an anti-war picket sign. And then I read the caption: died of apparent heart attack.

At first I was angry. Even in death a man is not free of the mud-slingers and the hypocrites. But then, why should I have been so self-righteously angry?

Newspaper editors, who deal in deaths like they are graduation statistics, can't possibly know when a real man dies.

While some of the news media went out of its way to crucify Oscar Smilack, those who knew him even slightly understood the compassion and godly qualities which were really his. No newspaper can rob a man such as this of one ounce of integrity.

Instead of crucifying a man—something which still lingers on after the McCarthy Days — a community should welcome dissent because it leads to dialogue. And without dialogue we are all dead, even if our bodily functions continue.

I understand that Columbus will be a little quieter because Oscar Smilack is gone.

The memorial service audience symbolized this man's ability to bind together people divided by every artificial barrier man has ever erected. NAACP President William Davis summed up what many felt at the service when he said that this was a man totally committed to the cause of freedom and human dignity in our time.

A COMMUNITY would rather have lukewarm souls. It mistrusts those whose voices ring loud and clear for justice — and who put their bodies behind their beliefs.

The test of a man, after all is said, is not in the headlines but in the eyes of God and man — and I think God will find those who suffered most for life most acceptable.

Oscar Smilack does not need to be vindicated by anyone.

His life was the history of a man who loved.

There is no higher tribute to pay.

(Editor's Note: An Oscar Smilack Foundation to perpetuate his work in the cause of justice and brotherhood for all people has begun. Contributions to this foundation may be made to Mrs. Edith Smilack, 290 E. South St., Worthington, Ohio.)

Looking Down Wall Street

Most of us remember the penny post card, the nickel candy bar, or the quarter movie. The post card which now costs a nickel has no more room to write on than when it cost a penny; the candy bar which now costs a dime is no bigger than when it cost a nickel; the movie which now costs $2 isn't any longer than the quarter movie. Why then is the price of these goods and services up? INFLATION . . .

Inflation is a time of generally rising prices for goods and services such as those mentioned above. In inflation not all the prices move in the same direction or in exactly the same proportion. As a result of changes in relative prices and total spending, inflation causes definite changes in the distribution of income among economic classes and total output. Unforeseen inflation tends to favor debtors and profit receivers at the expense of creditors and fixed income receivers. Suppose you lend $1,000 today and are paid back one year from now. If in the meantime prices have doubled, then the debtor will be paying back only one-half as much real purchasing power as you gave him. After 1939 a person earning a fixed income of five percent annually found that as a result of World War II he was not holding his own as far as the real purchasing power of the dollar was concerned. On the other hand those who invested their money in real estate or common stock make a great money profit during unforeseen inflation.

Hyperinflation is when each increase in prices becomes the signal for an increase in wages and costs, which again sends prices up still further. A southerner said about the Confederate inflation, "We used to go to the stores with money in our pockets and come back with food in our baskets. Now we go to the stores with money in baskets and return with food in our pockets." Fortunately there are few cases of hyperinflation except during war or in the backwash of war and revolution.

A primary concern of America today is the steady upward creep in prices. In times of inflation an individual loses purchasing power by holding cash or fixed-income producing investments. Investments in common stocks can be used as a hedge against inflation to protect the worth of purchasing power. As costs and prices rise, caused by the inflation spiral, business enterprises raise the price of their goods or services so they may continue making a profit which enables them to stay in business. By owning common stock in publically held corporations, investors may profit from their investment while protecting their money's purchasing power.

Coming Up Roses

By ROBERT W. REIDER

REIDER

Fund-raising has become an American sideline. Everybody, it seems these days, is raising money for a worthy project.

There are so many deserving campaigns underway that it is downright wearisome and confusing to sort them from the illegitimate rackets that prey on a philanthropic and sympathetic citizenry.

But here's one that rings a bell . . . at least with us.

If the Band and Orchestra Parents of the West High School have their way, the school's 120-piece marching brass band and 40 girl marching group will be sent to the 1969 Rose Bowl parade.

It would mark the first time that our city has ever sent a high school representative to the colorful Pasadena event.

It would be a return trip for Band Director James Hill, who went to the Rose Bowl in 1950 as a member of OSU's band as the Buckeyes trimmed California, 17-14.

Original donations amounted to $3,000, leaving approximately $39,000 to be raised.

This will be accomplished, according to president Jack Davies, by selling buttons, possibly bumper stickers and candy, monthly rummage sales, etc., between now and a late November deadline.

He said students would not pay for their trip, and, at the request of Principal David Randall, would not solicit funds. So, it's strictly up to parents and friends to get the job done.

If the drive is successful, Band Parents will be giving the West High youngsters an experience of a lifetime and provide an incentive not often available to non-athletic participants.

United Appeal officials aren't saying so publicly but they're worried about the forthcoming campaign.

And, at least on the surface, it appears, they have good reason to worry.

United Appeal is the major fund-raising effort of 69 community service organizations in Franklin County. These range from the Boy Scouts to the neighborhood settlement houses to such agencies as the Florence Crittenden Home for unwed mothers.

In the past few years, the UA goal has been forced upward to meet the growing demands for these services. Meeting the goal is a constant uphill fight.

A committee of Columbusites has demanded and continues to publicly demand an investigation of of UA, based on its feeling that UA funds are being used for purposes not in keeping with the general welfare of the community. The probe request started in a controversy over activities at South Side Settlement House and particularly over reports UA funds were being used to support the Poor People's Campaign.

And while there may or may not be merit to their charges, the aura of suspicion they have thrown around UA may be seriously hurting this year's campaign.

There is only one solution — a solution that requires compromise from both sides, and particularly from those demanding the investigation.

There can be no doubt that the huge majority of UA funds — probably upwards of 90 per cent — goes to activities that are in no way controversial and, even more important, are of vital interest to the well being of Columbus.

The Watch United Appeal group must suspend its demands for an investigation until after the 1968 drive has ended, when the issues are not as pressing and public sentiment is not running so high.

But any investigation must wait until this year's drive is over.

And Watch UA could save the drive with a statement of support for the basic principles of United Appeal, and thus lift the undeserved stigma from the UA drive.

Smoking

By TED BEARDSHEAR

You notice them between programs on the local TV.

You see them on local billboards.

They are all frightening statistics, messages and reminders of the health hazards of smoking.

Ah, smoking. There's something symbolic about man taming the wildness of flame on the end of a cigaret . . . taming it to the point that it gives relaxation and pleasure.

I once read a poem in the "Saturday Review" that gave a sensual connotation to the act of a man lighting a woman's cigaret.

Now they're brainwashing me about an early death from lung cancer. Even cigaret packs are required to print the threat that cigaret smoking may be hazardous to the health.

A friend of mine once sat down and lectured me on these things. He told me about the statistics from the heart association and the cancer association and the tables from insurance companies.

He made a very convincing case.

I told him it made me afraid.

I told him I thought that children should not be encouraged to start smoking. I told him it was a dangerous habit.

But then I told him, "Look, Charlie. I have trouble with drink so I don't drink. I'm overweight and am on a perpetual diet. So I don't eat what I want. Very few women like fat men so I don't date much. Now, darn it, you're asking me to give up smoking."

And that's the way I feel about it.

Every man is entitled to one vice.

The assertion was like what Leo Rosten once said, "No man who hates dogs or babies can be all bad."

Not much like it . . . but sort of.

Letters To The Editor

On Criminals

To The Editor:

For the last four weeks you have devoted a lot of front page space to the series on The Ohio State Pen. It's not only sickening, it's disgusting.

I don't know what school you people are from, but you must have missed all the important lessons. When I went to school; 1932 to 1943 (I was a high school drop-out) they taught us not only the three R's, but how to live, with other people yet.

In seventh grade civics we learned about prisons and righs. When you commit a felony, and are convicted, you forfeit your rights as a citizen, and this is as it should be. In regards to this 17 year old (9-5-68 edition) the writer, Rev. Tom Sagendorf, has the guts to suggest that this teen-ager should be allowed to protest his position. I say to you that this lad should have pondered the possibilities of his conviction before he committed his crime. I was fully aware of these possibilities when I was 15 years old and they didn't appeal to me.

Most of us choose the path that requires a little hard work, but offers a more solid footing in our society, and pays off in money that is ours because we earn it.

Schools and education are the key today, as it was in the 30's and 40's and it is still compulsory. If you accept it instead of fighting it, and stay with it [illegible] you realize you need education, doors will be open[illegible] you and not locked behind you.

Now let's get off this kick that society has de[illegible] some of us foul blows. We all call our own shots and we all know it, and we do all start equal and we know it. Some try to make a fast buck by avoiding the rules, when they get caught they try to blame it on society instead of themselves.

So why not quit tooting your horn for the lawbreakers, they got what they asked for. Call a spade a spade and let them serve their time.

Above all quit shouting about rights. The only people who have rights are the people who know and do their duty. I'm talking about their duty to their God, their country, and their community. Only They, Have Rights.

The good Reverend makes mention of the small space allotted in the paper for the sentencing of said youth, but this youth had his splash in the headlines several months before when he shot and killed a young shoe store clerk during a robbery, sidestepping the rules of the game, and trying to make a fast buck the (easy ???) way.

Candidate Picking

By ARTHUR HOPPE

HOPPE

The candidates are on the wing, the campaign has begun and we, the people, have but a scant two months to make up our minds.

It's a grave responsibility, trying to choose a leader in only two short months. And thank heaven the candidates must prove their qualifications for high office in the crucible of a Presidential campaign — the better we may judge them.

For the benefit of those several Americans who may know how to judge a candidate's qualifications from a Presidential, campaign, we present here a few handy tips compiled by The League of Watchful Voters.

The first is: Watch out for leapers.

Leapers are, of course, one of the best indications of a candidate's qualifications and most experts rate their significance as at least equal if not superior, to wet confetti.

The place to watch out for leapers is on the fringes of throngs. They can be easily spotted by their peculiar motion — up, down, up, down. And certainly any candidate who can inspire a bevy of pretty girls to behave like yo-yos should have no trouble with Kosygin or the gold drain.

At the same time, however, wet confetti should not be denigrated as an index of character. Should Mr. Nixon, for example, be hit by more than seven tons of wet confetti during a rainy-day parade in Ashtabula, Ohio, it would be safe to say that Ohio will go Republican this year. And Ohio voters are nobody's fools.

A difference of opinion exists, unfortunately, on assessing the importance of handshakes during a moving motorcade. Some experts feel the number of fans who dart from the crowd to clutch the passing candidate's hand is all-important. But others argue the speed of the motorcade is a decisive factor and equate two handshakes at 20 miles per hour with four at 10.

All agree, though, that should Mr. Humphrey be fortunate enough to be dragged from his moving car by a determined handshaker in Des Moines, the television coverage could carry California.

Photographs are crucial. A picture of Mr. Humphrey chewing bubble gum would be a definite minus. (Do you want a President who chews bubble gum?) And a shot of Mr. Nixon skating on Lake Superior should influence you not a whit. (Unless it's taken before the freeze).

Count crowds. Obviously, if Mr. Humphrey outdraws Mr. Nixon in Duluth, we can rely on him to get us out of Vietnam.

Keep tabs on endorsements. If the Amalgamated Gnit Pickers endorse Mr. Nixon, ask yourself, "What do they know about impacted areas that I don't [illegible]?"

List committees. Every candidate will hav[illegible]dreds; such as "Neuropsychiatric Technicians fo[illegible]lace." And clearly the man with the most committees is the man to lead the war on poverty.

Watch the television debates to determine for yourself who's wearing the most make-up. Keep track of ovations, standing and sitting. Evaluate the hair styles of the candidates' wives. Check . . .

Space forbids. But by devoting only eight hours a day to candidate watching, you should be able to vote intelligently and confidently come November.

And you can take comfort in the fact that the man who will lead us in the next four perilous years expended millions of dollars and millions of man hours to pass precisely these tests.

So good luck to them, one and all. May they each get hit by seven tons of wet confetti.

Prior to this he was for 10 years both personnel manager and principal bass player of the Kansas City Philharmonic, managed the Kansas City Festival Orchestra. He also taught at the Conservatory of Music, University of Kansas City.

He has worked with the New York City Center, Pittsburgh and Buffalo Orchestras, chamber music ensembles, Broadway musicals, radio and television shows.

His father was a member of the Boston Symphony until his death in 1956 and his mother is an accomplished pianist.

OCTA Conference Praised By Downing

By CLAUDIA ELKINS
Entertainment Editor

Loaded down with at least ten times more paraphernalia than went out of my basement three days earlier, I returned home from the 16th Annual Conference of the Ohio Community Theatre Association held Sept. 6-8, very tired.

As a matter of fact, my basement never looked greater, even considering the filled-to-capacity basket of ironing. Several weeks ago I told you of my involvement with this organization, how this came about and the time and effort involved by some 30 board members in preparing this annual education through competition, workshops, guest speakers and 89 theater groups meeting and discussing problems in different areas of the state.

As a board member, having worked throughout the conference, I know not what occurred at the workshops and demonstrations. But I can tell you about the people coming and going, the excerpt competition, elections and guest speaker comments.

Terry Starker, long-time associated with Players Club, now a resident of New York City and studying acting was there . . . Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vespi of Kenley Players came over to attend the Beaux Arts Ball . . . Gary Garth of Playhouse on The Green came with fellow actor/friend John Crawford . . . John Nerny, another former member of Players Club was seen . . . Sam Perdue, city editor for the Columbus Citizen-Journal judged the Newsletter competition along with my boss, Bob Tenenbaum and Bob McKnight of the Cleveland Press . . . WLWC-TV sent a newsman out to cover the conference . . . Chuck Dodrill from Otterbein College gave a stirring talk at a delegates meeting . . . Actually, there was well over 450 in attendance.

ROBERT DOWNING

Since its inception in 1961, "Inspiration OCTA" has been the highlight of the confab with the spirit of competition providing a steady incline of excellence. This year, five of seven regions competed with Euclid Little Theater, Cleveland, taking first place. Two theaters tied for second place. They were the Sandusky Harlequines and the Mariemont Players of Cincinnati.

Best Actor was Tony Petrecca from the Euclid group, and Players Club's Gladys Little Thomas was awarded best actress.

Locally, Players Club also won competition for best production photo and best display of photos. There was a special award this year for the theater having the most pre-registered attendants. Players Club received this award over 11 other participating groups in this area.

On Sunday evening, I kept asking why did I work so hard, as it took four days to fully recall what my name was, but then I played back the tape of OCTA's guest speaker, Robert Downing.

Here are some of his comments. "Community theater is perhaps the most valiant institution in theater today. I am well aware that today this personal contribution made by you comes out of love and devotion. The stream of theater is being reversed because of the cost to produce. The risk is too great, so the time has got to come when Broadway will no longer be the criteria for the American drama.

"We have to now turn to the community theater to feed the mainstream of American theater.

"This organization is perfectly remarkable to start with a dream of a man, Dorman E. Richardson, 16 years ago. I know of no other state with such a conference and theater activity.

"I've never seen anything quite like this . . . excerpts professionally done, excellent workshops and marvelous displays showing so much work and care.

"This state should be proud, and I suggest that you invite other states to attend so that they may take the word from Ohio."

Thank you Robert Downing. The weariness faded away very quickly as I am sure the other 450 theater devotees felt just as proud of the result of the OCTA conference as I did.

OCTA has a new president. For the first time, a woman will preside over the organization. Miss Jean Barger of Dayton will be in charge of the overall plans for the future . . . the 17th Annual Conference.

Has Golden Age Program

The RKO Palace Theater is continuing with its special series of Golden Age Shows.

The series include some of the most memorable movies ever produced. The shows are every Monday at 10:30 a.m. for golden agers as well as anyone else who desires to attend.

Here's the best part. Golden agers pay only 50 cents and everyone else pays only 75 cents. This includes coffee and cookies, which are served before the show, and the invitation to view the feature attraction, which is presented immediately after the golden age movie.

Remaining in the series are "The Glass Bottom Boat," with Doris Day, Rod Taylor and Arthur Godfrey. This will be shown Monday, Sept. 23.

Channel 6 Broadens Coverage

Whenever you hear "For the biggest news of your life, stay tuned to Channel Six," it will be the voice of a new face on the news staff at WTVN-TV.

His name, Cliff Ferre, is new to Columbus, but his experience from top notch news reporting to holding hands with the stars brings to viewers a new format in news delivery.

FERRE

In 1940, 20th Century Fox tested Ferre in New York using a young actress named Jane Cotter to do the test with him. It seems Ferre's test nabbed a contract for the young Miss Cotter, better known today as Jayne Meadows, wife of actor Steve Allen.

Invited by Woody Woodbury, a friend, to do a news interview, Ferre started his news career as a staff announcer in Miami.

This led to a three year stint with WPST-TV as a news interviewer.

From there he returned to Miami as Entertainment News Analyst.

Around Town

Conducted By
ROLAND SUNKER

Going into his second year at the Alcacar Lounge of the Imperial House North is Andy Launer and his trio. Andy on piano, with Jim Boyd on bass and the well known Jack Gorham on drums combine their talents in presenting an unusually gifted musical group.

On piano, Andy injects the Andy Launer interpretation on each and every number. Using a delicate and classy treatment blended with good technique, Andy, Jack and Jim come up with interesting and entertaining music. While it has a good solid, varied beat, the Launer Trio stick pretty close to the melody line.

Shows Imagination

Besides showing keyboard imagination and ability, Andy is also a good song writer. He has just written and recorded two tunes which you will be hearing a lot of on radio in the next few weeks.

The Launer music is also heard in the Black Rose Restaurant of the Imperial House North. From 7 p.m. until 10 p.m. the trio plays on the circular stage located between the restaurant and cocktail lounge.

After 10 p.m. they move to the rear of the Alcacar Lounge which also has a dance floor, and play music that is both listenable and danceable.

Good Dinner Music

Besides offering good dinner music in the Black Rose Restaurant, your host, Dino Gounaris, presents an exotic and varied menu featuring continental and American food. Beginning Friday, Sept. 27, Dino will inaugurate a new Friday night menu which will be distinctly sea food oriented, with live lobster, baked whole stuffed lobster, sword fish and other salt water delicacies.

In the Black Rose, which is decorated in an authentic Spanish motif, you can get Coffee Diablo which is made from various liqueurs, rum, whipped cream and coffee. This is one of Gounaris' own recipes. After an extended tour of Greece, Dino Gounaris promises many more Greek dishes and pastry items on the menu.

The devil has his hour every day on West Fifth Avenue. At least this is the belief of Jaci LaFon, the new owner of the El Diavolo Lounge. Every day from 4:30 until 7 p.m. there is a Devil's Hour at the lounge. During this period, all beverages are reduced, and very good hors d'oeuvres are served.

The El Diavolo, which means the devil in Spanish, is a new, intimate lounge, decorated in a devil's atmosphere. Much of the decor is red, with drawings of the devil placed around the room. The sunken bar adds much to the coziness of the place.

Recently purchased by Jaci LaFon, a former professional model from Dayton, Ohio, Jaci has many plans for the El Diavolo. Already she has made several changes. Among them are new hours (open at 11 a.m.) top entertainment and pretty cocktail waitresses. Plans for the near future include installing a kitchen for the serving of a luncheon buffet.

Statuesque, blonde, and beautiful Jaci assures her customers that they will benefit from her past experiences as hostess and manager of several night spots around town.

Currently playing for your listening and dancing pleasure is the Bill Scott Trio. If you enjoy good music and dancing, or if you like good lookin' waitresses and have a devil-may-care attitude, you'll have a devilish of a good time at the El Diavolo.

New German Restaurant

The Leipzig Haus, a new German restaurant and lounge, will open within the next few days on Livingston Avenue at College Avenue. Serving only German food, it will be open daily from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. and on Friday and Saturday it will close at 1 a.m.

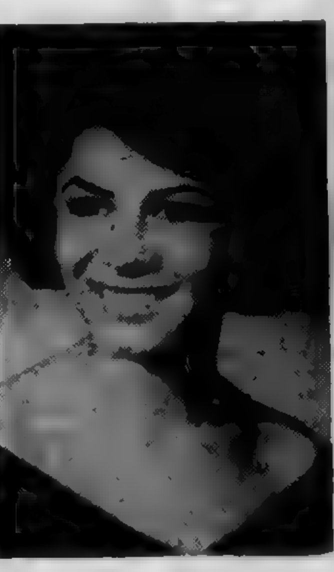
Authenticity is the theme at the Leipzig Haus. Both the food and decor are genuinely German. Prepared by German cooks, the menu includes plate lunches and sandwiches.

A visit to the Leipzig Haus is like a trip to a little chalet along the Rhine. So lift a stein of your favorite beer and say, Ein Prosit der Gemutlichkiet. ("Here's a toast to cozy German Atmosphere").

General Manager Richard Reed, has announced the appointment of Paula Hess as promotional director for WLW-C. Paula, who hails from Jackson, Ohio, is a 1966 graduate of Marietta College.

Before joining TV-4, Paula was continuity director at WOHI Radio in East Liverpool, Ohio for two years.

When not promoting TV-4, Paula has many hobbies that keep her busy. After a difficult day at the station, Paula relaxes at home playing the guitar. Folk music is her preference which stems from her college days during which she had her own group. Another of Paula's interests is cooking. When asked her favorite dish, Paula answered, "a shrimp and crab meat concoction which I made up myself." She never makes the same dish the same way, because she never uses recipes.



Paula Hess

Obviously, Paula applies her culinary ability to her duties at WLW-C, because speaking from experience Paula Hess concocts some pretty good promotion ideas and press releases.

The Sandy East V Like Dawn, Dusk

The namesake of The Sandy East V, which opened Monday evening at the Desert Inn . . . Sandy East has a personality like dawn and a voice like dusk.

That's just for openers. The four male musicians/vocalists are artistic talents so genuinely conscious of entertaining that The Sandy East V is a super club rarity.

You name it, they create it. The swinging now sound, the old-time favorites, South American numbers, ballads and a bit of jazz intermingled with waltz tunes, fox trots and favorite dance music spell excellence, bar none.

Each artist is a perfectionist, compelling one to perceive and delight in the versatility of talent. Every note seems to be talking as Ronnie Ruff, the key to the elasticity of the group, plays the saxophone and flute, George Harion on guitar, Bruce Palmer on bass and Ron Porter on drums.

They form a sophistication unheard of in supper club [illegible]

Remember the Four Freshmen? You will, for this group has that sound. But, lest you do not care for the Four Freshmen there is Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong, Eartha Kitt, Sarah Vaughn, The Arbors, blended with "Up, Up and Away," "Satin Doll," "Getting To Know You," "I Think I'm Going Out Of My Mind," "I'll Say A Little Prayer For You" and the spectacular of the show, A Latin Holiday, which is a medley of South American numbers.

This too good to be true offering via The Sandy East V will be at the Desert Inn through next Saturday.

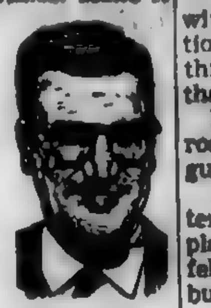
'Crate Up The Cup, Australia'

Okay, one side, Big Bill Tilden! Move to the back of the books, Maurice McLoughlin!

Make room, Donald Budge, Bitsy Grant, Bobby Riggs, Elly Vines, Vinnie Richards, Sidney Wood, Wilmer Allison, Johnny Doeg, Bill Johnston, Jack Kramer and Pancho Gonzales!

AUSTRALIA, crate the Cup and call the airlines. Make it "Rush, Fragile, and This End Up."



MURRAY

Get the word to Henri Cochet, Jean Borotra, Rene La Coste that it's been 18 years, but America has finally coughed up a new tennis champion in the mold of the ones who used to have people standing in the snow to get in and see them play.

Get the word out on the BBC that if Blighty has any Fred Perrys or Bunny Austins hanging around the courts, we've got a match for them.

The game is on its way out of the minor leagues, and the guy with the lantern is a major leaguer.

When you call the roll of America's great athletes, don't stop with "Willie," "Henry," "Joe," "Red," or even "Babe," "Jack," "Bobby," "Ben," "Sam," or "Sugar," or "Rafer," "Rosey," "Deacon" or "The Mick," "Stan the Man" or "Sandy." Try "Arthur."

ARTHUR ASHE JR. came along at just the right time. Like The Babe or Dempsey, he found a sport chained in the dungeon and subsisting on bread and water.

Everybody was playing tennis but nobody was watching it.

ANYONE who wouldn't watch Arthur Ashe play tennis wouldn't watch Picasso paint, Hemingway write, a diamond cut, Astaire dance, or Gielgud act.

Nobody calls him "Art," but he is.

The great ones all do it with the nonchalant perfection that makes the watcher think, "Why, I could do that!"

Arthur Ashe doesn't play tennis like a guy keeping 20 plates in the air at once, a fellow rushing through a building yelling "Fire!"

A librarian looks more flustered.

HE LOOKS as if he could be reading a book. If he's not playing tennis, that's probably what he is doing.

He is apt to refer to tennis in terms of Greek mythology, as when interviewer Bud Collins asked him recently if he thought he could keep his string of 26 straight victories going.

Arthur referred to it as a "Sisyphian job" after the Greek legend of the man who kept rolling a stone uphill in Hades, only to have it fall back each time.

IT'S AS good a description of tennis as there is.

It's a game that calls for more patience than passion, as much practice as prowess.

If you discourage easily, it's not for you. There are no one-round knockouts in tennis.

TENNIS PLAYERS don't get names like "Old Blood and Guts" or "Fireball." They run more to things like "Little Miss Poker Face" (Helen Wills) "Old Dependable" or "Tenacious," "Indomitable."

You win an inch at a time. You study the ants, not the lion.

Ashe is as impassive as a madonna, has a pulse rate so slow he has to fight off the heart transplanters.

He is as unflappable as an English butler.

ANY SPORT, like any institution, is the length and shadow of a man — or at best, a group of men.

Touch Loop Kicks Off; LAFB, 'Berg Open Big

With South High School's marching band providing a football back-drop, the Columbus Touch Football League inaugurated its '68 campaign Sunday at Southview.

League Commissioner Howard "Hopalong" Cassady held the pre-game "kickoff" for Vic Janowicz whose boot was returned by Big Bill Willis and Mike Dorrian.

THIRD-SEASON CTFL openers found: Harley-Davidson battling Craig Realty to a 6-all tie; Jacobs and Sons eking out a 6-0 verdict over Moores Painting; Fields Brothers outdueling Central Ohio Welding, 16-2; North Heidelberg clobbering B and A Paints, 34-0; Remo's Inn downing Creative Printers, 22-2, and Lockbourne AFB blasting Mid-American Golf Association, 31-0.

QUARTERBACK Mike Roach rifled a 51-yd. TD strike to end Dave Dillon early in the third period to account for H-D's lone tally.

Two H-D field goal attempts earlier in the game went awry.

YOUNG ART Ryan found Don Steele (40 yds.), Bob Burkhard (22 yds.) and Darrell Montgomery (6 yds.) on the receiving end and raced 75 yds. to paydirt himself to pace Lockbourne's lopsided win over MAGA.

JERRY TURNER'S 10-yd. scoring pitch to Dick Williams with four minutes left to play earned Jacobs its narrow win over Moores.

North Heidelberg's brother tandem of Tim and John Pond exploded for three aerial bombs (John to Tim for 45, 32 and 35 yd. TDs) as Heidelberg crushed B & A.

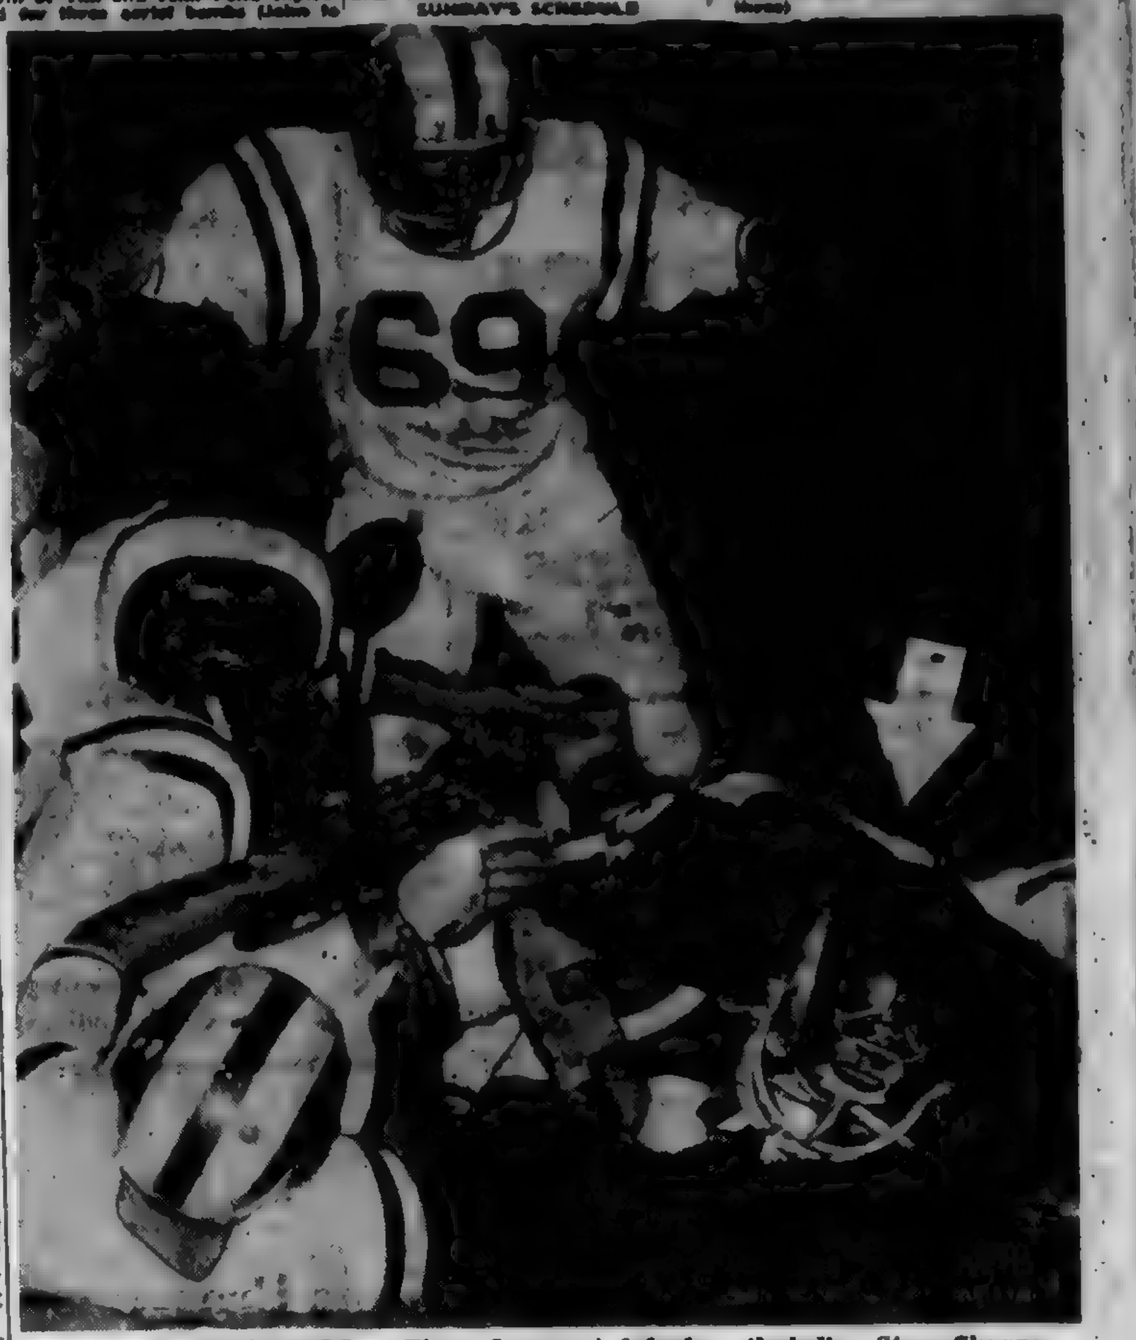
John also found time to hit end Tom McCarthy with another 15-yd. TD strike.

DON YORE (55, 23-yd. TD catches) and Tony Tocke (13-yd.) were ready targets for Tom Myers' golden arm as Remo's scored its opening win over Creative Printers.

SUNDAY'S SCHEDULE

(All games at Southview)

Jacobs vs. Remo's (noon, field one)
MAGA vs. Craig Realty (noon, field two)
H-'delberg vs. Creative (noon, field three)
B & A vs. Moore's (1:45, field one)
Fields vs. Harley-Davidson (1:45, field two)
LAFB vs. C-O Welding (1:45, field three)



LATE-COMERS — Three Groveport defenders (including Steve Skaggs, No. 69) converge on Reynoldsburg fullback Lee Skidmore but the effort is too little and too late as the Raider ballcarrier (arrow) comes to rest in the end zone with Reynoldsburg's first TD on a three-yard burst in 44-14 win over Cruisers.

'EVEN EXCLUDE GIRL FRIEND'

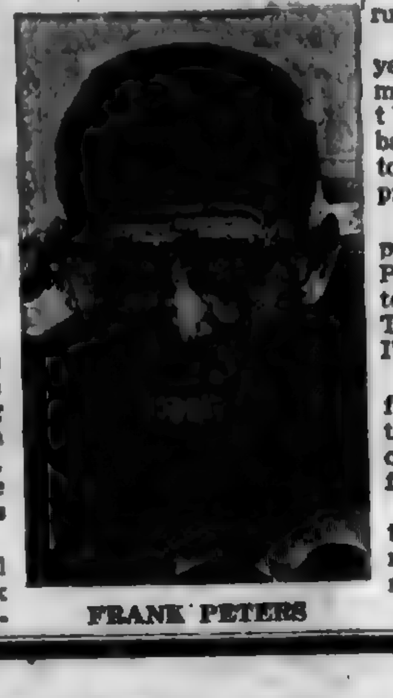
ATHENS, O. — Being a good football player requires great sacrifice — even to the point of doing without a girlfriend — says co-captain Frank Peters, Ohio University offensive tackle.

"The average college student has no idea what sacrifices football players make," says the 6-3, 220-lb. veteran tackle. "They think we just show up in uniform on Saturday afternoon and play the game."

What Peters would point out to those of that opinion is that football at Ohio University is a year-'round proposition.

"WE PAY the price even in the off-season through a strenuous winter conditioning program that lasts from a few weeks after season's end, right up to fall drills for the next grid campaign," informs Frank.

Peters is the perfect ideal and well qualified to talk about conditioning and sacrifice for the Bobcat lineman continually stays in peak condition. "I work on Dad's farm in the summer, and the strenuous chores connected with this work help keep me in shape — plus running three - four miles daily."



FRANK PETERS

In fact, Peters worked so hard this summer that he overdid it. "My legs began to cramp and develop charley horses as I was aiming to run the mile in five minutes."

FRANK RAN it in 5:34 a year ago (fastest of any lineman on the team and faster than many 'Cat offensive backs) but was not allowed to run this fall due to the leg problems.

"My legs hurt a little in practice, even now," says Peters, "but I don't have time to concern myself with them. They don't hurt that much. I'll be all right."

Peters was an "All-State first-team tackle for Hamilton Township High and a second team All-MAC choice last fall.

HE IS ALSO president of the Varsity O, (Ohio lettermen's organization) and a member of the J-club (junior

Highlights

By HARMON

How about these so-called early season "breathers" . . . Notre Dame-Oklahoma or Southern Cal-Minnesota . . . or such "patsy" games as Texas A & M-L.S.U. or Michigan State-Syracuse.

Just who breathes on who . . . or whom?!!

THE BIGGEST of all big "breathers," and one of the toughest to pick, is the meeting between last year's fifth-ranked Oklahoma Sooners and Notre Dame, number three. Being real scientific, we'll first check tea leaves — then flip a coin — and finally read horoscopes. The winner: the Irish by ten points.

Since Minnesota hasn't found an O. J. Simpson, we'll go with Southern Cal to clip the Gophers by 13 points. Southern Cal was everybody's national champion last season . . . Minnesota ranked 21st in the final Harmon ratings.

Although Michigan State was unranked last year, finishing with a 3-7 record, and Syracuse ranked 28th in the nation, we're going to go with a Spartan ball club that just might be on the way back: Michigan State over Syracuse by two points.

A FEW MORE of last year's powerhouses that are ready to explode the '68 season wide open include six-ranked Purdue, a big 24-point favorite over Virginia . . . Alabama, number Seven, favored by 15 over V.P.I. . . . Penn State, rated tenth, 18 points too strong for Navy . . . Oregon State, in the number 12 spot, an 18-point winner over Iowa . . . and 20-rated Florida, 21 points better than the Air Force.

Getting back to soft touch openers, the Texas A & M Aggies finished the '67 season as the number 22 team in the country . . . L.S.U. was rated 13th. Chrystal ball says: L.S.U. by one.

Another one-point "breather": Rice over Washington in a real cliff-hanger. Indiana, 11th last fall, is favored over Baylor by 11, and Florida State, the eighth-ranked team in the nation, should take Maryland by a big 32 points.

RANKED FOURTH in the final ratings last year, the Miami Hurricanes should muss up the 'Cats of Northwestern by 22 points. Texas was rated 26th . . . Houston, 19th. The favorite here is Houston by a rather surprising 14 points.

U.C.L.A., number nine, will whip Pitt by 31 . . . 17th-rated North Carolina State will top North Carolina by 19. Mississippi was 15th last fall . . . Auburn, 16th. The Rebels will beat Memphis by five, and the Tigers will bump S.M.U.

Franklin, Kitsmiller Take CFFL Leads

Kitsmiller Motors (Eastern Division) and Franklin Sports Center (Western Division) put some daylight between themselves and fellow Columbus Flag Football League hopefuls Sunday with second victories.

Kitsmiller held off a late Bell-Haven surge to win, 18-13, while Franklin blanked Berwick Party House, 25-0.

BELL-HAVEN'S Big Red limited point-potent Ken Ramsey to a single score and only 39 yds. rushing but suffered from fumblitis themselves in a bid to knock off the loop favorite.

Ramsey went 8-for-10 in the aerial department, however, clicking on seven of them to Larry Gornall for 144 yds. and a touchdown.

Randy Walker's [illegible] TD punt return opened the door for Franklin while a stubborn defensive unit (paced by Tim Carty, Bob Curtain and Tony Delewese) held Berwick at bay.

DAVE FRANZ'S 96 rushing yards and Joe Bidde's aerials (also scored a TD) were the offensive highlights — along with Larry Guglielmi's 44-yd. interception TD.

Bob Montonya (three passes for 87 yds.) and Tom Hughlett (41 rushing yds.) looked best for Berwick.

Roger Middaugh (136 yds. rushing, one TD, returned three punts for 120 yds.) Joe Mauger and Kurt Pollock (two TDs each) set the pace in Bon-Aire's romp over Local 189.

RICK CULBERTSON tallied the other Bon-Aire score while Dick Rieder turned in 189's lone six-pointer.

Tom Shoaf and Chuck Drake sparked Bon-Aire's defensive unit which limited the losers to 83 yds. total offense — 46 by Ron Davis.

'Fearless' Predictions

"The Fearless One" slipped slightly in his bid for a banner predictin' season last weekend, compiling an 18-5 account to run his '68 total to 37-8.

Things figure to get more complicated for The Spectator seer with several "toughies" highlighting his outlook for week three:

EAST AT BROOKHAVEN—Neither club has found the success formula to date but flip of coin says Bearcats. Brookhaven.

GRANDVIEW AT HILLIARD — Wildcats get back on winning track after Logan surprise. Hilliard.

LONDON AT GROVE CITY — First of several key Mid-Eight head-ons. Raiders still "team-to-beat" until proven otherwise. By a nose . . . [illegible]

EASTMOOR AT NORTH — Warriors looked a bit wobbly last week but should dispose of Polar Bears. E-M.

BEXLEY AT MIFFLIN — Lions look too strong to drop three straight. So . . . Bexley.

NEWARK AT NORTHLAND— Vikings obviously much improved but Wildcats' win hopes have been brightened some also. Newark.

TEAYS VALLEY AT LOGAN ELM —Vikings in better company this week, should slip through with number one. T-V.

WHETSTONE AT WEST — Braves can't generate offense and Cowboys starting to look like City "dark horse." Try . . . West.

LANCASTER FENWICK AT WEST JEFFERSON — Should be biggest test to date for Keel's Riders but we'll stick with Madison County crew. W-J.

CANAL WINCHESTER AT AMANDA — Indians had better generate some offense in a hurry if they wish to continue Mid-State title aspirations. This time . . . C-W.

MARION - FRANKLIN AT CENTRAL — Pirates beginning to come but Devils still have edge M-F.

WASHINGTON C.H. AT FRANKLIN HEIGHTS — Falcons obviously learned something from that first-game setback. F-H.

VINTON CO. AT HAMILTON TWP. —Topping's untracked and Rangers may be on the move again. H-T.

MARYSVILLE AT GROVEPORT— If Cruisers can eliminate miscues they could be factor in Mid-Eight race. Close but . . . Groveport.

MT. VERNON AT WHITEHALL— [illegible] rugged E-M on the ropes Friday and — with fewer errors — should find OCC opener fruitful. Whitehall.

SATURDAY

WEHRLE AT READY — Both clubs look improved over '67 elevens and this CCL opener will bear watching. Try . . . Ready.

Sleepiest Room? Wake It Up!

The sleepiest room in the house can wake up to new living possibilities with the help of today's artful decorating and furnishings techniques.

Even when space is at a premium, the bedroom lies dormant two-thirds of the day in most homes according to modern home design experts.

Yet sometimes just the rearrangement of furniture or the addition of a desk or bookcases, for example, will turn bedrooms-for-sleeping only into individual "living rooms."

Whether designed for reading, sewing, TV-watching or relaxing, the bedroom should provide each member of the family with a "privacy zone" or retreat from the world, say today's home furnishings experts.

Lack of space need not be an obstacle to decorating a bedroom-retreat. To demonstrate ways to conquer space and fit extra hours of living into the home examples of designers' model settings have been recreated and will be on display at many leading Columbus furniture dealers during a gala fall open house celebration, Sept. 29 and continuing for one week.

The national program is being conducted by the National Retail Furniture Association in cooperation with the Better Homes & Gardens, which previewed the "Round-the-Clock bedroom" settings in recent issues.

Blending the creative and practical approach to decorating, the round-the-clock displays will have the common goal of fitting more living room into the bedroom with the help of modern decorating know-how. Be it sanctum, "pad" or playroom for tots, the bedroom is everyone's private "living room."

Today's home furnishings world abounds with ideas and specific designs for overleaping a house's architectural and spatial shortcomings. Their solutions hoard space, while liberating it, apply to large and small rooms alike.

WELFARE DIRECTOR OUSTED

Community Reacts To Crisis

By JOHN MORGAN
and SYLVIA BROOKS
Spectator Staff Writers

Franklin County Welfare Director Tom Brittenham has been dismissed from his post, but questions surrounding his ouster continue.

County Commissioners surprised few close to the welfare scene with their decision Monday to fire Brittenham, although they also seconded recommendations for a state audit of the welfare department. Commissioner Robert Southwick also added: "We will accept recommendations for more financial help for the department."

A sampling of community leadership and those close to welfare questions revealed these reactions to the dismissal:

• MICHAEL SEIDEMANN, acting welfare director:

"I hope the staff will recognize that the first obligation is to the clients and the community. I know that if we do that we ought to be in good condition.

"I know this is demanding a lot under difficult circumstances. I recognize that there are a lot of personal feelings wrapped up in this. I will try to do the best I can.

". . . Without total cooperation at this time it will be impossible. The job is bigger than one man and will take the cooperation of all."

• VIRGINIA McCURDY, Welfare Rights Organization:

"This thing was set up. Commissioner Southwick said he would fire Brittenham regardless of anything. They made their decision when both Brittenham and Leza Gooden (second in command to Brittenham) were out of town.

"I feel it was a terrible thing."

• MARVIN ADAMS, Deputy Director, State Department of Public Welfare:

"My personal reaction of the announcement of Mr. Brittenham's dismissal is not relevant because as deputy director I have no authority as to who is hired or who is dismissed by the County Commissioners.

"Under Ohio Law the County Commissioners must establish a county welfare department and hire a director. The state concern is not as to whether an individual functions effectively but as to whether the county department operates effectively.

"Regardless of who acts as director or who may be subsequently appointed, the Columbus District Office will continue to determine whether county operations are subject to reimbursement from state and federal funds and to offer supervision . . ."

• WALTER TARPLEY, Executive Director, United Community Council:

"O.K., so it's done — the firing. What next?

"Is welfare going to drift or will the commissioners provide the best welfare services to Franklin County to the best of their ability . . .

"Now is the time . . . to move the system to one of benefit to people so the social work community and the commissioners can place the department on its own footing."

• BERNARD J. WOHL, National Association of Social Workers member:

"My response to this is that it is a witch hunt and they are dealing with this on a personality level.

"Tom Brittenham is a competent social worker and a competent administrator. I feel this kind of thing has been perpetrated by the State Department of Public Welfare and the County Commissioners. The State Department is certainly involved. They don't want to give welfare recipients more money. They want to maintain budgets, not human lives . . ."

• A STATEMENT from the American Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employes (excerpts of release below):

"There is no hope for the Franklin County Welfare Department under the present policies of the Commissioners. They say they are going to hire a director. This may be easier said than done.

"Few directors want to contemplate the type of treatment afforded the outgoing one. Besides, the National Association of Social Workers has warned NASW members — which includes those eligible for the directorship — about employment under present labor conditions.

"The welfare department is controlled by three county commissioners, who have no recognizable control over them . . .

"It should also be observed how little real protection is offered by Civil Service because of the financial expense involved in any appeal and the time factor.

"But even if a competent and satisfactory director could be found, he will not be able to aid the department so that the taxpayer's money will be well spent and the recipients' needs adequately met without a competent and well-trained staff. And this depends on a satisfactory solution of the present labor dispute which has been pending since December, 1967.

"Failure to resolve this labor dispute has resulted in insurmountable recruitment difficulties and an abnormally high staff turnover . . ."

• MRS. ROBERT LAZARUS, JR., League of Women Voters:

"Our first concern is always that we have the best possible welfare program and that we must have community support for the program.

"Recent developments may seriously harm the faith of the community in welfare. Unless there is cooperation and understanding we cannot build a program."

• WILLIAM DAVIS, President of Columbus Branch, NAACP:

"The commissioners have been aware of this problem for many years.

"Their recent action is simply a smoke screen to cover the real reason: Tom Brittenham is sympathetic to the poor and they are not."

Southwick said at the Monday meeting: "Our only solution is to discharge Mr. Brittenham," and Commissioner Henry Koontz concurred in this decision.

Seidemann will continue to function as acting director.

Welfare Advisory Board head Dean Phillips said he was grateful that commissioners had accepted some of the board's recommendations. But he continued, "We are disappointed with Mr. Brittenham's situation."

He said the advisory board would assist commissioners in looking for a new director.

Commissioner Koontz added he believed "clients will not suffer with this move (Brittenham's ouster). Employes are dedicated; everything will run smoothly."

Reached by telephone an hour after County Commissioners went ahead with plans to dismiss him, Tom Brittenham seemed unsurprised by their decision.

Brittenham had not yet received official word of his dismissal at that time.

"If I was fired I want to see the charges and then I'll probably want to appeal," the welfare director said.

Brittenham said he wanted to speak to the charges — which he said the commissioners must prove.

Although not caught off guard by the decision to oust him, Brittenham added: "I won't be remaining silent." He said he believed some issues in the case had not yet been discussed.

Lazarus Straw Market To Host Visiting Craftsmen

The skills and crafts of Appalachian and European craftsmen will be demonstrated at Lazarus the week of Sept. 23 amidst all the color and excitement of an old fashioned market-place.

The Straw Market will be located in Lazarus sixth floor Assembly Center and will feature hundreds of interesting and unusual items of merchandise available today. Main attraction of the market-place will be the visiting craftsmen working at their trade.

The Appalachian artists who will demonstrate their craftsmanship are: Mrs. Lavina Graves of Mt. Vernon, Ky., making dried apple and cornshuck dolls and Chester Cornett, ward carver from rural Kentucky, who will make colonial rockers and ladderback chairs from select hardwoods. The fact that there's not a nail in the finished product attests to Cornett's superior carving skill.

European artisans are represented by Mr. and Mrs. Pius Villa (newlyweds) from Barcelona, Spain, who, through a process of wire sculpture, make caricatures of people from nuts, bolts and bits of wire and Mrs. Florence Dolfi, a leather worker from Florence, Italy, who will demonstrate the making of purses, eyeglass cases cigarette cases.

Demonstrations the week of the 23rd will be continuous from 10 to 5 p.m. Tuesday, Friday and Saturday, and from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Interpreters will be provided for the European craftsmen so they can answer questions from customers.

CROSS TOWN

If you're going to get married on Friday the 13th, then why not have your medical school roommate perform the ceremony? Sound ridiculous? Not if you are WILLIAM ROBERTS of 129 Beechwood Rd. in Whitehall and your roommate at the Washington University School of Medicine happens to be the REV. ALAN ROBERT COHEN of the United Church of Christ.

Medical student Roberts is the son of WILLIAM ROBERTS of Whitehall and the late Mrs. Roberts. His bride is the former KATHLEEN ANN YOUNG of Lebanon, Pa.

Our longtime friend, BETTY EADS of the Broadmoor Beauty Salon has purchased Italo Coiffures at 616 S. Yearling and changed the name to Boutique Coiffures. In the new shop are operators LORETTA PACK, PAM WILSON, SHIELA ROSS and MR. KENNETH, all of them experts in their fields.

We've got a winner in Reynoldsburg. MRS. ALVIN ROBERTS of 6360 Portsmouth Dr. won the Rosette, the grand award, in the crafts division of home arts at the Ohio State Fair.

The Rosette goes to the person winning the most ribbons for entries. Mrs. Roberts took home nine ribbons for Christmas crafts and ornament entries.

New in town is DR. GARY J. STOMBAUGH, a dentist specializing in the practice of orthodontics. His office is in the Asbury Professional Building at 3494 S. Hamilton Rd. He's a 1962 OSU Dental School graduate and a veteran of four years in the Air Force.

Welcome to town to ART AUSTIN, bartender at German Village's Bavaria Haus restaurant. He'll hold a housewarming party for his co-workers Sunday at 2 p.m. at 104 Nursery Lane.

Politically, strange things are happening Cross Town. Our two congressmen seem to be getting just a little mixed up. REP. SAM DEVINE has his campaign office located in REP. CHALMERS WYLIE'S district at 50 W. Broad. And smack in the middle of Devine's district on the east side, an overzealous campaign worker stuck a "Re-elect Wylie" sticker on a stop sign.

Ah, those elections . . .

See you all next week, Cross Town.

Brittenham Charges 'Lack Of Good Faith'

Franklin County Commissioners failed to act in "good faith" during negotiations, ousted Welfare Director Tom Brittenham has charged.

At a staff meeting Tuesday, Brittenham said: "I made efforts to negotiate and in the middle of the negotiations the other side leaked information to the news media without agreement on our side."

Tuesday evening Brittenham again repeated his claim: "When you negotiate in good faith — and have a gentleman's agreement — and it's broken, what can you do?"

In a prepared "open letter" to Franklin County Brittenham urged citizens and concerned organizations to petition Gov. James Rhodes to appoint a statewide task force on public welfare. This recommendation was one of many sweeping changes in Ohio's welfare system asked.

He suggested steps be taken to remedy what he termed an "antiquated" operation. "An operation which permits and even encourages different welfare programs in 88 counties should be streamlined . . ."

In an obvious slap on the wrists of commissioners Brittenham said: "What is essentially an urban problem is being dealt with by county officials and that to my thinking is unrealistic."

Speaking again of the commissioners he added: "It is vital for all citizens to recognize that their county commissioners fail to understand and accept the fact that if you really want a welfare program which is rehabilitative in nature you must invest money."

'Huge' Vinton Arrives To Tilt H-T Field

By JACK WITTENMEIER
Spectator Sports Editor

Enthusiasts for the forward pass probably feel they aren't getting their money's worth at Hamilton Township this season.

The Rangers only threw twice last weekend and completed none but H-T coach Bruce Burnham probably doesn't care if his eleven never throws another aerial.

HAMILTON presented their new coach with his first varsity victory (12-0 over Grandview) — thanks to a 188-yd rushing effort (and two TDs) by fullback Gary Topping in 24 tries and halfback Jim Gorcyzca's 4.5 yard-per-carry average in 14 carries.

[illegible] pair helped H-T to a [illegible] rushing total while a [illegible] when it had to be" [illegible] defense limited the Bobcats to 175 yards worth of real estate.

With personnel which includes a 300-lb. tackle, 245-lb. halfback and 195-lb. halfback, Vinton obviously finds little excuse to get off the ground.

"They just tell you where they're gonna' run it and dare you to stop 'em," quips Burnham of his visitor's strictly straight power T attack.

"THEY'RE just huge," Bruce adds. "I don't doubt this will be the biggest team to play here in ten years."

The Ranger mentor will be shoring up his interior defenses to ward off Vinton's grind-em-out attack which hits almost exclusively inside end.

Few run over the visitor's 5-4 defense either—not with a pair of inside linebackers which average a hefty 200 pounds.

BUT BURNHAM is looking for another big effort from his defensive unit also — an encore of the job he got last weekend vs Grandview.

"They (the defensive unit) won the ball game for us," relates the Hamilton mentor. The Ranger defenders held the Bobcats three times inside Hamilton's 15-yd. stripe—halting the new Mid-Eight entry once after a first-and-goal advancement to H-T's six.

Also encouraging was a reduction in Ranger penalties (down to two). "We cut down on execution mistakes also," Burnham beamed. "It makes the difference between winning and losing."

NEW ADDITIONS to the "110 Percent Club" (besides Topping and Gorczyca) were defensive end Dick Coogan and middle guard Bill Ryan.

GROVEPORT

Cruiser mentor Bob Starr admitted he was "as pleased as you can be when you get beat 44-14," Friday evening.

Groveport kept visiting Reynoldsburg hanging on the ropes for one quarter Friday before the Raiders broke away from a 6-6 deadlock with a productive second frame.

THE CRUISERS amassed 236 rushing yards, adding 88 more on six-for-15 and two-for-seven efforts by quarterbacks Mark Boyer and Steve Williams respectively.

"I don't know what they (Reynoldsburg) totaled (410 yds.) but I know (Raider HB Mike) Davis hit us for 202 yards in 20 carries," moaned Starr. "He made the difference in the ball game."

Davis tallied four times — all of them coming after the first period when Starr "got feeling like maybe we're gonna' take this one."

THE "GAME-BREAKER" was a 63-yd. dazzler by the slippery Reynoldsburg back. "Eight or nine of our guys got their hands on him, but he just wiggled away," related Starr.

"After the first two he scored, our defense got so conscious of him it opened things up for them in that second period."

The Groveport mentor lauded the play of halfbacks Larry Stinson and Robin Worch against the Raiders plus the "up-front" work of "outweighed but not out-fought" Andy Lyles (center), Don Stokes (tackle) and Frank Balsimo (guard).

STARR SEES no better time tomorrow evening to snap a two-game Cruiser losing streak with initial Mid-Eight foe Marysville the visitor.

The Monarchs bring an identical 0-2 mark into the game and as yet have not dented an opponent's goal line.

Starr hopes to keep that aspect of the Monarchs' game intact but will have to master Marysville's full-house T and two-sided I attack to manage the feat.

NUMBER ONE offensive threat looks like halfback Tom Kestella, a quick pitch and off-tackle artist Starr rates as "almost 80 percent of their offense."

"They like to throw the ball also," the Cruiser mentor adds. "Their patterns are good but, up to now, their line hasn't given their quarterback much time to throw.

"But, if they saw our pass coverage problems against Reynoldsburg, you can bet they'll be throwing against us," Bob concluded.

DEFENSIVELY, the Monarchs show a five-man front with stacked linebackers — sometimes as many as three crowded in behind the tackles.

Except for a pair of big defensive linemen (200 and 265 lbs.), Marysville will be comparable in size to the Cruisers.

MAVERICK

By Richard L. Paugh

WITH MUDDY SHOES

I can remember taking a stroll down Canal Street in New Orleans and seeing the old percussion Colts displayed in pawn shop windows during the early 1940's.

No one wanted the heavy old burdensome muzzle-stuffers. A ten dollar bill would take the best of the bunch.

TODAY, outside of gun shows, I wouldn't know where to buy a percussion for any amount of money. Along about 1950, gun collecting came into its own as a good middle-class hobby. The going price for a Navy Colt in fair condition is around $200 these days.

The same is true of muzzle-loading rifles. They are almost non-existent to the buying public.

Last year when I moved into a newer house, there was a fireplace in the den and I felt real pain at not having a decent antique rifle to hang in the customary spot.

I MUST have been living right because, not long ago, I got a call from a neighbor who wanted to know how to sell a gun for a friend of his.

I offered to set a fair price but was amazed to learn that it was not only a muzzle-loading rifle but the exact gun I had hoped someday to own.

RESEARCHING back in the records, I found in an 1873 history of Columbus the following statement: "There are in the city two manufacturers of (guns and pistols), employing a cash capital of $4,000 and three hands, occupying real estate valued at $15,000, and doing a business in 1872 that amounted in the aggregate to $9,500."

Back then, in order to write a book, it was necessary to sell advertisements to pay the printer and on page 472 of the same book, I found a "commercial" for C. SEIBERT, Manufacturer and Importer of guns, rifles, breech-loading shot-guns.

Also, fishing tackle and everything pertaining to the sporting circle. The shop was located at 217 S. High St.

THE ADVERTISEMENT was evidently in error on the spelling of the gunmaker because my rifle has the legend "C. SIEBERT" on the barrel.

In the book "American Gunmakers" by Satterlee and Gluckman, Christian Siebert was born in Frankfort, Germany in 1822. His family settled in Columbus when he was ten.

The present Siebert Street on Columbus' South Side was named after the family.

CHRISTIAN opened his shop in 1851 with the help of his younger brother Charles. Siebert guns were manufactured from 1851 until 1915 when Charles died.

Their shop apparently moved around a lot for I find them also listed at 253 S. High and 279 Main St. (then called Friend St.).

My gun is .45 caliber with a heavy match barrel and a tiger maple stock.

I WOULDN'T trade it for a dozen new guns.

Boy Scouts' Fanfare Heralds Opening of Biggest UA Fair

A fanfare by the Boy Scout Drum and Bugle Corps will [illegible]ald the opening of United [illegible]eal's "FanFair" which [illegible] kick off its 1968 campaign.

"FanFair," UA's first agency fair, is scheduled from 2 to 7 p.m., Sept. 22 in Veterans Memorial Exhibition Hall.

UA's "Pageant of Services," featuring 70 beneficiaries of UA services, will be staged in Vets Auditorium at 3 p.m.

The public is invited to attend the event, sponsored free by area businesses.

Among 80 live action displays will be a first aid demonstration, pottery making by cerebral palsy victims, model day nursery, Boy Scout signal tower, live raccoons cared for by boy and girl campers, scuba diving and "Tiny Tot" swimming in a 12-foot pool.

The displays represent services of 51 of UA's 69 health, family and character-building agencies.

J. William Henderson, 2471 Sheringham Rd., chairman of the campaign, said free diabetes, hearing and pulse rate tests would be provided.

"This is the chance for every Franklin Countian to see some of the 250 actual services which their Fair Share gifts provide to more than 500,000 local residents each year," Henderson commented. "This is the largest public event United Appeal has ever sponsored locally. It is designed to let everyone see UA agencies in action. At Veterans Memorial, under one roof, everyone can view these services which protect the health and family and help stabilize our community," he continued.

"FanFair" opening in Vets Exhibition Hall will include Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner, UA campaign volunteers and other community leaders.

A concert by the North American Rockwell Band will be featured.

At 3 p.m., music by the 300-voice chorus consisting of nine industrial choirs will set the mood for the tableau of agency beneficiaries. The 1968 campaign's poster boy, Timmy Miller, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Miller, Jr. of Hilliard, will make his first official public appearance.

Following the pageant, the Salvation Army Band will play at 4 p.m. in the Exhibition UA "theater."

A 5 p.m., entertainment will include a Big Brother-Little Brother duet; judo and karate demonstrations, YMCA; brass ensemble of the Boy Scouts, folk singers from the Red Cross; Indian dancers, from Boy Scouts and YMCA; women's gym team from Jewish Center; blind musicians' combo from the Vision Center and a Boy Scout benediction in sign language.

'Huge' Vinton

Starr still holds out hope for his Cruisers to be a factor in the Mid-Eight race this fall.

"EVERYBODY in the Mid-Eight got beat Friday — and our 14 points were more than any of them managed to score," the Groveport grid boss points out.

CANAL WINCHESTER

With his once-productive offense suddenly gone dormant, Winchester coach Mike Locke hopes Amanda's Aces (his Indians' Mid-State host tomorrow evening) don't correct a similar malady — at least for a few more days.

C-W has totaled five TDs in the outings but that's exactly five more than Amanda has been able to generate this season — blankings by Logan Elm (27-0) and Millersport (41-0) responsible for Clearcreek's 0-2 standing to date.

Amanda handed Winchester one of its two Mid-State setbacks (20-0) last fall, helping to deprive Locke and his Indians of a loop title in the former's maiden season at the C-W helm.

The Indian coach admittedly wasn't too happy with Friday's narrow 14-6 verdict over Pickerington but admitted that things should brighten some tomorrow with the expected return of back Gary Kemmerling and lineman Keith Babbert.

KEMMERLING'S return would help take some of the pressure off halfback Chuck Carpenter who Locke admits has been keyed by opposition defense in C-W's first two outings.

"They were playing Chuck man-to-man with their best line-backer Friday," Locke related. "We just couldn't sustain anything."

Despite the defensive attention, Carpenter piled up 149 yds. in 19 carries (figuring in both of Winchester's second-period TDs) and pulled in all four of QB Chris Hanners' completions (in 10 attempts) for 81 yards.

IN ALL, C-W totaled 411 yards (330 rushing).

Defensively, Locke credited linebacker Keith Schiller and ends Don Richardson and John Durbin with top efforts.

Besides their lone TD, Pickerington's next best scoring effort came after the Tigers gobbled up a C-W punt fumble on the Indians' 20.

WINCHESTER held and missed out on a third score itself as the final gun halted them on Pickerington's half-yard line.

TEAYS VALLEY

Dick Kidwell and his Viking gridders try to break into the win column for the first time this season tomorrow at Logan Elm — hoping a more comparable size foe will help the situation.

After a scoreless first period, Circleville broke through for a 26-6 verdict last Friday, the Tigers doubling the total yardage statistics (300-150) on the Vikings.

KIDWELL credited linebacker Rick Stewart and middle guard Chuck Jackson with the top defensive efforts Friday, adding end Ed McCord and tackle Don Stir to his offensive list.

Kidwell, who expects his Vikings to face a 4-4 defensive alignment tomorrow, describes Logan as "a medium size team which has all 11 men going both ways."

LOGAN downed Amanda (27-0) in its '68 opener, dropping a tight 8-6 verdict to New Lexington St. Aloysius last weekend.

PIN NEWS

Keglers' Korner

By NORMA KIRKENDALL

When granted practice time before a league match or a tournament the smart bowler concentrates on rolling his strike ball.

Other bowlers may waste valuable practice time aiming at the 10 pin. But one may not get the 10 pin leave in a league session, while he is trying for a strike in each frame.

IF YOU have trouble with the 10 pin, or with other spares in that area, you should schedule a practice session for yourself and spend time concentrating on controlling the ball when rolling at that area.

If you are not satisfied with some facet of your game, such as a three-step delivery or a hook which breaks too much, don't tinker with your game drastically until summer time.

Then you can make changes without affecting the success of your team. It is only fair to the other members of your team.

MOST BOWLING establishments have a recognized star bowler on their staff to aid bowlers who want to improve their game. Ask him to study your game and try to discover your flaws and ask him to check your bowling ball.

In your practice sessions, don't bowl as you would in a game. Instead, forget about your score and try to concentrate on just one thing at a time.

In one session, polish your delivery and timing. Next time, work on delivering your ball over your spot. Then get your hook down pat so you can hit the pocket with every ball you roll.

THE NEXT time roll every ball for the pocket and ignore the pins that are left. Then concentrate on your spare leaves, working from both the right and left sides.

Only by concentrating on one thing at a time can you really smooth out your rough spots and boost your score.

Try if possible to practice a little every day rather than long hours over the weekends. You'll develop consistency faster by steady practice than by intermittent sessions.

Little Bucks Roll, 67-0; Seek No. 50 Saturday

The Little Buckeyes served notice to fellow Boys All-American League (BAAL) foes Sunday that 1968 might be another big year for the Tom Krieger-coached gridders.

The Little Bucks steamrolled to a 67-0 win over Devonshire in the loop opener with halfback Craig Woods showing the way with three TDs (17, pass interception, runs of 42 and 24 yds.).

OTHER touchdowns were recorded by QB Monty Hannah (49, 38 runs), HB Chip Jakeway (35, run), HB Ron Callander (12, run), FB Ed Hatem (4, run), FB John Wirthman (13, run) and HB Tom McKelvey (22, run).

Meanwhile, the Leawood Raiders (who scored on the Bucks in last week's loop preview), handled the Fiji 500's, 20-0.

End Joe Bockman (35, intercepted pass), HB Ben Chalfant (29, run) and QB Carl Rankin (5, run) tallied for the winners.

THE LITTLE Buckeyes will be shooting for "golden" number 50 (in a row) Saturday when they hit the road for Ridgeway, O. and Mt. Victory's Little Gophers. Game time is 8 p.m.

The other loop game finds Leawood traveling to Devonshire for a 2 p.m. Sunday tilt with the Chargers.

The Tax Increase--Do Or Die For City Services?

By ROBERT TENENBAUM
Managing Editor

(First In A Series)

Columbus voters will decide their own futures Nov. 5.

It is on that day—Election Day—that they will rule on the fate of a proposed increase in the city income tax, from the present 1 per cent to 1½ per cent, to provide for the ever-increasing cost of city services.

And it is a decision that will affect not only Columbus' more than 500,000 residents, but thousands of Franklin Countians who live outside the city but work—and thus pay income taxes—in Columbus.

The Sensenbrenner administration says—bluntly—that the tax increase is a do or die proposition. It says that if the proposal is defeated, city services will have to be curtailed drastically in order to maintain even a balanced budget.

OPPONENTS — and so far they have not made themselves heard to any great extent — agree that without the increase, services will have to be curtailed. Their basic argument is that the taxpayers cannot afford an increase and that austerity is then the answer.

The figures involved are staggering to the average [illegible] The general fund budget for 1968 shows expenses of [illegible],800,000. The projected budget—based on the assumption that the tax increase is approved—calls for expenditures of $49,500,000.

But the administration and supporters of the measure hasten to point out that the large increase—nearly $17 million per year in just five years—is, in fact, an austere budget.

THE ENTIRE RECEIPTS from the income tax increase, they point out, will be channeled into just three areas of spending — police and fire protection, sanitation and parks and recreational services. They say increases in existing taxes will permit at least a maintaining of other services at existing levels. They do not allow for increases in any other services—merely maintenance of existing levels plus the inflation that is bound to force up the cost of those services over the next five years.

They are using as their key arguing point the fact—and it is a documented fact—that Columbus residents pay far and away less in taxes than do the citizens of Ohio's five other largest cities.

The chart accompanying this article tells the story. The per capita tax payments, both property and income taxes, by Columbus residents last year amounted to $42.76 for city services. That, of course, excludes schools.

The nearest of the other major cities was Toledo with per capita expenditure of $61.96, an increase of nearly one-third over the Columbus figure. The others were Akron, $69.51; Cleveland, $81.50; Cincinnati, $83.40 and Dayton, a whopping $91.16.

How the Columbus figure has been kept down will be discussed later in this series. Also to be included are discussions of where the mopey goes, where it comes from and exactly what the tax increase would mean to the citizens of Columbus.

Groveport Moves To Annex Acreage Including Ricart's

An annexation move is on foot in Groveport again.

Council went on record this week as being in accord with Planning and Zoning's recommendation that the legal steps be taken that can result in bringing the Ricart Ford Agency and adjacent acreage into the village.

THE AREA in question is bound on the west by the outerbelt, on the south by the C and O Railroad, on the north by New 33 and adjoins the existing corporation line to the east.

Council looks at the possible annexation as the first phase of following out its Master Plan which calls for Groveport to extend its boundaries west to Bixby Road, east to Canal Winchester and north to Old 33.

Although it was stated "Ricart wants in," it is recognized the plan is doomed without the cooperation of the County Commissioners. (They drastically cut down an annexation plea on acreage to the southwest of the village a couple of years ago on the basis Groveport could not extend sewers to the area).

HOWEVER, THE councilmen indicated they are on stronger ground on the present annexation as it would make hookup with the trunk sewer line of Columbus feasible — and this is considered the only practical solution to the sewer problem.

Such a hookup dovetails with the report made by George Scott as chairman of the Development Committee.

He reported Monday that in recent conferences with representatives of Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. and the Ohio Fuel the advice was "Begin negotiations for a sanitary sewer agreement with Columbus."

THE UTILITY officials had explained that the geographical location of Groveport makes it highly desirable for industrial development, but companies building new plants have enough trouble of their own without buying the utility problems of a community.

Emphasizing that services provide the bait to lure industry to the area, Scott stated that he had been informed that once such services are provided the village will even be able "to throw the little ones back."

"They say we can even be selective," he said.

SOLUTION TO another utility problem — that of water—was foreshadowed when Paul Bartch of the Board of Public Affairs invited village officials to meet with the Board Wednesday.

He stated tentative plans have been formed for financing expansion of the water plant which is now operating at near capacity, a fact which has invited the scrutiny of the State Fire Marshal.

Although not carrying the long range import of utility expansion, several matters before council this week can have an immediate effect in the community.

THEY INCLUDE "Fascar," off-street parking and barking dogs.

Over the objections of Frank Smith and with the rather reluctant okay of Scott, $895 was appropriated for the purchase of "Fascar," an electronic device which carries out functions similar to that of Radar — a dirty word which council prefers not to be used.

FACE THE MUSIC AT OKTOBERFEST

Art exhibits, steins of beer and a rollicking parade are all well and good at the Oktoberfest coming up next weekend at Schiller Park under the sponsorship of the German Village Business Association.

But, just as in Munich where the Oktoberfest originated more than a century ago, it is music that is the festival's real reason for being.

AND ED SPEIDEL, 207 E. Deshler, music chairman, has pulled together a program that will feature continual programs in the Schiller Band Shell, and a second series at a mobile stage parked in the northwest section of the park with strolling musicians filling in a few gaps.

The program will begin at 6 p.m. Friday with the Oktoberfest Concert Band under the direction of Fritz Saenger.

Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner will offically open the fun with a welcoming address at 7 p.m.

Scheduled for the balance of the evening in rapid-fire succession are the Battelle Brass Ensemble, the Swiss Club Singers, the Rubi All Girl Tamuritza Orchestra and Folk Dancers and Die Heidelburg Kappelle.

STREET DANCING will begin with night fall and continue until 11 p.m.

A Flag Pageant by the Student Council of Whitehall-Yearling High School will open the festivities at noon Saturday followed by the Hilliard Sing Out, the East High Sophisticates, the Capital City Pipers and Highland Dancers, and the Otterbein College Marching Band and Drill Teams.

Leading the parade which will roll at 2 p.m. will be the representatives of local schools and churches, followed by antique cars and trucks and horsedrawn vehicles bringing up the rear.

AFTERNOON performances will include the Whetstone Folk Dancers; the Nation Wide Chorus; the Nationaires led by Bob Ginther; street dancing by the Polka Geros directed by Ray Galla and the Oktoberfest Orchestra led by Lucien Tiberi.

The Village Band will play for street and folk dancing during the evening.

The Capital University Brass Choir, directed by William Millan, will break the stillness of the park at 2 p.m. Sunday, followed by the Whetstone Folk Dancers, the Lederhosen Five, the Germania Singing Society, the Polka Lots and Stan Wolawic's Polka Chips.

THE OKTOBERFEST Jazz Orchestra will be heard at 6 and Die Heidelburg Kappelle, under the sponsorship of August Wagner Brewery, appear again to cap off the three day festival at 8 p.m.

Eastland Inspection

Family Night will be held Monday at 7:30 p.m. for students enrolled at Eastland Vocational Center and their parents.

Course offerings will be explained by the staff and tours conducted to acquaint parents with the opportunities available to Eastland's students.

H. D. Chamberlain, director, is urging parents to make a special effort to attend the program to familiarize themselves with the newly-opened educational facility.

The Family Night will give parents a preview of the building which will make its formal debut to the adult public Sunday, Oct. 27.

Following the dedication program at 2 p.m., open house will be held at 3 p.m. for the general public.

According to Supt. David Marin, the entire building, now in the final stages of construction, is scheduled for completion about Oct. 15.

Enrollment is now described as stable with 500 students.

Federal Cutback Hits Hamilton Like Bombshell

Many taxpayers felt a financial wallop coming when the Hamilton Local School Board determined 13 additional mills are needed to balance the 1969 budget.

And the board and administration both publicly and privately sympathized with them.

BUT SUPT. JOHN Savel, upon whose shoulders the responsibility of balancing the budget rests, had still another wallop to relay to the taxpayers this week.

"It's a bombshell," he stormed.

He has been informed that failure of President Johnson to sign a Congressional bill restoring money to "Federally Impacted Areas" will cost the district $97,544 by the end of December.

Furthermore, information on hand indicates 1969 funds available through Public Law 874 will be only half of the $386,610 estimated, representing a further $193,305 reduction in income.

(PUBLIC LAW 874 was enacted a number of years ago to provide at least a cushion for school districts charged with the education of dependents of military personnel assigned to tax-free government installations).

In explaining the cuts, Savel stated the district is being charged with a $4,737 overpayment for reimbursement received for the 1966-67 school year and a cutback of 24 per cent of what was the total payment of $386,611 anticipated to be paid in full in December.

However, as all but 10 per cent of the original figure has already been received by Hamilton, the $35,000 check that was due in 60 days will be withheld, and almost another $60,000 withheld from the 1968-69 allotment that would ordinarily be forthcoming in March of 1969.

FACED WITH a cut-back that even the most optimistic regard as critical (no reprieve is possible from the 1966-67 and 1967-68 slashes) Savel and his staff see an advance on taxes as the only way to avoid deficit financing by the year's end.

However, this is only a stop-gap measure and will not suffice if the proposed millage does not pass either in November or at a special election in December.

Reluctant to even speculate on what will happen if the taxpayers don't come to the rescue, Savel conceded it would be impossible to open the Middle School now under construction and that half-day sessions were a lurking threat.

EMPHASIZING the seriousness of the situation (the 874 cutback this year alone represents approximately five mills) Savel stated that even with the 13 additional local mills the budget eyed for adoption two weeks ago is "out the window."

To compensate for the loss of federal money, the money will have to be spent for the basic necessities of school operation. Niceties, such as an improved teachers pay scale and building repairs will probably be shelved.

ACCORDING TO information received by Savel the four Ohio districts hardest hit dollar-wise by Washington economics are Columbus, Cincinnati, Mad River (near Wright-Patterson at Dayton) and Hamilton.

However, as the federal dollars represent only a small per cent of the budget of large city school districts, Columbus and Cincinnati are not unduly concerned.

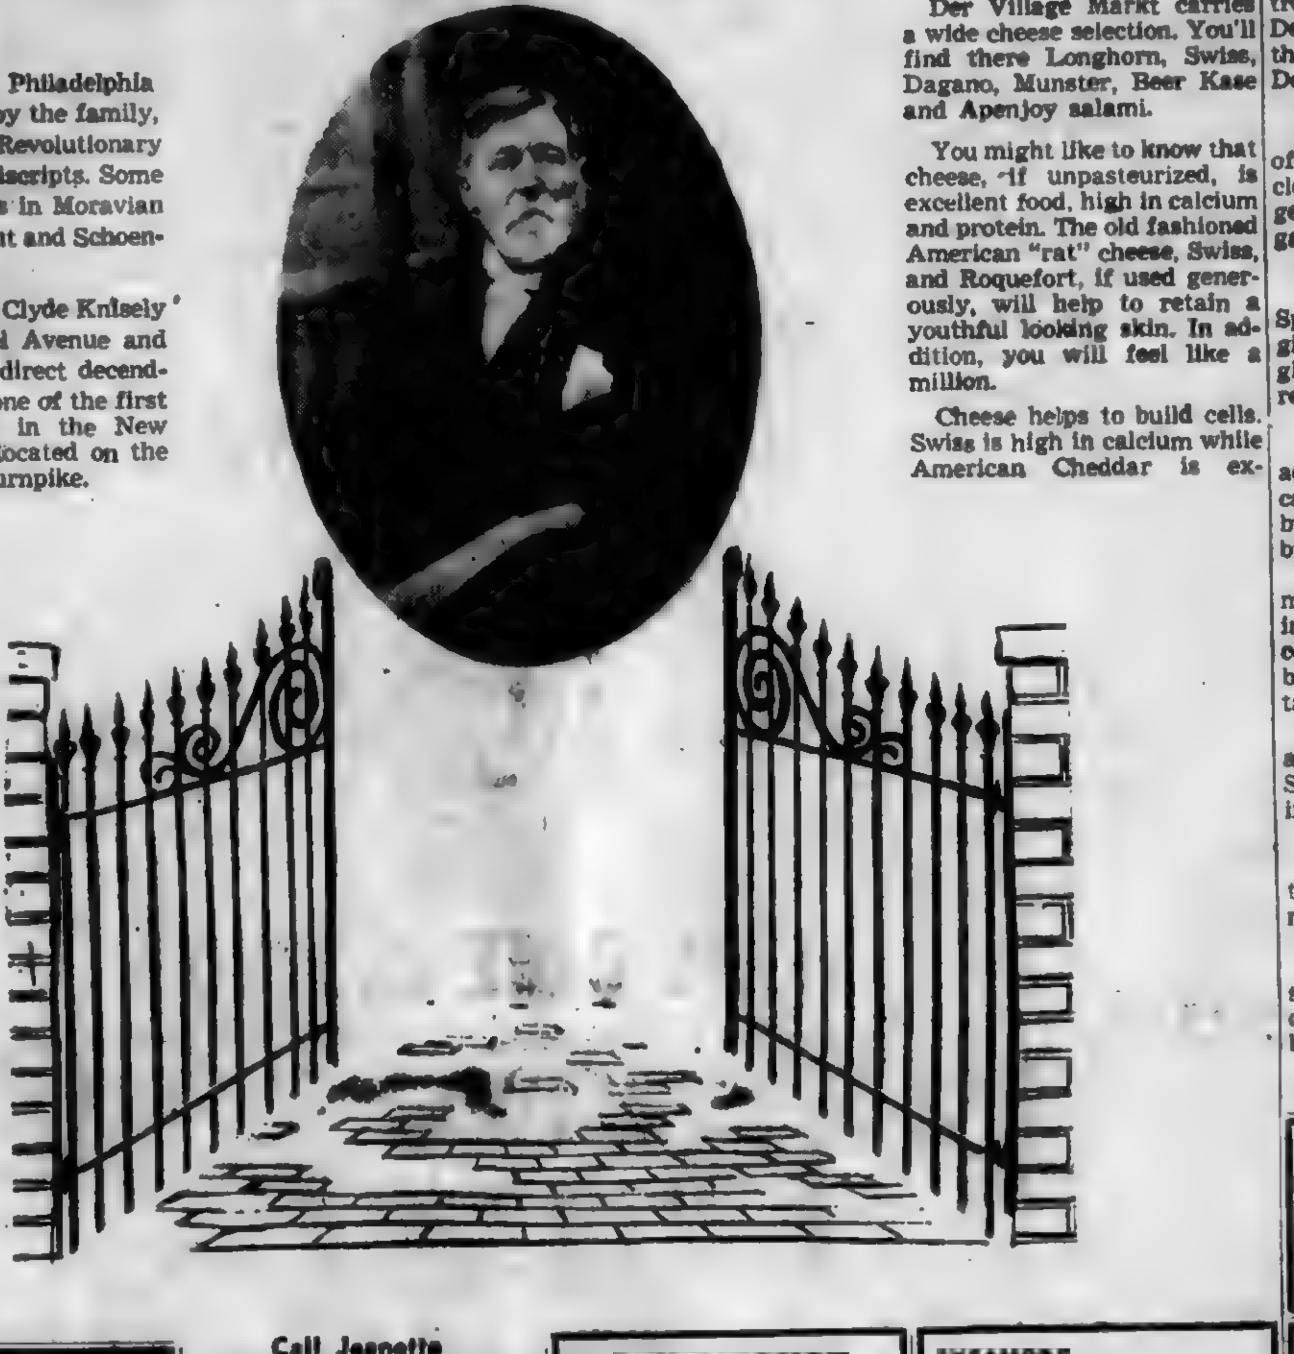
VISIT THE OLD WORLD HERE IN COLUMBUS . . .

THE GERMAN VILLAGE NEWS



John Knisely was one of the earliest Germans to migrate to America, to Pennsylvania and on to Ohio.

Land in New Philadelphia still is retained by the family, obtained by Revolutionary War soldier landscripts. Some of this land was in Moravian Indian settlement and Schoenbrunn Park.

You might like to know that cheese, if unpasteurized, is excellent food, high in calcium and protein. The old fashioned American "rat" cheese, Swiss, and Roquefort, if used generously, will help to retain a youthful looking skin. In addition, you will feel like a million.

Cheese helps to build cells. Swiss is high in calcium while American Cheddar is extremely high in Vitamin A. Der Village Markt carries these in their Delicatessen Department.

Callander Cleaning is again offering their 2 for 1 shirt cleaning specials. Don't forget to take along one extra garment.

The 1814 Shop is a new advertiser this week. Its name carries the date the house was built. It is older than Columbus.

Articles for sale are all made by Senior Citizens seeking a supplement to their income. You'll find hooked and braided rugs, bedspreads, table cloths and pillows.

Antique glass and china is also for sale. These are items Senior Citizens hope to turn into ready cash.

Joe Donaldson tells us interest is picking up in hunting needs.

Joe Brand boasts he has served most of South Siders over the years. Joe is a big booster of Southway Post.

Money orders are now available at R&R Bait Store. The cost is 30c for any amount.

At Northland Sports Car Center, you will find many Volkswagens in for service or repair. It is a busy place.

Tail Wags Dog

Ban forward passing because some teams don't field a quarterback who can throw the ball? Make team "X" go 20 yards for each first down because it averages 300 yards rushing per game?

Ridiculous?

Certainly. But maybe no more absurd than some suggestions we've been hearing about dropping Friday night football because of several isolated incidents of trouble.

We were greatly disappointed that Ohio High School Athletic Association Paul Landis should let himself be quoted that he might favor a move to afternoon games.

Landis — perhaps better than anyone else — should realize the impact of such a move.

More than ever before, high school athletic programs are leaning heavily on receipts from Friday night grid games to carry their respective programs.

Afternoon football would greatly reduce these receipts and you don't need an adding machine to see why.

And that's not even considering the upset schedule of the "proud parents" who greatly influence those receipts.

Most dads don't "punch out" after lunch on Fridays.

Saturday and Sunday afternoon high school games are no more feasible with OSU football and the pro set too strong an opponent.

Some cities have had to turn to banning night football games — as a last resort. We can't see where Columbus has reached that point.

It would appear that we have another case of the tail wagging the dog.

Those who seek physical combat off the athletic field and their immature playmates who would use the cloak of athletics to vandalize most likely would not be discouraged by daylight.

Perhaps a local TV station sums it up best with a simple placard: "It's 11 p.m. Where are YOUR children?"

Misplaced Emphasis

A recent statistical report by the Community Relations Department of The East Ohio Gas Company on college costs points to what many already know:

We have our fiscal priorities confused:

According to the report, most states contribute substantially more to their colleges and universities than does Ohio. Michigan's student financial aid is almost double that of Ohio.

Ohio takes pride in its industry and economic growth — and rightly so.

But with education such a vital part in growth, it would seem our governor must do more than cut ribbons at new community colleges.

Growth is not measured merely in terms of economics. It is measured also in terms of people.

Education is the tool to unlock "people power."

Apartments

By JOHN MORGAN

There is something downright inhuman about having to live in modern apartment complexes.

I don't care how loud urban specialists cry about metropolitan sprawl and fitting more people into less space. Urban experts usually live in the suburbs, among the rolling green lawns and the multi-colored houses.

My family has lived so long in apartments that my little girl wanted to know what that "green stuff" was growing around private homes. When anyone wanted to take a shower in our last apartment they had to lie down on the floor because there wasn't any standing room.

Our closets were so small we could only store our tooth brushes in them. My wife liked the kitchen, however. She was able to cook there while she was reading a book in the living room.

THERE IS something unreal about apartment living which reminds a resident of the impersonal world of the novelist Franz Kafka.

I'm sorry . . . but all apartment dwellers look alike to me. Maybe it's because the sameness of the surroundings has become part of them. I know of one husband who slept on the concrete lawn one night because he couldn't find his apartment door. I think a diabolical maintenance man removed mailbox numbers.

I would like to know the comparison between psychological stability in home-owners and apartment-dwellers.

Have you ever had an "apartment fit?" It's terrifying.

First, the pale green walls begin to close in as you gaze out a window into red bricks and concrete.

You run for the larger living room to get away — and discover other terrified apartment-dwellers staring into your picture window in the hopes of companionship.

There ought to be an AAA (Apartment Association Anonymous) to come to your aid. Only the empty faces and the pale green walls.

And you sit and watch the walls or listen to what seems to be the footsteps of a thousand horses beating over your head upstairs.

Sooner or later you become suicidal.

I have to hand it to urban experts, however., Unable to rip cities down and begin all over again, they have done the next best thing — created the modern way of living in apartments.

There are electric ranges, dish washers, garbage disposals and air conditioners. But these gadgets tend to make me nervous after a while.

So much controlled by one little switch that if it failed I'd be without heat, light, water, air—and my garbage would pile up on the kitchen sink.

Sameness . . . Blah.

I just might not kill myself.

Looking Down Wall Street

By LARRY GOLDBERG

The Keough Act (The Self-Employed Individuals Tax Retirement Act of 1962) permits self-employed persons to put aside part of their net income into their own individually designed tax sheltered retirement plan. There is a specific provision in the law allowing mutual fund investments as a method of funding the retirement plan.

Anyone who is self-employed qualifies for the tax benefits under the Keough Act. This includes doctors, lawyers, veterinarians, architects, manufacturer's reps, merchants, and all other sole proprietors or partners who own 10 per cent or more of their business. Anyone who works for himself in an unincorporated business or profession qualifies for the Keough Plan benefits.

If the self-employed person has employes who work more than 20 hours a week and at least five months a year, they must be included in your retirement plan when they have been in your employ for three years. Part-time, temporary, or seasonal employes may be excluded.

Your contribution for employes must be at the same percentage rate used for your contributions with a maximum of 10 per cent. You may use a lower percentage for yourself and your employes. If you have a $50,000 income and still want to get full credit of the maximum contribution of $2,500 (you only have to contribute five per cent of your employes' earning).

The tax advantage of this plan is three fold. Your contribution is fully deductable in computing your Federal taxable income and all contributions for employes are fully deductable against your income. Secondly, tax payments are deferred until you retire and receive distributions from the plan. The benefits can be received at age 59½ but before 70½ at a period when your tax bracket may be lower. If any participant should be disabled, the entire asset in his account will be distributed to him on the first day of the month following any disability.

The distributions may be periodical, where they will be taxed as ordinary income as received. A lump sum distribution will be taxed as ordinary income under a special averaging formula which works in your favor.

If one or more employes are covered under the plan, then both you and your employes have the right to make voluntary contributions. This may amount to 10 per cent of your income with a $2,500 maximum. The voluntary contribution is not tax deductable, but the income is allowed to accumulate tax free until distributed. The voluntary contributions may be more or less than your regular contributions. For exemple, you may only contribute $1,000 as your regular contribution, but still voluntarily contribute as much as 10 per cent of your earned income ($2,500 maximum). The voluntary portions may be withdrawn at any time without penalty.

Busy Man

By ROBERT W. REIDER
Editor And Publisher

REIDER

John Stanley is just about the busiest man in town these days.

As city finance director and chief advocate of the proposed one-half per cent payroll tax hike, Stanley literally is working around the clock as the political campaign tempo quickens.

A fact-filled brain and arms loaded with charts give the industrious, serious-minded city aide all the ammunition needed to satisfy skeptics.

Whether the audience is one or a thousand, Stanley readily provides the answers. Clearly on his side are a five-year projection and the facts.

Columbus is truly an all-American city, as Mayor Sensenbrenner so aptly and so frequently describes it.

And while there are times when we pridefully point out that Columbus has the lowest per capita tax rate of any city (over 300,000) in the United States, deep down we know that progress costs in dollars as well as effort . . . and our tax dollars haven't kept pace with the city's growth.

If Columbus is to become the great metropolitan center for which it seems destined, then its citizens must ante up the cash required for expanded and needed services. That's basic.

In a year when national and state questions tend to overshadow local issues, it is extremely important that civic leaders who have been dragging anchor are jolted. This is no time for bickering or petty partisanship.

It's time for united action. It's time to get the message through to every individual or group willing to listen. Columbus needs the pay tax increase. Not tomorrow. Nor next year. Right now.

Silent Majority

By ROBERT TENENBAUM
Managing Editor

Why are so many Columbusites, so many Americans, turning to the third-party candidacy of George Wallace?

There is simply no question that all of the Wallace supporters are not bigots, racists, rightists and reactionaries. Perhaps even a large majority of them are none of those things.

Why, then, can they be enamored of a man whose sole cause — at least until he became a national candidate — was perpetuation of the illegal and immoral separation of the races?

I had a clue the other day from a pleasant Worthington woman who had some things to get off her chest. She was upset because Ohio pays a lieutenant governor a large amount of money to do virtually nothing. She was upset because some of the Republican candidates were placing political signs illegally on the highway right-of-way near her home.

That, it seems, would simply make her a Democrat. But it doesn't. Because she is equally upset that Democratic leaders do nothing about the situation. She said one local Democratic candidate told her he couldn't do anything about the illegal signs because "the 'ins' can get away with it and the 'outs' can't."

And so this woman was turning to Wallace. She had adopted a "throw all the bums out and get a fresh approach" attitude.

George Corley Wallace is the only candidate speaking to that huge mass of voters Hubert Humphrey has labeled the "silent majority." While Nixon and Humphrey and Muskie and Agnew speak of Vietnam and racism and poverty and disorder Wallace talks in platitudes such as "law and order" and "states' rights" and "protecting the little people."

So disgusted is the silent majority with both existing parties that they care not that Wallace has no answers, only problems.

The fault is not George Corley Wallace's. The blame belongs to the Republicans and the Democrats alike.

And they had best wake up to the cruel, hard facts.

They must reach the silent majority.

Before it silently but effectively elects its new hero and unwittingly brings political disaster down on this nation.

Painting

By TED BEARDSHEAR

Columbus Central YMCA is holding its annual Informal School again this year.

Last year, I took the course on sketching. I took it because some five years ago I used to paint.

Painting is a passion . . . much like booze or women or writing or newspapering. It is a consuming passion. It is a full time job. I painted full time for two years and ended up doing portraits for commissions.

Then the passion went away. I ceased to paint or draw. It was something that I could no longer afford. I had to give it up for a job.

But the memory of those years linger on. They were happy years. There is something thrilling about working in color so that each stroke is like playing with pure light.

In painting there is challenge. In painting there is statement. And, if you're good enough, in painting there is art.

Those were good years. Those were the years that I learned that one paints with one's heart and that the paint is really one's blood.

Last year, as I said, I took the course on sketching.

It was like meeting an old flame . . . someone you once loved but someone for whom you no longer have any feeling. And it made me sad, much in the way that meeting an old love makes you sad.

But, in a way, it made me happy to know that my affair with art had ended. The passion did not return. I didn't give up my job for art. It was ended.

So to those who are enrolling in an art class for the first time . . . beware. You are flirting with danger. It might hook you. You may become, as I did, an addict of the brush.

I'm glad it's over for me.

Sometimes, when I see a beautiful scene or a beautiful face, I think of the brush, the canvas and the paint.

Perhaps like all passions once lived through, one never forgets.

There is always that little spot in the heart that remains.

New painters . . . beware.

Letters To The Editor

Letters for publication must bear the writer's name and address. The editors, at their discretion, may permit use of initials or pseudonyms if this is requested for a good reason. In general, preference will be given to writers willing to take responsibility for their views. Letters should be kept as short as possible. All letters are subject to editing.

WUAC Replies

To The Editor:

We wish to reply to an editorial which appeared in the Sept. 19th edition of The Spectator.

We take exception to only one premise of this editorial which is, that it is the responsibility of WUAC to initiate a compromise in our dispute with U.A.

United Appeals and United Community Council are obligated to the community for their very existence. They are further committed to the proper and frugal management of the community resources which are subject to their control; When these legitimate functi[illegible] a community supported facility are questioned, w[illegible] by the news media, citizen groups or public officia[illegible] cannot agree that it is proper for the questioner to cease and desist before any concrete, plausible answer is forthcoming. Rather, WUAC takes the position that the facility involved must take the first step in any compromise.

Irregardless of the previous paragraph, WUAC reiterates its support of the basic premises of U.A. We again reaffirm our belief in and support of the majority of the agencies funded by U.A.

WUAC's demands are not complicated nor, in our opinion, necessarily damaging to U.A, as an entity.

If the following steps were inaugurated, we would glady, suspend our operations until after the current U.A. drive is completed.

1: A public commitment that U.A. funds would be withheld from those agencies involved in our protest until a complete public investigation was conducted.

2: A public commitment by U.A. and U.C.C. that all funds, under their control, will immediately and publicly be suspended from any agency publicly linked to a controversial or political activity.

3: That a watch-dog committee, comprised of members from the private sector of our community WUAC denotes as the "average donator," be immediately instituted with certain enumerated investigative powers.

We do not expect these recommendations to be adopted, but we solicit The Spectator's comments, and/or a public response from UA/UCC.

The Candidates

By ARTHUR HOPPE

HOPPE

Mr. Nixon and Mr. Humphrey have now launched their historic campaigns to determine which shall be the leader of the Free World. And this poses a grave problem.

The problem is not that many Americans this year will cast their votes for what they believe to be the lesser of two evils. This is often true. The problem this year is that many Americans can't tell which is which.

Actually, of course, there are a number of major differences between the two candidates. And perhaps if we detail them here, it will help an informed electorate to vote intelligently.

Take experience. Both men are of humble origins, served in the House, then the Senate and capped their careers in the Vice Presidency. But despite these similarities, there are wide differences.

For example, should you hear a candidate saying "And when I was a boy, working in Dad's grocery store . . ." That's Mr. Nixon.

But if the candidate, citing his experience, says "And when I was a boy, working in Dad's drug store . . ." That's Mr. Humphrey.

So if you keep saying to yourself, "Nixon/groceries, Humphrey/drugs," you'll be sure not to confuse them.

Furthermore, while both are still publicly loyal to the Presidents they served under, Mr. Nixon had the foresight to pick a popular President to be loyal to. So if the candidate mentions the President he is still loyal to by name, that would be Mr. Nixon.

As experienced Vice Presidents themselves, both men selected their running mates on the same basis — a man the country had confidence in. The difference here is that Mr. Nixon selected Spiro T. Whatshisname while Mr. Humphrey picked Whatshisname J. Muskie. And the two are no relation.

Turning to the issues, each man has taken a forthright stand on Vietnam — the stand of a man who will not be pushed around by the Communists, a man who will never yield an inch, come what may. That man is President Johnson.

On poverty, both are opposed to it. Mr. Nixon feels that poverty can best be licked by calling on the private sector. Mr. Humphrey, on the other hand, feels that calling on the private sector is the best way to lick poverty.

Their differences on the big issue of law and [illegible] are even more crystal clear. Mr. Nixon is for law [illegible] and firing the attorney general, who is a Democr[illegible] Humphrey is for law, order and not firing the attorney general, who is a Democrat.

Both men feel that national priorities are all important. Mr. Nixon is vigorously in favor of (1) building a greater America, (2) a sound dollar and (3) racial equality. Mr. Humphrey, however, favors with equal vigor (1) racial equality, (2) a sound dollar and (3) building a greater America — neither necessarily in that order.

So the two candidates are as different as a grocer and a druggist. And all well-informed voters can now cast their ballots with confidence for the lesser.

Of course, if you still can't tell which is which, keep in mind that Mr. Humphrey is the one who smiles more. At least, before he got into all this, he did.

and
BOB WHITMAN

Marion-Franklin's Jim Harper hopes his Red Devils have gotten their Christmas shopping done early this season because (with the exception of an Oct. 4 date with Ready) it's all "league business" from here on out.

"We're still playing Santa Claus," moaned Harper of Friday's 24-12 win over Central — a game which saw his Devils outgain the Pirates 304 (220 rushing) to 115 (83 [illegible] on one play) — and still have to scramble to victory with two final-period TDs.

THE "GIFTS" (which the Pirates didn't wait until Christmas to open) included an 83-yd. TD pass ("we were asleep, just plain sound asleep") and a punt which bounced off a M-F man and set up Central's other score deep in Devil country.

Central's offensive total then — sans the long pass play — was a scimpy 32 rushing yards, a job best done by Harper's "Devil of the Week" Larry McDowell (guard) plus teammates Otie Ross, Steve Grabovich, Ron Walters, Norm Johnson and George Leonard.

Offensively, Harper passed the praise to halfback Billy K. Harris (160 yds. in 26 carries, also figured in all of M-F scoring), QB Lloyd Ball (seven-of-10 aerials for 84 yds.) plus interior linemen Grabovich, Mike Clark and Wendell Feliure.

"I KNOW I sound like a broken record," says Harper, "but our own mistakes are still our biggest obstacle. At this time last season, I thought we had reached our peak. If we can cut out those mistakes, we're gonna' be a real good football team.

"We've just got to put together a good ball game pretty soon. You can't be complacent in this game," the M-F mentor concluded.

Genial Jim sees no better time to "put it together" than tomorrow night when his Devils host CL newcomer Mohawk — taking lump one (44-0) at Linden Friday after two opening victories.

"THEY'VE GOT the same record (2-1) as us and look like a pretty good size club to me," Harper begins of the Indians.

The Devil grid boss's major defensive concerns are Mohawk's off-tackle trap and the passing of QB Lew Hale off the Indians' I-formation setup with wingback.

Hale's rollout ability and favorite target (end) Al Harris has invoked a good deal of defensive preparation in the M-F camp this week, according to Harper.

"FIELD POSITION doesn't mean anything to them. They'll throw any place, any time with the down 'n out and a delay to the opposite side the most effective patterns we've seen," Jim concludes.

The Red Devil coach looks for primarily a six-man defensive front from the Indians.

"They're still looking for that first City League win so they'll be hungry. We'll just have to be hungrier," finished Harper.

HB Marty Donley (flu) and tackle Dan Wright (ankle) will both be at "full go" for Mohawk tomorrow evening.

SOUTH

Bulldog coach Bob Jackson found some silver lining in South's second straight setback (28-20 to Hartley) Friday.

"We knew we had to bounce back after that Arlington loss," said Jackson, "and we felt the kids held in there real good.

"WE WERE down 20-6 and tied it 20-all so we feel we bounced a long way back — both from the Arlington loss

M-F'S BILLY HARRIS WAS A BUSY DEVIL

Marion-Franklin halfback Billy Harris had enough to keep him occupied Friday evening in the Red Devils' opening 24-12 City League victory over Central. Harris scored two TDs, passed for the Devils' third tally and figured in two successful extra point plays. Above, Harris (44) jitterbugs Pirate defender Harold McClure (81) into committing himself. Below, Harris takes handoff from M-F quarterback Lloyd Ball (10) and follows tackle Dan Wright through gaping hole in Central defense. Pursuing in vain is the Pirates' Jackie Roberts (32). Little Buck-Leawood Rematch Sparks 'Eastern Bowl' Twin-Bill

The first annual "Eastern Bowl Game" has been scheduled Saturday (7 p.m.) at Walnut Ridge High School.

The grid doubleheader opens at 7 with a battle between the Berwick Browns and the Eastland Vikings. Immediately following will be a re-match between the unbeaten Little Buckeyes and the Leawood Raiders.

THE LITTLE BUCKS, under Athletic Director Tom Krieger have won 50 games in a row — yielding but a few points while amassing the record.

The Walnut Ridge Pep Band will perform and Joe Hill will handle the play-by-play at the doubleheader.

ADMISSION will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. Youngsters (12 and under) will be admitted free when accompanied by an adult.

Sideliners Add Award

The Sideliners will present the "Lyal W. Clark Award" to Ohio State's "most outstanding defensive lineman" at their fifth annual "Coach of the Year Banquet" Feb. 28 at the Sheraton Columbus Motor Hotel.

The new award is named in honor of the ex-OSU defensive line coach who served at OSU for 15 seasons.

"America at Home"

FALL 1968

Quiet luxury is seen in this bedroom featuring the king-sized bed with regal headboard. The walls are covered with white damask and the damask design is carried on the bedcover and drapery treatment. Planned by interior designer Karl Steinhauser, AID, NSID, for Restonic Corporation, the room was featured by the American Furniture Mart, Chicago in the America at Home Fall 1968 program.

Ports O' Call is the theme of this living room with adjacent dining area created by interior designer, Ron Watson, NSID. The living room is decorated in a Spanish theme while the dining area is Italian. All the furniture is of oak with a light finish . . . with exception of the wrought iron tables. The velour fabrics on the chairs and sofa are accented by carved spindles used as arms. The setting was featured by Ayers Furniture Industries in the America at Home Fall 1968 program at the American Furniture Mart, Chicago.

Formal in its setting, this lovely English bedroom features rustic oak furniture with genuine carved panels. The finish on all the pieces is light. It was designed by Ron Watson, NSID, for Ayers Furniture Industries and was presented at the American Furniture Mart, Chicago, in the America at Home Fall 1968 program.

Use Of Color Is Unlimited In Decor

The uses of color are unlimited when you plan your decorating . . . it is just a matter of making selections which are comfortable and pleasant for you and your family.

Colors can make a small room larger, a dark area bright or hide bad corners or unattractive plaster.

How you select color is very important. If you have furniture which has many patterned and printed upholsteries you are wise to consider the neutrals and monochromatic colors such as beige, grey, buff or eggshell.

In addition to providing a background for your gay furnishing, neutral colors can unite living dining room areas, and they can bring flowing lines to walls that are chopped up with shelving, cabinetry, windows and door frames.

However, if you wish to use bright colors, you may wish to consider them in terms of their origins. The primary colors are: red, yellow, and blue. All other colors are derived from these three colors.

Once removed from these primary colors are the secondary colors of orange (which is red plus yellow), purple (red plus blue) and green (yellow plus blue). All other colors are found between the secondary and primary colors . . . they would be colors such as yellow-orange or blue-green.

You will want to remember that warm colors will make a room look larger while a cool color such as green will make it smaller. You will find many intensities of colors and words such as tone, hue, shade or tint applied. The word hue has reference to the amount of pigment in a color and when a color is referred to as being of full intensity it will be very strong, such as the primary colors. The tints are created when white is added to, and the more white that is added, the softer and paler the color will become.

It is most important that you feel comfortable with the color you select. Do not make a color selection because it seems to be the "fashionable" color for the season. Make your selections based on what you and your family like and find most pleasing.

Redecorating Your Home Can Be A Pleasant Family Experience

Redecorating or planning a new home can be a very pleasant experience for your entire family. The home furnishings industry has provided consumers with endless selections of merchandise at all price levels in a variety of styles and fashions.

The first thing you need do, before shopping is to develop a master plan or theme which you can use as a guide when you buy.

TO DEVELOP such a plan you should consider the needs of your family. Review with your family the uses of each room. A living room, for example, may have an activity range from special entertaining to being a haven for peaceful reading.

Secondly, think of how you want each room to appear. Do you want a reflection for interests and travels? Consider also the interests of your family . . . and, don't forget about maintenance and care.

Now, when you draw the floor plan for each room, draw the shape of the room. Allow each quarter inch to equal one foot of the actual dimensions, length and width of the rooms. A room that is 12 feet long then would be represented by three inches on the plan. Mark also the locations of windows, doors, heating units, electrical outlets and other physical qualities such as a fireplace.

NEXT DRAW little squares and circles on a separate sheet of paper. Cut them out. Use them as symbols of your furniture, tables, lamps, desks and chairs. (The professionals refer to these cut-outs as templates and use them in planning furniture placement).

When you begin furniture placement, remember that some rooms may have a natural point of interest which is the center of attention. This may be an unusual window setting or an architectural treatment. If you have such points of interest in your rooms, try to work your furnishings around them.

You should decide whether you wish an informal or formal, symmetrical appearance in your rooms. The formal appearance will require matching chairs, lamps, sofas or love seats which can be used and placed as companions, side by side or in groupings.

THE INFORMAL or asymmetrical look allows for great flexibility. You can, for example, use a sofa on the long wall, with two chairs and a table in the opposite corner. It also allows you to mix various types of furniture and provides more movement and changes of the arrangement.

Home furnishings manufacturers have made it possible for homemakers to have a wide variety of furniture and accessories to select from. And, all the merchandise is well-designed and well-built. Thus, the informal appearance of today is perhaps more exciting and attractive than it was in our grandmother's time when only the traditionally styled pieces had good construction and workmanship.

Many of the contemporary styles and the reproductions of traditional furniture are designed and scaled for today's homes. They are also styled for functionalism and comfort.

If you are going to create a focal point it is wise to work it around a large piece of furniture such as a piano, sofa, or grouping of matched chairs, or collection of paintings.

PLACE YOUR furniture . . . the smaller pieces around the point of interest. Finally, study the remaining areas of the room and use them for locating desks, chests, side tables and storage units.

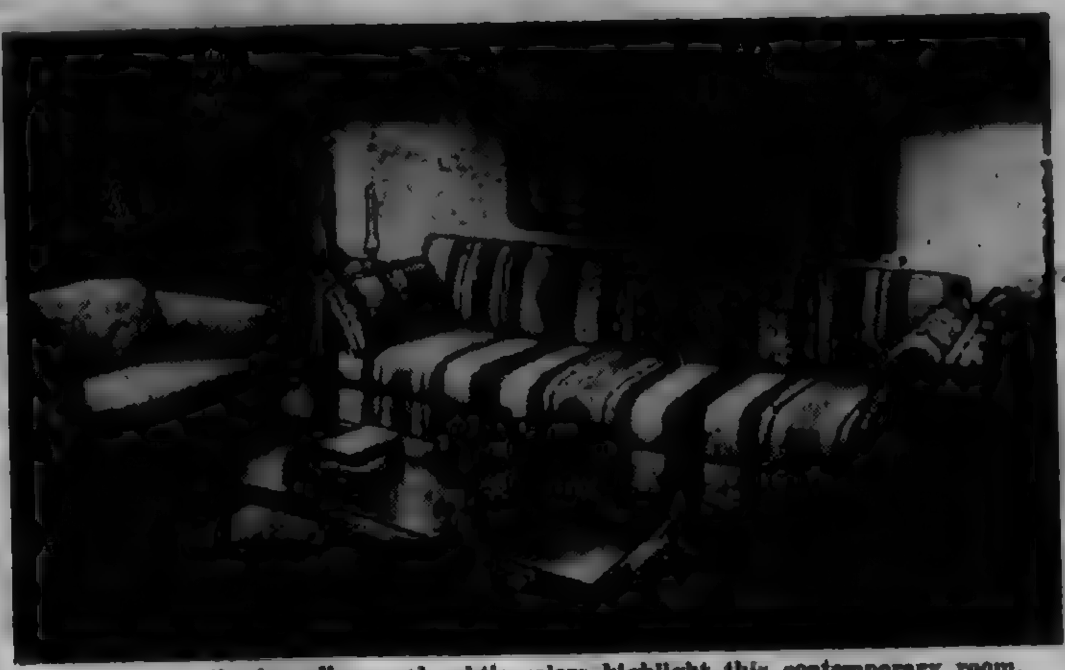
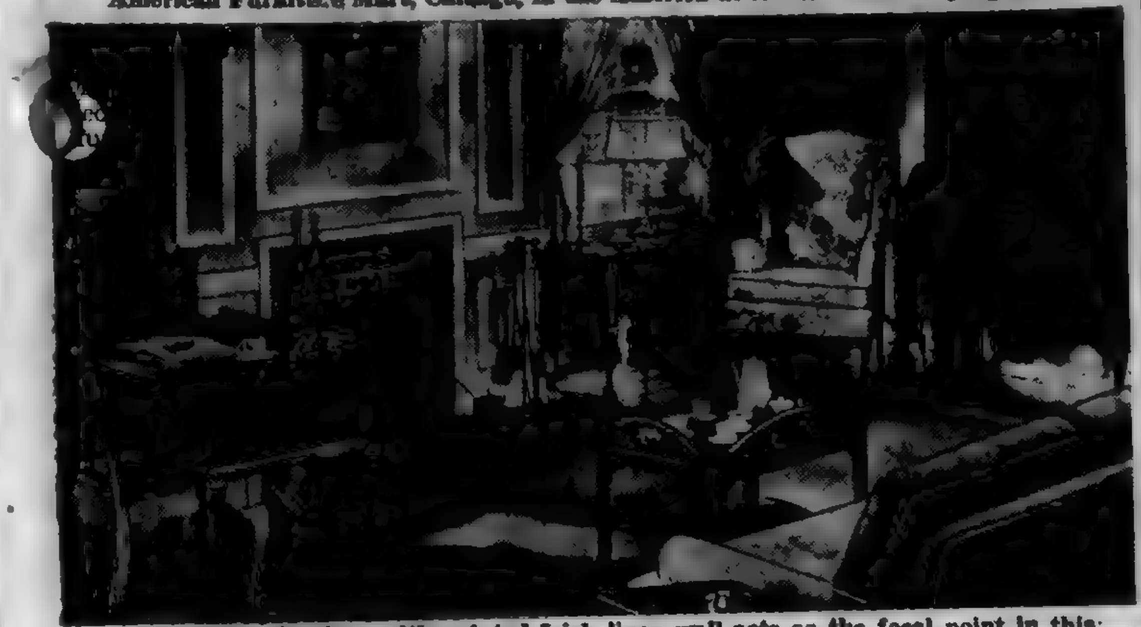
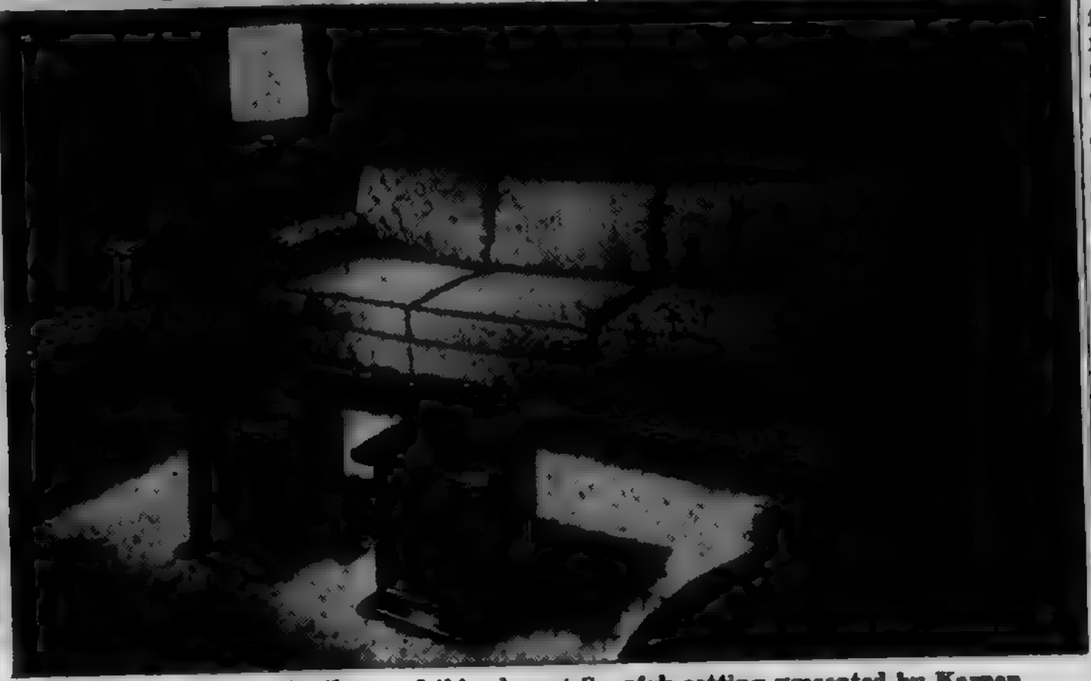
More Spanish . . . big hit of the season . . . is offered in this room featuring antique Spanish oak wood and quilted upholsteries on the matching sofas. Planned by Alfred Niederman for Howard Parlor Furniture it was seen at the American Furniture Mart, Chicago, in the America at Home Fall 1968 program.



Smooth clean lines and subtle colors highlight this contemporary room. The coffee table is chrome with clear glass as are the end tables. Planned by Robert Gera for International Furniture it ws featured in the America at Home Fall 1968 program at the American Furniture Mart, Chicago.



The fireplace with painted Irish linen wall acts as the focal point in this charming English room by Pennsylvania House. The Queen Anne style furnishings are very popular this season especially with homemakers who enjoy antiques and antique reproductions. The room, planned by Willard Sommers was seen at the American Furniture Mart, Chicago in the America at Home Fall 1968 showing.



Antigua is the theme of this elegant Spanish setting presented by Karpen Furniture in the America at Home Fall 1968 program at the American Furniture Mart, Chicago. The designer, Robert Gera, has added to the Mediterranean atmosphere by use of the heavy gilded mirror, iron sculpture and wood carvings.

Here Are Some Fall Cleaning Tips

If you are planning to paint interior walls, be sure they are free from dust and grease. Wash them and rinse off with clear water before painting.

Remember that painting areas that are corroding or rotting will extend their life and prevent repairs.

When selecting colors remember that warm colors belong in rooms facing north. And, when you are working, be sure to keep the windows and doors open, if at all possible. The fresh air will keep you peppy and will also help refresh your room.

When thinking of redoing a floor, either applying new floor coverings or paints, be sure it is free from dirt and old caked paints or varnish.

Perhaps you are planning to hire a professional painting contractor; if so, check out his work with a friend or neighbor. Then too, have him give you a contract stating what will be done and what the price will be. Also be sure you know his terms of payment. Also, be sure he and his crew are insured and that he has liability insurance against any damage that might occur to your property.

A reputable decorating contractor will have his own crews and equipment . . . If he has to go out and hire help after you have hired him, there may be something wrong, so check him carefully.

The following are preparations you should make in advance of the decorating contractor: move the furniture into the center of the room, dust the walls, wash down the greasy or dirty areas with detergent and water, move clothes out of closets, take down draperies and blinds, remove books from shelves and bookcases. By doing these small advance preparations you'll save much unecessary labor costs.

Romantic Spanish Lines Popular

Ole! Ole! There will be many rich romantic Latin and Spanish influence collections for homemakers to select from in this season's home furnishings offerings. And, sprinkled in among the very popular and exciting Spanish will be the chic, smart and high-style modern and contemporary lines.

The Spanish will feature ornate carvings . . . and the pieces all will be in a smaller scale than in the past — this is to fit in with our modern low-ceilings and smaller rooms. The colors will be flamboyant . . . with brilliance galore in the upholsteries. Both cloth and vinyl will feature a good deal of yellow and green in prints, patterns and stripes.

Looking at the modern, you'll see clean, clean lines and exciting adaptations of ideas. And the modern will also be scaled to fit today's homes. You'll also see more aluminum, chrome and steel frames wrapped around sofas and chairs. There will also be new uses of glass and plastics, molded into exciting shapes, in every color of the rainbow. The very practical and functional plastics, vinyls and laminates will appear on almost every surface.

On the way out . . . but not completely is the "Bonnie and Clyde" look of the 1930's with the overstuffed cushions and tuffing. This season it has more of a look of youth and vitality than ever before.

Turning to an old favorite of many shoppers — Early American — there will be an abundance of dark pine, maple, oak and cherry woods. Friendly and warm in attitude, Early American this season will feature cheerful prints and patterns. And, along with Early American, you'll also find some rustic English oak in the warm, honey wood grains and rustic, hand carvings.

If you are interested in Traditional and French you will also find those styles . . . and this season they'll also appear in smaller scale and with carved detail. They'll be in walnut and pecan as well as in the painted finishes. The upholsteries will be striped, floral and patterned in soft prints, Velvets . . . plain, stripe, crushed, in vibrant colors and soft earth tone will highlight the upholsteries.

Also important for the season are the matching shade and lamp bases in a variety of colors such as mustard yellow, kelley green, shocking pink or aqua blue. The patent leather look for shades, with a stress on black patent, will also be very popular.

Turning toward accessories, you will find something for every mood and every room of your home . . . from clocks and scones to paintings and ceramics. Pillows will also be in abundance in the exciting patterns and fabrics as featured in the upholsteries.

Accessories – The Finishing Touches

Accessories will bring warmth and color to your home. They will also make it come alive. The items you select for accessorizing should be reflections of the interests and personalities of your family.

Paintings, pieces of sculpture and objects of art, should, for example, be of objects and scenes which are known and enjoyed by those using the room. If your husband loves sports, why not a painting showing his favorite sport? . . . for a hunter a scene of quail, for the fisherman, a quiet lake, for the skier a crisp winter setting.

Should you enjoy plants and flowers, you may wish to turn a room divider into a miniature greenhouse . . . it will be a perfect separation for a living-dining area.

Remember, too, that small chests or commodes, usually thought of as accessory pieces, can be very functional when used in lieu of an end table, or for bedside or hall tables.

Lamps should also be selected for appearance as well as lighting. For like costume jewelry, they add drama. Today's selections feature beauty as well as function.

Be sure to remember the use of pillows when you accessorize. They are always popular and available in endless selections of color and fabric. This season they are very posh in cut and crushed velvet — in all sizes and shapes.

Sometimes there are pieces of ceramic and other treasures which you acquire on a vacation or holiday — why not include them in your room accessorizing? They will add much personality as well as decoration.

And, when it comes to accessories, it is mix and match as you wish, with selection and arrangement being most important.

Any cowboy, young or old, will feel right at home in this bit of early Americana shown here. Designed by Stan Kohrman, for Forest Products Corporation, the room is one of those featured by the American Furniture Mart, Chicago, in the America at Home Fall 1968 program. The designer has burnished pine furniture throughout. The walls have the frontier feeling of batten which has been created by use of the 1 inch strips painted barn red.

A Comfortable Room Is A Carefully Planned Room

There are some rooms and homes that are always attractive and comfortable despite the amount of activity and number of users. Why? Because the room and home has been planned for its users and uses.

And so it should be with your home. If you are planning to redecorate, think of the uses your rooms will have. Also remember to think of the people who will use them and how they'll be used. Here is a simple list to help you plan:

1. Discuss the uses each room will have with your family.

2. Draw a rough floor plan and use circles and squares to represent the furnishings.

3. Try to find the center of interest for each room on the plan. Next arrange the furnishings.

4. Once you have found the placement for the large pieces of furniture, find locations for the smaller items. This includes lamps and small tables.

5. After you have "placed" the furnishings review the room for balance of the various elements. Don't have all the big and heavy pieces on one wall, for example. Don't cluster all the large pieces around the center of interest.

6. Be sure too, that you allow for movement and traffic. Don't have any room cluttered.

7. Be sure that your lighting is also balanced. Review the locations of lamps and their uses. Study and close work areas must have good lighting. Keep the soft, subdued lighting for visiting sections of your living room or den.

8. Remember comfort, especially in chairs.

9. Remember scale. That is, small rooms should have small scale furnishings.

10. Think also of the future uses of the room. Will your children be entertaining in a few years . . . or will you have many overnight and out-of-town guests? Plan for such needs as well as for the immediate situations.

Window Treatment

When you plan your window treatment, remember what your window is for and be sure that you don't interfere with its function. If you have a good view . . . it should be enjoyed. But remember that no matter what the view by day, the glass will be black at night unless it is covered.

In a modern home or any informal room, try to use a simple treatment . . . not one that is fuzzy or frilly. The treatment must harmonize with the other furnishings of the room.

If your draperies or curtains are to be featured, make them beautiful. If they are to be a background, make them subdued.

Be sure your draperies are hung well and that they don't conflict with the opening, closing and use of the window. Windows are, in terms of both function and appearance, one of the most important features of every room.

Give Vinyl Fabric That Loving Care

We all know that vinyls and plastic fabrics don't stain often . . . that is one reason why we ask for them as upholsteries. But what do you do when a stain occurs?

To remove dirt and grime from vinyl, use a sponge with warm water and mild detergent. Allow it to soak for a few minutes so the dirt will loosen. Then rub briskly. Repeat this process as often as needed. Remember to never, never use a solvent to clean vinyls or plastics.

You can remove paint marks by using a soft cloth that has been dampened with turpentine or kerosene. Again, do not use a paint solvent or paint remover. And, when you use turpentine, pretest it on a small, inconspicuous area. Use care when working with either kerosene or turpentine.

Stains caused by a permanent wave solution or sulphide can be removed by using hydrogen peroxide. Place a clean white cloth over the spotted area and pour a liberal amount of six per cent hydrogen peroxide on a cloth and allow it to remain on the sport for 30 minutes to an hour. If the spot persists, simply allow the cloth to remain overnight. Be sure that you do not have the peroxide in contact with either stained or lacquered woods.

• If children or others mark vinyl or plastic with ink or ball point pen try to remove the mark as quickly as you can so it doesn't have time to set. Usually soap and water is effective in removing such marks.

Carpets And Carpeting On Move This Season

Carpets and carpeting are on the move this season. They are moving from the places where we usually use them, into the bathrooms, dens, kitchens, family rooms and outdoors.

And, they are running wild with patterns, lively colors and man-made fibers that give them new purpose and potential.

Much of the carpet excitement will be found in the prints . . . they have many prints and patterns. They are also tufted, needle-punched, they are tweed or textured, there are shags, bright florals, gutsy geometrics, synthetic fibers, and, of course, the natural fibers.

The new carpets are in complete harmony with the color trends in furniture. The Mediterranean wave in furnishings, for example, has made a big splash in the carpet world. And, traditional florals abound, as do the modern geometric patterns and modern abstracts some of which seem psychedelic in colors.

The man-made fibers have made it possible for every homemaker to have carpeting in areas such as the bathroom, the basement or kitchen. The new fibers are easy to clean, very durable and seem to be impervious to stains, dampness and heavy traffic. Plus the fact that many of them are backed with latex foam or other padding to give a sumptuous feeling of luxury and comfort.

When used in the kitchen, carpeting subdues the clatter of dishes, it makes it easy to blot up spills and, of course, breakage is reduced for when glasses or china are dropped, they simply bounce. The highly decorative carpets also bring new colors into the kitchen. The care is very simply done with a vacuum thus ending the tiresome scrubbing and waxing chores. But, best, of all, the carpets dress up a kitchen and take away that "kitcheny" look.

Also new is a totally upholstered bench, welt-trimmed in ostrich, embossed vinyl. It is a versatile piece and a perfect "mixer" for today's interiors.

Ryan Unveils Rymark Two In Northland Meadows Sunday

The newest Ryan model home, Rymark Two, opens this Sunday at 12:30 p.m. in Northland Meadows subdivision of Columbus and nine other cities in the Pennsylvania, West Virginia, New York and Ohio area according to an announcement by James D. Bagley, division manager.

"The Rymark series is a good example of the Ryan philosophy of building luxury homes at a sensible price," according to Bagley. Rymark Two is a two-story home with four bedrooms and two and one-half baths. The kitchen comes equipped with a 30-inch range and a Ryan exclusive — a cannery cupboard with storage in the doors. Rymark Two has 1,900 square feet of living area, and includes wall-to-wall carpeting in the living and dining rooms and in the four bedrooms.

The featured illustration of an advertisement in the October issue of Better Homes & Gardens is the Rymark Two living room. It has deep pile, earthen color carpeting complemented by a sofa and chairs done in a print material of vines and stems in harvest gold and brown on a white and off-white background. Furniture is of walnut and draperies are of white and off-white material. Locally, the interior furnishings of Rymark Two were provided by F & R Lazarus Department Store. The dining room utilizes the same print material for fabric panels, and the furniture is also of walnut.

Family room furnishings include a sofa having a floral print with yellow and reddish-rust flowers and rust background. For accent there is a lounge chair in solid rust.

Upstairs, the master bedroom is carpeted in harvest gold. Wall covering in the dressing area and bath is of pale flower outlines and solids in harvest gold over white. Accent is provided by a patterned deep red colored chair and bedspread.

Olive carpeting is used in the other three bedrooms and in the hall. The second full bath upstairs has walls of pastel flowers and an attractive olive vanity.

Rymark Two has aluminum siding to reduce maintenance to a minimum. The siding resists weather and has a 20 year guarantee. Andersen Thermopane Twindows with welded insulating glass do no need storm windows. And all Andersen windows have full screens. Landscaping at the site of Rymark Two is by Cliff Edwards Nursery. The home has a two-car garage.

Commons Offers Condominium Living

Colonial Realty of 671 High St. in Worthington is announcing the opening of Arlington Commons, a community of condominium homes in Upper Arlington.

Arlington Commons consists of "cluster groupings" of two- and three-bedroom, one, one and a half and two-story townhouses located near the intersection of Kenny Road and Windham Road in Arlington.

There are four separate floor plans. The two-bedroom models both have one floor and full basement, two full baths and breakfast area, but the "D" model also includes a dressing room.

The "B" model has three bedrooms, a floor and a half and basement, two full baths, breakfast area and entry foyer. The "C" model also has three bedrooms, two full floors and basement, two and a half baths and a curved staircase in addition to the entry foyer.

All of the homes feature central heating and air conditioning, attached two-car garage, large walk-in closets, formal dining room, color-coordinated kitchens with range, refrigerator, disposal and dishwasher and gas-starting, wood-burning fireplace.

Arlington Commons may be reached by driving on Kenny Road, turning west on Windham and then north on Castleton and east into the Commons.

There will be more and more Oriental influences in home furnishings, such as lacquered chests, screen, caning and bamboo trim.

Wallpapers Bring Design Accents

Looking for a new way to bring warmth and charm into your home? Frequently wallpapers, with their many designs, patterns, prints and murals can be your [illegible] In addition to bringing design excitement into your home the wallpapers can be used to set off furnishings.

The coming season's selection is greater than ever before and features many papers of durable vinyl. The attractive patterns range from traditional to modern motifs and include an assortment of contemporary art. There are stripes, polka dots, scenics, florals, geometric designs and soft and elegant damasks.

The flocked and embossed patterns, paisleys in large or small prints are brilliant in their colors. And the non-fade pigment colors, plastic and vinyl coatings make care an easy matter.

Then, for the do-it-yourself decorator, there is an equally large selection of the easy-to-hang prepasted paper. This category has a number of scenic and panel patterns, many of which need only be dipped in water before hanging. And the designs vary from floral and tree effects to themes showing city streets, winter scenes, contemporary figures or characters from old English novels.

Retarded children need even more understanding and individual attention than the average child. Nine year old twins receive both from two brothers at St. Martin's Home.

St. Martin Home Provides Attention And Understanding

Their parents had neither the skill nor the time to care for them properly. The amount of time and attention necessary to provide them with the sense of well-being, security and the intensive and specialized education they must receive are staggering.

Brother Michael Carlyle, superior of St. Martin's Home, has helped.

St. Martin's Home, 530 E. Rich St., houses 22 mentally retarded and handicapped children. All of these children will have to remain in an institutionalized setting for the rest of their lives. The retarded children accepted by the home must have I.Q.'s of 50 or less. Children of all religions are welcome in the home.

Brother Michael stated that the staff could handle 50 children, but the facilities in the present building are not adequate. Money is desperately needed for the expansion of the facilities.

Recognized progress among the children who are mentally retarded is slow. There is a classroom in the present building in which the students are taught arts and crafts, a little geography, reading, writing and other elements of basic education.

On Oct. 5 at Stoney Creek Country Club there will be a Golden Angels Champagne Dinner Dance for the benefit of St. Martin's.

The Golden Angels are a group of men who serve in an advisory capacity to Brother Michael.

Each year they sponsor a fund raising affair to help the St. Martin Building Fund and assist in helping the residents of St. Martin's have a homelike and active life.

Cocktails are at 7 p.m., dinner at 8 p.m. and dancing to Henry Cincione's Orchestra from 9:30 p.m. to 1:30 a.m. The donation will be $50 per couple.

The St. Martin's Home celebrated its 19th anniversary July 1.

The home was founded July 1, 1949, by Dr. William Mitchell, a Columbus physician. The Brother Martin Home, as it was called then, was established for the purpose of providing a normal home for seriously handicapped male children.

On Sept. 23, 1954, two members of the Little Brothers of the Good Shepherd officially took over the management..

The home was only the second foundation of the order which had been founded Jan. 19, 1951 in Albuquerque, N. M., by Brother Mathias Barrett.

On May 6, 1962, the name was changed to St. Martin Home.

With the founding of Good Shepherd Manor at Wakefield in southern Ohio, St. Martin's changed its function.

Handicapped men over 16 were taken care of at the Brothers' new foundation and St. Martin's Home began to acept physically handicapped and mentally tarded boys under 16.

Local Kroger Company Sponsoring Essay Contest

An educational project has been announced by the Columbus Division, The Kroger Co., throughout its trading area.

The project involves an effort to interest school children in the duties and cares of the President of the United States and in the workings of the Government.

The Kroger Co. has sent letters to all public and parochial schools throughout the area announcing the Essay Contest based on the title, "The President as a Leader."

The contest is open to school children in the fifth to eighth grades, and the essay may be written about any of the 35 U. S. Presidents.

As prizes for the best essay submitted, Kroger will award a three-day all expense paid trip to Washington, D. C. to eight students, during Inauguration week in January, 1969.

The children will tour the Capitol, meet with high-level government leaders, learn about Congress and view the Inauguration Ceremonies.

The trip will be awarded to children who submit the best essays in each of the four eligible grades, from any school in the area.

Judging will be done by an impartial committee of educators.

OHIO STUDENTS PAY MORE

Education Costs Soaring

The soaring cost of getting an education is shared by all state-supported universities, according to the Fourth Annual Report on College Costs published by the Community Relations Department of the East Ohio Gas Company.

A survey of more than 360 state-supported institutions outside Ohio shows that resident students are charged an average of $310 in annual tuition and fees. In comparison, Ohio residents pay an average of $495 in tuition and fees — nearly 60 per cent higher than the national average.

The report traced this trend to the fact that most states contribute substantially more to their colleges and universities than does Ohio. This means that Ohio students must pay higher tuition and fees to make up the difference.

The state-supported schools are not the only institutions caught in the vise of rapidly rising costs, the East Ohio report shows.

In 1950, it was estimated that the average cost of attending Oberlin College — including tuition, fees, books, clothing, room and board — was $1,365. The cost of attending the same school during the academic year beginning September, 1968, was $3,164 and includes only tuition, fees, room and board.

Sending his children to college is the biggest single expense a father has today, the report points out. Fixed and variable costs of sending a youngster away to college for four years can cost anywhere from $7,000 to $15,000.

If the bill for a college education seems overwhelming, it is also a most worthwhile investment.

"A college graduate can average $200,000 more in earnings during his lifetime than a man who has only completed high school — $5,000 more a year over 40 years," the survey showed.

In addition to four year colleges, the report for the first time examines alternatives in higher education, including the community colleges and new technical institutes recently established in Canton, Columbus, Springfield, Steubenville and Toledo.

A major effort has been made by Ohio's state universities to bring the college to the student by establishing commuter branches. Kent State, for example, has five such branches, serving Ashtabula, Canton, Columbiana County, Tuscarawas County and Warren.

The East Ohio report was compiled with the cooperation of 58 Ohio colleges and universities, 32 out-of-state institutions and numerous high school guidance counselors and college financial aid offers.

Tears Flow For 'Rachel, Rachel'

By CLAUDIA ELKINS
Entertainment Editor

Rachel's life, past, present and future, is currently on the screens of Town and Country and Great Western Cinemas.

As a child, Rachel watched her father carry out his duties as a mortician. As a woman, Rachel visioned her death while walking to her classroom of students.

The child of six, the woman of 35, are both Rachel as best described as a vanilla eater. Vanilla is plain, pure, secure. The other 26 flavors are fear of the unknown, the inexperienced, the lonely.

Rachel's uneventful life at 35 seems lifelong, but through a love affair and a friend, Rachel's descending years offer the vision of hope, not loneliness.

This inadequate description of "Rachel, Rachel" can only be made adequate by each viewer's involvement as the compassionate story of Rachel's empty and meaningless existence unfolds.

Accomplished Joanne Woodward weaves "Rachel" into an unforgettable person more real than the make-believe world of movies has ever captured on the screen, if not for total existence.

Every person in "Rachel, Rachel" is a distinctive human being. Each is human, with the bad and good delivered honestly and straightforwardly.

All actors are above criticism, just as the film, if one realizes "Rachel, Rachel" is for adult viewing and entertainment.

Paul Newman, actor turned producer-director, injects the aloofness, coolness and professionalism he has as an actor. These characteristics, along with taste, sincerity, filming and story, offer a fine insight into a life only a few may know, many will never know and most can sympathize.

The tears flowed for Rachel.

Around Town

Conducted By
ROLAND SUNKER

At times, the old cliche, "brought back by popular demand" is over-used and over-exaggerated. But in the case of Phyllis Dale, the Lincoln Lodge did bring back this very personable, attractive young lady because of popular demand. She has proved to be a crowd pleaser at the West Broad Street lodge.

Playing piano and accordion, Phyllis offers a variety of musical talents. Her musical ability does not end at the keyboard. She is a first rate songstress. A petite, perky girl, Phyllis is a living bundle of dynamite on stage. Belting out a song or providing music from Dixieland to beautiful ballads, she is an entertainer's entertainer. She is one of the most enthusiastic performers in the business today.

When She Was New

A little over two years ago, when Phyllis was new in the business, she was reviewed in The Spectator's Around Town column. Some of the things we said then were, ". . . the gal is loaded with talent . . . a good showman . . . she's fun to see and hear."

Time has improved Phyllis Dale and today she is a polished performer. As we said two years ago, she is fun to see and hear. Be sure you catch her in the cocktail lounge at the Lincoln Lodge Motel.

New Restaurant

Located on Murray Hill Road, one block north of Rt. 40 in Lincoln Village, is a new restaurant and cocktail lounge that is causing many people to ramble out west.

Without a doubt, the Ramblewood restaurant and lounge is one of the coziest rooms having the most attractive decorations in the city. The decor reminds one of the many quaint little restaurants you find in New Orleans. While both the restaurant and lounge area are rather large, it still possesses an intimate, comfortable feeling. It was designed by the owner, Bob Curry. He has created a truly elegant atmosphere.

Curry didn't stop with ornaments in creating an excellent place to wine and dine. He has come up with a good menu as well. There are no exotic dishes included, but the menu is varied with very reasonable prices. Take it from one who has eaten at the Ramblewood, the food is good and tasty. You won't find anything else any better around town. Besides the regular menu, they offer a special luncheon buffet with all you can eat for $1.50.

The waitresses add a little adornment to the Ramblewood also. Besides being neat and attractive, Marilyn Wihl, Pat Ward and Dixie Steward provide good, courteous service.

The Fifth Day

The Fifth Day, a club for single people in Columbus, will hold its first party Friday, Nov. 1, at Valley Dale, according to vice president, Thomas Ruprecht.

The party's theme will be a mock election. The three presidential candidates will be invited as well as Governor Rhodes, Mayor Sensenbrenner and several local candidates.

Organized on a national basis, the local club was started last year. It has been reorganized this year by Ruprecht, Barry Wear and Dennis Conard. The purpose of the club is to provide various activities for professional single people between 21 and 35 years old.

Dues are $8 per year, and membership entitles one to participate in many events sponsored by the club. Beginning with the November party, there will be a party held every Friday night with top entertainment, along with dance bands.

All single people are invited to attend these parties, but members are admitted at reduced rates. Other activities include national and international trips, special social functions and a free subscription to the Fifth Day magazine, which are only offered to members.

Last year the Fifth Day membership was over 5,000 single people. This year under the new management, the goal is 6,000 men and women between 21 and 35. Each Friday's party draws between 600 and 1,000 people. The various social functions are held in different locations.

So, if you are a single person looking for a way to meet new friends and develop new interests, the Fifth Day is for you.

Channel 6 Press Party Different; Program Given

By CLAUDIA ELKINS
Entertainment Editor

Press parties are usually predictable. One is introduced to the celebrities; one is given a press book and one is treated to refreshments.

Channel 6 set about to change all of this. They did and this party will be talked about for years to come. Everyone had a good time.

I should be telling you of ABC's fall programming, after all, that was why the party was held. But, since nobody heard what was going on in the four corners of the tent via closed circuit television, I thought it would be more interesting to tell you of the goings-on and then list the new programs.

Upon entering a massive tent, which is unique for a press party, one was given a name tag. Then, left to your own devices, you either introduced yourself to the hundreds of people present or you sat at a table chatting with friends.

About 80 per cent of press parties are usually for the press . . . newspapers, radio and TV. Since Channel 6 is TV, only a few press people were seen, including Don Hout, TV Editor of the Dispatch, Jo Bradley Reed, TV Editor for the Citizen-Journal and Roland Sunker, columnist for Around Town seen on this page.

The remaining press people were the hosts, Taft Broadcasting. I finally met Sally Flowers. She impressed me very much. Of course, Sally is an old TV idol from my girlhood days and although she asked me not to remind her of how many years ago that was . . . I hope to interview her in the near future

I remained as far away from Jack La Lanne as I could. He would take one look at me and recommend I watch his show for exercising.

Then, through fellow companions, I found out that Howard Duff was there. Note: the promotion staff didn't inform me, so Channel 6 is not to blame for what followed.

I pushed my way to the other side of the tent, introduced myself and began what I though would be a delightful interview. From question one it was miserable. Such a sarcastic one, I could do without. The only real fact I am sure about is that he is the star of Felony Squad seen on Fridays at 8:30 p.m.

Never in my short, but busy career as a reporter have I encountered a star so far out that only his eyes twinkled. I believe Howard Duff gave me the run-around. I have no facts to offer, only what is on a printed promo from 20th Century-Fox Television. If you'd like the information, phone me.

My sympathy to Nick Basso, who also was defeated by Howard Duff as the program began. As for the program, mentioned earlier, one couldn't hear at the tables, let alone the TV, not 10 feet away.

Actually, Channel 6 created a lot of good will among those invited. A party it was. A run of the mill press party it was not.

Now for the new shows via printed matter . . . Tonight, "The Ugliest Girl in Town" premieres at 7:30 p.m. This is a comedy, a put-on, as a young man disguises himself as a female so that he might follow his girlfriend.

At 9:30 p.m. an anthology adventure, "Journey To The Unknown," airs with Carole Lynley starring in tonight's episode.

Already being broadcast are "Land of the Giants," Sundays at 7 p.m.; "The Outcasts," Mondays at 9 p.m.; Tuesdays, "The Mod Squad" at 7:30 p.m. and "That's Life" at 10 p.m.

"Here Come The Brides" is seen at 7:30 p.m. Wednesdays.

H-T, C-W Prove 'Miserly'; Cruisers 'Sock-It-To-'Em'

and
BOB WHITMAN

Canal Winchester's Mike Locke and Hamilton Township's Bruce Burnham didn't get much of a look at their respective defenses Friday night — although neither is complaining.

Meanwhile, at Groveport, coach Bob Starr got a longer look than usual at his offensive unit — and liked what he saw.

GROVEPORT

CREDIT plucky Mark Boyer, a super-quarterback at 5-10, 175, for a lion's share of the action in Friday's 36-12 Groveport win which signaled two significant points:

• It marked the first Cruiser home win in three years.

• It marked the most offensive points (36) scored in one game in six years . . .

AND THOSE two were to cause beaming Bob Starr to comment that "everyone down here feels pretty good about. It gives us a little morale boost."

But if everyone feels good about the win what are their feelings about the daring signal-caller who played superlative ball to make it a reality?

Boyer merely completed 12 of 16 passes (including two to Steve Jacklin for touchdowns) plus running for two touchdowns and an extra point.

BUT BOYER had plenty of pass protection according to Starr in the person of 6-2, 195 pound fullback Dick Scott who allowed air clearance for the 210 yards garnered by the pass attack.

The ground game accounted for 118 of the 328 total which also may be some kind of recent Groveport mark if records are kept.

"I thought that the defensive line play was the most improved part of our game this week and think that Jim Feucht deserves a great deal of praise for his 14 tackles during the game," noted Starr of the 12 points that his group gave up to league foe Marysville.

OPTIMISM IS running high at the Cruiser den for a duplicate win this week against 0-3-1 Grandview who, according to Starr, has improved quite a bit over its first two games with a 12-12 tie vs. Hilliard Friday.

"They have two hard-running fullbacks that we'll have to stop in order to handle them," Starr figured. But he also made mention of spunky quarterback Tom McAllister who directs the team.

The alternating fullbacks that Starr is wary of are 195-pounders Jack Burchfield (who bolted for the tying score Friday) and Rick Rossati.

"THEY HAVE a strong and steady defense that really hasn't given up but 12 points a game since the opener at Reynoldsburg," he added.

Starr also feels stronger going into the game with the improvement of his potentially strong halfback Larry Stinson.

HAMILTON TWP.

The word "outstanding" which Ranger grid boss Bruce Burnham used to describe his eleven's defensive effort against burly Vinton County Friday seemed accurate in the light of the visitors (lost 38-0) 1.6. yard-per-carry (totaled 63 yds.) average vs. H-T's defense.

OF COURSE, the Ranger offense (398 total yds. — all rushing) and 14 first downs indicated that phase of the H-T game wasn't exactly on vacation.

Burnham's "110 Percent Club" runneth over with members following the Rangers' second win in three outings this fall — nine gridders making the grade.

Included were: defenders Bill Ryan (middle guard), Dick Coogan and Gene Grubb (ends), Bill Estep and Larry Wiggins (linebackers) and Larry Jones (tackle); offensively — Russ Pinion, halfback Jim Gorczyca (85 yds. in six carries) and fullback Gary Topping (four TDs, 231 rushing yds. in 15 carries).

BURNHAM AND crew now prepare for their Metropolitan League opener tomorrow evening at Teays Valley (1-2) — the Vikings seeking win No. two after a 12-0 win over Logan Elm Friday.

Burnham well remembers H-T's "hang on for dear life" 12-8 win over the Vikings last season.

"And they're a better club than last year's," Bruce warns, adding: "but I hope we are too."

"IT'S A BIG rivalry game for us," continued the H-T menor. "They're young but scrappy and look like a club you'd better not let down on.

"Friday's game with Logan Elm could have gone either way for three quarters but they hung right in there and won it with two touchdowns in the fourh period."

Burnham figures his Ranger defense will primarily have to deal with a "fullback off-tackle and quarterback rollout" one-two punch from T-V's straight-T and power I (with split end) offensive lineups.

DEFENSIVELY, the Vikings employ an aggressive, scrambling 6-2 alignment with shooting linebackers.

CANAL WINCHESTER

Indian grid boss Mike Locke figures tomorrow's visit by Millersport's Lakers would be an ideal time for his C-W eleven "to put it all together. I think we're due."

Mike's main concern remains with his Indian offense which "still needs a lot of improving."

"WE GOT THE job done Friday (C-W blanked Amanda, 20-0) but we're still too doggone inconsistent."

But with an improved Millersport entry tomorrow's Mid-

COUNTY
Sports

State foe on tap, Locke had better hope his "jelling" defense continues to firm up.

The Lakers, who undoubtedly haven't forgotten about Winchester's streak-snapping 14-14 tie last fall, have returned eight '67 regulars this season and started out impressively before stumbling last weekend vs. Fairfield Union (lost 20-6).

PRIOR TO that setback, the Lakers showed lopsided wins over Zanesville Rosecrans (50-0) and Amanda (41-0).

Millersport mentor George Murphy will be shooting to raise his coaching mark to 64-16-4 tomorrow evening and obviously has the offensive makings of doing so in halfback Ed Thomas (6-0, 185) and quarterback Rich Nagle.

Thomas sprinted 46 yards to paydirt for Millersport's lone tally vs. F-U last weekend while Nagle shows a fine passing form, favoring the long "bomb," to a king-sized receiver.

DEFENSIVELY, Locke figures his Indians will have to deal with any one of three alignments the Lakers used effectively last season — the 5-4, 4-4 and a six-man front.

Winchester outdid Amanda easily in the statistical department Friday — 383 (320 rushing) to 76 (40 of that total on one play).

H-T '110 PERCENTERS' EYE METRO DEBUT

Hamilton Township's grid Rangers will try to make tomorrow's visit to Teays Valley both win number three in a row and a successful Metropolitan League debut for new coach Bruce Burnham. Keying H-T play to date have been three six members of the Rangers' "110 Percent Club" (exclusive club organized by Burnham to tribute top efforts each week during practice and game). Pictured above with line and defensive coach Wes Mirick are (seated, from left): fullback Gary Topping and halfback Jim Gorczyca and (standing) defensive ends Gene Grubb and Dick Coogan, middle guard Bill Ryan and halfback John Cunnigham.

and that two-touchdown deficit."

The Rebs' third bounce was denied, however, when the referee nullified a last-play TD pass from Jerry Driggs to Les Payne when he ruled the latter was out of the end zone when he caught the ball.

Statistically, the Rebs fared best (except on the scoreboard) with a 343 offensive total (180 passing) as compared to Hartley's 311.

OFFENSIVE standouts were QB Payne (hit on 14 of 29 attempts), end Stan Dixon (caught 11 aerials for 150 yds.) and tailback Wilbur Prysock (rushed for 150 yds.).

It's back to City League warfare tomorrow as unbeaten (3-0) West invades with "some pretty good size, especially defensively."

"OFFENSIVELY, West mixes it up," according to Jackson, looking over the Cowboys' wing-T and pro-set attacks.

Most dangerous will be the passing of West quarterback Jeff Rice (injured two weeks ago but expected back tomorrow) who "throws everywhere" and quick pitches to speed boys John Biggers and Mike Remy.

Defensively, the Cowboys have been forming odd-man alignments — often showing a nine-man front when the linebackers move in tight.

OVERALL, a strong defense has been West's forte to date.

"This is the one we want," says Jackson of the league tilt. The Bulldogs show a clean 1-0 slate to date—their 6-0 opening win over Northland providing the victory.

Very doubtful for tomorrow's Cowboy visit will be center Nick Ferguson and tailback Dana Stevens.

MOHAWK

STILL DAZED, Mohawk will try to pick up the wreckage from a 44-0 crash at Linden Friday night and put it back together for the rugged City League road facing them this fall.

John Butler's men fell behind the eight ball early Friday (by a 24-0 count at the end of the first quarter); then lost a few men to the injury department, and found themselves reeling to a speed-packed Linden backfield array that all but whirled them out of their uniforms.

"Once they got through the line they were hard to catch. They've a good football team and we had a bad day. That was the difference," noted City League veteran John Butler, who thought a bulk of the credit for his crew has to go to Lew Hale for his reaction under the pressure of a hard L-M rush.

"HE PLAYED remarkably well under duress. showing a lot of poise for a high school quarterback," John added.

He further observed that the defensive line is the biggest Indian problem, but that Jerry Struther—the key man in the Mohawk defense—played standout ball until removed in the third period.

But Butler figures that looking back won't help his crew against a rugged Marion-Franklin team this week in the second City League battle for the CL's newest member.

ON M-F John said: "They run counters well and try all the time to set you up for the long pass by trying to sneak a back out of the backfield for the pass."

He also feels that Clarence Jeter and Mike Nicely are the top men that his defenses will have to stop in the M-F attack if Mohawk is to prevail tomorrow.

"They also have the speed to hurt you," he noted. "and their defense really comes after you all the time."

LEADING MOHAWK tacklers Friday vs. Linden were Gerald Strothers (10), Henry Neal (9) and Charles Trimble (6).

IN THE only other area game this weekend, Wehrle Memorial (tied Ready, 14-14, in CCL opener Saturday) visits Hartley (2-1) as the Hawks' Homecoming guest Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

Little Buckeyes, Devonshire Fire 'Blanks' In BAAL Play

The Little Buckeyes defeated the Little Gophers (73-0) Saturday night at Ridgeway, O., and the Devonshire Chargers beat the Leawood Raiders (12-0) Sunday afternoon to spotlight Boys All-American League action this past weekend.

Little Buck quarterback Monty Hannah and halfbacks Tom McKelvey and Ron Callander led the way for the winners by scoring two TD's apiece. The latter two each scored once on an interception return.

ACCOUNTING for the other four TD's were HB Craig Woods, end Jeff Krieger (pass from quarterback Steve Hoffman), HB John Wirthman and FB Jeff Hutchison.

The victory was number 50 in a row for the Little Buckeyes.

Quarterback Joe Trout of Devonshire scored on a 23-yd. keeper and threw a TD pass to Charger end Tom Castle (good for 12 yds.) to account for Devonshire scoring.

CFFL Situation Remains 'Status Quo'

The two powers of the Columbus Flag Football League — Kitsmiller Motors and Franklin Sports Center—continued their respective marches toward a major showdown (one week from Sunday) with lopsided wins last weekend.

Franklin crushed winless Local 189, 67-0, while Kitsmiller tallied three final period TDs to run away from Bon-Aire Lounge, 54-21.

ELSEWHERE, Berwick Party House squeezed through with a final period touchdown and a 21-14 win over Bell-Haven Big Red.

LARRY GORNALL'S three touchdowns showed the way for Kitsmiller's win although Dick Angelou and Ken Ramsey weren't far behind with a pair of six-pointers.

Dick Cedella, Kurt Pollock and Tom Shoaf tallied for the losers, who trailed only 33-21 after three periods.

Berwick picked off five Big Red aerials (three by Bob Curtis, two by Mark Blackstone) to offset a pair of scores by Bruce Smith.

BELL-HAVEN led, 8-0, at intermission on the first of Smith's TDs and a safety by Dave Adams.

But Berwick, which got six-pointers from leading ground gainer Clint Allen (101 yds.), Ron Glanzman and Tom Yinger, knotted the count at 14-all in the third period and pulled out victory in the final stanza.

Touch Loop Unbeatens Reduced To Four Clubs

Lockbourne's Skyhawks continued to soar in the second week of action in the Columbus Touch Football League Sunday at Southview as the Airmen bombed Central Ohio Welding, 15-6.

Roger Nicholls zeroed in a 19 yd. field goal and Art Ryan tossed TDs of 68 and 38 yards to Ellery Beard and Pete Dascenzo to pace the winners. The Welders score came on a 15 yd. toss from Paul Sells to Bob Werner.

NORTH HEIDELBERG'S brother tandem struck again as John and Tim Pond combined for 40 and 26 yd. TDs.

John also hit Tom McGarity for a 19 yd. score to down Creative Printer, 20-6.

REMO'S INN blasted Jacobs and Son, 24-14, as Tom Myers connected with Don Mollick and Tom Wood for 14 and 30 yd. strikes respectively. Bob Kreig raced 37 yds. for another score on an intercepted pass.

Jerry Turner kept Jacobs in contention with six pointers to Larry Buenying (10 yds.) and Bob Sherwood (22 yds.).

Harley-Davidson was tied with defending champ Fields Brothers (8-8) with three minutes left — only to have Tom Fullove and Elkie Byrd team for a 59 yd. TD strike and victory.

FIELDS only had eight yds. to go for their first score due to a bad center snap (for 31 yds.). Fullove again found Byrd for a three yd. score.

Moores Painting painted B and A Paints blue to the tune of a 20-8 as Ed Dorsey caught 33 and 18 yd. passes from Tom Smith.

DON GIBBS also received a 20 yd. strike from Rick Manning. B and A's only score was a 15 yarder from Dick Eric to Don Hershey.

Elsewhere, Eddie Parks four TD "bombs" (two each to Les Bridges and Avery Godfrey) paced Craig Realty to a 30-0 shutout of Mid-American Golf.

Highlights

By HARMON

The nation's new "Number One" for '68 will have to really prove its superiority in a big hurry this Saturday.

The top-ranked Irish of Notre Dame face the power of second-rated Purdue.

SO . . . IF paper ratings mean anything in football any more (and sometimes it's doubtful), we'll pick Notre Dame to avenge last year's loss to the Boilermakers: Purdue to be on the short end of the final score by eight points.

Looking at the two top-rated powers on the West Coast, this should be "Easy-Day-For-Both." U.C.L.A., number three, is a heavy 33-point favorite to bounce Washington State. Fourth-ranked Southern Cal will be 22 points too strong for the Cats of Northwestern.

The big noise in Florida-land, fifth-rated Miami, will try a rumble at the expense of Georgia Tech. And from here, the rumble looks good . . . the Hurricanes by 15 points.

TWO OF THE three big wheels in the Southwest Conference will chalk up wins this week. Texas, number seven, will topple Texas Tech by 19 points, and 14th-ranked Texas A & M should whip Tulane by 25. Sixth-rated Houston is idle.

Tennessee and Georgia go back to work after a week's vacation. The Vols on the eighth rung of the national ladder bump into meddlesome Memphis. Tennessee should win by 14, and the Bulldogs, number 9, will clip Benson by ten points.

Powerful Penn State, ranked tenth, will give Kansas State a long afternoon . . . the Nittany Lions by 26 points. L.S.U., number 11, is favored by 14 over Rice.

UPSET-MINDED Kentucky goes after 12th-rated Mississippi, but the Rebels should win it by 13 points. And surprising Kansas may just surprie another Big Ten team this week. The Jayhawks — ranked 13th — clobbered Illinois last Saturday and are picked to beat Indiana by 10 points.

Rated 15th, Colorado will have its hands full against California, but should club the Bears by seven points.

Oklahoma felt Irish fury last week, and won't be given any time to breathe. Toughie opposition this week: the 16th-ranked Wolfpack of North Carolina State. And the Sooners are one-point underdogs to the high-scoring Carolinians.

IN THE 41ST meeting between Minnesota and Nebraska, the 17th-rated Cornhuskers will just nudge the Gophers by two points.

'Fearless' Predictions

Despite the usual threats and barbs aimed in his direction by area "fans" last week, the "Fearless One" — buoyed by an 18-5 (55-13 three week total) effort continues with these bold picks for week four:

MILLERSPORT AT CANAL WINCHESTER — Lakers haven't forgotten about that streak-ending tie Indians applied last year and look stronger this time. Millersport.

CENTRAL AT WHETSTONE — Somebody's due to end loss slide here. Pirates have been coming faster so . . . Central.

FRANKLIN HEIGHTS AT WEST JEFFERSON — This one's for the Metro marbles. Falcons have defenders to lasso Rider backs and have faced tougher opposition. But . . . on a hunch . . . and, by an eyelash . . . West Jeff.

HAMILTON TWP. AT TEAYS VALLEY — Rangers look like they might be back on the track, should have too much for Vikings. H-T.

GRANDVIEW AT GROVEPORT — Cruisers haven't put two wins together for some time. This looks like best bet. Close . . . but . . . Groveport.

WHITEHALL AT WESTERVILLE — Loser shoved outside in OCC race and Rams 'n 'Cats both know it. Hosts burning over win-skein snap but (surprise!) we like visitors to snap losing string. Whitehall.

MOHAWK AT MARION-FRANKLIN — Despite that loss to Linden, Indians still have plenty of spunk, could upset Devil applecart. But . . . M-F.

GROVE CITY AT BEXLEY — Big stop on Lions' title express and "must win" for 'Hounds. Slight edge to hosts. Bexley.

BROOKHAVEN AT WALNUT RIDGE — Needed coin to find winner of this CL scrap. After landing on its side four times, it rolled over to . . . Brookhaven.

WATTERSON AT EAST — Eagles need someone to pay back for UA's lacing. Tigers look like best bet. Watterson.

HILLIARD AT MARYSVILLE — Wildcats winless but getting closer each week. Now or never . . . Hilliard.

NORTHMOOR AT DUBLIN — Shamrocks ran out of four-leaf clovers last week but should get back on win trail here. Dublin.

REYNOLDSBURG AT MT. VERNON — Raiders better not wait till final period to begin here or they might run out of time. Another "must" one. Reynoldsburg.

ARLINGTON AT PORTSMOUTH — They don't get any easier for these potent Golden Bears. However, No. 4 should make it a shorter ride home. UA.

WEST AT SOUTH — Cowboys might need biggest effort yet to claim this one — but should stay clean. West.

NORTH AT CHILLICOTHE — Good spot for Polar Bears to get on win path. North.

SATURDAY

WEHRLE AT HARTLEY — Hawks appear to be back in gear after the opening slip. Should enjoy happy homecoming. Hartley.

DESALES AT CLEVE. ST. JOES — Stallions will need at least as good an effort as they showed last week to stay alive here. St. Joseph.

SEP 1968

WINGIN' WOLVE—With teammates mopping up behind and a well-aimed block ahead, Wehrle Memorial quarterback Adrian Skunza (14) sets his sights on the Ready goal line Saturday on this second-period gallop 'round end. Skunza advanced to the one-foot line on the play, scored via sneak on next play to help Wolves to halftime 8-6 lead in CCL debut with Silver Knights. Catholic 11's matched TDs after intermission for 14-all deadlock. (Spectator photo by Jack Wittenmeier).

JIM MURRAY

The 'New' Arnold Palmer

Well, I don't know whether nickel beer, sound money, peace in the streets, or the Whig Party will ever make it back again—whether they'll ever have clean movies, plays where people leave their clothes on, or schools where the teacher is boss again.

MURRAY

But I do know golf became golf again when Arnold Palmer won a tournament.

A LOT OF people thought he was as long gone as the great plains bison or flying reptiles.

Oh, sure, it wasn't the U.S. open, the British, the Masters, the PGA.

It was just one of those 72-hole commercials for an insurance company.

But Arnold was getting to the point where he would settle for a $2 Nassau with his brother-in-law.

ARNOLD HAD taken to slopping the ball sideways. He hit putts as if he had to sink them on the side of Mt. Everest.

He was getting so erratic off the tee, if he played in Rhode Island he not only would be out-of-bounds but out-of-state.

Some of the lash and fury seemed to have gone out of Arnold Palmer.

HE BEGAN to stand over a shot like a guy who could see where it could go wrong—like you and me.

The old Arnold Palmer played every shot as it he had a divine guarantee it would go in to cup—or anyway on the green.

Never the sand, the creek, the street, the trees, or the ocean.

THE ROUGH he didn't care about. He was so strong he could knock a 5-iron 210 yards out of coiled barbed wire.

Arnold played as if he had marked the deck the night before, as though the dice had all 7's, as if the horse had winked at him in the paddock,as if he had just heard a little voice say, "Just hit it—I'll take care of the rest."

Actually, Arnold had been hit with something bound to happen to a 39-year-old man who has spent his life belting the ground with a steel bludgeon.

THE PROTESTING squeaks of muscles, bones, tendons, feet, arms and legs got louder.

He forbade those close to him to reveal it, but rivals on the tour knew that when Arnold Palmer hit a ball "fat," there was rust in the hinge someplace.

TO A LOT of players who have spent their lives outboxing golf courses, this would require only a minimal change in strategies.

Julius Boros could shoot 68 in boxing gloves, standing in a barrel.

But Arnold was a slugger. He brought a golf course to its knees.

He didn't tiptoe up a fire escape to a championship, he kicked the front door down.

A GAMBLER above all has to have faith. He has to be sure the next card will fill the straight.

"Arnold," Bobby Rosburg once said, "plays golf like a guy who would throw away two cards of a straight flush and expect to come up with higher ones."

At first, Arnold just tried to play through his ailing left side, to treat it as if it were just another par 5.

FUT, A funny thing happens in sports when raw power begins to ebb. Many players become better.

The pitcher loses the hop on his fast one and finds control gets more batters out than the hummer. A football lineman substitutes moves for muscles.

The new Palmer emerged, of all places, on a TV tower.

AT THE recent World Series of Golf where, for a change, he didn't qualify, the sponsors quickly outfitted him with a microphone and a headset and a scoreboard — and he got a bigger gallery than the players.

At first, I thought it was an imposter. Because, once, when Masters winner Bob Goalby was selecting a wood from a deep rough lie on a par 5 so long it crossed three states, announcer Palmer frowned and said:

"No sense using a wood there—the shot is a feathered iron up the left side of the fairway."

So saying, he — and millions of viewers — watched Bob's shot (and championship) plop in the water.

Another time, on a putt, Arnold said, "He'll have to realize it's late in the day, the green is dewey, and he'll have to hit it harder." And we watched as the putt slowed to a stop halfway to the hole.

The new Palmer is an eye-opener from the one who went through a course with a knife in his teeth instead of a rose.

BUT IT'S the best news the game could get. If he can win by guile as well as gall, that means 10 more years of gold for the game.

For what is golf without Palmer?

Volleyball on the beach, that's what. Klaberiass in the tunnel. Handball in the firehouse. Industrial bowling.

GOLF WITHOUT Palmer is like an Italian movie. It needs sub-titles. You go from Arnold to Anonymous.

Colts Squeeze Fiji's, 20-12

Riding shotgun offense after all else failed, the Fiji 500's rallied late — only to lose the tying TD on a penalty in the last minute — giving the speedy Deshler Colts a 20-12 victory in non-league play Sunday.

Even so, the inexperienced Fijis escaped what at first seemed total annihilation as the Colts scored all points early in the game.

The Fighting Fijis — only one of three teams (St. Aloysius and Westland Wildcats) whose nucleus was formed from the 1967 Mt. Ivy Fijis—served notice that they are hard, clean players when the chips are down.

Saturday night the Fijis return to BAAL play at Mt. Victory against the Little Gophers, the largest team in the Boys' All-American League.

Deshler Colts .... 12/8/0/0—20
Fiji 500's .... 0/0/6/6—12

COLT SCORING: Wilbur Brooks (run), Olin Collins (Brooks pass), Richie Maham (run). Conversions: Keith Kerns, Gary Graves.

FIJI SCORING: Tony Butler (run), Mike Beasley (run).

Star-spangled sheepskin.

How do you put aside enough money to put a child through college? Like this: join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work or Bond-a-Month Plan where you bank. When graduation day comes, you may not see the stars spangled over the sheepskin, but you'll know they are there. Because the Bonds that grew enough in interest to pay for college also helped your Uncle Sam.

Buy Bonds—help your country as you help yourself.

NOW—Higher Rates!

Savings Bonds now pay 4.25% when held to maturity—and Freedom Shares (sold in combination with E Bonds) pay a full 5%. The extra interest will be added as a bonus at maturity.

And now you can buy the Bond/Freedom Share combination any time—no monthly commitment necessary. Get the facts where you work or bank.

speed, is expected to act as a deterrent to local hotrodders.

OFF-STREET parking was brought a step closer with the second reading of the ordinance abolishing head-on parking in the business district and authorization of $14,000 purchase of the property owned by Mrs. Fanny Leighner.

The property south of the downtown area will be razed and the areas bounded by Wert Road and Crooked and Short Alleys blacktopped for a municipal parking lot. (The money involved is made up of gifts from local businessmen).

Discussion became rather heated when Councilmen William Hamler and Wayne Boyer demanded Police Chief Al Whipple crack down on dogs that roam by day and bark by night.

ALTHOUGH WHIPPLE suggested that council hire 40 more policemen to enforce the present dog ordinance, the attitude of council indicates owners better do a better custodial job or their pets will meet up with the long arm wielded by the law—or possibly the long barrel of a shotgun, wielded by irate property owners.

It is recognized the campaign will not be a particularly popular one — Clerk Opal Rohr reported that within a week after she signed warning letters sent to several dog owners, her own dog was poisoned.

Advertising begins this week on a new cruiser with bids to be opened Monday, Oct. 14, and the purchase of a second hand distributor mounted on a Chevrolet chassis negotiated with the Quality Highway Equipment Co. of Galion.

WITH A 100-HOUR warranty included in the deal, the purchase at $2,800 is looked upon as one that will pay for itself in two seasons of street repair.

Further street affairs involved the glad tidings that Groveport's share of the county's resurfacing of Main Street totaled only $8,200 and the announcement that Solicitor Jim Thompson will defend the village Friday afternoon in the suit filed by Phillips Road Oil Co.

(Phillips and Groveport came to an impasse when the latter balked on paying the bill as rendered after Phillips resurfaced Main Street last year in a manner local officials claim was unsatisfactory).

OTHER BUSINESS included turning down a request for a street light to be installed in the parking lot of St. Mary Church, promise to check out installation of streets to serve 10 lots on Tallman as requested by Jay Montgomery, the acceptance of a recommendation by Planning and Zoning that the request for rezoning in Hanstein Addition made by Al Pieramico to allow apartment construction be refused and a report from Washington that the village's request for a new Post Office will be studied.

Winchester FHA Hosts Sub-Regional Meet

Chris Bauchmeyer of Canal Winchester was chairman of activities when the COW chapter of FHA hosted 400 students at the sub-regional meeting Saturday.

Chris was installed last spring as state vice president from this sub-region which includes Franklin County and the neighboring areas.

The Rev. Robert Bayless of the Canal Winchester Lutheran Church opened the morning session with Principal William McCann welcoming the guests.

Workshops sponsored by Southeast schools included "How To Make Your Chapter Strong," Groveport-Madison; "Help For Student Teachers and Advisors with Zero to Two Years Experience," Hamilton Township; "Planning Program Work," Teays Valley and "Officer Training Workshops," Canal Winchester.

Other C-W students appearing on the program were Jill Eversull who brought back the word from the National Convention in Miami urging members to run for office and Carol R. Fisher, one of the two girls in Ohio to receive State FHA scholarships.

SEEK WAYS FOR STATE TO HELP

Substandard Housing Opens Touring Solons' Eyes

By JOHN MORGAN
And SYLVIA BROOKS
Spectator Staff Writers

Those who believe Franklin County has no dilapidated homes should have come along on a legislative subcommittee tour Monday.

The legislators, headed up by Rep. Keith McNamara (R-Columbus), were members of a study committee on substandard housing. They have been at work many months hearing testimony from experts on Ohio's poverty housing conditions.

As the bus left the State House and rolled past the familiar sights along West Broad Street, Columbus seemed as normal as ever. It could have been a trip down Broad to work or go shopping.

BUT THEN the bus left West Broad Street. And that other world — less pleasant to the eyes — began to appear.

The first part of the tour covered sections of the west side of town. Mrs. Betty Immel — a life-long resident of the area and a Columbus Metropolitan Area Community Action Organization worker—explained to legislators that zoning appeared to be the major problem.

According to Mrs. Immel, south of Broad Street has strict enforcement of housing codes while the area north of Broad is not enforced.

A tour of the area illustrated Mrs. Immel's contention.

Along Johns Street there were the traditional signs of neglect—junk yards, rundown houses and shabby buildings.

MRS. IMMEL explained that residents in the area north of Broad had "no loans or grant monies available." She added that absentee landlords complicated the problem.

In addition, she claimed residents found interest rates from loan companies too high. "It's not that people don't want to fix up their houses. They just don't have the available money."

Crossing over Broad into a code-enforced area, Mrs. Immel related one of the problem in this area was that single-family residences were being torn down to make way for apartment structures. The problem of relocating those displaced loomed greatest here.

The legislators then stopped at a house on Walnut Street to see firsthand what transpired within the dingy walls. There, the woman who lived in the home explained how approximately 20 per cent of the family income went into rent. She and her husband slept in the living room while the children slept upstairs.

THE BUS THEN began the the trek to Urbancrest, an all-Negro community near Grove City. Once there, Mrs. Eloise Trout—a village councilwoman—related that Urbancrest's $25,000-a-year budget had to take care of all public services. She explained there was no sewer system and that cisterns and wells were the chief source of water.

Urbancrest appeared to be a village of contrasts. Next to a pleasant home with a well-kept lawn was a shabby structure containing three rooms and 12 children.

Along Second Avenue, the bus driver—having difficulty maneuvering along the narrow road — finally pulled to a stop in front of a home which seemed to be nothing more than a picture out of a 1920 book on Appalachia.

LEGISLATORS SPOKE with an elderly gentleman who was partially blind. He had no water in the house; he had to walk across the street to get it.

He proudly said that he used to work, but he had to retire 10 years ago. The house was condemned, but there was still pride of ownership.

Urbancrest has a one-man police force to protect 1,200 citizens. Only two neighborhood grocery stores serve the area.

Before the bus left Urbancrest, Mrs. Trout remarked to legislators: "Maybe you have seen things that something can be done about."

Traveling down Stambaugh Street, a local resident told of the problems — grass, weeds, rats, cockroaches and "two street lights with 40-watt bulbs."

SHE COMPLAINED of a field at the end of Eagle Street which children hadto travel through to get to school. She said the field "was filled with rats."

Summarizing what she saw in terms of improvements, the woman added: "The only improvement I have seen is that they have taken toilets from outside and put them inside."

Down Goethe Alley and E. Barthman Street, Matthews explained that residents of this area complained mainly of "open fields with weeds and trees and junk cars—and, of course, rats and roaches."

In one stop at a house on S. Sixth Street, a man told the study subcommittee that he had just been evicted. He said he was paying $60 plus utilities and $90 during the winter. He said he was receiving $260 in welfare payments to support himself, his wife and five children.

He said he couldn't get a job because he wasn't able to pass the physical exam required.

The legislative group planned to continue the tour into other areas, including the near east side. It also scheduled hearings.

What was the purpose of this subcommittee tour and why were legislators concerned about blighted housing?

"WE WOULD, of course, hope that the end result would be legislative proposals. We are trying to define the role of the State of Ohio in the area of substandard housing," committee chairman Keith McNamara explained.

McNamara said his study committee was investigating poverty housing elsewhere—including rural areas in Ohio counties. "But there seems to be a totally different type of poverty there. Almost to a man, they were born and raised there."

While substandard housing seen during the tour did not seem to be the same as the congested ghetto structures of a Hough area in Cleveland, a resident of the south side expressed the feelings of many: "Some of these structures can be saved. These people can be reached."

The more urgent question still remained: When?

Humphrey Tatters Nixon's Standard

By BOB WHITMAN
Spectator Staff Writer

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey tattered the "Nixon's the One" theme last weekend in Columbus by charging the Republican standard bearer as the one who will neither appear before the questioning press nor clearly state his positions on the issues facing the nation.

The Democratic hopeful used the state Democratic $100-a-plate dinner as the forum for these comments and a position on the three realities . . . peace, order and unity . . . that face the American society in the 1968 election.

BUT MOST of his 45 minute remarks dealt with Mr. Nixon and the "gut" issue of the campaign, "Law and Order," plus a glowing endorsement of Senatorial candidate John J. Gilligan.

"He is the most qualified man in every way to be one of the leaders in the Senate. The country needs men like Jack Gilligan in times like these," the Vice President said.

HUMPHREY REMAINED consistent with his "law and order" positions:

"Violence breeds more violence. Disorder destroys. Only in order can we build. I put it very bluntly — rioting, burning, sniping, mugging, traffic in narcotics and disregard of law are the advance guards of anarchy. They must and they will be stopped."

The Vice President made it clear, however, that "law and order must be built on justice because without justice there can be no law and order."

Humphrey's stop in the Capital City climaxed a three state visiting schedule that included a meeting with former President Harry S. Truman and a gathering at his home with his 87-year-old mother in Huron, S.D.

"I TALKED this morning with another young Democrat, President Truman, who told me to tell the truth about the Republicans, and he also told me what to give them on the campaign trail."

He further stated that "Nixon must be afraid to face the issues by putting off the competent press of the country on the national questions and answer programs." He specifically mentioned "Meet the Press" (NBC), "Issues and Answers" (ABC) and "Face the Nation" (CBS).

An ABC official commented that "Nixon has been asked several times to appear on Issues and Answers since 1966 and since the 1968 Republican Convention and has refused each time."

Cincinnati's Lighthearted Company Not Original

Last Thursday evening, out of a gnawing curiosity, this reporter motored down to Cincinnati to view The Lighthearted Company's first endeavor as a musical revue theater.

Assuming from the rave reviews and a couple of enthusiastic phone calls that I was about to discover a new company which might someday be in competition with Columbus' own Off Broadway Theatre, I and two other enthusiasts, Jerry Loffman and Betty Dragonette, sped off to the Majestic Showboat on the Ohio River.

Both Betty and Jerry are co-writers/directors of an original musical revue which will be produced at Players Club later this fall. All of us were looking forward to being entertained and maybe learn a few things . . . they for their show . . . me for my work.

Our seats were with Dick Neustadt, owner of Off Broadway Theater. He had been invited so that the two producers could compare notes.

When you read the program and it says, "Comedy . . . Tonight, a new revue of sketches, blackouts and songs." And that "The Lighthearted Company was founded with the express purpose of providing theatergoers in Cincinnati a series of original musical comedy revues," that is what you might expect.

These statements were not true. As skit after skit appeared, it became more obvious that more than half of the material and music was not original. The talent was exceptional and carried off some fine skits, but the overall impression was buried in the fact the revue was not original as so stated.

Three of us were very glad to be sitting next to Dick Neustadt, after all, what he represents is professional, original musical revues which only opened last year, here in Columbus, and is already a success as a road company.

The good news is that Off-Broadway Theater, at 2210 Summit St., will be opening the first week of October.

Be thankful that Off Broadway is located in Columbus. I am and so are my fellow enthusiasts.

Candidates To Debate Sept. 30

It should be an interesting night Sept. 30.

This is the date for the League of Women Voters' candidates' meeting at the YWCA, 65 S. 4th St.

Featured at the meeting will be four candidates for the post of Franklin County Commissioner: Henry Koontz, Jacob Shawan, Harold Cooper and Michael Dorrian.

Koontz, a Republican incumbent, has been a city councilman and active in civic affairs. Showan, the other GOP candidate, has served as mayor of Marble Cliff and in the House of Representatives for three terms.

Cooper, a Democrat, has been general manager of the Columbus Jets baseball team for 14 years. Dorrian, his Democratic running mate, is the assistant safety director for the city of Columbus.

The four candidates will be available to answer questions.

The program is open to the public.

The Tax Increase -- Where The Money Comes From

By ROBERT TENENBAUM
Managing Editor

(Second In A Series)

Columbus hasn't asked its citizens for a tax increase in 12 years.

Since 1956, when the city income tax was raised from a half per cent to the present 1 per cent, the city fathers have counted on the normal increases in the economy to meet the city's needs, despite the fact that the cost of city services has doubled.

And it is precisely this fact that is now causing proponents of the proposed income tax hike grief.

Because people are asking, "Why all of a sudden is there a need for an income tax increase?"

The basic question then is simple: if the city has been able to keep pace with rising costs this long, why all of a sudden must it now ask for a whopping tax increase?

The answer, unfortunately, is not as simple. It is a complicated series of explanations and it boils down to what finance experts call investment earnings—a phrase not calculated to tickle the fancy of the average voter.

Investment earnings are the funds the city earns by placing its money in profit-making investments. In 1967, Columbus earned nearly $5.3 million from these investments.

But that trend is reversing. This year, investments will earn the city only about $4.8 million. Next year, that figure is expected to fall to about $2.5 million.

The reasons are many and complicated, tied to the structure of the national economy, the rise and fall of interest rates and the fact that with increased costs the city simply has less money to invest.

What it boils down to is this: for the first time since 1961, city expenses this year will catch up with and slightly exceed the total of money earned by the city from fees, licenses and taxes added to the money earned from investments.

The reasons are obvious. Since 1959, the cost of city services has increased $15.7 million while income from all taxes, licenses and fees has increased only $10 million per year. Up until now, the investment earnings have filled that gap. They will no longer do the job.

Going to the income tax to increase revenue is the most logical way to attack the problem.

The income tax currently provides 47.3 per cent of the city's income — $14,780,000 in 1968. It is far and away the largest source of revenue. Investment earnings come second and they only provide 15.6 per cent.

Other sources are the state local government fund, 8.2 per cent; fines and court costs, 7.8 per cent; property taxes, 7.3 per cent; the previous year's surplus, 3 per cent and miscellaneous sources, 10.8 per cent.

There is only one other way to get more income. The 3 per cent hotel and motel tax authorized by the state would provide $250,000 in 1969 and increase about $10,000 a year over the next five years.

But that would still leave Columbus far short of what it needs merely to meet essential services.

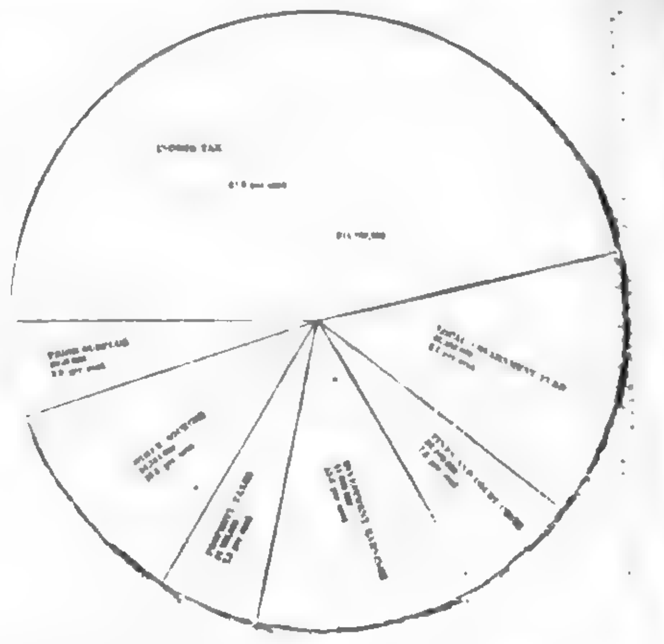
WHERE THE MONEY COMES FROM...

THE GENERAL FUND

1968

Total Income Including Inter-Fund Receipts

$32,750,000



By increasing the income tax to 1½ per cent, Columbus would realize an additional $6,800,000 in 1969 and a whopping $11 million in 1970 — the first full year of collections at the full rate.

Increases in the economy would bring that new total to $13,210,000 by 1972, the last year of the current five-year projection

That would bring total city income in 1972 to $48.7 million, and next week this series will discuss where all that money will go.

Hamilton Lay Committee To Study School Finances

The Rev. Oscar Buck of Hamilton Meadows is chairing a Citizen's Committee formed in Hamilton Local School District last week to study the proposed 13 mill operating levy.

Barney Barnett, who was named publicity chairman when the group met Sunday, states the committee's purpose is to obtain information relevant to school operation and budget needs and disseminate such information to better enable the public to judge the merits of the pending levy.

"WE WANT TO give facts and to dispel rumors," he emphasized, indicating that he believes that once the situation is clarified, support for the additional taxes will be forthcoming.

In an action which many boards and administrators might well question, the steering committee insists upon a news blackout on the levy and school finances from sources other than its appointed spokesman, Barnett.

Apparently, it is believed this procedure is justified as an attempt to avoid confusing and/or conflicting reports coming before the public.

THERE IS NO indication that this step is being taken to conceal facts from the public.

Rather, it appears to them to be merely a safeguard against "half-baked" data being offered for public consumption.

With such phases of school operation as budgeting, enrollment predictions, cost analysis, and vocational education under study, it remains to be seen whether the lay group is or is not out of its depth.

FOLLOWING ARE the members of the present steering committee. Barnett requested the telephone numbers be published for the convenience of those who may wish to question them personally. (Before election, a number of public meetings will be held to bring the committee's findings to the public).

Grant OK'd In Ashville

Word has been received that a federal grant of $8,000 has been approved to complete the planning and engineering of a master sewer plan for the Village of Ashville.

The master plan will extend existing trunks to allow taps in the eastern area of town where existing lines are overtaxed and some residences are forced to utilize septic tanks.

Local officials express the hope the grant will enable construction to begin in the spring. The construction itself will be financed by revenue bonds.

C-W Bankers AF Guests

Warren J. Moore and Thomas Moore, president and vice president of the Canal Winchester Bank, are among the professional civic leaders who were briefed at Langley AFB, Va., recently.

The group was hosted by Col. Orin M. Bixby, commander of Lockbourne's 840th Air Division.

Other guests included Harry Richter of the Ohio National Bank; Dr. Phillip Dolan, Columbus Chamber of Commerce; Russell Pennel, Columbus Civil Defense; E. J. Rokel, Western Electric Co.

Ralph C. Kunze, Buckeye Federal Savings and Loan; Clifford Tyree, Columbus Community Relations; Edward Sloan, Board of Education; the Rev. Leroy Kuntz, Jr., Area Church Board, and military and press representatives.

Hartley Reviews Basis Of Taxpayer Criticism

The retirement of Claude Wood as street superintendent of Ashville last spring has created some personnel problems in the village that have not yet been solved.

At a special meeting of Council recently (called relative to advertising for bids to extend water to the Kline-Kuhlwein Addition) Council faced the possibility that it may lose a second street employe, a veteran of seven or eight years.

THAT is Roy Mettler, formerly Wood's helper who took over as superintendent upon the latter's retirement.

Mayor Harold Hartley explained the situation last week when informed of the criticism expressed by a local resident in the accompanying letter to the editor.

When Wood was on the village payroll he acted as "back-up man" for Steve Cooke, the Ashville's water and sewage disposal plant superintendent and his assistant.

Although Council foresaw a potential threat in the situation, the matter was allowed to drift.

MID-SUMMER, when Cooke was on vacation and another employe ill, a water main broke, fulfilling Council's fear of a serious manpower shortage in such an emergency.

The immediate problem was met by contracting - at considerable expense — for repair of the main.

To avoid repetition of the minor crisis, according to Hartley, Council asked Mettler if he would consider training which would enable him to assume responsibilities at the water and sewer plants in similar emergencies.

IT WAS UNDERSTOOD he would receive additional compensation from the Board of Public Affairs for such duties, over and above his present wages.

Hartley reports Mettler stated that he does not want to be involved in this area of work and would resign before accepting the responsibility.

At this point, the problem is still unresolved.

HARTLEY did concede the possibility exists that Mettler could be replaced as a full-time employe if a man is found who is qualified or is willing to become qualified for the technical aspects of water an sewer operation.

Hartley also attempted to clarify the apparent misunderstanding of some taxpayers concerning the recent police operating levy.

The tax, passed at special election late in June, is one of 1.5 mills, and not two mills as the unhappy taxpayer believes. (It is possible confusion exists between the village tax and a Teays Valley School District operating levy approved earlier in the year).

THE LEVY was proposed when the County Auditor failed to certify a tentative budget, pointing out the village general fund was in the red and the overdraw would reach $16,000 by the end of 1968.

Clerk Ann Leatherwood, upon the advice of Council, refused further general fund withdrawals without the auditor's approval and the usual source of funds to pay for the

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Taxpayer Questions Ashville Spending

Editor's note: Following is the letter written to the Spectator concerning municipal affairs of Ashville. We did not feel justified in printing it without giving village officials an opportunity to express their views. These views are aired in the above story.

"We must, as taxpayers, voice our opinion on matters concerning the use of our money to run local government.

" . . . at the last Council meeting there was a change made that I doubt most people know about.

"LET'S go back to last November's election when we made the change in our administrative office . . . Shortly after the first of the year we were informed . . . we had no money with which to pay our marshal.

"This was most shocking since we had had all these years, and apparently there had been no shortage of funds with which to pay the marshal's salary.

"After much discussion — the new Council decided to ask for a two mill tax levy with which to pay the marshal. This was put to a vote . . . and passed, much to the surprise of both the Mayor and Council.

"WHILE THE special millage was being decided upon, the merchants of Ashville made donations . . . to pay our marshal, but as soon as the millage was passed which will not be available to Council for one year, they were able to come up with the money to continue paying the marshal.

"In the early spring we had an employe of the town street department retire leaving the town with the money they were paying him, and one em-

Wee Rebecca Joblonicky isn't really crushing grapes with her feet as is still the custom in some European communities. However, like most two-year olds, she loves the world of make-believe and happily joined mother and dad as they began the process that will put wine on their table a year from now. Other pictures of the home winery of Dick and Sandra Joblonicky are inside The Spectator.

'Those Little Old G-V Winemakers'

If you are strolling in Schiller Park these days and the aroma of fermenting grapes starts your olfactory nerves —and your curiosity—twitching, keep your cool.

And don't call the "revenooers"!

YOUR NOSE isn't deceiving you—there are a couple of jolly little winemakers hard at work in the neighborhood, but the "feds" couldn't care less.

Dick Joblonicky and his wife are only taking advantage of a friendly law that allows a "head of a household" to make up to 200 gallons of wine annually for his personal use.

(The term "head of a household" has caused more threats of civil disorder than Stokely Carmichael with bachelor and spinster "lovers of the grape" from coast to coast ready to converge on Capitol Hill with their empty wineskins over their shoulders).

WINE MAKING is not new in German Village — a taste for jam would never account for the arbor consistently planted and carefully tended in the back yard of each early settler.

What is unique about the Joblonicky's is the zeal with which they approach the age-old process.

Although they are obviously connoisseurs of their finished product, it is equally apparent the Joblonicky's are winemakers first — and wine

Winemaking begins with crushing the grapes to allow the yeast cells appearing naturally on the skins of the fruit to ferment with the sugar of the pulp and juice. At the left Dick Joblonicky, 1009 City Park, feeds the hand-powered crusher. In the second picture Dick's wife, Sandra, lends her weight to the press which will extract the juice. As the pictures were taken, the Joblonicky's were striving for a delicately-colored rose. The grapes were allowed to remain with the hulls only a few minutes to prevent too deep pigmentation. At the far right, Dick and Sandra toast the day in April when the wine will be "tasted" before it is racked for final clearing.

WEDDED TO the school of thought that although one can make bad wine from good grapes, it is impossible to make good wine from other than fine grapes, the German Villagers have gleaned their fruit from the shores of Lake Erie as well as the banks of the Ohio where experimental plantings of French hybrid grapes are available.

Arriving home in the middle of the night recently from such a jaunt, they were up at the crack of dawn to insure the grapes would be pressed before the sun with its warmth detracted from the quality of the grapes.

Using a simple crusher and press which had been used by another South Sider years ago, the winemakers didn't show their perfectionism until the juice was extracted.

ONLY THEN did Dick bring out his instrument to measure specific gravity, his charts which dictate amount of sugar necessary to insure adequate fermentation, the chemicals to selectively kill bacteria, and the patience which allows him to bottle the wine, knowing it must rest a year before it can be enjoyed.

With a friend in the northern part of the city sharing the Joblonicky enthusiasm for do-it-yourself wine, the two families expect to boast a cellar with a dozen types, ranging from white to ruby, sweet to dry, still to sparkling.

And this, to amateur winebibbers, offers a golden opportunity.

AS WE WARNED — when you are in the neighborhood — don't call the "revenooers."

It will be far more rewarding to call a friend and hope they can wrangle you an invitation to the Joblonicky's wine tasting party next April.

Can Anyone Define 'Township House?'

The possibility of a new Hamilton Township building at the corner of Lockbourne Road and Route 665 may hinge on the definition of a "township house."

A preliminary report from County Prosecutor C. Howard Johnston stated there may be a problem in carrying out the trustees' tentative plans for building a facility to house village road equipment (mower, cruisers, sodium chloride, etc.) and a constabulary.

THE DIFFICULTY arises from the fact that when the site was donated by Thomas J. Rathmell in 1893, a deed restriction stated that the property would revert to him or his heirs if used for purposes other than a township house.

However, Johnson had informed the trustees he is not satisfied with his research to date on the term "township house" and is not committing himself with an opinion at this point.

Actually, the entire question is somewhat academic at this point.

THE POSSIBILITY of new construction has never gone further than talk, although the present cramped building without indoor plumbing is regarded as pretty much of a white elephant, junior grade.

At one time the site was part of the Rathmell farm on the north, but was cut off from the main acreage by relocation of Rt. 665.

The property involved is a part of the small triangle at the southwest corner of the present intersection and hemmed in by residential properties to the south and west.

A SPOKESMAN speculated that the property, if still part of the original acreage, might be rather valuable because of its highway frontage, but conceded that by itself it could not be particularly coveted by the Rathmell heirs or anyone else.

Because of the inadequacy of the present "township house," trustees have held their meetings in the homes of their current clerk for at least 42 years.

Educational Association Will Meet

A potluck dinner will be served when the Franklin County Branch of the Association for Childhood Education meets Monday, Oct. 7, 6 p.m., at Deshler School.

Theme for the evening will be "A Look at New Friends."

Better To Vote

There seem to be enough people who are discouraged enough about the coming national election not to vote at all.

This is regrettable, because unless a hydrogen bomb drops between now and November someone is going to be elected.

All it will take for the wrong man to be elected is for all the most concerned people not to vote.

A few political zealots can win an election if the silent majority remains at home on election day. The lessons of history are all too clear on this point.

Most important, whatever feeling voters have nationally, locally there are vital issues at stake — a city income tax hike, child welfare levy and a host of candidates for office — from U. S. Senator to County Commissioner.

It is better to have voted and lost than never to have voted at all.

Positive Step

The Columbus Board of Realtors has taken a very positive step toward fighting racial discrimination in housing.

Long the object of criticism from open housing groups, the realty board has warned its members that racial discrimination in the sale or rental of property "may well involve the violator in a suit for damages and injunction."

The Columbus board's statement followed on the heels of a policy declaration on fair housing adopted by the Ohio Association of Real Estate Boards meeting in Toledo.

Open housing is not only the law of the land — it is good business.

Franklin County is now on the verge of providing democracy in housing.

If individual realtors follow the advice of their board, everyone stands to gain.

A Modern Fairy Tale

By JOHN MORGAN

Once upon a time there was a great city which had been erected in the middle of nothing.

The big city hadn't really been systematically planned or even thought about for that matter. But one poor soul suggested in the very beginning that the city be built five feet above ground—suspended on air cushions.

And the city grew and grew — right there in the middle of the air.

Soon people everywhere began to think of themselves as living in a great metropolitan area. They were jealous because all the other cities in faraway places had what everyone called "urban problems."

So the big city looked for these "urban problems," created them — nurtured them. And the city gave birth to poverty, political windbags, bossism, despair, crowded buildings and racism.

Now the people in the city could brag. "We've got urban task forces to fight metropolitan problems," one man announced to an NBC reporter. "The private sector is involved in the ghetto," a proud businessman announced. "Our university is really concerned about this city," a college president told visiting alumni.

And now everyone was happy because the great city looked like a city, it smelled like a city and acted like a city. Criminals began to move in, and the newspaper had to hire a crime reporter to cover all the excitement. The rivers became polluted and the buildings began to crack. Poverty sharks were the next to move in and were quickly followed by pawn shops, gambling halls and militants who protested against the poverty sharks.

Soon the big city was truly big. It deserved to be called a city, and residents proudly boasted of their accomplishment—fifth largest crime center in the nation, 30th in terms of substandard housing, and first in the number of migrant cockroaches.

But then one day the people began to grow tired of the city.

They began to live elsewhere.

And the city stood alone, inhabited by a few rats and cockroaches and a lot of dreary buildings.

Then the great-grandson of the man who suggested the city be built on air cushions had an idea.

One night he crept out underneath the city, took a needle in his hand and stuck it in the center of the air cushions.

The city sank into the earth and disappeared.

Millions of years later, after three world wars, a group of people in bear skins carrying rocks and clubs in their hands, returned to the site where the city used to stand.

They decided to give up their hunting and become farmers.

But everyone knew farming the land could not go on forever.

And one of them finally suggested: "Let's make a city."

They began to erect a monument to human enterprise, right there in the middle of nothing.

Looking Down Wall Street

Day-by-day investment management requires the closest cooperation between the investor and his broker. This article tells what a brokerage house can do for you to help you gain your investment objectives and the services available to you.

In all your dealings with a brokerage house you will receive the confidential, personal attention of the registered representative with whom you work. He is the one who will answer your questions, get additional information for you from his research department, receive your orders and handle a multitude of other matters for you.

Probably the most important service that your registered representative has to offer you is to help keep you informed about your holdings and to discuss with you their continuing management. This is truly a personal service, because your individual investment requirements are unlike those of anyone else. He will work with you in setting your investment objective after careful consideration of your resources, family obligations and attitude toward the assumption of risk.

No doubt you have some ideas about the securities in which you would like to invest. But perhaps you want more information before actually placing an order to buy. To help answer your questions, the research department, which is composed of experienced investment analysts, is at your disposal. These individuals—all of them specialists in their respective fields — make frequent trips to the nation's four corners to gather first-hand information.

Besides the personalized information you receive through talking with your registered representative, you will be interested in keeping abreast of all economic changes. Many brokerage houses publish reports and bulletins for the benefit of their customers.

A written confirmation of every transaction is mailed to you. This gives all pertinent information concerning the transaction, from the name of the security to the net cost or credit after all fees and taxes. Each month a complete statement of your account will be mailed to you if there have been any changes from the previous month. This statement shows the securities you bought or sold during the month, a list of all your securities in the firm's possession, plus a record of your balance. You may find it convenient to leave your securities in the safekeeping facilities of your brokerage house. This eliminates the need for putting them in a safe deposit vault and there is no problem of delivery if you want to sell them later.

The brokerage house through your registered representative can help you achieve your investment objectives in the most orderly and intelligent manner.

Rising Star

By ROBERT W. REIDER
Editor And Publisher

REIDER

One of the rising young stars in the Democratic Party is John McDonald, minority floor leader in the Ohio House.

McDonald works quietly, but effectively.

More and more he is becoming a factor in policy decisions at the state level. State Chairman Pete O'Grady regards McDonald very highly and frequently consults the Newark legislator on party matters other than legislative.

He is a dedicated Party man, yet holds the respect of the opposition.

McDonald worked determinedly prior to the February filing deadline to fill the legislative slate. Today the Party stands a better chance than ever of regaining House control should the expected Democratic ground swell develop about mid-October.

McDonald received further Party exposure by serving as secretary to the Ohio delegation at the Chicago convention.

At the recent state convention, he made a highly favorable impression with the pros by the manner in which he handled the gavel as chairman. McDonald kept things moving and set the tone for one of the best-conducted Democratic conflabs in recent years.

Generally, when the Party is in control, the speakership goes to a member from a metropolitan area. (Jim Lantz of Lancaster was an exception.).

John McDonald has caught on fast. He has won his spurs. At the moment his future never looked brighter. It could be further enhanced if the Democrats win on Nov. 5.

Nixon's Mistake

By ROBERT TENENBAUM
Managing Editor

Spiro T. Agnew is rapidly proving himself the biggest political mistake Richard Nixon has made in a mistake-filled career.

Agnew, chosen as a compromise candidate because he offended no-one, has suddenly started offending everyone. He is, to be blunt, suffering from a serious case of foot-in-mouth disease.

The Maryland governor started his foray into the world of bad-mouthing when he called Vice President Hubert Humphrey "soft on Communism." That phrase raised, for the first time in 15 years, the horrible spectre of McCarthyism.

Fortunately, key Republican leaders got to Agnew and smoothed the whole thing over. It was forgotten — for about a week.

Then Mr. Agnew lowered booms number two and three. In a talk in which he mentioned several minority groups, he used the term "Polack," a not-too-nice nickname for a person of Polish descent.

And he followed that up by referring to a Baltimore newsman of Japanese descent as a "fat Jap."

Oh, Agnew apologized again. He said he didn't know that Polish people don't like being called "Polacks." He thought it was just an affectionate nickname. And he said his "good friend" the Baltimore newsman knew he didn't mean any harm when he used the word "Jap."

And on top of all of that, he made a little speech saying he was sorry he made a few mistakes but after all, he was under a lot of pressure and speaking for the record a lot and he was bound to make a few mistakes like that, wasn't he?

Agnew's campaign staff had better inform him firmly and quickly that a Vice President is also under a lot of pressure and also speaks for the record a lot and that it might not be quite as funny if he called the Japanese ambassador to the United States a "Jap," even if it was "just in fun."

If Spiro Agnew doesn't learn, the possible consequences are frightening.

Prison

By TED BEARDSHEAR

The other day I visited London Correctional Institute. (Visited — not sentenced).

It is, as you know, one of the medium security prisons in Ohio's penal system.

The first encounter was the administration building, which had, as expected, a rather common institutional look.

At precisely the scheduled time, a social worker appeared from the barred doors, greeted us (there was a group) and took us up to the bars.

At his signal, a guard pushed a button which opened a massive door. We went in. The door smashed shut behind us. We found ourselves in limbo — it was a 20 foot cube of bars. We could neither go backward nor go forward.

A guard appeared. He looked rather bored, even cynical.

"If you got any medication or knives, I want 'em," he announced.

We all declared ourselves "clean."

The bars, the cube and the guard scared me. I wanted out but there was nowhere to go.

A corridor led to a dining hall. It was immense. The tables were about 16 inches wide and the chairs were fastened to a bar underneath the tables. The chairs snapped up against the tables when not in use. The chairs all faced the same way on a 16 inch table.

It looked cold and uninviting.

A chalked menu listed a fairly decent meal but I could not imagine eating it in those small snap-back chairs facing the same way.

At the end of the dining hall, we turned up a winding staircase which led to another barred cage.

On the right was a huge dormitory. It must have held 200 men in beds about three feet apart. The prisoners were in various states of undress, obviously preparing for bed.

It looked crowded, close and hot.

Claustrophobia set in.

We turned to the left and found ourselves in a huge auditorium. There were some 150 prisoners there dressed in the now familiar uniform of blue shirts and overalls.

I remembered Rev. Sagendorf's contention in "The Horrible World" series that the prison process in Ohio was dehumanizing.

If I had seen nothing but the bars, the dormitory, the faces, and the dining hall, I would have reached the same conclusion.

A member of our party gave a speech and we left.

The only thing that kept me from panic was the knowledge that I could leave.

These men couldn't.

Despite the distrust, scorn, defiance, hate and resentment . . . despite the uniforms . . . they were all human beings.

They felt, thought, hoped, believed, loved and hated like all human beings.

I would hope in the future that somehow, despite their experience, they would find love and happiness.

I had that hope for them.

I went in with fear . . . but I came out with compassion.

Thanks From West

To The Editor:

Many, many thanks to you for your very kind and informative editorial about our West High School Band and Orchestra Parents Club campaign to solicit much needed funds to send our All-Brass Marching Band to participate in the 80th tournament of Roses Parade in Pasadena, Calif. on New Year's Day.

The present members of the Band and We[illegible] Corps have been working hard in preparation for [illegible] trip, and I know not only the west side, but the e[illegible] city of Columbus, and the state of Ohio will be proud [illegible] their performance. Incidentally, much of our being invited to participate should be shared with those members of prior years who helped to make us a much recognized marching unit.

I know you realize that our campaign depends upon much needed publicity to keep our organization needs and name before the public. We appreciate anything you can do for us in this capacity.

Thanks again for your article.

Question Firing

To The Editor:

This is a letter to the county commissioners.

Do you believe in God? You surely don't act like it, for the Bible says "do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

Do you think you have done right by firing Mr. Brittenham when he was for the poor people? When you come before the judgment bar and have that bloody finger pointed in your face . . . and are told of all your wrongs you will not talk back. You will not push Him around and have your way. You will stand there and listen.

We all must work to get hatred out of people's hearts, and put love in. But you people are setting a poor example for young people to follow.

President Wallace

By ARTHUR HOPPE

HOPPE

The election of George Wallace to the presidency in November of 1968 through a coalition of Southern States, Border States, Northern suburbs and others came as no surprise to astute political observers. But his first day in the White House did.

For President Wallace kept every single one of his campaign promises.

It was a most productive first day in office. Arising early, the President went for a drive, ran over a Hippie, threw a briefcase-toting bureaucrat in the Potomac, ran over a Yippie, grabbed a pseudo-intellectual by his beard and tossed him under a specially-constructed jailhouse on the South Lawn and, well-refreshed, called in his new Secretary of State, Orville Crackers of Tallahoossee, Ga.

"First smack dab thing, Orville," said the President, "I want you to cut all these snot-nosed furrin States off at the pockets and not give 'em one more dime of our hard-earned money."

"Right as rain, George," said the Secretary. "Lessee, there's New York, Oregon, Vermont . . ."

"And don't fergit them there other ones overseas," said the President, "whatever their names are. Now bring in them Generals."

When the Joint Chiefs of Staff had assembled, the President said, "Lookit here, boys, if'n I give you a half a million more men and a couple 'a billion more dollars, can you win that there war in Vee-yat-nam P.D.Q.?"

The Generals looked startled. "Well, Mr. President," said one, "I think we could safely promise great progress toward the light at the end of the . . ."

"I figured as much," said the President. "Go git our boys back home and tell them slanty-eyed gooks they ain't fit for a white man to fight for."

Having re-made U.S. foreign and fiscal policies and ended the war in Vietnam, President Wallace had a leisurely lunch before calling up his new Attorney General, Melvin Murd of Pinole, Miss., to remind him to throw all the crooks in the country in jail.

"And you'd better toss in the Supreme Court, too, Melvin, and the pinko press for good measure," said [illegible] President. "And if any of them pseudo-intellectuals [illegible] a fuss, beat a little law and order into their thick sku[illegible]"

Having kept every single campaign promise, Mr. Wallace couldn't think of anything else to do. So he resigned before dinner.

Unfortunately, as he was leaving town, he mistook the bearded Russian Ambassador for a briefcase-carrying Hippie. Confused, he ran over the briefcase and threw the Ambassador into the Potomac.

An angry Moscow called on the Hot Line. But seeing Mr. Wallace had never gotten around to picking a Vice President, no one answered. The frustrated Soviets launched a nuclear attack, wiping out the U.S.

But as Mr. Wallace himself had often said during his [illegible]mpaign, "Ah'm livin' proof that anybody can be Pre[illegible]nt of these here United States."

[illegible]h is certainly true. And let's not forget it.

American History Printed In German

One American history was printed in German for Philadelphians, but published in New York by the Gay Brothers in two consecutive printings.

Lossing's Vereingte Staaten Bon Benson J. Lossing, Lid. 1875 and 1881, is a "Pictorial Field-Book of the Revolution of 1812." Lossing also wrote a number of other books on American history in German. This particular family relic contains portions of Ohio territory under July 13, 1787 Ordinance.

Story to the right is about Ohio and its Colonization.

366 Die Nation. [1789

Am 23. April 1789 langte Waſhington in Neu-York an, und erſchien am 30. auf dem Balkon des alten Stadthauſes,[1] wo er in Gegenwart einer großen Maſſe Volkes den Amtseid in die Hände des Kanzlers Livingſton[2] ablegte, hierauf eine nachdrucksvolle Anſprache an die Mitglieder beider Häuſer des Congreſſes hielt, und ſodann, von den Volksrepräſentanten begleitet, in feierlicher Prozeſſion in die St. Pauls-Kirche ſich begab, um daſelbſt den Segen des Herrſchers der Welten für die eben eingeführte neue Regierung zu erflehen.

Nie hatten Männer Pflichten größerer Verantwortlichkeit zu erfüllen, als jene, welche Waſhington und ſeinen Amtsgenoſſen auferlegt waren. Die erſte Sitzung des Congreſſes[3] beſchäftigte ſich meiſt mit der Organiſation der neuen Regierung und Ausarbeitung von Plänen für das künftige Gedeihen der Republik, und in vorderſter Reihe zielten ihre Beſtrebungen auf die Einrichtung eines Syſtems zur Ordnung der öffentlichen Einkünfte, um die zerrütteten Finanzen des Landes zu reguliren.[1] Dieſer Gegenſtand ward von Madiſon,[2] dem ſtillſchweigend anerkannten Führer des Repräſentantenhauſes, zwei Tage nach der Stimmenzählung für die Wahl des Präſidenten und Vice-Präſidenten, betrieben. Seinem Vorſchlage gemäß wurden Schiffszölle erhoben, und ein Einfuhr-Zolltarif für fremde Waaren feſtgeſetzt. Dieſe Abgaben begünſtigten die amerikaniſche Kauffahrtei, und waren der Beginn unſeres jetzigen Einkunfteſyſtems.

Nach Organiſation des letzteren richtete der Congreß ſeine Aufmerkſamkeit zunächſt auf die innere Einrichtung der Departements der ausübenden Gewalt. Drei — Finanzen, Krieg und Aeußeres — wurden geſchaffen, und deren Leiter „Secretäre," nicht Miniſter, wie in Europa, genannt. Dieſe kann der Präſident mit Zuſtimmung des Senats ernennen oder entlaſſen. Sie bildeten einen Cabinetsrath, ſtets bereit, mit dem Präſidenten über öffentliche Angelegenheiten Raths zu pflegen, und, wenn verlangt, ihre Anſichten demſelben ſchriftlich zu übergeben.

Ein kurzer Rückblick auf den Fortſchritt der Handels-Geſetzgebung der Vereinigten Staaten, vom Ende der Revolution bis zur gegenwärtigen Zeit, mag hier als belehrend erſcheinen: — Im März 1783 ſchlug der jüngere Pitt[3] im brittiſchen Parlamente einen Plan für die zeitweilige Regulirung des Handelsverkehrs Großbritannien's mit den Vereinigten Staaten vor. Den Hauptgrundzug desſelben bildete die freie Zulaſſung amerikaniſcher Schiffe mit den Erzeugniſſen amerikaniſcher Induſtrie in die brittiſch-weſtindiſchen Häfen, wogegen dem Volke Weſtindiens freier Handel mit den Vereinigten Staaten geſtattet ſein ſollte. Dieſer Vorſchlag ward jedoch verworfen, und bald darauf erging ein Befehl des Geheimen Rathes,[4] welcher den amerikaniſchen Schiffen die weſtindiſchen Häfen gänzlich verſchloß, und die Einfuhr verſchiedener Producte der Vereinigten Staaten, ſelbſt auf brittiſchen Schiffen, verbot. Trotz dieſer unklugen, engherzigen Politik ſchlug 1785 Adams, der amerikaniſche Geſandte am Hofe zu St. James, vor, die Schiffahrt und den Handel zwiſchen allen Beſitzungen der brittiſchen Krone und dem Geſammtgebiete der Vereinigten Staaten auf die Baſis vollkommener Wechſelſeitigkeit zu ſtellen. Dies freimüthige Anerbieten ward indeß nicht allein zurückgewieſen, ſondern dem Geſandten hochtrabend bedeutet, daß keine Aenderung zu gewärtigen ſei, worauf Adams ſofort den Vereinigten Staaten empfahl, eine Schiffahrts-Acte zu Gunſten ihres Handels zu verfaſſen.

Channel 4's Nick Clooney Show 'Political Corner'

Channel 4's "Nick Clooney Show" is fast becoming the political corner of weekday viewing.

This is happening because host, Nick Clooney, takes an interest in current events and the history of the United States.

His interests quite naturally become a part of the program. When I first interviewed him this past spring, he spoke of civil rights and belonging to several historical organizations.

Several days after his program aired, Martin Luther King was assassinated. His comments then, as when Robert F. Kennedy fell to the same ill-fate, were soothing to viewers as he compared the American Revolution to today's revolution.

Now he has written to the four candidates, both Republican and Democrat, to be on his show. So far, Vice-President Hubert Humphrey has been on and as of Monday, his running-mate, Senator Edmund Muskie.

Director of news, Hugh DeMoss and Carl Grant along with Nick Clooney, queried Senator Muskie in a WLW-C studio this past Saturday afternoon.

I've never seen so many cameramen and members of the production staff working in suits. Usually, their suit jackets have been shed, but no one seemed to mind the discomfort. These studios become terribly hot, due to powerful lighting needed to televise in color.

Taking the hard-core news out of the question and answer period seems to highlight the man first, then the issues. Of course, the issues were covered but in an atmosphere easier to associate oneself.

With Mr. Clooney's interest in current events, there may come a stronger tie through his program with the issues of the day.

La Mancha Features 'Executives'

The "Executives" are back and at Marty's La Mancha. That in itself is a rarely achieved accomplishment. The six male member group is back after only a three month pause.

To many, this is welcome news for while in Columbus on the first engagement they made many friends and fans. Justly so.

The group is a powerhouse in versatility. Based mainly on impressions, this musical and vocal act performs a tight show.

One cannot help the laughter as these jesters clown through a Jackie Gleason skit, Ted Lewis, Dean Martin, Johnny Mathis, Sapphire and Kingfish Stevens and the Singing Nun.

The group delivers a historic tour of such names as Jimmy Dorsey, Tommy Dorsey, Clyde McCoy, Spike Jones, and many others.

Who needs more? This group has a lot to offer. Thusly, they should satisfy patrons seeking above average musical, vocal and comedic entertainment.

The "Executives" will be at Marty's La Mancha through next Saturday. In the meantime, watch some of the daily TV programs for a guest appearance. They were a big hit on Nick Clooney's show last time around.

Around Town

Conducted By

ROLAND SUNKER

Appearing this week and next at Max's Steak House is one of the best acts to play there in many a moon. Arliss is the name of the young lass.

A charming, beautiful girl with a charming, beautiful voice to match, is the only true way to describe this act.

She has a velvety smooth voice which produces pleasant and pleasing vocal sounds. Arliss has a style all her own. She doesn't sing or sound like anyone but herself.

In today's market this is a rarity. Singing in several languages, Arliss sings with more emotion and feeling than most vocal performers.

Besides charm, she has warmth and class both in the selection of her material and in its presentation. This week and next, Arliss has to be considered as one of the best lounge acts Around Town. Stop in at Max's on West Spring. I know you will agree.

ARLISS

Charlie Pickens Trio

After one and a half years in the DaVinci Lounge at the Sheraton Motor Hotel, the great Charlie Pickens Trio is closing this Saturday night. Charlie on piano, Jim Thompson on bass and Johnny Ridzon at the drums comprises one of the most talented musical groups Around Town.

Charlie's piano artistry is as classy and sophisticated as the decor of the DaVinci Lounge. Mix with his two equally talented members and you have a trio of musical geniuses. The real trademark of Charlie Pickens is subtle approach to his tasteful keyboard arrangements.

If you never have heard the Charlie Pickens Trio you have missed a real musical treat. Remember, you only have three nights left to enjoy this group in the beautiful DaVinci Lounge, 21 floors up in the Sheraton.

Ann-Ton's

Since 1946 Ann-Ton's has been one of the outstanding restaurants in our city. Operated from its beginning by the Fracasso brothers, Joe and Eddie, Ann-Ton's has consistently served the most delicious, succulent food anywhere.

Considered by many as one of the nicest eating places in town, the restaurant is decorated in a very authentic contemporary Italian atmosphere.

Of course the menu features some of the best Italian cuisine this side of the Atlantic. On the American portion of the menu, steaks and sea foods are a specialty of the house. Take it from one who has experienced the dining pleasures at Ann-Ton's, their charcoal broiled steaks are all U.S. prime and the finest cuts available. All of their sea foods are fresh, no frozen foods here.

Located next to the restaurant is an intimate little cocktail lounge that is decorated in the same Italian motif. Downstairs is another lounge which is referred to as the annex. This is a small, secluded spot where you can really have a good time.

The friendly and personable Eddie Fracasso will be glad to give you a tour of Ann-Ton's and show you all of their facilities, including the party rooms. For an evening of gourmet entertainment, Ann-Ton's is a must.

Skipping Around

Skipping Around Town . . . Reported by very reliable sources that one of the major motels on the west side has been sold to a large chain with operations already established in town. You'll read all the details first in this column . . . Speaking of the west side, cute Phyllis Dale is still knocking them dead in the lounge at the Lincoln Lodge . . . This is the last week for the Bill Scott Trio at the El Diavolo Lounge . . . At the Clock, Buddy Cotter is still entertaining with organ melodies and an Irish wit . . . At the Northland and Eastland Cinemas, Kirk Douglas, Sylva Koscina star in "A Lovely Way To Die" . . . And don't forget the nutty duo, Rusk and McGowan, who are still packing them in at the Imperial House-Arlington.

CO-STARS

Forrest Tucker co-stars with Betty Garrett in Neil Simon's new comedy, "Plaza Suite," at the Hartman Theatre for one week beginning Monday, Oct. 7. The comedy hit of New York this year, it is comprised of three hilarious one-act plays about marriage on the rocks, an illicit affair and a daughter's battle with her parents on her wedding day.

Off Broadway Theatre Opens

Off Broadway Theatre, 2210 Summit St., has reopened. That fact is probably the biggest news and most welcome news of the week to many theater advocates and to those who like to laugh.

JOANNE

Off Broadway's distinctive format of mirroring social, political and living standards is off to another season with "You're Pulling My Leg."

The theater, formed only last year, has already become one of Columbus' musts on the entertainment agenda.

Although "You're Pulling My Leg" is a Columbus first, this original musical revue directed by Gene Casey has been touring throughout the U.S. for several months. Reviews from Memphis and Ft. Lauderdale are ecstatic.

A review of this revue will appear next week, but from all forecasts the show is sure to please, so start dialing for reservations at 268-7759 or 262-0828 . . . start now for the line has already formed.

'Helga' Educational; Not Entertaining

By CLAUDIA ELKINS
Entertainment Editor

The motion picture "Helga" opened yesterday, at Town and Country and University City Cinemas.

For what reason, it escapes me.

In the first place "Helga," a woman's name, implies that the film is a fictional release in keeping with the current crop of titles . . . "Petulia," "Rachel, Rachel," and "Rosemary's Baby."

This implication is far from the actual intent of the film. It is a documentary, based on truths. It is presented in a concise, visual and factual manner. There is no fictional basis, unless one considers that the woman having birth is an actress, for obvious reasons.

Comparisons are shown among various forms of animals with human pregnancy, with preparation and birth the prominent subject. Every function of both male and female reproduction processes is explained, diagramed and filmed.

In the second place, the advance advertising refers to the film as "may disturb and shock you."

Yes, "Helga" will do just this if you select this film for your evening's entertainment.

Entertaining it is not.

Educational it is.

If you consider a documentary entertaining, forget this one. If you are considering broadening your knowledge of the story of life, ponder it.

Having survived a biology class, giving birth to two children and the instructions of an obstetrician, I found the film boring, for I've been through it. But, for those with curiosity or wanting to know the facts, it is a great film. The questions regarding pregnancy or birth are tastefully answered.

There is an actual birth and to put the delivery squarely on your shoulders, you are not going to miss one second.

For questioning and mature teenagers and adults it is a fine documentary.

But last of all, I cannot accept the reasoning for showing the film in a movie house.

It is not of entertainment value.

BUT DENIES HE'S A RACIST

Pfeifer Says He Stands With Wallace On Issues

By SYLVIA BROOKS
Spectator Staff Writer

Democratic Congressional candidate Herbert Pfeifer told The Spectator in an exclusive interview that "I am not a racist, but basically I stand where (third-party Presidential candidate) George Wallace does on the issues."

Pfeifer, who seeks to unseat incumbent Rep. Samuel L. Devine in the Nov. 5 election, calls himself "the first Democratic candidate who is a conservative in Franklin County to run for office."

"I am not a liberal," Pfeifer said. "Devine is more liberal than I am."

The fledgling politician is running what could be the most unusual campaign ever staged in this county.

He said he will not accept any contributions for his campaign because "I want to represent the people and not interest groups who might try to 'buy me.'" He said he tells persons who might want to give him $5 or $10 contributions to "keep their money and tell a friend to vote for me."

And Pfeifer flatly predicted he would beat Devine — a feat no Democrat has been able to accomplish.

"Sam Devine doesn't have a chance in this election," Pfeifer said. "He will simply quit and go home. He has finally found his Waterloo."

Pfeifer predicted he would outpoll Devine 74,000-68,000.

Pfeifer said he decided to run against Devine in his first try for political office because "no one else had the guts to run against Sam Devine."

Pfeifer also charged that Devine "represents only the large special interest groups who put him where he is" and said he was the victim of a "news blackout" in the Columbus papers.

"People don't want to listen to Devine's criticism," he said. "They want constructive ideas. They want to know what is in it for them."

Pfeifer said he had plans to campaign during the last weeks before the election but said that for now "I'm not doing anything on my campaign. I work eight hours and go home and watch television." He refused to make public his campaign plans, but hinted any activity would probably come at the very end of the campaign.

He also said he had received endorsements from 41 groups but that he would not make the list public until later. The Franklin County AFL-CIO, however, endorsed Pfeifer last week.

Pfeifer also branded Devine a "big spender," charging that he overuses his franking privileges and citing his "yes" vote on the Vietnam War budget.

"Just because Devine votes against school lunch programs people say he's a conservative," Pfeifer said.

Pfeifer is an officer in the Chief Drilling Co. on Cleveland Avenue, an oil and gas drilling firm.

Present during parts of The Spectator interview were Franklin County Democratic Chairman George Twyford, vice chairman Richard Ryan and county party secretary-treasurer A. W. Mininni.

Barack Recreation Center

The fall activities announced at Barack Recreation Center range from a Chess Club to boxing and from volleyball to dancing.

And according to director Dick Payne, the Teen Lounge, opened last year for TV, dancing and "socializing" will regularly feature bridge lessons which started this Tuesday.

THE ARTS and crafts program includes Teen and Preteen ceramics on Wednesdays and Thursdays, art for youngsters between nine and 12 on Tuesdays and for children between six and eight on Mondays.

Tuesday evenings will be of special interest for "camera bugs" with film making and projection and photo development and enlargement offered.

The Chess Club will meet on Friday nights and piano lessons are offered from 4 to 6 p.m. on Tuesdays and from 10 a.m. until noon on Saturdays.

WHEN THE basketball season opens in November, participation will be limited to those who have taken part in the current volleyball action. (Until volleyball ends there will be no basketball playing in the gym until after 8:15 p.m.).

The volleyball schedule includes: junior boys, 4 to 6 p.m., Tuesday, Thursday and Friday; junior girls, 4-6, Monday and Wednesday; intermediate and senior boys, 7 to 8 p.m. Tuesday and Friday; and intermediate and senior girls, 7 to 10 p.m., Monday.

SHORTS, shirt and tennis shoes must be worn in the gym at all times.

The dancing classes on Tuesday and Thursday for pre-teen girls (4 to 6 p.m.) and teenagers (7 to 10 p.m.) will introduce basic dance techniques which will later be developed into programs planned throughout the season.

Other activities scheduled are boxing for boys from 6 to 10 p.m. on Mondays and Fridays; girls' cheerleading 4 to 5 p.m. on Thursdays and drill team, 5 to 6 p.m. on Thursdays and 7 to 8 p.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

South High Speaks Out

(Editor's Note: Last spring students of the junior honors English class were asked to read the President's Riot Commission Report and respond to it. The four responses following, which are considered typical by the instructor, Mrs. Mary Wald, are printed as the third of a series reflecting the attitudes of local teenagers.)

MY THOUGHTS AFTER READING THE REPORT

By Kay Moore

America is finally awakening. As yet, its conscience is drowsy and unsure. But every day it gets stronger and sharper.

Americans are beginning to realize that racism isn't necessary. They are just starting to understand that the hate and riots are products of their own injustice.

America knows now that the Negro won't stay down any longer. He's on his way up—once again. He's preparing for the battle, and this time he's going to win.

Why has racism been allowed to exist for so many years?

The main reason, of course, is the physical differences: no one can pretend not to notice that some skin is black and some is white.

The Negro's heritage is another reason for racism. The Negro knows and resents that a few generations ago his forefathers were slaves. But I don't think he resents that nearly as much as the psychological slavery that holds him in bondage today.

But freedom is coming, and perhaps soon men of both races will be able to look at each other and think, "There is a man," not "There is a black man," or "There is a white man."

The recent riots could have easily been foreseen; all one has to do is look at history. Minority groups have always rioted.

But, why do the Negroes riot? Whether it's right or wrong depends on that "why."

If Negroes riot for equal rights and intellectual equality, then I believe they are right, and I would gladly help them fight. But if they expect to be given unreasonable financial help and certain privileges that other men have to work for, then they are wrong.

Please disregard everything I've written. I don't understand the riots or the Negro situation, so I certainly can't explain it. I feel like a fool trying to.

WHO'S FIGHTING WHO?

By Jim Million

In response to the "U.S. News and World Report" article, "As Another Riot Season Nears . . .", which is a summary of the government's commission on riots' work, I feel I must voice a note of opposition.

According to the commission, in order to prevent more riots like last summer's, the government must take steps toward the following goals: two million new jobs in the next three years, six million new housing units in the next five years, passage of an enforceable "open-housing" law, enlarging welfare payments, and, in so many words or less, a guaranteed annual income!

I must disagree!

Two million new jobs — doing what? Who will pay for them?

And the six million housing units? Taxes are already too high. The article expresses an urgency about the migration of whites to suburbia, leaving the central cities to become Negro populated. Will open housing stop this?

More welfare? There are already too many people living on other people's taxes.

President Johnson gave the commission three questions to answer in its report on the riots of '67.

They are: What happened? Why? What can be done to prevent it from happening again?

The commission answered the first question easily but I feel that they let the others slip right by them. They blamed the riots on white racism, while in my opinion, the whole racial stir is the cause of the Black Power fanatics like H. Rap Brown and Stokely Carmichael, not to mention all of the unknown agitators.

As for their solutions, they would give the militants exactly what they wanted, Black Power!

My solution?

Get rid of the militant leaders, the advocates of violence, the Black Power fanatics and the racial crisis will settle itself.

As the old saying goes: The more you stir the garbage, the more it stinks!

RACISM CAUSED THE RIOTS

By Candy Gourne

My response to the article in the Mar. 8, 1968, issue of "Life" (summary of the President's Riot Commission Report) is one of gratitude to this Commission. They brought out the true facts and told it bluntly.

After reading this report, I can see why the Negro people are discouraged. The Negroes are a proud people, but America has degraded them.

The improvements the Commission brought out are needed, especially the call for better teachers in the ghetto areas, but I doubt many, if any, of the improvements will come to pass.

These improvements are urgent but the white people don't understand the plight of the Negro people and the white people run the government.

I believe if the Negroes had better teachers in schools and better homes in which to study, more Negroes would stay in school and would want to "better" themselves.

Why should they stay in school if what they are learning won't help them get along in the world? If the Negro people were treated with more dignity by the white people, there would be less trouble between the races.

The Negroes are people, too, and if this is kept in mind, some of the improvements might come to pass.

Columbus Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner, will officially welcome the overseas delegation during a civic reception Oct. 5 in the Chemical Abstracts Building. Lord Jersey will deliver the response.

The world conference will highlight a medley of cattle events including the Centennial Meeting of The American Jersey Cattle Club Oct. 11 and the annual Jersey Show and Sale Oct. 12-16.

salary of Marshal Glenn Clay was cut off.

It was then that local merchants were solicited to contribute to allow police protection to continue.

AFTER VOTER approval was secured for the 1.5 millage which assures an additional $7,000 annual income for the general fund, the county auditor went along with planning which entails cutting the present deficit at the rate of $4,000 a year for four years until it is wiped out.

This action, according to Hartley, made it possible for Mrs. Leatherwood again, with legal impunity, to pay bills from the general fund. (As it is depicted, writing checks on it actually involves borrowing money from other village funds such as the street and water funds, which are all in the [illegible] account).

"At regular Council meeting on Sept. 16, this employe . . . was asked to work part time on street maintenance since they were hiring another employe full time as a supervisor.

"NOW IN the opinion of the writer, any man who has been a devoted employe for seven years has only two things to look forward to, and these are a promotion with more pay for service rendered. I therefore see no reason for hiring a new employe at a starting salary higher than the older employe.

"Neither was it necessary under any conditions to hire a new man as apparently our old employe was a capable individual or he would not have remained on the job all these years.

"Does a man in business hire employes at outrageous salaries when his business does not warrant it? NO.

"SHOULDN'T Council take the same attitude as the business man? YES, especially when they are working with a fixed income which is established by our taxes.

"This has not been the case with our new Council. They seem to think we will spend the money now and then ask for taxes later to take care of added expenses.

"We have already given them four mills with which to pay our marshal and before too long we are going to be faced with more increases.

"THE WRITER feels the time has come for the taxpayer to speak out and let the administration know how we feel on some of the things that are being done with our tax monies.

Mohawk Camporee Theme 'Show & Do'

Following the theme of "Show and Do" members of 15 Boy Scout Troops of the Mohawk District spent the week end at Camp St. Rita on a Camporee.

Following demonstration on Saturday of 12 Scouting skills by members of the Mohawk Order of the Arrow, the competition allowed the patrols the chance to "Do."

WINNERS were: Hawk Patrol of Troop 56, sponsored by the Corpus Christi Parish Council — Silent Signals and Judging Measurement; Eagle Patrol of Troop 224, sponsored by the Thurman Avenue Methodist Church — Tent Pitching; Black Stallions of Troop 230 sponsored by the South High Evangelical United Brethren Church — Compass and Troop 511 sponsored by the Loyal Order of Moose No. 1 — Knots.

John Sorenson, District Camping Chairman and Troop 23 Scoutmaster, planned the weekend and recruited Bruce Mower, William Sizemore, Carl Fisher, Roy Graves and Pete Wagner to provide adult leadership.

SORENSON brought his Troop 23, sponsored by Federal Glass, fresh from the honor of having won third place at United Appeal Fun-Fair with the display "Realistic Wounds."

FEW HAD THE PRIVILEGE

Thirty-eight thousand cars created a gigantic traffic jam Sunday afternoon as an estimated 150,000 headed toward Lockbourne Air Force Base for the annual Kiwanis Kids Day. However, few of the guests had the opportunity afforded Mel Woolever of Ashville (pictured with AF jacket), and Brian Canner of Groveport. As honorary Base Commander and National Guard Commander, respectively, they were able to meet Maj. Neil Eddins, Commander of the world-famous Thunderbirds, who highlighted the program with a spectacular performance of precision flying.

Highlights

By HARMON

A few former members of the "Top Twenty" made some notorious nose-dives last Saturday, and some familiar faces made their first appearance for 1968.

Texas, Colorado and North Carolina State all ran into trouble and disappeared from view while Ohio State, California, Oklahoma and Michigan State moved into the elite group.

THREE OR four games take the spotlight this week. Southern California and O.J., after whipping Northwestern, bump into Miami. The Trojans are in the runner-up spot in the nation . . . the Hurricanes are sixth. Southern Cal still looks a little bit the tougher of the two . . Miami to suffer its first loss by just three points.

In the Southeast Conference, two prides of the Southland collide - - ninth-rated Mississippi and Alabama, No. 20. We're picking the Rebels to slip by the Tide by four points.

Fifth-ranked UCLA and 12th-rated Texas A&M might have trouble holding their positions this week.

THE UCLANS run into Syracuse, as yet unranked, and the Aggies are required to mess around with Florida State. In two thrillers, UCLA over the Orangemen by nine, and A&M over the Seminoles by ten points.

On the other side of the picture, there are a few "ho-hum" games. The new Number One powerhouse, Purdue, will reduce Northwestern to little kittens, winning by 28 points.

Fourth-ranked Kansas will sock it to New Mexico by 42 points, and Houston, rated seventh, will chomp up Cincinnati by 31.

ALSO, third-ranked Notre Dame should flatten all the corn in Iowa - - the Irish by 30.

Penn State had a little more trouble with Kansas State than expected last week, but they should chase the Mountaineers of West Virginia way back in the hills Saturday by about 17 points. State slipped to 13th in the rankings.

Rice will be no ho-hummer for tenth-ranked Tennessee. The Owls, always tough, will play the underdog role by 14 points.

LOUISIANA State, No. 11, will charge by Baylor by 19 points . . Ohio State, 14th, should win over Oregon by 21 . . and the Georgia Bulldog, basking (and barking) in eighth, is 24 points stronger than South Carolina.

'Fearless' Predictions

The "Fearless One" secluded himself in mourning most of the week (that's the reason for the black crepe surrounding this corner this week), trying to forget last weekend's forecasting catastrophe.

The Spectator seer tumbled to an 13-10 account, his worst in the past four years with his overall account dropping to a poor 68-23.

WITH RENEWED humility, he offers these selections for week five:

SOUTH AT BROOKHAVEN — Bearcats show more offensive punch but Bulldogs upset West's applecart. South

DUBLIN AT HAMILTON TWP. — New coaches match wits in this Metro encounter. Edge to the Rangers. H-T.

GROVEPORT AT GROVE CITY — Greyhounds have been "up 'n down" most of season while Cruisers have shown improvement. However . . . G-C.

CANTON LINCOLN AT EASTMOOR — Pressure of win streak gone but Warriors get started on another one. E-M.

HILLIARD AT MIFFLIN — Cowpunchers no pushover and 'Cats will need biggest effort to date. Hilliard.

MOHAWK AT NORTHLAND — Indians having problems finding scoreboard and Vikings fuming over Lancaster setback. Northland.

PLEASANT VIEW AT WORTHINGTON — Cards let one slip off the hook last weekend, will be fit to tie this week — but not by Panthers. Worthington.

WESTERVILLE AT REYNOLDSBURG — Doesn't seem possible Wildcats can drop three in row but Raiders seem to like that OCC pressure. Reynoldsburg.

WEST JEFFERSON AT TEAYS VALLEY — Riders figure to get back to winning ways with Ashville visit. W-J.

LINDEN AT NORTH — Panthers bound to let down after exploding E-M bubble. But not that much. Linden.

WHETSTONE AT EAST — Another one of these coin tossers. Braves beginning to show some promise. OK . . . Whetstone.

CANAL WINCHESTER AT FAIRFIELD UNION — Indian offense finally exploded but will find visitors have demolition squad also. F-U.

GAHANNA AT WHITEHALL — Big Lions showed championship stuff in comeback vs. Cardinals last week but Rams play well under pressure. On a hunch . . . Whitehall.

READY AT MARION - FRANKLIN — Devils look like they've finally broken the ice, might have too much size for Knights. M-F.

SATURDAY

WATTERSON VS. LANCASTER (at North) — Eagles should keep CCL slate vs. visitors clean. But not without big effort . . . Watterson.

WEHRLE VS. VINTON CO. — Loop respite for Wolves whose quickness should overcome size deficit. Wehrle.

Fields, Remo's, Berg CTFL 'Unbeaten'

The Columbus Touch Football League maintained three unbeaten powers after a rugged third week of combat.

Defending champ Fields Brothers came from behind to edge a strong Craig Realty club, 16-8, as Tom Fullove hit Ron Porter for strikes of 30 and 17 yards.

CRAIG GOT off to a fast start — scoring on the second play of the game as Herman Reeves intercepted a pass and danced seven yards to paydirt.

North Heidelberg upset Lockbourne AFB, 22-16, as the brothers Pond struck again. John tossed three bombs to Tim—ranging from 69, 53, and 84 yards.

The Airmen countered on bombs of 71 and 68 yards to Don Beddies from Stan Lindskog. Jimmy Brown added a safety but the Bergs' offense was too much for the Skyhawks.

IN - OFFENSIVE Harley-Davidson (the second best defensive team in the C.T.F.L.) had rough going and settled for a scoreless duel with Mid-American Golf. Harley now has two ties and a long haul before facing Craig in the season's closer five weeks away.

Jacobs and Sons lifted a few eyebrows with a stunning 18-8 win over tough Central Ohio Welding.

Dick Williams started action with a safety on the Welders and Jerry Turner lofted a 12 strike to Bob Sherwood—the latter on the receiving end of a 46 yd. toss later from Woody King.

THE WELDERS' score came as Paul Sells passed to Bill Burton for a 16-yd. TD.

B & A Paints reached the win column by downing Creative Printers, 15-6, as Tom Jerald passed 23 yds. to John Gehering and 20 yds. to Don Hayes.

Jerald also booted a 15 yd. field goal (second of the year in the C.T.F.L.) and ran consistently to keep Creative off balance.

TOM MYERS launched TD strikes of 22 and 20 yards to Don Mollick and Tony Tecko as Remo's remained unbeaten by downing Moore's Painting 14-8. Moores' tally came as Ed Dorsey passed 16 yards to Don Smith.

SUNDAY'S SCHEDULE
(All games played at Southview)
Remo's vs. LAFB (noon, field one)
Moore's vs. Craig (noon, field two)
B & A vs. Harley-Davidson (noon field three)
Fields vs. C-O Welding (1:45, field one)
Heidelberg vs. Jacobs (1:45, field two)
MAGA vs. Creative Printers (1:45, field three)

Kitsmiller, Franklin Vie Sunday In Flag Feature

Bon-Aire Lounge took some of the edge off Sunday's clash between Kitsmiller Motors and Franklin Sports Center by deadlocking the latter, 24-24, last weekend in the feature game of the Columbus Flag Football League.

Kurt Pollock's two TDs and 106 rushing yards set the offensive pace for B-A while Tom Shoaf, Bob Gilliam and Jerry Silvania highlighted a rugged defensive unit.

IN OTHER games, Kitsmiller rolled to its fourth straight win with a 46-26 romp over Berwick Party House while Bell-Haven's Big Red found the win column with a 52-13 explosion at the expense of Local 189.

Rick Mauger's 16-yd. TD strike to Tom Shoaf in the final 130 seconds of play pulled Bon-Aire up even with Franklin.

The Western Division leaders were paced by Randy Walker's 106 rushing yds. (plus 55-yd. punt return TD) and Larry Guglielmi's fourth-straight interception touchdown.

HARD-RUNNING Dave Franz (limited to 38 yds. by B-A defense) and Joe Geyer supplied Franklin's other scores while Mauger chipped in with Bon-Aire's other six-pointer.

KITSMILLER saw a 26-point lead melt to seven points Sunday before cutting off Berwick.

Point-potent Ken Ramsey paced the winners' attack with six TD aerial passes (hit on 20 of 37 attempts) good for 440 yards—besides rushing for 130 yds. (in 23 carries) and a six-pointer himself.

Larry Gornall's nine catches (166 yds., one TD) and Dick Angelou's six receptions (144 yds., four TDs) were other Kitsmiller highlights.

DON CURTIS sparked Berwick's second-half comeback with a pair of interceptions — returning one for a TD and the second to Kitsmiller's one-yard line.

Marc Blackstone came off the bench to hit four of 5 [illegible] 98 yds. and three TDs (to Clint Alton, Bob Miller and Tom Yinger) in the fourth period.

However, Gene Harper's pair of interceptions chilled Berwick's comeback hopes as Kitsmiller added two final-quarter scores.

BELL-HAVEN pushed off to a 33-0 first-half lead as lineman Gary Marten, Gene Sherman and Mark Green provided ample escort for five Big Red scorers and 380 rushing yards.

Paul Hufnagel (2), Terry Robb (2), Nick Cooper, Mike Bisutti and Bruce Smith tallied for the winners who also got a six-for-ten (98 yds., three TDs) aerial effort from QB Gary Martin.

Rich Davis (88 yds. rushing) and Paul Burnson tallied the 189 touchdowns.

Strictly Female

Air Force Women's Military Dress Improving

I have never been interested in joining the Women's Air Force.

In fact, I have never been interested in joining any women's branch of any service.

The women in the service have always seemed to me to be unglamorous.

It's hard enough to be female nowadays. Some authorities say we are becoming a matriarchal society, and I am sorry to say I am beginning to agree. I compete with men; sometimes they don't like it, and most of the time I don't like it.

So it is only logical that I wouldn't want to sally forth into the WAF's in a uniform which might cast some doubts about my sex.

However, I am re-examining my position. Notice the picture at right. Air Force women may now wear long-skirted formals to social functions when men wear the mess dress (mess dress?) and civilian women wear long dresses. The Air Force approved formal skirt is an ankle-length, two-gore style with a fashionable min-knee (pun intended) slit on the left side.

At last, women in the service look helpless. They will need the assistance of the male military to climb stairs, sit down and negotiate difficult turns. Chivalry may not be dead.

The more formal dress calls for a smart silver cummerbund, shirt with pleated ruffles and no hat. For less formal events, Air Force women wear a short black skirt with cummerbund and jacket and blouse.

With the new Paris fashions, boys looking like girls and girls looking like boys, we can say with great assurance that at least this year the military won't be confused.—SSB.

Air Force women now have a long-skirted formal to wear to social functions. The Air Force approved formal skirt is ankle-length with a slit on the left side to give greater freedom of movement.

Handicapped Child Teaches Patience, Love

"My helpless child has taught me so much. She has taught me patience, above all else," wrote Pearl Buck in her autobiography.

Mr. and Mrs. David R. Owen, 3567 Roswell Dr., take comfort from these words, and have learned the qualities of patience so necessary in helping their own handicapped child.

Their daughter, Sheri Nicole, 16 months, has been a victim of congenital dislocation of both hips since birth. For years to come, the child must wear a large metal hip brace to allow her to stand.

While family happiness is often shattered by a handicapped child, and such a child at home may place a burden on the rest of the family, the Owens feel that the bearing of this responsibility trains one to exercise patience, sympathy, understanding and empathy.

They feel that "the right frame of mind" is necessary when parents discover that their child is what others refer to as "crippled."

Because of her problem, Sheri has difficulty in coordinating her actions, but she has "an amazing capacity to learn and observe."

Even though she is unable to play with other children, she watches them at play and then attempts to copy them in her own yard.

Her father spends several hours each week with her at play. He shows her how to accomplish various body motions and teaches her games requiring skills. Sheri is taught while having fun.

Sheri's mother points out that they never look upon their young daughter as handicapped. Emotional sympathy has its place, she commented, but went on to explain that the healing effects of real love and kindness cannot be over-emphasized. The child is disciplined as other children are.

Mr. Owen is assistant presiding minister with the Southeast Columbus Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses. When the circuit assembly met in Lancaster late in September, they took Sheri with them.

Their religion teaches them that in their lifetime their "God Jehovah" will "do away with all wickedness, infirmities and death, and usher in a paradise on earth according to Bible promises."

They firmly believe that Sheri will at that time be a perfectly normal girl. Owen teaches Sheri with pictures and has her bow her head for prayer at each meal and bedtime.

Her mother and father say that she never tires of learning. She eagerly looks forward to family reading and telling of Bible stories each day.

The world holds many wonders for Sheri Owen, age 16 months. In spite of her handicap, she watches other children at play and learns from them. Her keen observance has helped her to imitate their actions and overcome many of her problems.

Mr. and Mrs. David R. Owen demonstrate the patience and love they have for their small daughter, Sheri, who has been handicapped since birth. Sheri is an alert child and eager to learn.

CROSS TOWN

It may look like politics is the only topic of discussion Cross Town, but don't you believe it.

So for a little while we'd like to take the spotlight away from Humphrey and Nixon and Wallace and Gilligan and Saxbe and Cooper and Dorrian and Koontz and Shawan and (gee, it seems like that's all there is to talk about).

An era is ending on the Hilltop. On Oct. 12, an auction will be held at 10 a.m. to dispose of the possessions of the Smith family that raised five generations on the West Side. Involved are the possessions of Mrs. Frank R. Smith, who died Aug. 4 after living in the Hilltop area since 1915.

The Smith family patriarch was W. B. Smith. His son, Eldon Smith, gave the name for Eldon Avenue. The house where the auction will be held is at 22 Eldon. A viewing of the contents is set for Oct. 6 from 2-4 p.m.

And assisting with the auction is a West Jefferson woman, Mrs. Simon Rowland, a lifetime family friend and Mrs. Frank Smith's sister.

Clarence Latham will conduct the auction.

Historically, The Spectator's own Fay Maxwell is a big wig. She's been re-elected Region Five chairman of the Ohio Association of Historical Societies. She's also treasurer of the Ohio Military Society. Elected president of that group was Col. William Haines, who succeeds Col. Harry Richter.

Also making military news Cross Town is the Rev. Edward Sensenbrenner, the mayor's oldest son. Rev. Sensenbrenner was promoted from captain to major in the 83rd Army Reserve Command at Ft. Hayes. He's chaplain of the big reserve unit which is headed up by local attorney and Reserve Maj. Gen. Robert C. Tyler.

South, M-F Stay Aloft In City League Title Scramble

THE SPECTATOR SPORTS

By JACK WITTENMEIER
and
BOB WHITMAN

Bob Jackson probably doesn't care if his Bulldogs never win another "statistical battle" — as long as they come out on top in the scoreboard category.

For the second time this season, South finished second-best in the total yardage battle — and for the second time, won the ball game.

THE REBEL mentor admitted things got a little scary in the second half Friday as he watched West scrap back from a 22-0 deficit only to fall two points short at the final gun.

"They controlled the ball almost the entire second half," Bob related, "and we just had to hang on."

West's total (318 yds.) vastly outnumbered South's productivity (219, 159 rushing). "We gave up a little grass but held when it counted," Jackson allowed.

THE BULLDOG mentor's major disappointment was South's inability to maintain a lofty passing average (60 yds. vs West as compared to near 165-yd. avg.).

There were many bright spots, however, like a 2-0 City League standing and several individual top efforts.

Among the latter were Jerry Drigg's 35-yd.-plus punting average, Wilbur Prysock's 77 yds. in 21 carries, superb blocking by center Steve Ryerson and defensive standouts Don Caldwell (13 unassisted tackles) and Spencer Barton.

TWO KEY interceptions played major roles in the Bulldog victory. One was Chuck Hughes' 93-yd. TD scamper, the other — by Driggs — setting up another Reb tally.

Jackson is drilling his pass defenders overtime this week for a visit to pass-happy Brookhaven tomorrow.

The winless Bearcats (0-4) operate from a variety of formations (I, slot I, wing-T and pro-set) and rely heavily on the pitching arm of quarterback Chuck Murphy.

MURPHY'S aerial "favorites" appear to be hitting split end Gary Reall on deep tosses and flipping short to a halfback in the flat.

Rushing-wise, Brookhaven has shown basically the one-two fullback punch of soph Bruce Jones and junior Ted Crabtree on up-the-middle traps and quick pitches.

"We gained a little more confidence Friday," Jackson concluded of the West victory. "If we can get Brookhaven, who knows after that. Momentum's a great thing—if we can achieve it."

ONLY BULLDOG on the doubtful list for the Brookhaven trip is fullback Herb Jones (ankle injury).

MARION-FRANKLIN

Jim Harper's Red Devils abandoned their charity case work Friday and padded M-F's welfare dole via a 37-0 rout of Southside chum Mohawk.

"After we fumbled the opening kickoff, I thought 'here we go again,'" moaned Harper of this mistake-ridden Devils.

"BUT WE settled down and definitely cut down on our mistakes. Our downfield blocking, for example, was very much improved," the Marion skipper related.

The Devils (now 3-1) piled up an impressive total yardage advantage on the Ind[illegible] (2-2) — 335 (273 rushing) to 111, also showing a big 19-4 edge in first downs.

Offensive standouts were back Billy K. Harris (109 rushing yds. in 22 carries), QB Lloyd Ball and interior blockers Steve Grabovich, Mike Clark and Wendell Fellure.

Defensively, Grabovich picked off "Devil of the Week" honors with Larry McDowell and Roy Keyes close behind.

HARPER HAS been working overtime this week with his pass defenders, preparing for final non-loop foe Ready's (1-2-1) invasion tomorrow.

The Knights, who limited Middletown (3-1) to but 39 total yards the whole second half in a 19-8 setback last weekend, will be bringing two offensive lineups — one (the I) based on "knocking you down," the other (double slot with split ends) designed for the "gingerbread."

The I features "strictly power rushes, from tackle-to-tackle," says Harper. "It's nothing fancy. They just say, 'here we come, stop us.'"

THE DOUBLE-SLOT, however, counts on power sweeps, traps, reserves and Ready's top claim to fame — the forward pass.

"Their number one game is throwing the ball," scouts Harper, "and they throw it everywhere. They look like SMU out there.

"They'll throw back to the quarterback and, in fact, against Wehrle they threw (lateral) on a kickoff.

"BUT WE'VE got to be ready for their running game as well," Jim concluded. "We can't go to sleep on that segment."

WEHRLE

"They hung in there against a lot of adversity and played well to the end," he noted on his group's 28-0 loss to Hartley.

"THEY HELD their poise," he continued in noting that Hartley was one of the toughest teams his squad will play all season.

Paul particularly liked the play of Tom Bates (53 yards in 15 carries), Dave Maurer, Joe Groom, Mike Shinoskie and Kevin Reis.

Wehrle will have to match pretty much of an unknown quantity Friday against 1-3 Vinton County (beat the Wolves last season, 20-6).

"WE DO know they have a good fullback who'll have to be stopped," Nestor added on their 38-0 loss to area squad Hamilton Township.

"They have good size but not good speed, and seem to build everything around their fullback. The teams they've played have found a way to turn him off, and is hard to win with one man," Paul said.

"Our kids have been remembering last season, and I think they'll get themselves up because we need this one in more ways than one."

MOHAWK

INDIAN GRID boss John Butler isn't getting any help from the "fall" of his City League schedule this season.

Two weeks ago, Mohawk drew Linden, out to prove its superiority after stumbling vs. Watterson. Last weekend it was Marion-Franklin — eager to show it could put together a "mistake-proof" effort.

Tomorrow, Butler's fledglings journey to Northland (2-2), a team very much incensed about blowing a 26-0 lead at Lancaster last weekend.

JERRY STROTHERS continued to set the defensive pace with 17 tackles vs. M-F Friday, with Sam Hancock (12) and George Palmer (10) next in line.

Charles Trimble and Henry Grant gobbled up Devil bobbles while Eric Robbins and Hancock nabbed interceptions. Palmer also blocked a Devil kick.

Revengeful F-U Hosts Indians In Mid-State Headliner

By JACK WITTENMEIER
and
BOB WHITMAN

Fairfield Union coach Les Walker and his Falcons will play host to Canal Winchester tomorrow evening intent on paying off a debt — one Indian mentor Mike Locke could just as well do without.

Late last season, F-U rolled into Winchester on the wake of a 7-0 mark and the Mid-State title just over the horizon.

THE GAME LOOKED a little "ho-hum" at first with the Falcons spinning off 16 points in the first three minutes of play.

But things got tougher after that — so tough, in fact, that the Fairfield boys limped back home on the short end [illegible] 28-22 setback which [illegible]ed to be the lone blot in [illegible]therwise nifty 9-1 campaign.

So it is with such fond remembrances that the Falcons roll out the red carpet tomorrow — likely intent on pulling it right out from under the league-leading (3-0) Indians.

THERE'S NO doubt this'll be the toughest team we've faced," coach Locke surmises. "They'll be bigger than us and show a very well-balanced run-pass attack."

Operating from both T and power I formations, the Falcons show a leaning toward off-tackle, belly off-tackle and pitches to a trailing halfback.

The 4-0 (2-0 in loop play) hosts have returned seven regulars and 14 lettermen from '67's 9-1 outfit—including one-half of a point-potent backfield.

ALL-LEAGUE selections Brad Markwood (5-9, 165 lb. junior halfback) and John Snider (5-10, 170 lb. junior quarterback) are the return[illegible]

The former has shown the most ability to get to the end zone (four TDs in first three games) while the latter rates a "superlative" tag in the passing department.

Besides non-league wins over Hamilton Township (22-0, held Rangers to 185 total yards) and New Albany (40-6), Fairfield shows loop victories over Millersport (20-6) and Lancaster Fenwick (34-12) last Saturday.

DESPITE THE tub-thumping for Markwood and Snider, Locke sees senior fullback John Raab as the Falcon "sleeper."

The Winchester mentor expects' 6-1 and 6-2 defensive alignments from F-U tomorrow.

Mike, who lists back Gary Kemmerling (ankle) as "very doubtful" for "the" Mid-State clash, called Friday's 44-14 Winchester win over Millersport a "complete team effort."

C-W PILED up a 491 (271 passing) to 190 margin on the shell-shocked Lakers with QB Chris Hanners doing the most damage with two TD runs and three six-point aerials (hit on 11 of 17 attempts).

HAMILTON TWP.

You'd have to go back quite a few campaigns to find the last time a Hamilton Township eleven strung together four victories in a row.

But that prospect could become a reality before the hour of 11 p.m. tomorrow — if Bruce Burnham's Rangers can chalk up Metro win number two vs invading Dublin.

H-T CAME within a tantalizing 60 seconds of stringing four last season before Franklin Heights kayoed the Rangers, 28-20.

And it could well be Burnham might have to wait that extra minute tomorrow before signaling victory over the rugged 3-1 Shamrocks.

"They'll be the best team we've faced since Fairfield Union (Rangers bowed to Falcons, 22-0, in opener)," warns the H-T grid boss.

DUBLIN operates from a "very diversified" pro-set attack with both ends split and a wingback flanked for maximum stretch of the opposition defense.

"Their biggest goal is getting the ball to (Dublin halfback Jim) Gentry," allows Burnham. "He'll go wide and they try to hit him deep on passes."

The Ranger mentor rates Gentry as "one of the three top backs in our league . . . and just a step behind (H-T's Gary) Topping in the speed department."

DEFENSIVELY, Burnham looks for a basic six-man front from the Irish.

After opening wins over Buckeye Valley (28-8) and Jonathan Alder (22-8), Dublin stumbled at Miami Trace (16-12) before rebounding last Friday vs Northmoor (20-8).

Gentry, incidentally, has counted up six TDs in those four outings.

THE RANGERS warmed up for Dublin with a loop-opening 39-0 clobbering of Teays Valley Friday which saw a lop-sided 428 (333 rushing, 28 first downs) to 115 advantage in the total yardage department.

Most pleasing to the H-T grid boss, however, was another superlative effort by his Ranger defenders who now show a 127 yds. per game (3.2 per carry, only 38 first downs) defensive average — including the opener when

COUNTY Sports

F-U collected over 250 yards.

Rushing-wise, H-T shows 90, 63 a nd43 yards yielded in its last three outings.

TOP EFFORT ratings Friday went to the Topping boys —fullback Gary (121 yds. in 16 carries, only played first half) and quarterback Jerry ("showed more poise and fine play selection," hit on 6-of-11 passes for 115 yds. besides carrying for 35 yds. and two TDs in six tries).

Also in line for praise were end Russ Pinion (catches worth '47 yds.), linebacker Bill Esteo (three interceptions), safety man Len Morris (first start this season) and new "110 Per Cent Club" members John Niedigh and Mike Malkowski (both guards).

GROVEPORT

A shattered dream of two home game wins in a row ended face down one inch from the goal line Friday night as Groveport missed a game-deciding extra point run by that thread in a 21-20 loss to Grandview.

THE CRUISERS of Bob Starr, lookin' perkier with each outing, were carried to the final effort on the razzle-dazzle of quarterback Mark Boyer, who merely pitched for 147 yards with a 13-of-28 night and ran for 72 yards in 16 tries.

Larry Stinson's hip injury —after 45 first period yards and one score — doubtless hampered Groveport's offensive effectiveness for the rest of the evening despite a stellar performance by replacement Robin Worch.

"Worch did a fine job for us for the last three quarters as he was forced to play both ways after Stinson's injury," commented Starr of his spunky defensive half-halfback.

STARR ALSO felt that Greg Henrix's defensive end play was tops for his defenders Friday.

Grove City should offer the Cruisers just about everything, according to Starr — who peers over the scouting reports with a touch of fear in his eyes.

"They run out of about four or five formations and change as the game goes along," he observes. "But after the Bexley game they might be ready to play as they did Friday." G-C dropped the Lions, 22-0.

"THEY USUALLY play a 6-2 defense that will give our type of running game problems," he added, "but they haven't shown too well on pass defense this season."

That little notice should be music to tricky Mark Boyer's ears as he is fond of the passing attack his group has developed this season.

"We will have to be ready to defend against anything from play-action passes to power sweeps as they do a lot of them," Starr concluded.

IN THE only other area game tomorrow, West Jefferson (3-0-1) visits Teays Valley (1-3) for Metro League play.

CRUISERS MAP STRATEGY FOR G-C TRIP

First-term Groveport football coach Bob Starr conducts a brief strategy session with seven of his Cruiser gridders in preparation for a Mid-Eight League visit to Grove City tomorrow evening. Looking on are (kneeling, from left): junior QB Mark Boyer, junior HB Larry Stinson and senior fullback Dick Scott. Standing: senior tackle Don Stokes, senior center Andy Lyles, senior linebacker Ted Chilcote and senior defensive halfback Bub Franks.

C'MERE YOU! — C-W's Doug Beaty (25) seemingly ignores the rather graphic intentions of Millersport tackler Mark Thomas (20) as the Indian back turns the corner for good yardage Friday. Winchester vaulted into Mid-State lead via lopsided win over Lakers. (Spectator photo by Jay Rydman).

Browns Slip By Vikings (14-0) In Tri-County

The Tri-County Football League featured two tight defensive battles as the steadily improving Baltimore Raiders held the Summit Station Hawks to a 12-0 win and the Eastland Vikings threw a rock-ribbed defense at the undefeated Berwick Browns before going down, 14-0.

The Vikings keyed their defense against the power running of fullback Rob Hunter —allowing only a 30 yd. TD by quarterback Craig Passen in the first half.

The 6-0 margin held until the last few minutes of the fourth quarter when Hunter smashed over tackle three successive times to score both touchdown and conversion.

Little Bucks Play In Marion 'Mercy Bowl'

The Little Buckeyes football team — three-year Florida Bowl champions and '67 Little Hula Bowl champions — will play the Columbus Little Colts Saturday at Harding Stadium in Marion, Ohio in the second annual Mercy Bowl game.

Starting time is 8 p.m. and all proceeds will benefit the Marion-County Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

DOWN YOU GO — West end Howard Foster tacks Charles Hughes (19) Friday. Play gained seven yards on away pass as he heads earthward on tackle by South's Cowboys' drive for third touchdown.

PIN NEWS

Keglers' Korner

By NORMA KIRKENDALL

Bowlers' Nickel Week is coming up — Oct. 13-19. The CBA and CWBA will approach you on the lanes and your contributions will aid the cause of Junior Bowling.

Ohio has the second largest AJBC (next to New York) organization and your nickel (or more) will help put us on top in quantity and quality of services to our youngsters.

ON OCT. 26 the 16th annual Hillcrest Ladies Handicap tourney begins its four weeks. Entry is $5.15 and you send it to Schulz, 88 Orel Ave.

Good luck to Nat Fast who has added Cincinnati's King Pin Lanes to his successful enterprises.

And it was a lefty—Floridian, Bill Allen, who walked away with the $3,000 first-place prize in the $30,000 Newark Kiwanis-PBA at Valley Bowl Lanes. John Fabbro of Columbus placed 27th among those big name rollers.

CALL JOHN Hixson at 268-4210 if you know anything about that white toy poodle which did not walk away at Rainbow recently.

Remember, high school junior girls — you could become "Miss Pin Buster" of 1969 — if you can qualify, including knowing how to keep score.

Send applications to Gene Fullen at WTVN by Nov. 1. Additional first prize is a $500 college scholarship.

AND NICK Clooney's leagues are forming at Western, Berwick and Northern Lights.

The Columbus BPA again co-sponsors a Scotch Doubles Bowling Show on Sunday from 1 to 2:30 p.m. on Channel 6 for 35 consecutive weeks. Dick Schorr is MC. Ask at your favorite lanes for qualifying dates.

COMMON MISTAKE: Ball rolls too slowly. A common mistake of men bowlers is rolling too fast, while a common feminine fault is too slow delivery.

To increase speed, the ball should be held higher on the pushaway. It will thus swing higher in the backswing and come forward with more momentum.

IF YOU increase your backswing, you may have to lengthen your approach to compensate for longer steps.

Peter Pan In Shoulder Pads

SAN DIEGO — You take one look at Lance Dwight Alworth and you know why he's fast.

He had to be to get away from Walt Disney.

This guy is the split-elf of the San Diego Chargers. You have to resist the temptation to ask him where he is hiding Tinkerbelle. He's Peter Pan in shoulder pads.

MURRAY

His teammates call him "Bambi" and are convinced he spends the off-season nibbling berries in the woods.

He wouldn't dare walk through the fields in the hunting season.

EYES LIKE a frightened fawn, tousled blond hair that must have made his mother cry when she cut it off, he looks as if he just fell out of a baby carriage or off the ceiling of the Sistine Chapel.

His helmet is so big for him, it looks like a peach basket. Even his name has a fairy tale ring about it.

"Lance" is a monicker right out of an 18th century romantic novel, not a 1968 scorecard.

HE SOUNDS more like something Louisa May Alcott would write about than Red Smith.

In the violent world of pro football players, he looks like a mess boy on a pirate ship —or a young lumber heir kidnapped by the Mafia.

Then they throw a football to him and you feel sorry for the other guys. Peter Pan turns into a Captain Hook.

LANCE LOOKS so frail, you wonder how he got out of the oxygen tent. Then, a 230-pound linebacker hits him—and bounces.

He can catch anything that doesn't bite, kick, or flame.

When rival football coaches first got a look at this baby-face, they wanted him to sign a paper they could show to the coroner later.

BUT WHEN the first game was over, one coach summed it up aptly: "Little Red Riding Hood," he said, "just ate the wolf."

He was raised in a corner of Mississippi so remote, they just got word of Lincoln's election.

"But there were a lot of big cities only 50 miles or so away," he told me the other night in the Chargers' locker room. "Pascagoula, Meridian, Biloxi and Jackson."

THE NAME of his town was "Hogchain." Rand-McNally haven't got around to it yet, but, as Lance remembers it, it had more oil wells than people.

Rumor has it he was recruited by a guy on horseback. The fellow was putting a work into the horse for a race meet one morning when Lance passed him.

"He was late for school," the fellow remembers. "He runs 9.5 eating a sandwich. He could break ten-flat on crutches."

The locals like to say Lance used to go fox-hunting with a rope, and had so many moves he could go through a swamp at night without a mosquito bite.

His all-time ground gain is just a few yards short of Napoleon's, and he is just a step slower than he used to be 10 years ago, which is a break for the spectators because, when he was faster, you couldn't even see him.

Old time linebackers used to be able to tell him by his footsteps. "All four of them," one said laconically.

THIRTY-TWO times in six years he has gained over 100 yards.

The Houston Oilers and San Diego Chargers were having a right interesting little game the other night — 16-14 in the fourth quarter —when the Houston defensive back fell for that innocent look.

The refugee from an animated cartoon flew 80 yards for a touchdown and the game was over.

IN THE PRESS box, Oiler General Manager Don Klosterman sighed.

"Just tell me two things," he said. "What year did Disney first draw him — and how does he get his helmet on over those antlers?"

MAVERICK
WITH MUDDY SHOES

By Richard L. Pough

The next hunting season to open in Ohio will be the ruffed grouse with a daily bag limit of three birds.

The shooting for these illusive aerial bombs will begin on Oct. 11 and stay open until Feb. 22.

DON'T WORRY about the long season hurting our supply of grouse. Seldom does anyone get his limit of these hard-to-hit creatures.

If you would like to take a look at them over your shotgun barrel, try the eastern and southern hills — especially where the pines and hardwoods mix into good cover.

The grouse should be in good supply this year with lots of native berries to feed and fatten them.

GEORGE BILLY, the District Four Fish Management Supervisor, reports that bass are finding their way onto angler's stringers since the long, hot summer switched to cool, beautiful autumn.

Burr Oak, Piedmont and Seneca Lakes have all had teasingly good reports.

If muskellunges are your bag, Dillon should be good again this fall. After being drawn down over 12 feet, it has refilled just about back to normal level.

IF CASTING and trolling with white bombers in the main body of water doesn't bring results, walk a mile or so south of the Dam on the Licking River.

Look for the deep pools and spin bright shysters just under the surface.

Squirrel hunting is the best this State has seen in over two years. Hunter success this year is about one squirrel for every two hours of hunting. Last year, by comparison, it took seven and a half hours to get a bushytail.

AS I HAVE often repeated in this column, be sure you know the hunting laws before you venture forth. Two Columbus hunters recently paid through the nose for their carelessness.

One was caught with five squirrels before the season opened and paid $105 for his indiscretion. The other was found with 13 squirrels over the limit on Sept. 6 for which he forfeited a $205 bond. Both hunters also had to give up their squirrel stew.

The first flights of an expected 30,000 Canadian geese have been sighted over northwestern Ohio. There are four goose management areas up there where the geese may stop over and rest on their trek south.

YOU MAY observe them to your heart's delight — but no hunting is allowed in the rest areas.

The Winchester Public Shooting Center on East Broad St. at the Franklin-Licking line is holding "gunology" classes free of charge.

If you would like to learn more about shotguns and their proper use, here is your chance.

THESE three-lesson c[illegible] consist of two hour seg[illegible] on gun safety, hunting, [illegible] and skeet shooting.

North American Rockwell, Nationwide Insurance and Jeffrey Manufacturing are all making the clinics available to their employes.

You and your buddy should give them a ring at 866-2861 and get in on the fun. Not much is free these days.

Reserved Seats For Chex Home Debut On Sale

Mail orders are now being accepted for the Columbus Checkers' home opener Sunday, Oct. 20 (7:30 p.m.) vs the Ft. Wayne Komets.

During the '67-'68 season the Komets were the Checkers' "favorite" foe as the locals won all six home games and nabbed four of six tilts in Ft. Wayne.

RESERVED SEATS sell for $3.50, $3, $2.50 and $2 (children under 12, half price). Students (over 12) get a $1 discount on all but $2 reserved seats.

General admission tickets ($1.50) go on sale 60 minutes before game time.

THE CHECKERS open training camp Monday at Sunbury, Ont. with coach Moe Bartoli expecting 14 veterans and 18 "rookies" to report.

All mail orders should be sent to: Cols. Checkers, Ohio State Fairgrounds, Cols., Ohio 43211. For more information, call 228-4321.

Fijis Will Forfeit Remaining Games

Fiji 500 coach Dick Johnson announced this week that his club will forfeit the remainder of its 1968 football games as the result of a rule infraction.

Unknowingly to Johnson, a Fiji gridder played Sunday on another Hilltop-area team — in violation of a Boys All-American League ruling which stipulates that no BAAL player may play on another team in another league.

The Fijis will play Devonshire Sunday in an "open" game.

OSU POLITICAL SCIENTIST:

Ways Of Electing President May Undergo Change Soon

No matter what happens in the coming election, the next Congress will make some effort to change the system of electing a president, Prof. Thomas A. Flinn of Ohio State University believes.

Flinn, a member of the political science faculty, foresees such an effort even if the election proceeds on its usual course, with the electoral college reaching a majority in its vote Dec. 16.

However, if the electors stalemate in their attempt to choose among the presidential candidates, the political scientist expects considerable pressure for a procedural change.

There are two principal alternatives to the present system of election. Either of them would take a constitution amendment to bring about.

One alternative — called the proportional plan—would be to retain the electoral college but divide the electoral vote in each state in proportion to the state's popular vote.

The other plan would be a national election.

"Personally, I like the direct national election because it would put pressure on those states that discriminate," Flinn said.

"Some Southern states would then be forced to choose whether or not to disenfranchise their citizens."

The current strong showing of Wallace in the opinion polls suggests a distinct possibility of a three-way deadlock in which no one of the candidates gets a majority of the electoral vote.

In that event, the election would go for the first time since 1824 to the representatives of the new congress, who would attempt to elect one of the three by a plurality.

Although the house was able to elect a president on the first ballot in 1824, in another case, in 1800, it took 36 ballots by the house to reach a decision, favoring Thomas Jefferson.

"One of the worst difficulties in sending the election to the house," Flinn said, "is that each state then gets one vote regardless of size—hardly a democratic way to choose a president."

Columbus OU Women Plan Campus Trip

The Columbus Area Association of Ohio University Women met recently at the Broad Street Presbyterian Church.

Highlight of the evening was a performance by The Freedom Singers, directed by James McDonald. The group is composed of high school students from Columbus and features its own band.

McDonald is also in charge of vocal music at Crestview School and is choir director at the Glen Echo Presbyterian Church.

The Ohio University group is chartering a bus to the campus Oct. 26 for the homecoming festivities.

FCCEA Announces Goals; Election Oct. 9

The recent meeting at the Ohio Education Association Building marked the beginning of the Franklin County Council of Education Associations as an active organization.

This group of presidents of all local education associations in Franklin County grew out of discussion begun last September by the South-Western, Worthington, Upper Arlington, Columbus and Bexley Associations.

The first representative meeting took place at the August OEA Local Leaders Conference at Kent State University.

Temporary chairman, John Davis, past president of Westerville Education Association, outlined the following purposes for the FCCEA:

1. To promote the cause of education and of the teaching profession in all school systems within Franklin County.

2. To pursue the improvement of the educational program for the children in all Franklin County schools.

3. To improve the status of the professional educator in Franklin County by developing programs concerning improvement of instruction in the classroom, professional negotiations, salaries and any other conditions affecting education.

The FCCEA chose Doug Buford, from Worthington, and John Sonedecker, from South-Western, as additional temporary staff to function until a permanent staff is elected at the Oct. 9 meeting.

Electoral Reforms Is Town Meet Topic

Will the House of Representatives elect the next President?

This and other questions will be asked during a debate on electoral reforms and the direct election of the President on Columbus Town Meeting Sunday, Oct. 6, from 12 noon to 1 p.m., WBNS-TV.

Dr. Delbert Obertsuffer will moderate the live program which will be rebroadcast over WBNS Radio from 10 until 11 Sunday evening.

The speakers will be: James C. Kirby, Jr., New York, member of the American Bar Association Commission on Electoral College Reform and Alexander Bickel, New Haven, Conn., Chancellor Kent Professor of Law and Legal History, Yale University.

Questions may be telephoned to 228-3881 throughout the program.

Volunteer members of the Columbus Chapter of the National Secretaries Association will take the calls and members of a Franklin County 4-H Club will carry the questions to the panel.

Audio tapes of the program are available upon request.

'HOTTEST CONTESTED OFFICE' AT STAKE

Four Candidates Give Views On Urban Problems

By JOHN MORGAN
Spectator Staff Writer

Harold M. Cooper doesn't just describe the County Commissioner job as powerful. He says it's the "hottest contested office around."

Little did he — or the three other candidates for that job — realize how "hot" it would get at a League of Women Voters' meeting Monday night.

The controversy centered around welfare, but the two GOP and two Democratic candidates managed to touch on other subjects — county-city relationships, Alum Crest, trash removal, transit problems, the jail situation, jobs, annexation. And, of course . . . money.

Attributing the heated contest for county commissioner to citizen involvement, Cooper — one of two Democratic candidates for the post — led off the first five minutes of the program by calling for "aggressive, positive leadership" on such issues as Alum Crest, trash removal and welfare.

Turning to GOP candidate Henry A. Koontz, he added: "not indecision, Mr. Koontz; not intolerance and not suppression."

Calling for "sound business practices with compassion," the general manager of the Columbus Jets baseball team said the welfare situation was not hopeless with a "leader who can command the respect of his employes."

Koontz, the GOP incumbent commissioner, countered by saying the commissioners had "cooperated with all areas." He said better cooperation between the commissioners, welfare director, state welfare department and the advisory board was needed to lick the welfare problem.

"We commissioners don't always agree," he added, "and yet we always get blamed. There are so many things going on that you don't know about. It's all part of daily life."

Sticking to the issue of welfare, Democratic candidate Michael J. Dorrian declared: "people all over this county want to talk about welfare because we're a community of people who care."

Claiming the whole community shares in economic depression, Dorrian said more concern should be shown for the "human problems" of this community. He said the community would be as bad or good as "we let it be."

GOP hopeful Jacob A. Shawan, taking a positive approach, called the county "a wonderful place to live. We have things going for us."

But, he continued, many problems need a compassionate look. With regard to welfare, Shawan charged problems "have been foisted on us from Washington." He urged that problems be solved locally.

During interchanges between the four candidates, the atmosphere seemed thicker.

Koontz, claiming he had worked with 10 county commissioners and "none of them has been able to solve the welfare problem," declared that neither Dorrian nor Cooper had the experience to handle welfare problems..

"Welfare," he commented, "is like traffic—it keeps getting worse."

To which Dorrian replied: "it's this negative attitude which is just what America doesn't want. A solution doesn't just cost money. It costs concern on the part of the leaders of this community; and this is what we've been lacking."

Cooper then asked Koontz why a 1965 study on welfare by Mrs. Roberta Cable had not been heeded. Koontz countered by saying since Tom Brittenham (ex-director) left "they've cut down the General Relief category by 1.5 per cent." Shawan added that he saw a need to get people in proper categories.

According to the rules of the meeting, questions were then allowed from the audience.

And the questions still lingered on welfare.

Koontz answered a question by calling for a "stop to wrangling." Dorrian called for a redirection of priorities, to provide jobs for male adults and teenagers and provide enough day care centers.

A man asked: "why have the present commissioners done everything to keep professionals out of the welfare department?"

Koontz asked if the man were asking about the strike which hit the welfare department. The man so no; to which Koontz countered: "today we signed four or five qualified workers."

Do workers have a right to bargain collectively, another written question asked?

"We've more adult than that," Dorrian said referring to the invokement of the Ferguson Act. "I would welcome the chance to negotiate with any group representing county employes."

"And if they struck, what then?" Shawan asked Dorrian.

"We would not have gotten to this point," Dorrian countered.

Koontz declared he had met with striking workers.

"It depends on what you call a meeting," Dorrian quickly retorted.

There were personal, even light, moments to the confrontation.

When Cooper criticized Koontz for a newspaper picture showing him eating chicken after the crisis at Alum Crest, the GOP candidate replied: "I don't even like chicken."

Welfare Rights Organization member Mary Brown asked Koontz if he could clothe his children on $5 a year. Koontz replied that she should complain to Denver White at the State Welfare Department. "But when we go to him he sends us to you," Mrs. Brown countered. Cooper then added: "If I were commissioner I'd be the one to take it to Mr. White and not you."

An elderly lady in the audience asked how long it would be before welfare aid was increased.

"Soon as you elect me," Harold Cooper replied.

"Are you a Democrat?" the lady asked Cooper, "because I don't vote for no Republican."

"Yes, my name is Harold Cooper and that's Michael Dorrian," he said laughing.

Then there were the awkward moments.

A man who claimed to be one of three past candidates for the welfare director who was not chosen said he was asked by a clerk what party he belonged to. "Is this how you go about looking for a new director?" he asked.

Koontz explained that this was the first time he had heard about the charges and "the clerk was reprimanded."

"Reprimanded?" the man replied. "He ought to have been fired."

All four candidates agreed that the wave of the future in government is toward metropolitan form, although Koontz added that he'd like to see the ground rules.

The candidate meeting was sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Metropolitan Columbus and Westerville.

Ashville Considers License Tag Hike

Automobile license fees will probably be hiked for Ashville residents next year.

With the Pickaway County Commissioners failing to exercise their prerogative to collect an extra $5 per license, Ashville Council somewhat reluctantly authorized its solicitor, Dave Kraft, to prepare legislation allowing it to usurp the privilege. (Such funds can be used only for streets).

THE RELUCTANCE stemmed from the fact that although the local officials have eyed the potential source of income for some time, they had hoped to simultaneously offer the public news of a reduction in water rates.

However, Council to date cannot reduce the utility rates, as it is awaiting a review of a study from the Water Board.

Actually, preparation of the legislation does not assure the license hike, as it will still be subject to councilmanic vote.

A PROTEST made by park caretaker Dick Conaway against allowing local organizations free use of the park went largely unheeded.

Although Conaway feels so strongly that it is against village interests to abolish fees (except on Sundays), he stated he will leave the job at the first of the year, the official consensus is apparently that use of the park is only a very small "thank you" to local citizens.

Park business was further discussed when George Myers appeared in behalf of the Community Club.

COUNCIL welcomed the Club's offer to pay for the wiring and installation of additional and replacement lighting for the park with the village shouldering only the expense of poles and some necessary anchoring.

Myers made a plea that local officials make more of an effort to attend the Community Club meeting and to assume a greater responsibility in park improvement as well as planning and organization of the annual Fourth of July celebration.

The annual event has now been included in the Ohio Festivals, and it is anticipated that the resulting publicity will bring more people — who are welcomed, and more headaches to be shared.

THE CLERK was directed to advertise an opening for a street maintenance man with job applications to be received before Oct. 21.

The action was taken after it was established that the present full-time street employe, Ralph Metler, will resign before accepting the additional responsibility of back-up man to Steve Cook, water superintendent.

Applications should be sent to Dick Cooke who is acting clerk this month during the absence of the regular clerk, Mrs. Anne Leatherwood who is vacationing in the south.

OTHER BUSINESS included consideration of a fire hydrant at the intersection of Park and Glenn and a request by Jack Hunter for a clarification of zoning regulations.

Hunter, who owns a local laundromat, wants to build an addition to the facility to house a dry cleaning establishment.

Zion Lutheran Plans 156th Anniversary

Pastor Vernon Jones will open the observation of the 156th anniversary of the Zion Lutheran Church, 1080 Obetz Rd., with an 8 a.m. service Sunday, Oct. 13.

Pastor Walter Windemuth, formerly of Zion who is now chaplain and public relations person of the Lutheran Welfare League of Central Ohio, will give the service at 10 a.m.

AT NOON the Martha Circle will serve a ham dinner, followed by an organ interlude presented by Edwin Hann.

Speakers will include Pastor and Mrs. John Ware of the Groveport Zion Lutheran Church who will show slides taken when they were missionaries in New Guinea and Pastor Jones who will review the history of the local church.

This history began in 1805 with itinerant pastors serving the area with worship services held in the home of Philip Helsel.

IN 1821, the first log church was built on what is now Groveport Road and in 1844 a brick house was erected beside it.

A second brick church was built to the west in 1873 with a parish hall added later. The present church was dedicated in 1962.

Still living among the 22 former pastors of the church, in addition to Lindemuth, are Pastor Luther Florstedt who is now with the St. Luke's Church in Zanesville and the Rev. Lammert Redelfs and the Rev. John L. Sealing who are living in retirement in Pittsburgh and Chicago respectively.

IT WAS A ROYAL SIP

County OK's C-W Budget

The success of the 6.6 mill operating levy proposed by the Canal Winchester Board of Education rests with the voting public.

Supt. Carl Miller received these glad tidings this week from the Franklin County Budget Commission.

THE NEWS CAME in the form of certification of a proposed budget including the $85,000 additional income that will be realized if voters give the stamp of approval to the millage in November.

The Budget Commission had thrown a monkey wrench into the District's request for additional taxes last month.

In an action apparently unique to Franklin County officials, the commission took the stand that any taxing entity which did not show a proposed tax as anticipated income in its estimated budget could not collect the tax even with the blessing of local taxpayers.

ALTHOUGH MILLER and other local officials were confident the law had been complied with through including the proposed millage in estimated expenditures (thus showing need), the county stand could not be ignored.

Upon legal advice, the local board sent a letter of intent to the State Board of Tax Appeals, informing it of the school's intent to file an appeal.

(The Appeals Board has the power of overruling the county-level commission).

SOON AFTER the letter was received, Miller was asked by the county to withdraw the letter of intent, citing grounds apparently both vague and technical as a basis for the withdrawal.

Upon being assured that adequate time existed to refile, Miller and his board went along with the request and sat back to await the next move.

The next move was the receipt of the certified budget.

NOT ONE to look a gift horse in the mouth, Miller refused to comment on the speculation that some "face-saving" maneuvering had taken place in Franklin County Court House.

Robinett Seeks Public Support Of Two-Mill Operating Levy

At the November election, Canal Winchester voters will be asked to approve a two-mill operating levy which can generate $2 per [illegible] of the tax duplicate.

Reno Robinett, president of the village council, has asked the following letter to the taxpayers and citizens of Canal Winchester be printed:

"WE, COUNCIL members and mayor, have spent a lot of time and thought on the decision to ask for approval of this levy.

"This is not something we are asking just to try to get more money. We have cut every corner it is possible to cut; some things are absolutely necessary and have to be taken care of. There are a lot of things that still need to be done, but we do not have the money to do them.

"We know that, over the past years, council's decisions have not met with everyone's approval but these decisions were made with the good of our village in mind.

"WE NEED your support NOW in passing this levy. We know the people of Canal Winchester will not let us down when we need your support the most to continue to operate the Village of Canal Winchester in the best possible manner.

"You have twice approved a two-mill levy for street maintenance, and we believe that everyone can see the results of money spent for better streets, better equipment . . . and progress toward a better Canal Winchester.

"BELOW are listed some of the major items that are taken care of by the general fund, which the proposed levy will benefit.

- Police and Safety — wages and car expenses.
- Fire Department — some equipment and truck ex[illegible]
- Sanitation — picking up cans, etc.
- Street lights.
- Legal advertising.
- Clerk's wages.
- Mayor's, council's and treasurer's wages.
- Parks — mowing and cleaning.
- Engineering and planning.
- Solicitor.
- Municipal buildings — maintenance and repairs, heating, etc.
- Service Fund — repair of storm sewers, curbs and gutters.
- Fire hydrants.
- Off-street parking.

"There are several smaller items ($1,000 or less) per year, that also must come out of this fund.

"As you can see, local government expenses cover a lot of things and to run this Village as it should be run, we are asking you to vote YES on Nov. 5.

"VOTE YES for the local government levy to enable our Village to continue to be the finest place in which to live and bring up our children!"

Reno E. Robinett
Council President

Schools in the Teays Valley District will be dismissed an hour early one day each month to permit either building or district-wide staff meetings.

Other resolutions passed when the local school board met last week include those concerning loitering and trespassing on the school properties and attendance rules and regulations.

THE NEW building regulations state that all persons other than students, employes, those attending school functions and those authorized by school authorities to enter the schools for business or professional purposes must immediately report to the office to request a visitor's permit.

Furthermon, in according with the Ohio Revised Code, anyone asked to leave the premises — school personnel, professional or non-professional, shall comply immediately.

With the adoption of the new attendance regulations, make-up work will be allowed only for absences due to personal illness, death in the immediate family, medical or dental appointments and "unusual emergencies."

ALTHOUGH ABSENCE caused by truancy, working and vacationing are not unexcused, the principal will have the responsibility of determining mitigating circumstances.

Another provision of the new guidelines involves tardiness becoming an absence when the student misses more than half of a morning or afternoon session.

Other business included purchases of convection ovens for the Ashville and Walnut Elementary cafeteria and authorization of the temporary employment of additional help to clean the Ashville and Walnut buildings.

THE BOARD will meet in regular session at 8 p.m. Monday, Oct. 28.

The Tax Increase -- Where Is All The Money Going?

By ROBERT TENENBAUM
Managing Editor

(Third In A Series)

Columbus would have to hire 300 police officers tomorrow just to bring its ratio of policemen to population up to the national average.

It will have to spend $1,750,000 more in 1973 than it is spending this year just to keep up with sanitation problems.

It is problems like these which led City Council and the Sensenbrenner Administration to ask the voters to approve an increase in the city income tax from one per cent to one and one-half per cent in the November election.

City officials are quick to point out that all of the additional money which would come from the tax increase would go for improvements in just three areas — police and fire protection, sanitation and parks and recreation.

Ten per cent of the increase will go for parks and recreation — for the most part, keeping existing parks open and opening new park areas to relieve overcrowding. They point as a prime example to Big Run Park on the city's southwest side, which is fully developed but hasn't been opened because funds aren't available for personnel.

Another 13 per cent will go simply to maintain adequate sanitation. Without the funds, cuts would have to be made in already slim trash pickup schedules.

The huge bulk of the increase — 77 per cent or about $10.4 million a year — would go for increased police and fire protection.

Columbus at present has 1.31 policemen for every 1,000 residents. The national average for cities in the same population bracket is 1.83 — a big difference. Of the 14 major cities with a population near that of Columbus, only Ft. Worth, Tex., has a lower ratio — 1.30. On the other hand, Newark, N.J. has a 3.43 ratio and Pittsburgh has a ratio of 2.63 policemen for every 1,000 citizens.

These are the figures the city would like to get over to all of Columbus' voters. They feel that if the citizens knew why the tax increase was being requested, they would pass it easily.

Budget projections prepared by Finance Director John Stanley's office seem to make clear the fact that the tax increase will not go for any other services.

Stanley's figures show that while cost of all other existing services will increase $3.2 million a year by 1973, that increase will be taken care of by the normal increases in taxes and fees the city receives through normal growth of the economy.

That extra $3.2 million will be available whether or not the income tax increase passes — but without the increase, the $3.2 million will be channeled into the critical areas — police and fire, sanitation and parks — [illegible] won't come close to meeting already existing needs.

Possibly even more revealing is a study of cost increases over the past 10 years. Total city costs have gone up 92.1 per cent, from a 1959 budget of $17,050,000 to a 1968 budget of $32,750,000.

The biggest increase was in what is called community development, including the Departments of Development, Community Relations [illegible] Inspection. Those costs rose 313 per [illegible] major increases were in recreation, up 173 [illegible] cent [illegible] parks, up 169.8 per cent.

Rising between 100 and 150 per cent were the cost of operating the Civil Service Commission, the City Attorney's office, the Division of Police and the Municipal Court. All of these are tied to the rise in the crime rate, which has been phenomenal.

Costs were up from between 50 and 100 per cent for retirement, health, the zoo, the Division of Fire, sanitation and the operation of the workhouse — these tied to obvious increases in population.

Costs for all other services rose only 44 per cent — a surprisingly low figure over a period of 10 years.

Fire and police services, incidentally, account for 51.7 per cent of all city expenditures this year. Recreation and parks are the next largest expense — 11.6 per cent. The rest of the breakdown includes sanitation, 9.8 per cent; health, housing and community development, 9.7 per cent; legislative, legal and judicial services, 6.8 per cent; the executive branch, 5.6 per cent and all other costs, 4.5 per cent.

Brenda Mills Tops In State Demonstration

Brenda Mills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mills of Rt. 4, Circleville, claims surprise that she was named state winner in the agricultural demonstrations at the State Fair this year.

But she admits it was not something that "just happened."

BRENDA MILLS

A MEMBER of 4-H for eight years, she is a veteran of numerous county demonstrations and of five years' experience at the state level.

Brenda's illustrated talk "Air Pollution, Fume Fatale" emerged from her Science Fair project undertaken at school last year and her soil conservation project as a member of the Pickaway County Soil Savers 4-H Club.

Presenting the causes and effects of air pollution on human life and on natural resources, Brenda challenged her audience, "So what are we going to do about air pollution?"

NOW THOROUGHLY interested in the need for "smog control," the high school senior has tentative plans to speak before local organizations on the behalf of her quest for clean air.

The versatile teenager also entered two sewing projects in state competition, which she states involved considerable hard work.

However, she is firmly convinced that whipping up a cake or a fine seam at home is one thing, and performing in public is quite another.

Gen. LeMay Strafed In South Crossfire

Retired Air Force General Curtis LeMay may or may not agree with the strategy employed by Harold Washburn, principal at South High School.

Be that as it may, Washburn is chief-of-staff at South these days, and as such he recalled LeMay—or rather his portrait—from front line duty in South's corridor to the relative security of the front office.

ACCORDING TO Washburn, he foresaw a possible uprising among "the troops" last Thursday when South's most famous graduate was selected by third-party presidential candidate George Wallace as his running mate.

With Wallace labeled a racist, it didn't take a crystal ball to warn Washburn that the portrait, although it had hung in the hall for 10 years, would be considered by some as a political endorsement of the Wallace platform.

And in an integrated school where a great deal of effort has been spent in maintaining excellent inter-racial relations, this was a potential land mine.

AFTER A CONFERENCE between Washburn and assistant Principal Donald Sexton, it was mutually agreed—for the sake of the picture's protection as well as peace and quiet, LeMay should be accorded a place of honor in the office facing the portrait of Charles Barrett, South's first principal.

Before the decision had been implemented, Washburn's forebodings materialized with a small delegation of students demanding LeMay's ouster.

However, the next day when the actual transfer was ordered, the plan was booby trapped.

A JANITOR inadvertently dropped the General's picture and with the protective glass shattered, it was shipped off to Magnuson's for 10 days' R&R. (Actually, according to Washburn, it was a trip already needed, with the framing badly in need of refinishing.)

Apparently more conspicuous by its absence than its presence, the picture was immediately missed by a number of its admirers and Washburn's telephone began to ring.

Accusations of "banishment" and kowtowing to mob rule" were made.

SOME ALUMNI were demanding that LeMay be rehung immediately — and others that Washburn be hung, at least figuratively if not literally, along with him.

By mid-week the furor seemed quelled with Washburn's statement that LeMay, whom he describes as "our most distinguished alumnus," is slated only for "relocation" and not exile.

Columbus, Ohio, Thursday, October 10, 1968

Debate Needed

There has been a great deal of talk about television debates between Hubert Humphrey and Richard Nixon.

In Ohio, the discussion has centered around a public debate by U.S. Senate hopefuls John Gilligan and William Saxbe.

Now we'd like to suggest a public debate in Franklin County between candidates for the County Commissioner post.

The feasibility of such a debate was given added weight last week at a League of Women Voters' Candidate Night at the YWCA.

We think it is time for all Franklin County to hear candidates for a post which will affect everyone — from Columbus to Worthington to Gahanna.

The role of County Commissioners is too great today to be left to personalities, and certainly too great to be left to ignorance.

The commissioners exercise control of county expenditures, authorize public works, purchase land and buildings, let contracts and plan and administer public welfare.

County voters should be given the opportunity to know what kind of men they are selecting before Nov. 5.

The four candidates must meet again for a wider forum, to air their political philosophies for a much larger audience.

For Better Government

Who says that women shouldn't get involved in politics?

In a comprehensive, informing way the League of Women Voters of Metropolitan Columbus has been doing just this for many years.

Many times serving as a bridge for dialogue between government and governed, the league has made clear many of the more important issues facing Columbus.

Whether it be education, welfare or county government, Franklin Countians have been given a more lucid view of the political realm because the league has been involved in key issues.

The recent candidates' night sponsored by the league stands as an excellent example of how vital women can be in bringing to light the sometimes hidden philosophies of prospective officeholders.

Now, the league is conducting its finance drive, which will run through Oct. 18.

Supporting this organization is a vote for better government and more enlightened structures in this community.

The Year 2000

By JOHN MORGAN

If Jeanne Dixon can do it, so can I. The present is so confusing that it is hard to make any sense out of anything. And the past is so frightening that I hate to measure current implications.

This is the way I see it — Thursday, Oct. 10, in the year 2000.

WASHINGTON — Presidents Rowan and Martin today staged a "laugh-in" on the White House steps in response to a plea from former Alabama Governor Bull Conner for federal troops to protect the Ku Klux Klan. Martin called the plea for federal intervention "ill-timed," since the last Klan member was thought to be alive and hiding in Argentina.

MARS — Scientists at Battelle Memorial Institute on Mars today picked up signals from outer space which they believed to be intelligible. The signals came from somewhere inside France — which Gen. Charles DeGaulle took with him on his death.

SAIGON — Gen. Curtis LeMay, newly named premier of South Vietnam, today called upon the United States government to renew the bombing of the east coast of Africa. He said he had documented records showing that if Vietnam fell, Africa would be next.

COLUMBUS — Metropolitan Commissioners today named themselves acting welfare directors after they could find no one to assume the post. Commissioners blamed the previous director—former vice presidential candidate Spiro Agnew — for present difficulties, saying he had failed to reduce the total program to nothingness.

COLUMBUS — Suburban communities surrounding the city today asked Columbus Mayor James Rhodes for the right to annex portions of the city. Mayor Rhodes immediately sent out the "Rhodes Raiders" to quell the disturbance.

LUCASVILLE — All was quiet today at the battle-torn Ohio Penitentiary after a trio of the remaining 10 prisoners caused a minor disturbance. They were quickly brought under control by the 2,500-man guard force.

URBANCREST — Residents of this community today received water and sewer lines after 32 years of waiting. The water came from excessive October rains.

COLUMBUS — Ohio State University officials announced yesterday their enrollment had jumped to 340,543 this year, after trustees announced each student would be given a free ticket to OSU football games and a regular parking place.

COLUMBUS — The Ohio Bond Commission proposal went down to defeat last week when it was learned that Ohio had so many highways and industries that there were no longer any people left to vote.

COLUMBUS — The 50,000 member state police force — armed with polls showing Ohio residents strongly favored a "get-tough" policy on criminals — Wednesday moved into major cities across the state to occupy territory formerly held by local politicians—whom acting police coordinator J. Edgar Hoover called "soft on Communism."

WASHINGTON — A national convention on sanity and compassion today was called off when no one showed up.

Looking Down Wall Street

By LARRY GOLDBERG
Saunders, Stiver & Co.
Investment Securities

The cost of buying and selling stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange is surprisingly little. This cost — or commission — depends upon the number of shares involved and the price per share. Below is a very simple table which shows exactly the minimum commission you pay when you buy or sell a round lot of 100 shares listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

MONEY VALUE	COMMISSION
Under $100	As mutually agreed
$100 to $399	2% plus $3
$400 to $2,399	1% plus $7
$2,400 to $4,999	½% plus $19
$5,000 or more	1/10% plus $39

Let's assume you buy 100 shares of XYZ at $20 a share, a total cost of $2,000. By using the table above, it is easy to compute the commission. One percent of $2,000 is $20, plus $7 equals the $27 commission for this transaction. If [illegible] were buying 500 shares of XYZ at that price, figure out the commission for 100 shares and multiply by five. In this case, the commission for this transaction would be $135.

If you buy an odd lot — which is one to 99 shares of a stock traded in round lots of 100 shares — the commission is just the same but you deduct $2 from your answer derived on a round lot. However, odd lot orders to buy a stock selling at less than $55 a share are executed at a price 12½ cents above current market price and orders to sell are transacted at 12½ cents below the current price. On stock selling at $55 or more, the odd lot price is 25 cents above or below the market price. In any event, the commission shall be not less than $6 per single transaction.

There are exceptions to the above rule. First, when the amount involved in a transaction is $100 or more, the minimum commission charge need not exceed $1.50 per share or $75 per single transaction. Second, stock may be purchased under the Monthly Investment Plan with payments of as little as $40 each month or even each quarter. When the monthly or quarterly payments are less than $100, the commission is six percent.

When buying or selling an unusual number of shares — say, 148 shares of XYZ — figure out the round lot commission on 100 shares and the odd lot commission on 48 shares. The two totals added together will be the commission charge for the transaction of 148 shares.

Generally speaking, the cost of buying and selling securities listed on the New York Stock Exchange is less than the cost of buying and selling any other kind of property. As a general rule, commissions are only a little more than one per cent of the price of the shares traded. This is very insignificant compared to the possible gains that can be achieved by investing in common stocks.

Misrepresentations

By ROBERT W. REIDER
Editor And Publisher

REIDER

This column and Fred Milligan, president of the Birch-like, so-called Ohio Information Committee, have often disagreed. For once we find ourselves on the same side of the aisle.

Milligan has pointed out that both state issues on the November ballots are being misrepresented to the voters. (Incidentally, there's nothing strange about misrepresentation and Rhodes-sponsored bond issues).

Issue No. 1 is a $759 million bond issue, of which $500 million is to go for highways.

Issue No. 2 is a proposal to grant property tax exemptions to all Ohioans who live in the homes they own.

Milligan has charged in speeches about the state that of the $759 million bond issue the $500 million for highways is an open end bond issue renewable forever without a vote of the people.

He has also charged the Homestead Exemption Amendment is being "sold" as applying to only those over 65 years of age when, in fact, it applies to all home owners regardless of age.

Unfortunately Milligan's voice is a lonely one, virtually the only expressed opposition (supporters of Rhodes' latest bond concoction are indeed a strange mixture of special interest bedfellows).

Even the Democratic Party has not taken an official position as it did when the people knocked down the Kingfish's OBC proposal and killed Rhodes' presidential hopes.

Milligan may be a voice in the wilderness at the moment. But he'll have plenty of help from the "silent" voter on Nov. 5. It just might result in another explosive defeat for Rhodes in his persistent efforts to bond the state to death.

Innocent Victims

By ROBERT TENENBAUM
Managing Editor

I don't think anyone's run a survey yet, but there may be more money issues on the November ballot than in any other single election in Columbus history.

And it could be most unfortunate.

Voters are notoriously fickle. They're also notoriously unpredictable. It wouldn't be too surprising if they got in a "no" mood and put the kibosh on all of the issues.

This distinct possibility is raising considerable sweat in numerous school boards throughout the county, at Columbus City Hall, at the Metropolitan Park Board, at Alum Crest Hospital and even at the Statehouse where Gov. James Rhodes is worried about his latest bond issue.

But nowhere is there more concern than at the Franklin County Child Welfare Board.

The Board will put its life literally on the line Nov. 5 when it asks for renewal of its 1.5 mill operating levy.

Because the welfare crisis was at its height early this year, the Child Welfare Board decided not to ask for the renewal on the May ballot. Child Welfare and the County Welfare Department are not connected in any way — but CWB officials feared that the word "welfare" on the ballot would be the kiss of death.

Now the entire CWB program is squarely on the line. If the levy renewal fails, the money runs out on Dec. 31. There will be drastic service cuts and probably some major personnel cuts, too.

It is unfortunate that the board let itself get into this pickle. If the levy fails, a special election could conceivably be held in December, but then a 55 per cent majority would be required.

And should the voters be in a negative mood, the victims would be the neglected children of this county — the 3,500 children of broken homes and neglecting parents that CWB serves each month.

CWB officials are praying that the voters will keep that in mind — and that they'll remember the difference between a renewal and a tax increase.

A Touch Of Kindness

By TED BEARDSHEAR

It was a bad morning.

The alarm went off and while trying to shut it off I knocked the poor instrument off the bureau. Fortunately, it didn't break.

While shaving, I cut my nose. (Nobody cuts their nose while shaving, but somehow, I managed). It kept bleeding and I lost time trying to stem the flow.

Jumping into my clothes I began to hurriedly put on my shoes. The shoelace broke. There were no replacements. Had to tie the darn thing.

Rushed to the bus stop, managing to hit every "Don't Walk" sign between the Central "Y" and City Hall. When I was 50 feet away from the stop, a bus flashed by. I had missed it.

Waiting for the next bus, I thought of some choice words about how the day had started.

Suddenly coming down from the corner of Front there came a pleasant looking Negro girl. She was young and had a little zip to her step. Surprisingly, she seemed to be smiling at me.

I smiled back.

When she came close, she smiled even more fully.

"Waiting for the bus?" she asked.

"Yes," I replied. I thought because she was young that she didn't know exactly where the bus stopped.

"The bus stops here," I added.

She smiled again and handed me a folded transfer.

"I didn't use this. Maybe you can." She smiled again and walked off with that little zippy step.

Being a cynic, the first reaction to favors is: "What's the angle?" But here was a simple gift from a simple little girl who wanted nothing more than to be of help.

It was a touch of kindness.

Somehow, the race question and the fact of prejudice dissolved beside this little gesture of friendliness.

And I felt better.

Knocking the alarm off the bureau, cutting my nose while shaving, breaking the shoelace, hitting the "Don't Walk" signs and missing the bus seemed unimportant.

The milk of human kindness had bathed away the agitation.

The rest of the day was fine. All because of a little girl.

So, thank you little girl, wherever you are.

You touched the heart of a cynic.

Letters To The Editor

Seek Action

To The Editor:

The following is an open letter to Congressman Samuel Devine:

We have been following the headlines and news stories of your interest in air safety. So far we have seen a lot of words and little action. In light of the stand taken by the Air Controllers against the runway layout of the Columbus Southwestern Airport, I would like to know what action if any you intend to take.

The Controllers have recently released statements on the problems and dangers presented by the northeast-southwest, runway. This organization has been saying the same thing for two and one-half years.

This is a very dangerous situation with probable air collisions coming over the downtown Columbus and the very populated West Side. Since the Federal Aviation engineers feel the proposed east-west runway would also present problems and should not be built first, would you please explain to us just how this runway could be built without the danger factors in the future as now planned? We have suggested from the very beginning that the site selection was wrong because of the dangers involved, and should be moved. We were told that [illegible] planners from the Federal Aviation Agency and th[illegible] of Columbus surely knew more than mere homeow[illegible] I agree that with their education they should know more but we are still concerned about the fact that with all their superior knowledge they either in ignorance or indifference, chose to ignore the facts, and went right on planning.

These facts were brought to your attention several times in the past, the last time in your office when I presented petitions with over 1,100 names. At the time I gathered you were something less than interested because we were not in your district. However the newspapers had led us to believe you were interested in air safety in the country not just your district. It now boils down to the question, which is more important, the people's safety, both on the ground and in the air, or the money Columbus has paid to get its airport with utter disregard for the people? Are making headlines or doing something constructive more important to your campaign?

We will await further action from you to decide.

Mrs. Bill Dupler, President,
Southwestern Residents' Association

Thanks From League

To The Editor:

On behalf of the League of Women Voters of Metropolitan Columbus, I want to thank John Morgan for the excellent coverage he gave our County Commissioners Candidates' meeting.

It is through such excellent cooperation with the news media that the League is able to stimulate interest in good government here in Columbus.

Yes, Virginia

By ARTHUR HOPPE

HOPPE

"Dear Mr. Hoppe: I am eight years old. Some of my little friends say there is no George Wallace. Please tell me the truth, is there a George Wallace?" — Virginia

YES, VIRGINIA, there is a George Wallace. He exists as certainly as Commies and Yippies and bearded pseudo-intellectuals exist.

Alas! How dreary would be our fate if there were no George Wallace. It would be as dreary as if none believed in him. There would be no childlike fears then, no hatreds, no sense of superiority to make tolerable this white middle-class existence.

Not believe in George Wallace! You might as well not believe in hobgoblins. You might get your papa to hire men to watch every door at night to catch hobgoblins, what would it prove?

Nobody sees hobgoblins, but that is no sign there are no hobgoblins. The most real things in the world are those that neither children nor men can see.

Did you ever see Black Panthers dancing on the White House lawn? Of course not, but that's no proof that they are not there. Nobody can conceive or imagine all the horrors there are unseen and unseeable in the world.

No George Wallace! He lives, Virginia, in the hearts of men.

Each time a man says, "If any dirty demonstrator lies down in front of my car, it'll be the last car he lies down in front of," George Wallace lives, Virginia.

Each time a man says, "I got mine and they can go to hell," George Wallace lives, Virginia.

He lives in the hearts of those who see the unseen and the unseeable — those who see a pinko State Department plotting to bankrupt us by giving away our hard-earned money to Commies overseas; those who see a power-mad Supreme Court destroying law and order; those who see that crooks are running our country, that hoodlums are running our cities, and that the Washington bureaucrats with their briefcases are out to enslave us all.

AND YOU KNOW HIM, Virginia. Have you k[illegible] anger at your parents for making you share your [illegible] with your brothers? Have you known envy for th[illegible] richer and contempt for those poorer? Have you known distrust and unease and fear on being alone in a dark and empty house, swept by strange noise you do not understand?

Then you know George Wallace, Virginia.

Most important of all, have you ever wished for a magic wand to whisk away your troubles in a world you never quite made? Ah, Virginia, in all this existence there is nothing else so real and abiding as faith in that magic wand.

No George Wallace! He lives, Virginia, and he has lived forever. A thousand years from now — nay, ten times ten thousand years from now — he will continue to frighten the hearts of the childlike and ride the crest of their fantasies.

Unless, Virginia, we all grow up.

COLUMBUS EXPERTS GIVE VIEWS

Cities Get Hard Look From Legislators

By JOHN MORGAN
Spectator Staff Writer

The situation of Columbus—as any urban center — depends upon who is interpreting the situation.

Members of the Urban Affairs Study Committee of the Ohio General Assembly received both optimistic and dreary pictures of the All-American city last week, as they listened to a number of local experts testify on how the state can help cities.

THEY HEARD Sylvester Angel, head of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) in Columbus, tell them "things aren't changing . . . Integration hasn't touched the lives of 80 per cent of black people." Angel said black people "looked forward" to separation from the white community and urged economic and political self-determination rather than integration.

Angel concluded: "I hope this country that I love does not force me on the streets with my black brothers."

To which Sen. Anthony O. Celabrese (D-Cleveland) replied he hoped Angel meant some progress had been made—citing fair housing and employment gains. Angel countered that "these were not the big problems." Sen. Howard C. Cook (R-Toledo) then responded that perhaps the basic problem of self-determination had not been attacked, a point with which Angel agreed.

The next speaker before legislators sounded a more optimistic chord.

Columbus Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner, speaking to Angel, declared: "We're trying to do things. We're trying to adjust. We are moving ahead. America is for all people, and we have to work together."

Later, pointing out that Columbus may hit the one-million population mahk in 10 or 15 years, Sensenbrenner said the "impossible dream" of building for the future was not hopeless, "if we have legislators and mayors who are not afraid of not getting votes."

THE MAYOR said that any city in America which neglects its downtown area is in trouble, but he urged legislators to start "telling the good things" about cities.

In traditional fashion, Sensenbrenner then asked legislators over to his office to see his John F. Kennedy collection and "a few charts."

Between these two points of view, legislators heard experts testify on inner-city industry; housing and development; poverty; traffic and transit problems; state and city financial relationships; health and welfare inadequacies; public works, and quality education.

Development Director James Crozier called for more emphasis on programs affecting people rather than "brick and mortar." He said the state could go in for "formal training for the advocates of the poor," citing a shortage in professional city planners.

Arguing against the notion of bringing industry from the suburbs to the ghetto ("we may be making the ghetto permanent") Crozier advocated more schools, recreation areas, new housing and neighborhood centers in inner-city space.

Noting a vacuum which exists around transportation problems, C. William Hamilton of Battelle Memorial Institute urged legislation to permit creation of regional transit authorities to coordinate programs. Part and parcel of transit considerations, Hamilton commented, is that cities have never spelled out what they really want to be.

OTHER RECOMMENDATIONS from experts included:

- Help for cities faced with excessive fire and police pension burdens — John Stanley, City Finance Director.
- State appropriations for health on a massive basis — Dr. Ollie Goodloe, Columbus Health Commissioner. Dr. Goodloe declared Ohio was on the bottom of the list in providing matching funds for health needs. He also cited inadequate state support for welfare recipients in nursing homes.
- More highway funds to cities for maintenance; a single sewer system for metropolitan areas and bond financing for city electric plants—Service Director Warren Cremean.
- The state should ask industry to project job needs over extended periods so people can be trained for these jobs; re-examination of garnishment procedures; insurance for companies in ghetto; tax credits for industries willing to locate in ghetto; a stronger Civil Rights Commission; increased vocational education programs—Curtis Brooks, CMACAO Director.

Trick Or Treat
TO BENEFIT YOUR LOCAL KIDNEY FOUNDATION

IF CANDY WILL SAVE PEOPLES' LIVES, WE'LL SELL CANDY ...FOR HALLOWEEN!

When you're a responsible organization like the National Kidney Foundation and its Central Ohio Chapter, you do anything you can.

So much depends on it!

For Halloween we're selling colorful hand puppets . . . stuffed to the ears with over 100 candies . . . plus 20 Trick-or-Treat bags . . . for all the little hobgoblins that will come calling at your door on Wednesday evening, October 30.

Our price is only $1.00 . . . about what you wouldl pay for it at the corner candy store.

Only when you buy it from us, your money goes for a lot more than just candy!

It goes to help people who have kidney disease. A merciless disease that will snuff out 100,000 lives this year. Just think of that . . . 100,000 lives.

And yet, we could save so many of them.

There's a marvelous invention called an artificial kidney machine. One treatment — maybe two a week — and a person can actually go on living a normal life. But this takes money. A lot of it!

Just ask anyone at The Ohio State Life Insurance Company.

They'll tell you that kidney machine treatments can cost up to $10,000 a year. And, they should know. They've made quite a study of kidney disease . . . so they can help their policyowners stay alive!

Ohio State Life has a wonderful Kidney Benefit Program for its policyholders . . . one that lets them use their life insurance death benefits to sustain life . . . so they can pay for costly kidney machine treatments.

Kidney transplants are also working wonders. And soon, we hope to make kidney transplants as simple as cornea transplants.

But all this takes time . . . and research . . . and more money!

That's why we're asking you to please buy our candy. It makes a great gift for all the little hobgoblins that will come knocking at your door on Halloween.

And to someone with kidney disease, your dollar could be the sweetest gift of all . . . life itself!

Give us a call. Please!

Rollin' Rangers Open Pit-Filled 'Second Half' With F-H

By JACK WITTENMEIER
and
BOB WHITMAN

"Intermission" is over — and Hamilton Township opens the "second half" tomorrow evening with Franklin Heights the lead-off foe.

The Falcons, arriving with a deceptive 2-2-1 mark kick off closing five-game Ranger schedule (F-H, Hartley, West Jefferson, Miami Trace and Greenfield) which — without question — contains more pitfalls than H-T's opening lineup.

BUT, IF any club looked ready for the onslaught, Bruce Burnham's charges did Friday with a 25-0 win over Dublin— the Rangers' fourth straight shutout victim.

The 4-1 Hamilton eleven compiled 409 total yards (all rushing) while limiting the Shamrocks to 70 rushing yds. —including a minus 10 for super-charged Irish halfback Jim Gentry.

Burnham listed defensive ends Dick Coogan and Gene Grubb with top efforts along with his Ranger rushing trio of Gary Topping (198 yds. in 24 carries, two TD's) Jim Groczyca (105 yds., 18 tries) and John Cunningham (83 yds., 14 carries, kickoff return TD).

NEW ENTRIES to Burnham's "110 Percent Club" (membership now totals 15) were end Barry Fox and kicker Mike Mercer.

For the third straight week, Ranger foes were limited to less than 75 yds. rushing — H-T allowing 58 ground yards per game over that period.

But that average will receive its severest test to date tomorrow vs the Falcons who just as easily as not could be arriving unbeaten instead of showing a 2-2-1 account.

AFTER ALL but giving away an opening 20-16 setback to Mohawk, Bob Le-Beau's eleven blasted Grove City (24-0) and Washington Court House (26-6), before coming up one yard short of victory at West Jefferson (tied Riders, 26-26) and falling under rugged Urbana (20-19) last weekend.

They've outplayed every team they haven't beaten and have played a tougher schedule than us," Burnham surmises as he sized up the Falcons.

The basic strength in Heights' multiple attack (stacked I, slot and double slot) this fall has been fine balance between rushing and aerial game.

NUMBER ONE entry on Burnham's "must-stop" list, however, is Falcon fullback Don Glover — a 5-7, 190-lb. cruncher — who shows 10 TDs to his credit this season and carried a 124-yds-per-game average into the West Jefferson tilt.

Half of Glover's six-pointers, incidently, have come

COUNTY
Sports

against West Jeff and Urbana —neither club known for its defensive ineffectiveness.

Glover's favorite stomping spot appears to be off-tackle, although he did try to get wide vs Urbana, according to H-T scouts.

SUPPLYING the passing balance to the Falcon offense is quarterback Al Norris, a scrambling 5-11, 175-pounder who gets a AAA-rating on his option play.

"He makes up his mind in a hurry," Burnham warns of the Heights' signal-caller.

Norris, who seems to favor "down-'n-outs" and flooding an area with receivers, has two capable receivers available in senior ends John Blount (6', 170) and John Fairley (5-5, 150).

DEFENSIVELY, the Falcons generally stick with variations off a 5-4 but have been known to go up to an eight-man front.

GROVEPORT

Cruiser grid skipper Bob Starr is hoping "time heals all" by tomorrow evening.

Groveport (1-4) lost heavily in the personnel department during Friday's 43-20 setback to Grove City as five regulars went to the sidelines via injury during the first half of play.

HOPEFULLY back for tomorrow's loop visit to Mifflin (1-4) will be HB Larry Stinson (hip), HB Paul Palsgrove (concussion), def. HB Mike Featherston (shoulder), tackle Don Stokes (knee) and def. end Greg Hendricks (hip).

"We really got rattled in that first half," Starr related. "We marched right down the field from our own 25 and scored but it was nullified by penalty. Then the injuries started and we caved in.

"We played them pretty even most of the second half but we were down by 20 points by that time," the Cruiser mentor moaned.

ALTHOUGH he was fairly satisfied with his offense's performance (207 rushing yds. in 48 carries, 8-of-19 passes for 81 yards), Starr wasn't happy with a yield of 435 total yards to the Greyhounds.

Starr was well pleased with the "admirable fill-in job" by third-string soph halfback Sam Johnson who entered the game after injuries to Stinson and Palsgrove.

The 5-9, 155-pounder, who Starr lists as "the fastest boy in the school," responded with 31 rushing yards in six carries (including TD run and scoring pass to end Steve Jacklin.).

ALSO IN line for praise was QB Mark Boyer (ran 16 times for 73 yds.), two-way halfback Robin Worch, guard Frank Balsimo and fullback Dick Scott.

Starr credits Scott for a good deal of his Cruisers' offensive success this fall. "Dick's the guy who gets that key block on Boyer's sweeps."

Also in line for Bob's "stars" was end Jacklin who "made two great catches" — totaling six grabs for 73 yds.

COACH STARR sees host Mifflin as a "team with a weak defense but a very respectable offense" so far this campaign.

The Cowpunchers show an offense much similar to Groveport's — unbalanced line and shot-gun formations.

"They've got a good backfield and like to throw the ball," Bob adds. "They'll send out as many as five receivers and try to flood an area on you."

A BASIC sweeping team rushing-wise, Mifflin shows a trio of swift backs in Doug Richards, Paul Gray and Tom Howie who alternate positions in the backfield.

Defensively, the Cowpunchers have shown four setups — the 4-4, 5-3, 6-2 and gap-8. "They seem to be searching for a successful one," Starr concluded.

CANAL WINCHESTER

Mike Locke's Indians, suddenly one down in the loop loss column after Friday's humiliating 52-6 loss to powerful Fairfield Union, try to pick up the pieces this week with a Mid-State visit to Liberty Union.

THE LIONS have shown only limited success this season, topping Amanda (40-20), tying Berne Union (20-20) and losing to Pickerington (12-8) and Millersport (26-6).

The emphasis in L-U's wing-T attack is definitely on power football with fullback Jim Hawkins (five TDs in loop play) likely to be the Indian defense's number one headache with his up-the-middle and off-tackle slants.

The Lions, who represent "one of the larger teams we'll face this season," according to Locke, line up in

VISIT THE OLD WORLD HFRE IN COLUMBUS . . .

THE GERMAN VILLAGE NEWS

Earley History . . .

German Village area was originally within the Refugee Tract granted French Canadians February 18, 1801 by Congress in exchange for service in uniting the colonies in the Revolution. They were mostly Catholics who would be restrained in the practice of their religion under an earlier English law demanding recognition of the Episcopalian Church.

Landscripts were made available to all whom served, but specified Claims must be made in person. Many arrived late, but even then less than 50 percent staked Claims. However, many sold to German tavern owners in Pennsylvania, with one advertising boldly in a newspaper offering cash in exchange.

Refugee Lands covered all of Montgomery and Truro Townships and extended through Licking and into Muskingum Counties with a 4½ mile strip. Today, Montgomery Township and German Village are part of Columbus.

One notes in the 1912 Inter County Map shown here, there were five main routes by land into Columbus, and that South High Street, U.S. Route 23 was Inter County Route No. 5. The changeover came between the 1913 Agreement of the Department of Agriculture, the United States, and Ohio which kicked off federal aid to states and counties and the July 11, 1916 federal road act under the newly organized U. S. Bureau of Federal Roads.

Taking part in this first federal subsidized roadbuilding in the country were leaders politically and in business in Muskingum and Licking Counties, owners of several Central Ohio newspapers, post office officials and road-building material manufacturers and construction engineers.

After raising $340,000.00 as required, federal aid began to grow until today it is 90% Aid.

One finds Germans involved throughout these business plans, and particularly involved in the gold mining companies formed at that time, one of which is still operating under a defunct charter.

Few monies were allocated for roadbuilding up to this time. Road workers donated time and horse power, which meant frequent change in workers. Under James Marker, inmates of Ohio Penitentiary were used one entire summer to construct the Second Experimental Road on a short strip extending northernly from Hartman Farm in 1911. It proved the value of regular workers, and led to hired state employes.

South High Street, part of the Portsmouth - Columbus Inter County Highway No. 5, carried a very heavy and mixed traffic. The Experimental roadway paralleled the Ohio & Southern Traction Company's track which offered a five minute ride from downtown.

About 3,100 feet were constructed in the Experimental Road in a 16 foot wide pavement carrying a five foot wide berm on the west side and a nine to ten foot earth drive on the east side. Types and sections of pavement included brick, asphalt block, Petrifalt, concrete coated with Dolarway bitumen, concrete coated with Tarvia, Tar, slag, stone and Hassam.

The first Experimental road was constructed on Route 62 leading to St. Mary's Academy. Clyde Knisely, civil engineer with the state department, assisted in the first experimental road, while the second was directed by James Marker, first highway director of the newly formed department.

The latter seemed to end the barter and trade system for road building. It initiated regularly paid state highway employe system. After all, passable roadways were necessary to market products of Hartman Farm, breweries, and other products manufactured in the vicinity of the present German Village.

'Fearless' Predictions

The "Fearless One" got back in the saddle after a poor week of forecasting—bouncing back with an 18-3 account last weekend to raise his seasonal record to a more respectable 86-26.

Here's the Spectator seer's outlook for week six:

BROOKHAVEN AT LINDEN — Bearcats have begun showing improvement but run into too much speed here. Linden.

TEAYS VALLEY AT DUBLIN — Shamrocks maintain flickering Metro hopes with bounce-back win over Vikings. Dublin.

LONDON AT GRANDVIEW — Red Raiders continue to build Mid-Eight steamroller with seemingly easy test here. London.

GROVE CITY AT HILLIARD — Throw out the records for this traditional battle. Wildcats coming more each week but 'Hounds may have finally jelled. Grove City.

CENTRAL AT EASTMOOR — Winless Pirates will find no friendly surroundings here as Warriors remain on heels of "catch-me-if-you-can" Linden. E-M.

GROVEPORT AT MIFFLIN — Looks like "sink or swim" week for Cruisers who'll find Cowpunchers no patsy. On a hunch . . . Groveport.

READY AT NORTHLAND — Has all the makings of a dandy. Since I don't pick ties, I'll give a feeble vote of confidence to . . . Northland.

MT. VERNON AT PLEASANT VIEW — Best spot for Panther victory breakthrough but Jackets still have sting. Mt. Vernon.

REYNOLDSBURG AT GAHANNA —Four (count em . . . four) OCC title hopefuls will be hoping for an "all-even" loop standing after this one. But Raiders have the impetus. Reynoldsburg.

ZANESVILLE AT ARLINGTON — Rugged schedule beginning to show signs of weariness on Bears and foes of No. one "try harder." But Moorehead's crew would like to impress in COL opener. UA.

WEST AT MARION-FRANKLIN— Somebody's gonna' wave "bye-bye" to City title hopes here. Computer says Devils look like winner. We won't argue. M-F.

DELAWARE AT WESTERVILLE— Test of two giants with Pacers having more to lose. Visitors stay alive in OCC race. Delaware.

SOUTH AT PORTSMOUTH — Last-breath (Trojan) win over not-too-unbeatable Chillicothe should buoy Bulldog hopes but hosts don't figure to lose two-of-three. Portsmouth.

DESALES AT WHETSTONE — Wrong spot for sputtering Brave offense to right itself. DeSales.

CANAL WINCHESTER AT LIBERTY UNION — Indians left town in a hurry last week, should enjoy more leisurely ride home this time. C-W.

FRANKLIN HEIGHTS AT HAMILTON TOWNSHIP — Two stingy defensive crews test each other's breakaway capabilities. Falcons should be out to prove something after last week's loss. Close . . . but F-H.

MARYSVILLE AT BEXLEY—Hosts still short in the scoring department but Monarchs winless. Bexley.

WHITEHALL AT WORTHINGTON —There oughta' be a law against having to pick these doggone OCC games. Loser "outside lookin' in" on title race. O.K. — with eyes closed— Whitehall.

SATURDAY

WEHRLE VS. WATTERSON (at North) — If anyone's gonna' pull a CCL upset this fall, the Wolves'll be the architect. However, we've gone out on the limb enough this week. Watterson.

SUNDAY

HARTLEY AT SPRINGFIELD CATHOLIC — Hawks might have more than "Sunday drivers" to contend with here but should enjoy short ride home anyway. Hartley.

'Highlights' By HARMON

It's much too soon for all the chips to be on the line, but there are a lot of marbles involved in some big conference battles this weekend: early title-ticklers like Georgia-Mississippi in the Southeast Conference . . . Kansas-Nebraska in the Big Eight . . . Purdue-Ohio State in the Big Ten . . . and Southern Cal-Stanford in the Pacific Coast Conference.

The Number One-rated Riveters, the Boiler-boys from Purdue, should hold firm on all fronts with a 21-point win over 17th-ranked Ohio State.

RUNNER-UP Southern Cal might be in for a difficult afternoon against scalp-conscious Stanford. Using an Indian appraisal from the East Coast, however, it looks as though the Trojans will notch another win — this one by 14 points.

All stops will be pulled out in Lincoln in a meeting between two Big Eight powers, fourth-rated Kansas and 13-ranked Nebraska. And at the risk of eating heavily-salted Nebraska crow again, the Jayhawkers will clip the Cornhuskers by nine points.

Ole' Miss was in the frying pan last week against Alabama, and Georgia almost had a coronary over South Carolina. They'll both be right back in the fire this week . . . the Rebels are No. Eight and Georgia is No. 10.

POWER QUOTIENTS can't get much closer. Mississippi will pull it out in a squeaker by just a point.

And speaking of frying pans, fires, etc., last Saturday Miami battled the likes of Southern Cal . . . this week, it's seventh-ranked Louisiana State. Everybody just gets tougher and tougher. So . . . the Tigers to quiet the Hurricanes by nine points.

Another battle of titans takes place in Los Angeles where UCLA takes on Penn State. Penn is ranked 14th while the Bruins skidded all the way to 19th after their loss to Syracuse.

THE UCLANS will try to bounce back, but we sorta think the Nittany Lions will bounce a little higher . . . Penn State by one point.

In the Southwest Conference, undefeated and 15th-ranked Arkansas will continue to win, this time bumping Baylor by 26 points.

Elsewhere among the "favored few," it will be 12th-ranked California over Army by 14 points . . . Michigan State topping Michigan by 11 (The Spartans climbed from 19th last week to the No. Nine spot) . . . Notre Dame, still in third, ruining Northwestern by 26 . . . and sixth-ranked Tennessee trimming Georgia Tech by 18

Beulah' Ohio Championship Tops Weekend Racing Card

The 24th running of the Ohio Championship tops the racing at Beulah Park for this week.

The track's oldest stakes (dates back to 1945) is scheduled Saturday and will be contested over a mile and a sixteenth. The purse is $10,000 added.

THERE WILL be no lack of competition in this year's renewal of the Championship for the roster of eligibles contains the names of numerous well known runners in the Midwest.

W. J. Miller's "Hank," who scored in the Inaugural Handicap here on opening day, is set to seek additional honors in the championship.

Another prominent candidate is D. R. Markham's "Stands to Reason." Also rated as one of the strong factors in the race is C. L. Broughton's "Big Darby," victorious in the R. J. Dienst Memorial Handicap here in 1966.

OTHERS expected to be under colors in this renewal are Al's Birthday, Bell Metal, Chiflon, Cocktail Music, Count Petare, Dunham, Federal Chief, Frosty Judge, Jolly Giant, Porterhill, Relic's Boy, Scandell Bob and Tartarus.

Running of the Ohio Championship will mark the halfway point in the current meeting and the second half promises numerous fine attractions.

The Diana Handicap — $7,500 added for fillies and mares at a mile — is set for Wednesday. Then on Saturday the City of Columbus Handicap ($15,000 added at six furlongs) tops the card.

Brown-Hawk Face-Off Set

The undefeated Berwick Browns held onto first place in the Tri-County Boys Football League Sunday by defeating the Baltimore Raiders, 26-0, while Summit Station's Hawks stayed in contention by blanking the Eastland Vikings, 14-0.

The Browns and fullback Rob Hunter set a league record by having four touchdowns called back (Hunter scored six times but only three counted). Counted were three runs of 75, 55 and 15 yards.

The Summit Station Hawks were led, as usual, by their two hard running backs — Randy Ball and Brad Lindsay. Lindsay scored on runs of 40 and 10 yards and Ball plunged over for the conversion.

Next week's game features a title-deciding game between the Browns and the Hawks at Summit Station High School (2 p.m.).

'Rich Get Richer' Etc. In Touch FB Play

The Columbus Touch Football League's version of the "Mud Bowl" prevailed Sunday at Southview as the league reached the seasonal half way point with three clubs remaining unbeaten.

Fields Brothers (4-0) blanked Central Ohio Welding 12-0 as Elkie Byrd scored on a 35 yard interception and a 13 yd. pass from Bill Johnson.

REMO'S INN (4-0) blasted Lockbourne's Skyhawks, 20-6, as Tom Myers lofted two strikes to Don Mollick for 79 and 14 yds. and Don Yore for a 21 yd. score.

Lockbourne's score came as Stan Lindskog hit Don Biddies with a 56 yd. bomb.

North Heidelberg's (4-0) Pond Brothers struck again as John found Tim for tallies of 61, 30, 22 and 41 yds. John also added a 19 yd. run and hit Joe Hill from 14 yds. out.

ROCKY AMICON added insult to injury by lofting a nine yd. pitch to Tim McGarity.

Defense-minded Harley-Davidson whitewashed B and A Paints, 6-0, as Mike Zetz zeroed in on Howie Williams for a 28 yd. TD and victory. John Palmer and Williams are the main reasons H-D rates second in the league on defense.

Craig Realty exploded in the second half to down Moores' Painting, 26-16, as Eddie Parks passed [illegible] to Avery Godfrey for [illegible] and 26 yd. TD's besides lofting a 21 yarder to George Parks.

HERMAN REEVES spearheaded the defense and snatched a 50 yd. interception to score.

Moores' Skip Smith triggered a 31 yd. strike to Ed Dorsey and ran 62 yards with a kickoff for the Painters' only score.

Chuck McNeil sparked Mid-American to 12-10 win over Creative Printers by racing 32 yds. to pay dirt and snagging a 12 yd. toss from Steve Thomas.

CREATIVE'S Bob Bates tossed 11 yards to Mike Seymour and Fred Crow added a safety to complete the Printers' scoring.

OKTOBERFEST PASSES FROM INFANCY ON FIRST BIRTHDAY

TINY MITES YIELD $3,100 FOR RESEARCH

A pesky mite about one-hundredth of an inch long is the reason for a grant of $3,100 to Ohio State University's new Acarology Laboratory.

The tiny pest, which lives in house dust, causes allergic attacks in about a quarter of all allergy sufferers.

The research is being conducted by Dr. G. W. Wharton, director of the laboratory, which is believed to be the only facility of its kind in the world.

The size of the mites has posed problems for research. At present, Dr. Wharton is able to weigh a mite — 10 millionths of a gram — and he can measure the amount of oxygen or water a single mite takes from the air.

So far, however, he has been unable to find an instrument which will measure the infinitesimal amount of water in the air just adjacent to the mite.

One of the earliest problems — feeding the mites for research — was solved when Dr. Wharton brushed out the head of his electric razor at feeding time.

Research in acarology, the study of mites and ticks, is conducted at other laboratories throughout the world, but Ohio State's research facility is the only one restricted to that field.

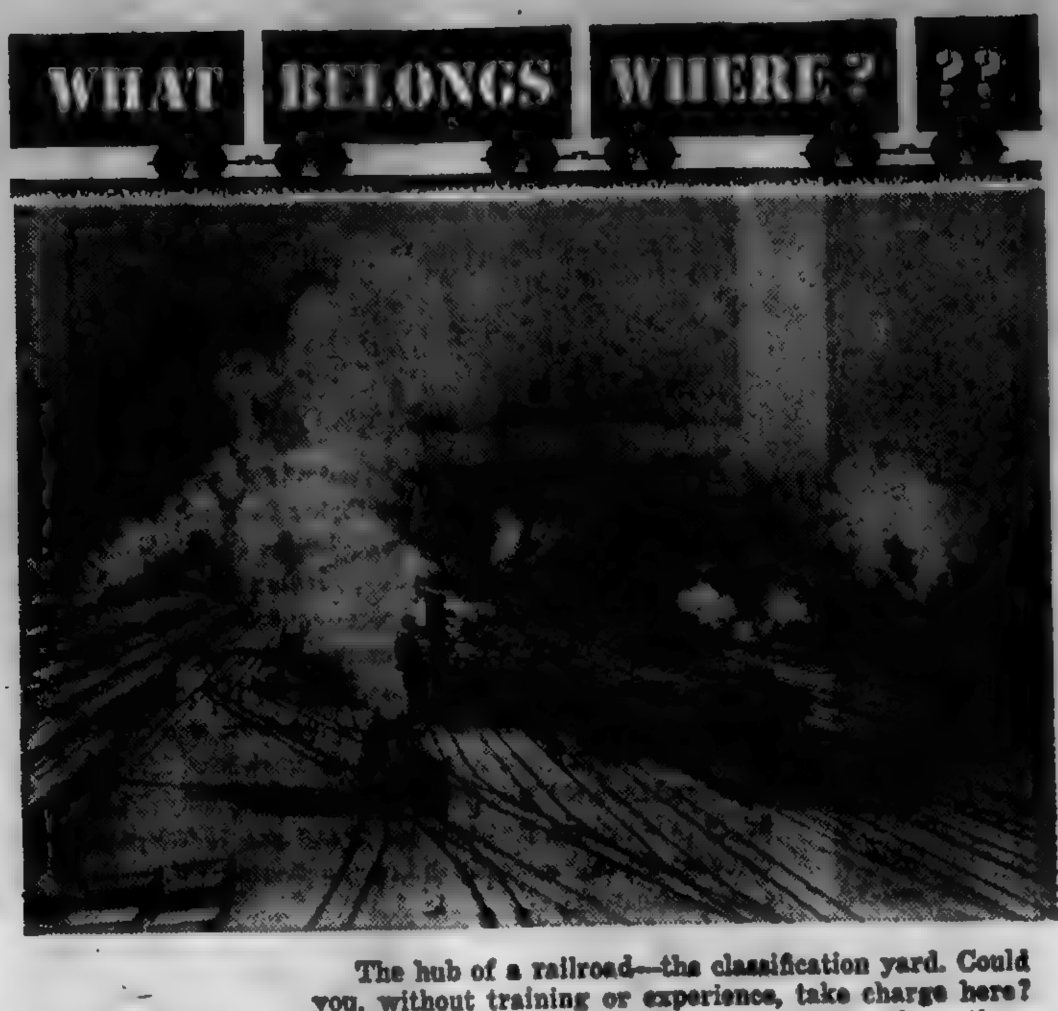
WORSHIP IN THE CHURCH OF YOUR CHOICE



WHAT BELONGS WHERE? ??

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The hub of a railroad—the classification yard. Could you, without training or experience, take charge here? Could you sort and "spot" thousands of cars, have them ready at the right time on the right track to go out with the right train?

But every day your mind performs an operation even more complex. You sort and classify your thoughts and impulses. You decide what is right and wrong. You determine which actions are urgent, and which can be deferred. You resolve that some goals are important, and others are secondary. And every decision affects your life, and the lives of others!

Preparing men and women—and boys and girls—to make the right decisions is one of the great functions of the Church. There are sound Christian standards by which life's choices should be sorted. There is confidence and strength for those who seek, learn and practice the true Way of Life.

JOHN A-GO-GO — Hamilton Township's John Cunningham (44) shifts directions as he wheels his way on an 82-yard TD return with second-half kickoff Friday. Long score boosted Ranger lead to 12-0.

Rangers—

a 5-4 alignment defensively.

THE O-W mentor saw little to make him happy in the Fairfield Union setback which saw the hosts amass a 400-plus to 230 total yardage advantage on his Indians.

One bright spot should be the expected return of halfback Gary Kemmerling, who sat out the F-U game with an injury.

Winchester now stands at 3-2 overall.

TEAYS VALLEY

THE BIG gain for Teays Valley Friday night was improved play in the defense department as the Vikings trailed rugged West Jefferson by a mere 14-6 with nine minutes to go.

One bad break, however, opened the floodgate to the Riders' 34-6 verdict, but not before the Viking defenders got to see themselves doing a few things right.

The lessons they learned will be invaluable ones tomorrow as Dick Kidwell's crew bang heads with 3-2 Dublin, a 25-0 loser at Hamilton Township last week in a 'must' game for Bob Farmer's Shamrocks.

"WE'RE young and hence inexperienced (four seniors) but our kids played their best defense of the season," noted Kidwell of his first T-V edition.

"They're (W-J) a pretty good ball club, and our guys played exceptionally well until the late minutes," he added while listing defenders who made a particular impression — linebackers Chuck Jackson, Ken Parsons and Rick Stewart and defensive halfback Dan Hicks.

"The only thing we have to get rolling now is our offense," Dick adds.

TOMORROW would be an ideal time for the ball-toters to join the defensive improvement category against a standard 5-4 with a little "4-4 variety now and then" tossed at T-V.

Big man in the Dublin defense is Jim Weaver — who manages some 14 tackles per contest.

Of course, the defense dare not falter in the late minutes as Dublin has a tricky backfield in hard-running Jim Gentry, who Kidwell labels the "kid to stop" and quarterback Chic Varga who has been keeping Dublin around with his passing knack.

"HAMILTON Township runs about the same straight stuff that Dublin uses and with (Gary) Topping at fullback their attacks are similar," scouted Kidwell.

The T-V mentor figures to fix the mistakes that had his defenders keying on Topping and freeing the Ranger halfback who beat them.

With Shamrock halfback John Kilbury handling a good share of running chores, the T-V defense may study history to prevent a replay of Hamilton's strong 39-0 win.

Southsiders Win

Two boys representing the South Side Branch YMCA placed in the recent Judo tournament held at the YWCA with participants from all over Ohio and a team from New York City.

They were Anthony Johnson and Frank Roe who were second and third respectively in the Green Belt division.

'Garabandal' To Be Seen

Frank Goodyear will present a slide program when members of the St. Leo Altar-Rosary Parish Council meet at 7:45 p.m. Monday in the School Hall.

The program, entitled "Garabandal," pertains to the reported apparitions of the Virgin Mary to children in Spain from 1961 to 1965.

Slides of the late Padrio Pio, modern day stigmatist, will also be shown.

All women of the parish and friends are invited.

Mayor Sensenbrenner recently signed a proclamation declaring the week of Oct. 13-19 as "Junior Bowler Week."

The Greater Columbus Area Junior Bowling Association, which sponsors all local junior bowling activities, will use this week for its annua "Nickel Week."

"NICKEL WEEK" is the time when all adult bowlers (men and women) will be asked to donate one nickel toward the operation of the Junior Association. All lanes will have volunteer workers canvass each league and collect any and all donations.

Nickel Week contributions are used 100 per cent to defray the costs of the Junior Bowling Program.

The help of the adult bowlers is needed to further the AJBC program. The Columbus Junior Bowling Association is a non-profit organization — organized to promote recreation for young people, through the game of bowling.

WITH THIS goal, the association helps combat juvenile delinquency by providing a clean and wholesome program of recreation.

To assure a program of wholesome environment, protected athletic eligibility, healthful recreation and fun for the youngster, the AJBC has established the following code.

—AJBC members shall observe the eligibility rule of the American Junior Bowling Congress which confines their bowling to leagues and tournaments in which no cash or merchandise prizes are offered as awards.

—No alcoholic beverages shall be served or consumed in the area where members of the AJBC are engaged in AJBC functions.

—AJBC members shall refrain from smoking during the time any AJBC function in which they are participating is in progress.

—AJBC members shall not play pinball machines while any AJBC function or school bowling activity is in progress.

THE LOCAL junior program includes Singles Tournament, City Doubles Tournament, Easter Team Tournament, Annual Awards Banquet and league activities enjoyed by about 6,600 young people each week.

The expenses of all tournaments and league play are paid for by the Association. The junior bowler pays only the cost of bowling.

The annual Awards Banquet is the highlight of the junior season. At this banquet the young bowler is awarded trophies for his achievements in tournament play. Over 280 trophies were awarded last year.

Eagles Slip By Ponies, 12-6, In Bantam Battle

The Linden Eagles slipped past the Reynoldsburg Ponies, 12-6 last weekend to take over the Eastern Division lead as the only unbeaten team in the Ban-Tam Boys Football League.

Eagle QB Steve Johnson hit end Mike Goolsby with a touchdown pass and then scampered 65 yards himself for the decider.

PONY FULLBACK Jack Stevenson scored in the final seconds of play to snap Linden's 15-game unscored-upon string.

Elsewhere, Western Division leader Grove City Panthers blanked the Lockbourne AFB Falcons, 21-0, while the West Mound Rams nipped South Franklin's Raiders, 6-0, and the Grove City Warriors smacked the Reynoldsburg Mustangs, 26-0.

The Panthers can wrap up the Western Division crown Saturday evening (7:30) with a win over the host Mustangs while the Eagles can do likewise in the East with a Sunday victory over the visiting G-C Warriors at 1 p.m.

IN OTHER Sunday contests, the Falcons visit the Raiders (1 p.m.) while the Rams play host to the Ponies at noon.

Little Buckeyes Triumph, 77-0, In Mercy Bowl

The second annual "Mercy Bowl" game played in Marion, Ohio, was won by the Little Buckeyes, 77-0, over the Columbus Little Colts, Saturday evening — raising over $1,600 for the Crippled Children's Society of Marion County.

The Little Buckeyes' powerful offense took hold early with halfback Craig Woods scoring on two runs and a 45 yd. pass interception.

HALFBACK Tom McKelvey matched Woods' total with scoring scampers of 33, 13 and seven yards.

Buckeye halfback Chip Jakeway accounted for two scores — one a pass from halfback-turned-quarterback Craig Woods (good for 22 yds).

IN ALL, the Little Bucks rolled up over 500 yds. in total offense.

Council Fails To Act On Appointment

City council took no action this week on the appointment by Columbus Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner of Col. James Allen to a seat on the German Village Commission.

The delay was an act of respect to the late Ivan Pusecker of German Village who was prominent in German Village affairs.

Although some opposition is foreseen, confirmation next week is expected.

You want to roll a strike against heart disease?

It's that time of year when the Central Ohio Heart Association conducts its Heart Fund Tournament. The 12th edition begins with a televised [illegible]thon Nov. 10 (4-5 p.m., [illegible]) and continues that w[illegible].

ALL YOU have to do is be a league bowler and submit a $1 entry fee— 30 cents of which goes for local prizes and 70 cents of which goes to the the Heart Fund. Entry blanks are available at bowling establishments in Central Ohio.

The two divisions for men and w[illegible] have been altered. The b[illegible]t point for men: 170 a[illegible]er, 171 and over; the women: 150 and under, 151 and over.

First and second place winners in each division are eligible for a grand rolloff Dec. 15 at Northern Lights.

PRIZES will be awarded on a pins-over-average basis. First place winners receive $100 and engraved tray, and one out of 10 will receive a cash prize.

Since practically all of the workers are doing it on a voluntary basis, the COHA is in need of assistance in each of the houses. If you're interested, get in touch with the Heart Association office on E. Broad St.

The Teen-Age Republican Club will hold a bowling party Oct. 20 at Rainbow, starting at 2:30 p.m.

QUESTION — What would be the highest three game series total without a 200 game (an ABC record)?

A. — On Feb. 7, 1965, Zan Hassin rolled a 698 series — 199, 199 and 300.

PROBLEMS?

Sore hands and fingers?

If the span of your ball is too narrow, you will be forced to pinch the ball to hold onto it and as a result, will put your hands and fingers under a strain.

Under those conditions you may also crook your thumb, if the hold is big enough, and you wind up with a sore knuckle through friction.

IT IS a strain, too, to pick up a ball off the rack with the fingers and carry it dangling to the approach. Don't put your fingers into the holes until you are ready to start your approach.

Converting 10 pins with a hook ball?

This is the most difficult single pin spare for the hook ball bowlers because of the nearness to the edge of the lane.

DEPENDING upon the size of your hook, select a spot a few inches in front of the 10 pin, then draw an imaginary line from that spot to where you are to deliver the ball. Roll the ball along this line.

If you hook in front of the pin, move your spot back an inch or two until you have made the correct adjustment.

Cap's Chickerella, Runners Start Fast

Former Linden McKinley cage coach Vince Chickerella — contracted last year to guide Capital University's '68-'69 basketball fortunes — obviously isn't going to wait till roundball season to stake his success claim at the Crusader school.

Chickerella's cross country team has vaulted off to an unbeaten record this fall with wins over seven opponents.

Top Cap runners to date are soph Irv Christenson (Reynoldsburg), senior Rick Mettle (Walnut Ridge), frosh Dave and senior Rick Lewis (Eastmoor.)

Fair Housing Group Waits For Results

The results of a Columbus Board of Realtors' public stand in favor of open housing will have to wait awhile.

Barbee W. Durham, one of a group of open housing advocates who petitioned the realty board for fair housing, said the only way to tell the results of the realtors' public stand would be "when people go to a house with the money in hand."

He said it was too soon to determine the progress made since the realtors took their stand after a recent meeting in Toledo.

Another member of the fair housing advocates, however, termed the board statement a "major breakthrough."

She said she had noticed an increase in homes being sold by owners in newspaper advertisements, stating she felt this meant homes were available to both white and black. She said the number of such owner-listed homes had tripled since last February.

Claiming that crowded housing in Columbus is in part due to lack of freedom in moving to certain areas, the spokesman said she had received word from some realtors who see open housing as a boost to their business.

The show will be sponsored by members of St. Ann's Hospital Guilds. Chairman for the event is Mrs. David Gettys.

One out of two families will have someone in the hospital this year! It could be you—or some beloved member of your family tomorrow...next week...next month. Sad to say, very few families have anywhere near enough coverage to meet today's soaring hospital costs. These costs have tripled in just a few short years. They are expected to double again in the few years ahead.

Stop for a moment. Think how much a long stay in the hospital will cost you or a loved one. How would you ever pay for costly, but necessary, X-rays, doctor bills, drugs and medicines? What would you do if your pay check stopped, but living expenses kept going on the same as ever? The same rent, phone, food, all the day-to-day expenses that never stop.

What is the average breadwinner to do? We believe we have the answer in the famous Presidential Extra Cash Plan that ... Pays you $100.00 a week tax-free cash when you go to the hospital.

What a blessing it is when you know you have an extra $100.00 cash coming in every week – beginning the very first day you enter the hospital.

Now, Presidential's economy plan enables you to enjoy this protection at once. Because it will NOT cost you $20.00. It will NOT cost you $10.00—or even $5.00. Your special low price is just 25¢ for the first month's coverage for your entire family. Then continue at low Presidential rates.

Your cash benefits increase each year – at no extra cost to you!

And what peace of mind not to worry about rising costs. Your protection automatically increases $3.00 a week each year. The first year you get $100.00 a week. You get $103.00 a week in the second year. $106.00 a week in the third year. $109.00 a week in the fourth year. By the eleventh year, your policy will be worth a full $130.00 a week in benefit payments ... at no increase in cost to you! This generous cash reserve protection will belong to you for as long as you keep the policy. You can see that your insurance will be worth much more than the present "face value" of the policy. Certainly, our increased payments to you will help keep pace with rising costs and – best of all ...

... The increasing benefits come to you at no extra cost.

You still pay the regular low Presidential premium!

What other Plan protects you like this today? What other Plan keeps protecting you against rising living costs in the years ahead without increasing your premiums? And that's not all. This special Presidential Extra Cash Plan (#HP 18L-1067) ...

... Pays you $100.00 a week CASH for a registered nurse at home.

Yes, in addition to the $100.00 weekly checks we send you during your hospital stay, we pay you an extra $100.00 a week if the doctor says you need a full-time registered nurse to take care of you at home.

How comforting it is to know that—after your stay in the hospital, if you've been there three days or more, you can return home to recuperate and yet not be a burden to your loved ones. Yes, if your doctor says you need a registered nurse full time within 5 days after you come home, we'll send you checks for $100.00 a week – for as long as you need the nurse – even up to 50 weeks. It's like having a reserve of $5,000.00 cash to draw on when you need it. These benefits also increase each year by $3.00 a week. Another exceptional feature you have with Presidential ...

PAYS	up to $10,000.00 CASH for each accident or illness, starting the very first day in the hospital. PAYS up to $7,000.00 CASH at the rate of $70.00-A-WEEK if you are 65 or over ... in addition to Medicare.
PAYS	$100.00 A WEEK CASH — if you need a full-time registered nurse when you come home from the hospital — up to 50 weeks.
PAYS	$1,000.00 EXTRA CASH for accidental death.
PAYS	up to $2,000.00 CASH for accidental loss of limbs or eyesight.
PAYS	$100.00 A WEEK CASH for each pregnancy, when you go to the hospital, assuming both husband and wife have been enrolled in the Family Plan With Maternity.
PAYS	up to $5,000.00 at the rate of $50.00 A WEEK when a child goes to the hospital for any accident or illness when you are enrolled in the Family Plan.
PAYS	you cash benefits that increase each year ... to a maximum of $130.00-A-WEEK ... at no extra cost to you.
PAYS	you cash benefits for hospitalization for any accident immediately. Any sickness is covered beginning 30 days after Effective Date of policy.
NO	age limit — no medical examination required — no salesman will call.

IF YOU ARE 65 OR OVER YOU WILL COLLECT $70.00-A-WEEK IN ADDITION TO MEDICARE

Why are smart folks over 65 now hastening to protect themselves with the Presidential Extra Cash Plan in addition to what Medicare will do for them?

Even though Medicare is a great boon to folks over 65, it will not, of course, pay all the bills that quickly pile up as a result of illness or accident.

Regardless of your age, you still need additional health protection.

We have designed this plan as the important addition to what you receive from Medicare – or any other health insurance you may have. Remember, all checks will be sent directly to you (not to the doctor or hospital), to give you that "extra" help just when you need it most. Use the tax-free cash any way you see fit. And you will be glad to know the checks will be big ones! In addition to what you receive from Medicare, Presidential pays you $70.00 a week ... EVEN FOR 100 WEEKS if necessary! You can receive as much as $7,000.00 for each illness or injury when hospitalized!

... Pays you $100.00 a week cash maternity benefits – up to 100 weeks for each hospital stay!

Ordinary hospital insurance may take care of part of your expenses when you go to the hospital to have a baby. But what policy can you think of that gives you cash to buy all the things you need for the new baby? Now, if both husband and wife are insured in the wonderful Family Plan With Maternity for the entire period of the pregnancy, you get extra cash to use any way you want. If a pregnancy, childbirth or even miscarriage puts you in the hospital for one day, five days, 10 days – as long as necessary – you get $100.00 a week for every day of your confinement, up to 100 weeks.

All these added cash benefits.

Yes, in addition to $100.00 a week for hospitalization or $100.00 a week maternity benefits and $100.00 a week for a registered nurse at home ... you get all this:

Added cash benefits: $1,000.00 cash to your family if death occurs within 90 days from any accidental injury. Think of how handy the cash can be in time of loss. It can take care of burial expenses without burdening your loved ones.

Added cash benefits: Up to $2,000.00 cash for accidental loss of limbs or eyesight, when the loss occurs anytime within 90 days of the accident. The loss of a limb or eyesight is a terrible thing. Nothing can replace the loss, but a check for $1,000.00 or $2,000.00 brings peace of mind during the period of adjustment.

Added cash benefits: Choose either Family Plan ... and your children will be covered too! Presidential pays up to $5,000.00 any time your youngster goes to the hospital ... for tonsils, appendicitis, or any other illness or injury! Yes, you will receive $50.00 cash, week after week – for as many as 100 weeks, if necessary.

We pay your premiums when you are not able.

As a special consideration to you – if you are hospitalized just 6 weeks or more, all premiums that come due while you are still in the hospital after this period will be paid by Presidential. And your protection continues as if you were paying the premiums yourself! Then if you leave the hospital and must return for the same condition before you have resumed full normal activities for 90 days, Presidential will again PAY ANY PREMIUMS WHILE YOU ARE IN THE HOSPITAL – TO A MAXIMUM OF 100 WEEKS per confinement! This means you pay no premiums, yet your full protection remains in force – you collect up to $10,000.00 for each confinement!

THIS LIMITED ENROLLMENT OFFER ENDS SOON
Only 25¢ for First Month — Money-Back Guarantee.

You can now have your first month's protection for your entire family for only twenty five cents! But you must act immediately. Your request for this wonderful Income Protection Plan must be mailed on the convenient Enrollment Form NOT LATER THAN MIDNIGHT of the date shown.

This midnight expiration hour cannot be extended. If your enrollment form is mailed later, it cannot be accepted.

These are the ONLY exclusions!

Your Presidential policy covers every conceivable kind of sickness or accident except conditions caused by war or any act of war; mental disorders; intoxicants and narcotics; where care is in a Government hospital; pregnancy except as provided under the maternity benefit provision; and expenses resulting from any sickness or injury you had before the Effective Date of your policy ... during the first 2 years only.

This last item is a real help if you already have a health problem. If you are sick before you take out this policy, you will still be covered for that condition after the policy has been in effect for 2 years. Meanwhile every new condition is covered.

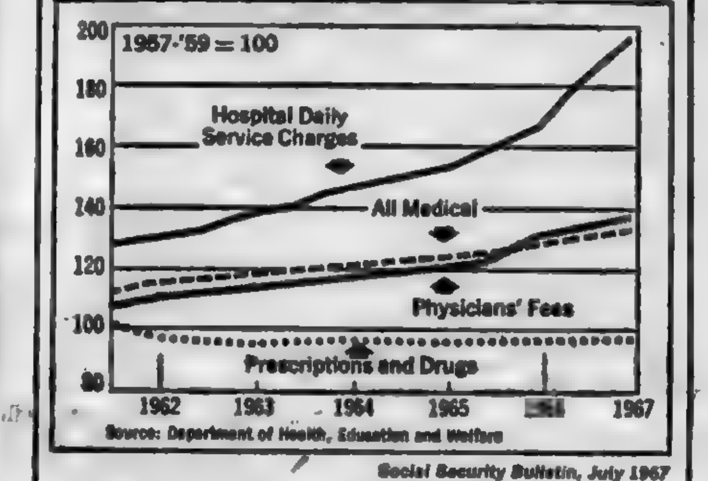
How can 25¢ buy so much?

You can buy ordinary insurance at any time and pay the regular rates, if you wish. But Presidential can now provide you and your entire family with tax-free Income Protection for just 25¢ the first month only because we enroll a large number of people at one time – direct by mail! This highly efficient "Mass Enrollment" method cuts costs to the bone—and the savings are passed on to you!

Medical Costs Skyrocketing!

(Source: U.S. Dept. of Health, Education & Welfare)



Social Security Bulletin, July 1967

Govt. figures reveal your present health protection... may no longer protect you against today's rising medical costs! Don't leave your loved ones defenseless! Act at once to add up to $10,000.00 to your health protection for only 25¢ for entire family.

Make your decision carefully.

Think how costly a hospital confinement will be. Imagine paying for those indispensible x-rays, doctor bills, medicines and drugs that are not covered by your present insurance.

Would you be able to afford the quiet and privacy of a private room and a private nurse, should you so desire? Or a telephone to keep in touch with loved ones? Or the rental of a TV set to help pass the lonely hours? Who would pay your bills that keep on coming in at home? Many folks have lost their life savings, their cars, even their homes trying to meet such expenses. And no one knows whose turn it will be next.

Why you must act before the deadline date shown on your enrollment form—just a few days from today.

Why do we give you so little time to apply for your insurance policy—only a few days? Because, as mentioned above, we must receive your Enrollment Form the same time as all the others in order to pass on to you the savings that come from processing many policies at one time.

We mail you the policy as soon as we receive your Enrollment Form. When the policy arrives, examine it in the privacy of your own home. Take all the time you need. It's a very short document, and you'll be pleasantly surprised to discover there is NO FINE PRINT. Then – show it, if you wish, to someone you trust. Perhaps your lawyer, accountant, or banker. Better still – show it to your own insurance man ... even though he may very well be working for another company! If he is a personal friend, he has your best interests in mind. So you can believe him when he tells you there is no better bargain available anywhere – at any price!

Money back guarantee—in case you change your mind.

Even after you mail your Enrollment Form below ... even after you examine the policy in your own home and talk it over with anyone you wish ... even after all this you are still free to return the policy within 15 days and your quarter will be refunded at once. There will be no obligation whatever.

Meanwhile, all during the 15 days you are making up your mind – you'll be protected by $100.00-A-WEEK extra cash benefits just as if you had already said "yes." That's right, you will be fully covered all this time for any accident which puts you in the hospital, even if you finally decide to return the policy.

However, after you've seen the policy for yourself, you will surely agree that this is a tremendous value and you'll want to continue this $100.00-A-WEEK extra cash protection under the Plan that's best for you.

PLAN I — INDIVIDUAL(S) ONLY PLAN:

If you want to cover yourself – or yourself and one or more adult dependents (including your spouse) – then this is the Plan for you. Each person must be 18 or over, and shall pay (per person) the rate applicable to his or her age. NOTE: Where there are no dependents, PLAN I is the most economical to choose for a husband or wife (or both).

Age at Enrollment	Monthly Premium
18-39	only $3.95
40-49	only $4.95
50-59	only $5.95
60-74	only $6.95
75 and over	only $8.95

PLAN II — FAMILY PLAN WITH MATERNITY

This plan is for the family that is still growing. To the total of the monthly premium for the adults to be insured, just add $5. This entitles you to all maternity benefits. It also covers all your unmarried, dependent children between the ages of 3 months and 19 years who live at home. Future dependent children will be covered when they reach 3 months of age and without any additional charge.

PLAN III — FAMILY PLAN WITHOUT MATERNITY

This plan is for the family that is no longer growing. To the total of the monthly premium for the adults to be insured, just add $8. With the exception of children yet-to-be-born, PLAN III covers all your unmarried, dependent children between the ages of 3 months and 19 years who live at home.

NOTE: The regular Monthly Premium shown here (for your age at time of enrollment) is the same low premium you will continue to pay; it will not automatically increase as you pass from one age bracket to the next. Once you have enrolled, your rate can never be changed because of how much or how often you collect from us — or because of advanced age — but only if there is a general rate adjustment, up or down, on all policies of this type in your entire state.

Act now — "later" may be too late!

TIME IS PRECIOUS! Act quickly. (No salesman will call.) Get your enrollment form into the mail today – because once you suffer an accident or sickness, it's TOO LATE to buy protection at any cost. The sooner you mail your enrollment form, the sooner your protection starts. That's why we urge you to act today – before anything unexpected happens.

THESE 23 QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Tell you how Presidential's COST OF LIVING INCOME REPLACEMENT HEALTH AND ACCIDENT PLAN gives you the protection you need — at amazingly low cost!

1. How much will my policy pay me when I go to the hospital? You are paid $100.00-A-WEEK cash every single week. And it starts the very first day you are in the hospital. If you are over 65, you are paid $70.00 a week, in addition to any Medicare benefits you receive. You are paid $50.00 a week up to 100 weeks every time your children go to the hospital when you are enrolled in the Family Plan.
2. Will I be paid if I am hospitalized for less than a full week? You certainly will ... regardless of whether you are in the hospital for as short a time as one day ... or as long a time as a week, month, year or more.
3. Does the Plan pay you from the first day of hospitalization? Yes! You receive full cash benefits of $100.00 a week starting the very first day you enter the hospital. The coverage begins when we accept your completed Form and 25¢—that is the day you and your loved ones are covered for any accidents. Sickness coverage begins 30 days after the effective date of the policy.
4. How much do I receive for a Registered Nurse at Home? $100.00-A-WEEK for up to $5,000.00 after you have been hospitalized for 3 days or more, and your doctor has you employ a full-time registered nurse within 5 days after you leave the hospital. Ten years from now it will have increased to $130.00 a week in benefits ... at no extra cost to you!
5. Are there any accidental death benefits? Yes. $1,000.00 cash is paid to your estate when death occurs any time within 90 days of an accident.
6. Will I be paid extra if I lose a limb or eyesight? Yes. Presidential pays $1,000.00 for complete accidental loss of one hand or one foot or sight of one eye; $2,000.00 for loss of both hands or both feet or sight of both eyes ... when dismemberment occurs anytime within 90 days of the accident.
7. How much do we receive for pregnancies? If you have the Family Plan With Maternity, you receive $100.00-A-WEEK for as long as 100 weeks for each pregnancy, childbirth or miscarriage that results in hospital confinement when both husband and wife are enrolled under this plan for the entire period of pregnancy.
8. Suppose I am paid benefits for any sickness or accident. What happens if I am again hospitalized for the same condition? Don't worry. You still collect $100.00-A-WEEK for a total of 100 weeks. And if you have already resumed full normal activities for just 90 days, it's considered a new confinement, and you can collect for an additional 100 weeks. Of course, any new condition is covered immediately for a full 100 weeks.
9. How may I use these benefit payments? You may use them in any way you wish—for hospital and doctor bills, rent, food, household expenses, or anything else. This is entirely up to you.
10. May I apply if I am over 65? Yes, you may. Folks any age are welcome to apply—there is no age limit! Members 65 or over are paid $70.00 a week plus all Medicare benefits.
11. Can I collect from Presidential even if I carry other insurance? Of course. This plan will pay you in addition to whatever you may receive from any other policies, including Medicare for folks over 65.
12. Why do I need this Presidential Plan in addition to my other hospital and health insurance? While hospital costs have tripled in recent years, very few people have tripled their insurance. The chances are one in seven that you will need money to take care of all your other expenses, as well as your hospital bills. Your Presidential checks are rushed to you by air mail to use as you see fit.
13. What benefits do my eligible, dependent children get? If you choose a Family Type Plan, your dependent eligible children, ages 3 months to 19 years, would receive 50% of all the cash benefits of the basic Plan (excluding Waiver of Premium).
14. May I add future dependent children to my policy after it is in force? Yes, indeed. If you have the FAMILY PLAN WITH MATERNITY. Just notify us when they are 3 months old and they will be covered without evidence of insurability and any additional charge.
15. Will my protection be cancelled because I have too many claims? No, definitely not! Presidential guarantees never to cancel your protection because you have too many claims or because of advanced age. We also guarantee never to refuse to renew your policy unless the premium is not paid before the end of the 31-day grace period, or unless renewal is declined on all policies of this type in your entire state. (Of course, if deception is used in making application, the policy may be ineffective.)
16. Will my rates be raised as I grow older or if I have too many claims? No matter how many claims you have, or regardless of how long you keep your policy, your rate will remain the same as it was for your age when you applied. Presidential guarantees never to adjust this rate unless the rates are adjusted on all policies of this type in your entire state.
17. What is not covered by this policy? The only conditions not covered are those caused by: mental disorders; intoxicants and narcotics; where care is in a Government hospital; expenses resulting from any sickness or injury you had before the policy Effective Date (during the first 2 years only); act of war. EVERYTHING ELSE IS COVERED—including pregnancy when both husband and wife have been enrolled in the FAMILY PLAN WITH MATERNITY for the entire period of pregnancy.
18. What are the requirements to enroll in one of the Presidential Plans? You must not have been refused any health, hospital or life insurance; and, to qualify during this enrollment period, you must enroll before midnight of the date in the coupon.
19. Why is this offer good for a limited time only? Because, by enrolling a large number of people at the same time, underwriting, processing and policy issuance costs can be kept at a minimum—and we can pass these savings on to you.
20. Besides the savings, are there other advantages to joining Presidential during this enrollment period? Yes, there certainly are. A very important one is that you do not need to complete a regular application—just the brief enrollment form in the lower left hand corner of this page. Also, during this enrollment period there are no other requirements for eligibility—and no "waivers" or restrictive endorsements can be put on your policy!
21. Can other members of my family take advantage of this special offer? Yes, as long as they can meet the few requirements listed under Question 18.
22. How does the money-back guarantee work? Examine your policy carefully in the privacy of your own home. If for any reason you are not completely satisfied, return it within 15 days and we will promptly refund your money. Meanwhile you will be fully protected while making your decision!
23. How do I join? Fill out your brief enrollment form and mail it, with just 25¢ for the first month's protection for your entire family. Mail to: The Presidential Life Insurance Company of America, 11401 Roosevelt Blvd., Philadelphia, Pa. 19154.

Lady Executives Get Push-Button Bedrooms

Whatever are we coming to?

If you don't believe that our society has sold out to the push button, try this on for size.

Would you believe an electronic pushbutton panel at bedside that lets you raise and lower your window shades electronically?

That's the most sophisticated feature of a whole new concept in bedroom ideas (below) those busy designers have worked up for this year.

It goes hand in hand with floating beds, plexiglas walls and a variety of other gadgets that would make the old-fashioned bedroom obsolete.

The floating bed doesn't really float — but it seems to, perched on a clear plexiglas base that lets the shag carpet show through. It also makes it impossible to sweep dirt under the bed, but they don't advertise that feature.

(Come to think of it, that makes it impossible for the bogey-men to hide there, too).

The headboard is a glass screen that lets you look right into the dressing room beyond. The dressing room features two wardrobes flanking the sink and an abstract rug on the floor.

Since the sheets on the bed feature black-eyed susans, those pretty flowers also highlight the glass screen headboard. The designer says they "are sprinkled over the screen in a random pattern and hover over the bed as if held by a light breeze."

The electronic console includes a miniature television set, a full-size stereo tape deck and AM-FM radio, an intercom connecting the bedroom with the rest of the house, and controls for operating draperies, lighting and, believe it or not, even sliding window panels.

THEY FLY THE GREEN PENNANT WITH PRIDE

After 30 accident-free days, the new Winterset School has earned the privilege shared with 64 other Columbus Public Schools of flying the Green Pennant, emblematic of a clean slate in traffic safety. Pictured at the presentation of the flag soon after school opened this fall (it was displayed in the building until the safety record was established) are, from left, (adults), Ray Morriss, Ternstedt, personnel director; Charles Hall, Winterset principal; Howard Wilson, director of safety education in CPS; Officer Earl Moore; Stanley Wolf of the Safety Council of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce which co-sponsors the Green Pennant Safety Plan and Cal Stacey, manager of Ternstedt, which furnishes the five-foot triangular flags. Members of the Winterset Safety Patrol are, from left, front row — Robyn Robinson, Steve Blasis and Dawn Milligan. Back row — Steve Bosaker, Sky Bland and Leslie Mundew.

JIM MURRAY

A Shrug For The Record Book

Bob Gibson doesn't dislike white people. He just wonders where they were when he needed them.

He is no more fun to face with a pencil than with a bat. He doesn't consider reporters evil, just stupid.

NOT ALL of them, he points out in his remarkable book "From Ghetto to Glory," just most of them.

MURRAY

His answers come back like his high, hard one. You don't dare a toe-hold on them. He resents any quotes that make him sound like Chapter Two of Uncle Remus or a jive-talker from Lennox Avenue.

"I'M A Nebraskan," he notes simply.

Some Nebraskans didn't care for the sensation, he also points out in his book, co-authored by Phil Pepe.

The painter who walked off the job in the middle of spraying his house, for instance.

BUT THE unconscious irony of the colloquy of two other neighbors was not lost on Gibson.

"There's a Negro just moved in across the street," one was told.

"No," was the contradiction, "that's Bob Gibson."

THERE ARE those who think it remarkable Bob Gibson can throw that hard, handicapped as he is by the chip on his pitching shoulder.

Others decide it is an advantage.

"Some guys load the ball with spit," notes another player. "Others load it with hate."

He neither hates nor likes.

He accepts the challenge, the records, the notoriety, with a shrug. He takes his ability to throw a baseball for granted.

"I AM not proud of that ability," he says simply. "It was a gift."

The same donor, he notes, who gave him the color of his skin.

Gibson's advantage lies not in his right arm but in his two feet. He RUNS the first few feet of the 60½ from the mound to the plate as he pitches.

BY THE time Bob Gibson lets go of the ball with his long arm and longer legs, it has only about 53 feet left to cover.

Gib is so close to the batter when he releases the ball he can smell what he had for breakfast.

He looks like he's running in for a bunt on every pitch. It's fortunate he's abundantly reflexed, otherwise he'd have holes in him.

ROBERTO Clemente broke his leg with a line drive back to the mound last year. Where Gibson ends up after a pitch, he has to guard not only against the ball, but also the bat.

If this World Series has done nothing else, it has laid to rest the ghost of John McGraw and other nasty-tempered martinets of the dugout, the "Stick-it-in-his-ear!" or "You-get-this-busher-out-or-get-on-the-bus-to-Spokane-next-year!" type of leader.

THE KIND the press describes as "fiery."

The only thing fiery about Cardinals manager Red Schoendienst is his hair.

Detroit's Mayo Smith treats his ball club as if he were trying to sell them a new car, a sort of "Gee, fellows, serious!" type of relationship.

YOU WON'T see either Red or Mayo running out to scream at the umps every other play, or jumping up and down on their caps.

Mayo acts like the head abbot in a friary. Schoendienst wouldn't raise his voice if he saw a trantula crawling up your leg.

If you came in late, you couldn't tell by his expression whether he just won the pennant—or just lost it.

NEITHER manager would stoop to pasting clippings on the locker room door, or trying to convince his charges the other guys spent all their time poisoning Pablum or gassing canaries.

They take the position baseball is no more emotional than accounting, that it's just another white-collar job, a game, not a war.

They leave fines to traffic judges, curfews to the shore patrol.

THEY WATCH a game like titled Englishmen at a cricket match.

They have no flair for self promotion. You can understand every word they say; they don't criticize their players in print.

They make Dr. Schweitzer look cantankerous, and Hubert Humphrey, pessimistic.

THEY ARE on camera so little, they can go on "What's My Line" unguessed before an unmasked panel.

WITH MUDDY SHOES

Rattlesnake Island lies just west of Middle Bass Island in Lake Erie. It is 85 acres large and a veritable paradise for sportsmen. The entire island is owned by four businessmen from Port Clinton.

Many years ago, a man by the name of Bennett built great, brawny log lodges in amongst the trees. The main lodge — complete with a gigantic fireplace — will sleep about 20 people.

THE SMALLER lodge would probably keep the dew off another 10 people. The dining lodge is massive with beamed ceiling and another fireplace. The nearby lawns are kept nicely tailored.

The great cement dockage will accommodate 10 large boats. There is a landing strip at the north edge of the acreage. The shoreline is a string of great chunks of limestone, tumbled there as if by the Green Giant.

No matter where you are, the sound of the surf is always in your ears. We arrived at Rattlesnake on time, thanks to the new taxi service set up this summer by John Ladd.

HE DOCKS on the mainland at Catawba Point. Ask for him by name. He's young, eager and willing to please. The trip on the Laddie took just 20 minutes but was into the teeth of a north wind and the spendrift that it blew up.

The freshet had water along the shoreline stirred up too much to allow good smallmouth bass fishing so we explored Rattlesnake.

We found — to our amazement — that there was a herd of Barbary sheep on the island, put there years ago and kept at about 10 or 12 in number.

ANOTHER bonus was the great flocks of pheasants that scurried away wherever we went. There must be thousands on the island.

After a delicious lunch, our host for the weekend — Glenn Lau, the famous Erie fishing guide, took us on a fishing trip. We hunted high and low for smallmouths but to no avail.

Determined to show us Erie fishing, Lau took us to a reef where the perch tried their best to crowd us right out of the boat.

IN TWO hours, six of us had filled a 55-gallon drum with eight to 12 inch perch.

For those of you who are willing to look around, there is still excellent perch fishing on Erie.

AFTER THE fall business meeting of the Outdoor Writers of Ohio was over, we once more boarded Glenn's charter boat and he took us for a sight-seeing trip that included the vineyards of North Bass, Perry's Monument and a general tour of the whole chain of islands.

I have known Glenn Lau for nearly 10 years but this was my first chance to see him at work. He is truly King of Fishermen in the Erie.

Should you ever need proof that there are fish just off Ohio's northern shores, line up a date with Lau in care of the Port Clinton Post Office.

YOU'LL BE greatly surprised (as I was) to find such exciting sport right here at home.

Motors 'Comeback' Nips Franklin In Flag Dandy

Kitsmiller Motors charged from behind Sunday to nip Franklin Sports Center, 19-18, and show the only unbeaten record in the Columbus Flag Football League.

Kitsmiller trailed, 18-13, in the waning minutes of the final period when Vince VanHorn recovered a Franklin fumble on the latter's seven yard line.

THE LOOP'S offensive leader Ken Ramsey then clicked on a seven-yard aerial to VanHorn to assure the narrow Kitsmiller victory.

Ramsey, who rushed for another TD besides hitting on four-of-10 aerials and rushing for 99 yds., got plenty of support from Larry Gornall (72 rushing yds. in four carries, plus key PAT) and an alert Kitsmiller defense.

VanHorn gobbled up three Franklin fumbles while Bill Rickers picked off three enemy passes besides covering a bobble.

KEITH FRAZIER tallied Kitsmiller's other TD on an 80-yd. kickoff return.

Randy Walker, subbing for injured QB Joe Biddle, threw for all three Franklin tallies — hitting Joe Hummer (7 yds.), Larry Guglielmi (40 yds.) and Joe Theado (15 yds.).

Besides his 119 aerial yards (hit 9-of-18), Walker also rushed for 110 yds.

BELL-HAVEN'S Big Red chalked up its second straight victory (after three opening defeats) with a sound 39-0 thumping of Bon-Aire Lounge.

A 20-point second period showed the way as Paul Hufnagel ran for two tallies (one a 42-yd. interception return) and QB Gary Martin clicked on three aerial six-pointers.

Terry Robb (97 rushing yds., four receptions for 75 yds.) pulled in a 45-yd. pitch while Martin hit Dave Adams and Bruce Smith on short scoring tosses.

IN ALL, Martin hit on 9-of-17 passes for 119 yds. Nick Cooper tallied the other Big Red TD with a 15-yd. interception return.

Elsewhere, Tom Yinger's three TDs paced Berwick Party House to a 38-0 victory over winless Local 189.

BOB MANTONYA (two) and Bob Ishemal recorded other Berwick six-pointers.

If you haven't driven a Ford lately, you're one of the reasons we built this one!

The '69 Ford is the car that's creating all the talk. And when a car packs crowds into our showrooms . . . and sets sales records this fast . . . you ought to know the reasons.

The '69 Ford hugs the road with a track as wide as Cadillac . . . smooths your ride with a longer wheelbase than Chevrolet. This '69 LTD is designed to ride quieter than the LTD that was quieter than Rolls-Royce. The 1969 Ford has more front headroom, legroom and trunk space than cars costing hundreds of dollars more. With a completely redesigned front passenger compartment so spacious everybody calls it the Front Room. Yet even with a longer wheelbase, the 1969 Ford is easier to handle, easier to park.

This is a new luxury-size Ford at a very popular price. Big. Strong. Quiet. A great road car. It could change the way you think about a lot of cars. Drive one at your Ford Dealer's now.

COLUMBUS DAY

Honor Saturday, October 12, 1968 In Columbus, Ohio

Columbus Day, 1968. It is a day of jubilantion for this largest city in the world named for the man who is credited with discovering this great, growing continent. It is a day for parades, for festivities, for beauty queens. A day for this great city to proudly show itself off to the world.

But it is also a day for the city and its people to look ahead to their glowing future. Within a few years we will live in a metropolis of a million persons. We may well be Ohio's largest city. We must be ready for it. Already, the city's leaders are at work preparing for that future. Bright new buildings dot our growing skyline — and many more are to come. Professional planners are working to assure orderly growth — to avoid the pitfalls which have turned growth into problems in so many other cities.

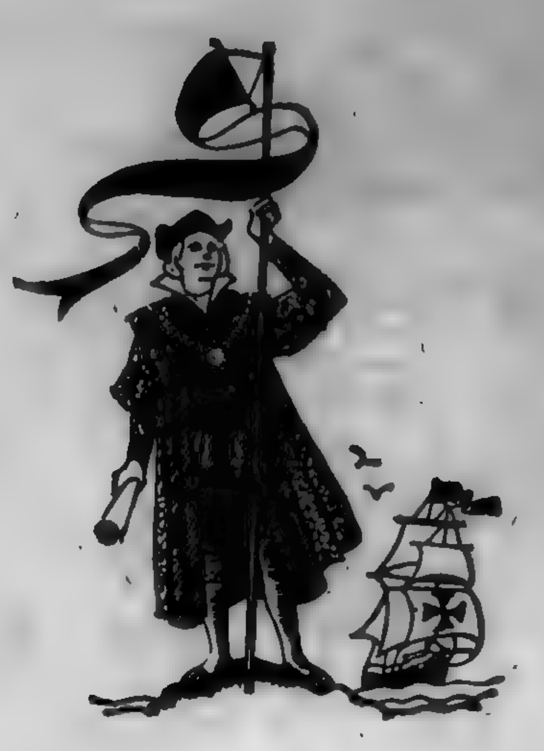
COLUMBUS DAY



Honor Saturday, October 12, 1968 In Columbus, Ohio

Our leaders look to our riverfront and seebeauty and usefulness. With the Avenue of the Flags as its start, the city works toward a goal of turning the riverfron into the crown jewel of this sparkling city. Statehouse Square offers its quiet grass and friendly trees to the weary businessman or shopper. Market-Mohawk booms with new growth. Our suburban areas prosper and grow. And new programs work to revive those areas which have begun to show the ravages of time.

Columbus will grow. But it cannot grow without the help of its most important resource — its people. With the cooperation of all of our citizens, this city will reach its rightful place in the Sun.

McCoy Returns To Desert Inn

This past Saturday, a night club engagement ended.

That happens frequently as nightclub acts come and go.

But this ending was a little different, in that Dave McCoy was the entertainer and the club was the ACT IV in Detroit, Mich.

For an entertainer, in the business just two months this Saturday, Dave McCoy has made his own headlines, fans and fame by his depth in vocalizing.

While in Detroit, McCoy received an offer to host a variety show for radio and has been signed to perform at The Diplomat in Florida later this season.

Columbus found him, has treated him well, and fans are ecstatic that he is performing at the Desert Inn, now through Saturday.

Even if you are a skeptic . . . all the critics can't be wrong and I personally guarantee a very special evening's entertainment at the Desert Inn.

'HOW SWEET IT IS'

Eve Bruce and Bea Bradley tower over Gino Conforti in a sequence from "How Sweet It Is," now showing at the Beechwold and Academy Theaters.

Dear Off Broadway:

Dear Off Broadway Theatre:

It has been six months since I last visited your home at 2210 Summit St. The time flew by, but last Friday night your long-awaited return was obviously welcomed in a manner deserving a theater offering such as yours . . . with echoing laughter.

You've changed, just as time would have you. The changes are a tribute to what you represent . . . fine quality and taste while poking fun at American social standards, politics, institutions and life.

Then there is the new show, "You're Pulling My Leg," packed with downright hilarious skits and blackouts that is far better than last year's material.

Your new stars shine with talent. Andrew Amic-Angelo is a wondrous mimic/actor. His "Tiny Tim" portrayal is a study in exactness. Jack Gardner has a voice that just won't falter. I kept waiting for him to croon a love tune.

Joanna Lawrence has perfect timing. "The Chess Story" skit was a success because of her timing, this skit could have bombed. Her darling facial expressions are a sparkling contribution to the show.

Rosella Shepard, pretty as a picture, moves gracefully and, at times, artistically measures above the cast.

Casey's direction is phenominal. His creative mind and ability to know how material must be delivered to be funny is the foundation of your success.

Joanne Jameson is no stranger to your stage. In this show, she excells There are no flaws in her performance. She is a professional in every phase, dancing, singing and acting. What a pixie!

David Lewis' musical touch at the piano forms the frame for your house of distinctive entertainment.

So, Off Broadway Theater, you've opened the professional theater season with a delightful show, "You're Pulling My Leg." The key to the continuity of the show is the blackouts . . . pardon my saying so, but they are real gassers, every one!

There are so many contributing factors to the show, the staging by Jack Eddleman and Kirby Wyatt and Phillip Warner handling set and lighting design . . . and so much more that I could rave for weeks and probably will, but I have run out of space, so until I get back, I will be saying . . .

What a whale of a laughter machine you've created! Welcome back.

A Still Twittering Visitor,
Claudia Elkins.

Around Town

Conducted By

ROLAND BUNKER

Nightly in the Harvester room of the Olentangy Inn Motel is an entertaining trio. Billed as the Kathy and Don Trio, Kathy is on vocals, Don is working at the organ and Bill Pierson is with the drum sticks.

The trio is commercial, hard working and enjoyable. They do a good job in mixing up their tunes. Offering an unusual variety of music, the Kathy and Don Trio does not wear thin. This is one group you can sit and listen to all night.

One of the main reasons for the success of the Kathy and Don Trio is the gal vocalist, KATHY. She is terrific. This gal is a singer's singer. Employing techniques which are highly unusual for a singer, Kathy just doesn't sing pretty with a nice style, she uses her voice as a musical instrument.

When Kathy sings a song, she doesn't play around. She jumps in and works it over for all it's worth, be it either ballad or jump tune. Her style, interpretation and tonal quality belong to Kathy and no one else. Added to her vocal ability is fine stage presentation and showmanship.

Of course for a singer to wail like Kathy, she must have good accompaniment. Both Don and Bob do a good job in this area. Don plays well. However, he shows little imagination and taste in his solo work. He is much too loud at the double keyboard.

Also, Don's organ stylings are nothing unusual. Sounding more like a solid "rock" type musician, Don would do well to add some sophistication to his talents.

Bavarian Haus

Located in German Village is an intimate little restaurant, the Bavaria Haus. The business is just over a year old, but the building and many of the fixtures go way back when. The house in which the restaurant operates is over a hundred years old.

The bar was built by the Bott Brothers Bowling, Billiards and Bar Supply Company in 1870. This was a well known firm in Columbus in those days.

Manager Paul Siders said that the bar was found in an abandoned hardware store in Millfield, O.

The Bavaria Haus, which seats 85 people, features German as well as American food for noon day lunches and evening dinners. Open from 11 a.m. until midnight, the restaurant's kitchen and its menu was created by a famous, retired German chef, Otto Mueller.

At age 74, he still oversees the preparation of all the food. Mueller, as a young boy, started out as a kitchen helper and worked his way up to chef at the old Seuers Restaurant which was located next to the Neil House, in the late 1890's.

In an expansion program which is hoped to be completed by Thanksgiving, the Bavaria Haus will soon double its seating capacity. Four party rooms and a wine cellar will be included. The expansion will be to the north of the present building, and will be all underground with parking on top. A tunnel will connect the two downstairs rooms.

The Bavaria Haus' popularity is growing. After one visit to the quaint, little German Restaurant, it's a sure bet you will return often.

Skipping Around Town

Skipping Around Town . . . The beautiful and talented Arliss is still pleasing the people at Max's Steak House . . . The new show, "You're Pulling My Leg," is doing great at the Off Broadway Theater . . . If you missed the Andy Launer night at the Imperial House North last Friday night, you really missed a wing ding affair. But you can still enjoy the music nightly. Joni Jayne, the talented songstress is now at the El Diavolo Lounge. This place has to be a must on your entertainment diet . . . You still have three nights to see "Plaza Suite," the smash comedy hit at the Hartman. If you happen to be up north, don't forget Ann-Ton's for an evening of good dining. Closing this week is a great movie, "A Lovely Way To Die," at the Northland and Eastland Cinemas. As you can see, there is plenty of entertainment offered Around Town. Be sure to take advantage of it.

LAWN CARE

LAWN RENOVATION IS A MUST FOR GOOD LAWNS

Removal of thatch should be done every year

Catching your grass clippings will not solve the problem. Amazingly grass clippings only amount to one third of the problem. Dead roots and dead grass stalks cause most of the thatch. Old grass is constantly dying and new grass taking its place.

After we loosen the thatch with a verticutter, we vacuum the lawn. Everyone who has swept the house with a broom knows that it cannot compare with a vacuum sweeper, the same applies for removing grass clippings. Raking or using a lawn broom sweeper removes only about 30-40% of the grass while a vacuum sweeper removes 90-95%.

The lawn should be cut first and fertilized after thatching.

All lawns are given a free soil test.

As usual our services cover:
Cutting and Trimming Lawns, Fertilizing, and the Control of Weeds, Insects, and Diseases.

When You Buy At Chevington Woods You Buy It All!

Welcome to CHEVINGTON WOODS . . . a brand new community loaded with all the extras you've ever dreamed of. Located just over the Fairfield County Line, you'll have clean air and rural living at its very best — yet you're only 15 safe minutes from downtown Columbus . . . via I-70.

In CHEVINGTON WOODS, you'll enjoy country club living . . . from gas coach lights at each driveway . . . to a large swimming pool planned for the use of the community. A private recreation area — with acres of mature beech trees — will be just for the kids and two beautiful golf courses are just minutes away for Mom and Dad.

Although the Fairfield County real estate tax rate is unbelievably low . . . your children will have all the advantages of an excellent Pickerington school system. You'll also appreciate the low utility rates along with having natural gas and Columbus telephone service.

Whatever on earth you're looking for — you'll find it at CHEVINGTON WOODS.

National 4-H Week Being Observed Here

This is National 4-H Week, and is being observed across the nation by more than three million 4-H youth, a half million volunteer leaders, thousands of professional workers and friends of 4-H.

In Franklin County, National 4-H Week will be observed with a County Wide 4-H Achievement Program Oct. 10, a 4-H window display contest and special recognition at the local 4-H club level, according to Franz Arthur Strong, County Extension Agent, 4-H.

One of the advances in 4-H project work has been more emphasis on science, experimentation, and efficient farm and home management. Personal development and leadership have also been accelerated.

Introduction to 4-H via television is another advance with more than 10,000 youth enrolling in a 4-H TV Emergency Preparedness series in Franklin County this past spring.

The 4-H youth are engaged in projects or activities that cover just about every home situation, personal goal and ability. Many programs carry awards for outstanding achievement such as home economics, health, safety, field crop science, conservation, photography and veterinary science.

Support comes from private industry in the form of scholarship, educational trips, reference books and technical assistance. The County and State Extension Service is the main stay of the overall 4-H program.

The slogan for National 4-H week is: "Join 4-H . . . A World of Opportunity."

The Annual Franklin County 4-H Achievement Program is scheduled to be held 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 10, at the Agriculture Administration Building, Ohio State University.

The achievement program is to recognize 4-H members and 4-H clubs which had outstanding achievements during the 1968 4-H year.

The program for the evening will include a musical program by the "New 100" plus youth "'Up With People" sing out group from Hilliard, special demonstrations and award presentations.

All 4-H members, parents and friends of 4-H are welcome to attend.

Four-H is for all youth 10 years of age or in the fourth grade and under 19 years as of Jan. 1, 1969. Strong reports that 4-H clubs are now being organized for the new year.

According to Strong, place of residence is not a barrier to 4-H membership. Ohio now offers more than 130 different projects with a large percentage of them being adaptable to all youth regardless of residency.

Adult advisors volunteer a few hours a month to 4-H clubs to help teach youth a specific educational project as well as to give them an opportunity for leadership experiences.

All interested youth and adults should contact the Franklin County Extension Service, Room 317, Old Post Office Building or call 469-5595.

'Employ Handicapped Week' Under Way

Because this week is "National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week" throughout the nation, the Goodwill Industries of Columbus is urging local business and industry employers to take a look at "so-called" handicapped workers when filling job openings.

"We ask employers to just give the handicapped worker a chance to show what he can do," commented Kenneth A. Erwin, executive director of the Columbus Goodwill.

"Handicapped individuals want very much to be independent," Erwin pointed out, "and they'll prove it, if given a chance."

Art Gallery Features New Works For Loan, Purchase

An exhibition of "New Selections from the Collectors Gallery" opened Oct. 11 and will run through Oct. 27 at the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts, 480 E. Broad St.

Approximately 200 pieces of art including oils, watercolors, graphics and small sculpture will be available for loan or purchase.

A number of Bellows lithographs will be available for purchase only.

Sophie Kerr, curator of the "Collectors Gallery," feels that although the majority of art work is classified as contemporary, there are many different trends represented, presenting a market to every type of individual.

The art work was obtained from 11 New York galleries.

Any painting may be purchased by a member of the general public but loans are limited to Gallery members.

Purchasing arrangements may be made starting Oct. 11, but in order to maintain the exhibition, paintings may not be removed until Oct. 28 and 29.

For further information contact: Chris Kittredge, Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts, 480 E. Broad St., Columbus.

The Gallery has received a long term loan of 25 modern master works from the Solomon R. Guggenheim Museum.

The exhibition may be viewed from 12-5 p.m. daily.

Cities—

grated education; discourage segregation by making suburban developers sign preconstruction open housing agreements as a prerequisite to all public services — Raphael Nystrand, assistant professor of education at Ohio State University.

- More big parks and recreation facilities near large cities — Mayor Sensenbrenner.
- Movement toward more flexible tax base and toward school fund distribution based on community needs — OSU Professor Walter G. Hack.

Many of the proposals for revitalization of cities brought before the Urban Affairs Committee involved some consideration of greater state financing — a fact which led Sen. Celabrese to describe some suggestions as "impossible dreams."

Dream or not, the reality of urban problems, remains as witnessed by the experts' testimony.

Company Unveils Replica

East Broad Street travelers will find another historical replica gracing the downtown area as of today.

An original sculpture of Christopher Columbus' flagship, the Santa Maria, has been erected in the plaza of The Columbus Mutual Life Insurance Company, 303 E. Broad St., as part of the down Columbus beautification program.

The sculpture was unveiled by Miss Columbus, Barbara Jean Johnson, to open the Columbus Day USA activities.

Aptly titled, "Onward to New Horizons," the 300 pound antique bronze casting was designed by noted New York artist and sculptor Ralph J. Menconi. Menconi has given the sculpture a sense of forward movement from any angle that it is viewed.

The original sculpture was executed in plasteline over a steel skeleton to the actual dimensions of the final bronze casting. It was accomplished by spraying liquified bronze into molds, and reinforcing each section with a resin and fiberglass substructure.

The six foot, six inch tall "Onward to New Horizons" rests on a 5000 pound arch which extends 12 feet above ground giving the work a total height of over 18 feet.

Student selection is based on academic excellence, extracurricular activities, physical standards, results of college entrance examination boards, personal qualities and leadership potential.

Since part of the scholarship selection is based on the College Entrance Examination Board (CEEB) Tests, it is essential that high school students who intend to compete for one of these awards take the tests this fall.

Madison Board Tightens Its Belt As Funds Diminish

Belt-tightening was the byword when Madison Local Board of Education met this week.

The cut in funds anticipated from Public Law 874 at a time when the general fund is near depletion set the stage.

THE ECONOMIES approved included the position the board would not, for the balance of the year, approve employe attendance at out-of-county meetings which involve board expense (substitute teacher pay and expense reimbursement) and direction to administrators not to initiate requisition for supplies (from coal to text books) through Dec. 31.

With similar thinking, the board turned down the request by Eastland Vocational School for the district to provide one or two work stations in the cafeteria or custodial work for the Occupational Work Experience program at Eastland. Next year, when and if financial skies clear, the matter may be reconsidered.

However, as it didn't involve a tug on the purse strings, the Madison Board okayed Eastland's request for use of Madison buses for field trips.

EASTLAND will pay the driver's salary and 12 cents a mile which is a fraction above Madison operating costs.

While emphasizing the fact it does not and will not endorse the idea of a Metropolitan School District, Madison decided to participate in the Metropolitan Cooperative Educational Council.

It is believed that individual districts can, through the council — without losing autonomy — provide better educational service for all youth in Franklin County.

AREAS IN which the cooperative action is anticipated to be especially fruitful involve provision of facilities for the mentally or physically handicapped, purchasing, transportation, vocational facilities, data processing, summer programs and insurance benefits.

Another cooperative venture the local board is looking favorably upon is participation through the Central Ohio Educational Research Council, Inc., with a research project developing at Battelle.

The project will be concerned with problem solving and teaching students to do critical thinking.

HOWEVER, the response to an invitation by the State Department of Education to take part in a research survey was "We are very sorry, but."

This research involves surveying students in grades seven and 12 concerning "student unrest, drug abuse and difficulties in sex adjustment."

The board action is probably fortunate, as it is quite possible parents of 12 and 13-year-olds may have some doubts of the value of a survey determining — for example—their pre-adolescent's views on adultery.

SUPT. PHIL Williams reported to the board that a hearing is scheduled at 10 a.m. Nov. 13, on the proposed annexation of 800 plus acres to the city of Columbus.

The land lies mostly north and west of Brice with 700 acres in the local district and the balance in the Reynoldsburg School District.

Although the hearing deals only with annexation for municipal purposes, the board plans to go on record as opposing the proposal as a forerunner of annexation for school purposes. The land is currently undeveloped.

A POLICY concerning high school credit for service in the Armed Forces was studied with an eye for adoption at the November meeting.

According to the proposed policy, as high as half of credits necessary for graduation may be granted for attendance at service schools, correspondence courses and subject matter examinations, with amount of credit determined by the high school credit.

Furthermore, veterans of World War II or the Korean Campaign and those inducted into the Armed Forces on or after January 1, 1955, may receive a diploma by successfully completing the five General Educational Development tests with four credits earned in an approved high school. Two of them must be earned at the high school issuing the diploma.

IN ADDITION to these four unit demands one unit in American hisory earned by school attendance, by correspondence through the United States Armed Forces Institute, by tutor, or by passing a test administered by the school or the USAFI.

Under no circumstances shall a high school diploma be issued ahead of the members of a class in which the applicant would have conventionally graduated.

Other business included transfer of 15 students from Brice to Madison to alleviate overcrowding, extension of completion date of Madison and Dunloe to Oct. 21, increasing insurance by about $500,000 to cover new construction and report that damage was mostly "ransacking" when Asbury Elementary was broken into by elementary age boys the week of Oct. 5-6.

Corporate Hints Out

A deletion made to a recommendation of the Hamilton Township Citizen's Steering Committee Monday night unveiled a massive annexation plan reportedly underway by the City of Columbus.

The Committee had asked the Hamilton School Board that Obetz residents be assured that, if the Obetz Elementary is abandoned as such, a new facility will be built "north of 270."

AT THE INSTIGATION of Board President Bill Lares, the specific location was taken out.

"We don't want to build a school in Columbus, do we?" he asked.

According to persons queried after the meeting, Lares was referring to the fact that Columbus plans to annex the acreage now in Hamilton Township north of the outerbelt and lying between the C & O Railroad tracks and High Street, are beginning to take shape.

SEVERAL freeholders with property critically located (including that of Lares and township trustee Ernie Grabel) are reported to have consented to go along with the annexation and at least one major housing development is already on the planning boards.

The fairly detailed information available indicates that 1500 apartment units are slated for acreage south of Obetz Road that is controlled by the Schottenstein interests.

Hamilton Faces Threat Of School Shutdown

Summer vacation may come early for Hamilton Township students this year—and graduation in August.

This alarming fact was made crystal clear Monday night when the board adopted Supt. John Savel's recommendation that schools be closed when the money runs out — predictably April — unless voter approval of the 13 mill operating levy is obtained.

SURPRISINGLY, the board, the administration and members of the Citizens Steering Committee who were present agreed that unless additional revenue is in sight, schools cannot even "limp through" the school year.

The situation is aggravated by the cutback in anticipated federal funds announced last month and complicated by the fact that teachers' salaries are protected by contract.

At present, the program calls for a vigorous attempt to pass millage in November.

SHOULD THE EFFORT fail, a special election will be called in December.

If the issue is voted down at both elections, the board can keep the doors open through March by borrowing on a short term basis until an advance on taxes can be collected and federal money received in February.

However, these are only stopgap measures and won't carry the district past March.

IF SUCH A CRISIS develops, the levy would again be placed before the public at the May primaries, and its success would allow schools to reopen and seniors to complete graduation requirements before next Setpember.

Although considerable reluctance was shown to wholesale borrowing of money, the consensus was that the board and administration have a moral obligation to keep the schools open as long as possible, even under adverse circumstances.

It is recognized that, without the proposed millage passed during the current calendar year, all expenditures except salaries and maintenance will have to be terminated Jan. 1.

BEFORE SAVEL presented his bombshell, the Rev. Charles Titko of the Steering Committee presented its recommendations to the board, which were also later accepted.

These included:

- Establishment of a School District Advisory Committee, balanced geographically and by interest.
- A study of vocational education — its place in the curriculum and the feasibility of association with Eastland.
- Informing the community of steps that will be necessary if the levy fails.
- A re-evaluation of the Obetz building and assurance to villagers that a new elementary will be built in the town if the old building proves impractical to remodel.
- Consideration of nine possible cuts in expenditures regardless of the outcome of the 13-mill levy.

These cuts are in the areas of position of administrative assistant, administrative equipment including telephones, expendable classroom supplies (with parents assuming the expense of workbooks, etc.), extended service, sick leave, use of substitutes and field trips.

WITH THE BOARD and administration becoming increasingly defensive on implications by members of the Steering Committee that the present crisis rests on their shoulders, Junior High Principal Vansant restored amity with a factual review of the situation.

Rather than point an accusing finger, he pointed out that, while an excellent school system has been built during the past decade, enrollment has increased three and one-half times.

During this growth, the tax duplicate has increased only from 13 to 19 million and taxes raised by only four mills.

HE FURTHER pointed out that 60 percent of Ohio schools are in the same rocking boat as Hamilton, and at least one district has already closed its doors.

Although the crisis to be faced if the levy fails dominated the meeting, time was taken to adopt a negotiation agreement with the Hamilton Local School Employees Association (the bargaining agent of non-certificated personnel) that has been pending several months.

In recognizing the Association, agreement was reached and the board will negotiate with regard to all matters of wages, hours and working conditions and will use mutually agreed upon channels for appeal in the event of impasse.

OTHER PERSONNEL matters included accepting the resignation of Mrs. Carol Losinske, fifth grade teacher at South, and Mrs. Mary Sansenbacker, high school English teacher, effective Dec. 20.

Employed were Mrs. Hilda Coffenberry as a kindergarten and Lester Doran as a junior high Industrial Arts teacher. The latter replaces Robert Slabaugh, who is on leave of absence through the end of the 1968-69 school year.

Other significant action included reaffirmation by the Board that it still desires an "evaluation of policies and procedures of the Hamilton Local School District in regard to the Board of Education, the staff and the administration" as requested last June.

AT THAT TIME, illness of a staff member of OEA precluded the study being made, but the Professional Rights and Responsibilities Commission is now ready to reconsider the request.

Two board resolutions that may not be relished by the faculty are the curtailment of

'Operation Success' Ready For Action

"Operation Success" will go into action Monday at 7:30 p.m. at a rally at the Groveport Elementary School Auditorium.

More than 400 people are expected to attend the meeting called by the Madison PTA-PTO Council to distribute information to be sent into the district concerning the proposed 8.5 mill operating levy.

WITH PUPILS on full day sessions for the second time in four years, school officials warn a pending crisis, triggered by an annual enrollment increase of 500 students, can be avoided only with additional revenue.

With 30 students in each classroom, classroom operations average $13,701.30 per unit.

WITH 16 additional rooms necessary each year to house the influx of pupils (enrollment has almost tripled since 1960) operating costs go up almost a quarter of a million dollars every year.

Although Madison's costs to educate each child are lower than 12 of the other 17 districts in Franklin County, it will be impossible to maintain the current comprehensive program without additional millage.

ACCORDING TO Seelenbinder, the only alternative to additional income is a curtailment of programs.

Uninformed Vote Falls Upon Kids

"Don't make the students bear the brunt of uninformed voting."

That is the key note this week from Warren Barnett, publicity chairman of the Steering Committee of Hamilton Township.

Four meetings have been set up to discuss the 13-mill school operating levy which will appear on the November ballot which voters are urged to attend.

"Get the facts, accept your responsibility; vote in favor of the operating levy," the plea reads.

The meeting dates (all scheduled at 7:30 p.m.) are Hamilton South, Monday, Oct. 21; Obetz Elementary, Thursday, Oct. 24; Hamilton High School, Monday, Oct. 28 and

Board Wins $3,620,986

Madison Local School District had a beautiful golden egg laid at its door step this week.

It was not only beautiful, it was big — to the extent of $3,620,986.

WHEN THE State Board of Education met Monday, it tapped nine Ohio districts to share the $17,500,000 remaining in the $50,000,000 fund set up three years ago to provide State Building Assistance to relatively hard-up districts. (Priority was given those with bonding capacity limited in comparison with construction needs).

Madison was the only Central Ohio district within the high priority group and its bonanza was second in size only to that granted a Montgomery County school system.

Madison's original request for $6,000,000 was trimmed when the State, in an effort to allow its available funds to serve a larger number of schools, figured need upon a two-year rather than a five-year basis.

According to Phil Williams, Madison superintendent, this change in priorities eliminated funds for a new junior high school which was included in the application.

HOWEVER, THE grant will provide 16-room elementaries on the Ohde site and at an undetermined site in Blacklick Estates and allow the present junior high to be converted to its final phase as a senior high facility. (This will release the Groveport Madison building for junior high use).

The state funds will also allow construction of multi-purpose classrooms and kitchens at Madison, Dunloe and Asbury Elementaries.

The very small catch in the deal is that to take advantage of the "golden egg." Madison taxpayers will have to bond themselves to capacity ($279,000) which amounts, according to Williams, to something less than half a mill and pledge an additional half mill for 22 year as partial repayment of the grant.

THIS MILLAGE must be approved within 120 days after the grant is formalized (date anticipated to be Nov. 1) or the next man down the totem pole is given first refusal. (In this case, Hamilton Local was No. 10 on the list).

According to R. Jay Melich, supervisor in the Ohio School Building Division, voters have never turned down the assistance offered during the history of the program.

Walnut Hill WSCS Plans Fall Dinner

Supporters Band Together To Promote Tax Increase

By ROBERT TENENBAUM
Managing Editor

Last In A Series

An unlikely mixture of Democrats and Republicans, businessmen and laborers, the wealthy and the poor, are plugging passage of the proposed increase in the city income tax on the Nov. 5 ballot.

Mayor Sensenbrenner's administration has managed to put together a wide base of support for his proposal and the spearhead of the drive has now been taken over by the Forward Columbus Committee, a coalition of major groups working for the increase.

Forward Columbus is dealing with four major areas of concern:

—The need for more policemen, firemen and fire-fighting facilities to bring Columbus up to near the strength it should already have.

—The need for more sanitation routes to keep pace with the rapid growth of the city.

—The need for great expansion in the city's recreation programs to keep up with the increase in leisure time and population.

—The need for a lot more money to meet the payments the state has strapped on local police and firemen's pension funds.

The pension fund mess is important in consideration of the tax increase but it is perhaps the most difficult area to explain to the average voter.

Under a new state law, cities must begin to share a proportionate amount of the contributions to the new statewide pension fund. Prior to passage of the law, a portion of the city property tax — .6 mills — was earmarked for the fund.

The new law not only drastically increases the city's yearly fund contribution, but the legislature also slapped the cities with an accrued obligation—a backlog of payments due from past years. In other words, an increase in city income is required simply to meet the city's obligations under state law.

But it is the three other issues — police and fire protection, sanitation and recreation — that are being hit the hardest.

What the city and Forward Columbus are fighting is not organized opposition. To date, there is none. Support has come from the Chamber of Commerce, the Development Committee, many business groups and many civic groups.

The battle is against the voters' natural reluctance to tax themselves further — especially in a year when everyone's hand seems to be out for the tax dollar.

They hope to win that battle by laying it on the line, by convincing the voters that the huge bulk of the tax increase will be spent on the three major areas in which the need is the greatest.

They angrily refute charges that the tax increase is not really necessary — that it could be passed next year without any great damage.

Their argument is that to wait until next year would be to attempt to solve a problem in the midst of a crisis rather than trying to avert the crisis in the first place.

They have support in that contention from City Auditor John Price — a Republican — who says his estimates show the city will not now be able to meet its budget for next year.

Price sums it up simply.

"We need it," he says.

Proponents are hoping they can convince the voters of that need.

R. David Thomas and Robert Barney of Colonel Sanders Kentucky Fried Chicken organization present a $1,500 check to Richard C. Sensenbrenner, chairman of the drive to send the West High Band to the Rose Bowl.

West Band Drive Goes City-Wide

The campaign to send the West High Band to the Tournament of Roses parade got a big boost Tuesday when R. David Thomas, regional director of Colonel Sanders Kentucky Fried Chicken organization presented a $1,500 check to Richard C. Sensenbrenner, chairman of the "investment-in-youth" campaign.

Thomas said the gift emphasized his organization's effort as "another example of the area business community's belief in the thousands of responsible young men and women of this community and their fine citizenship."

Sensenbrenner said support was pouring in from the business community, private citizens and even other area high school bands and called it "Youth Power and cooperation in its best sense."

He predicted the special concert to be held Nov. 12 at the Fairgrounds Coliseum would put the drive over the top. Free tickets and a certificate signed by Mayor Sensenbrenner and Governor Rhodes may be obtained for a $10 contribution. Contributions may be made on the coupon below.

National 4-H Week Being Observed Here

This is National 4-H Week, and is being observed across the nation by more than three million 4-H youth, a half million volunteer leaders, thousands of professional workers and friends of 4-H.

In Franklin County, National 4-H Week will be observed with a County Wide 4-H Achievement Program Oct. 10, a 4-H window display contest and special recognition at the local 4-H club level, according to Franz Arthur Strong, County Extension Agent, 4-H.

One of the advances in 4-H project work has been more emphasis on science, experimentation, and efficient farm and home management. Personal development and leadership have also been accelerated.

Introduction to 4-H via television is another advance with more than 10,000 youth enrolling in a 4-H TV Emergency Preparedness series in Franklin County this past spring.

The 4-H youth are engaged in projects or activities that cover just about every home situation, personal goal and ability. Many programs carry awards for outstanding achievement such as home economics, health, safety, field crop science, conservation, photography and veterinary science.

Support comes from private industry in the form of scholarship, educational trips, reference books and technical assistance. The County and State Extension Service is the main stay of the overall 4-H program.

The slogan for National 4-H week is: "Join 4-H . . . A World of Opportunity"

The Annual Franklin County 4-H Achievement Program is scheduled to be held 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 10, at the Agriculture Administration Building, Ohio State University.

The achievement program is to recognize 4-H members and 4-H clubs which had outstanding achievements during the 1968 4-H year.

The program for the evening will include a musical program by the "New 100" plus youth "'Up With People" sing out group from Hilliard, special demonstrations and award presentations.

All 4-H members, parents and friends of 4-H are welcome to attend.

Four-H is for all youth 10 years of age or in the fourth grade and under 19 years as of Jan. 1, 1969. Strong reports that 4-H clubs are now being organized for the new year.

According to Strong, place of residence is not a barrier to 4-H membership. Ohio now offers more than 130 different projects with a large percentage of them being adaptable to all youth regardless of residency.

Adult advisors volunteer a few hours a month to 4-H clubs to help teach youth a specific educational project as well as to give them an opportunity for leadership experiences.

All interested youth and adults should contact the Franklin County Extension Service, Room 317, Old Post Office Building or call 469-5595.

'Employ Handicapped Week' Under Way

Because this week is "National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week" throughout the nation, the Goodwill Industries of Columbus is urging local business and industry employers to take a look at "so-called" handicapped workers when filling job openings.

"We ask employers to just give the handicapped worker a chance to show what he can do," commented Kenneth A. Erwin, executive director of the Columbus Goodwill.

"Handicapped individuals want very much to be independent," Erwin pointed out, "and they'll prove it, if given a chance."

Art Gallery Features New Works For Loan, Purchase

An exhibition of "New Selections from the Collectors Gallery" opened Oct. 11 and will run through Oct. 27 at the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts, 480 E. Broad St.

Approximately 200 pieces of art including oils, watercolors, graphics and small sculpture will be available for loan or purchase.

A number of Bellows lithographs will be available for purchase only.

Sophie Kerr, curator of the "Collectors Gallery," feels that although the majority of art work is classified as contemporary, there are many different trends represented, presenting a market to every type of individual.

The art work was obtained from 11 New York galleries.

Any painting may be purchased by a member of the general public but loans are limited to Gallery members.

Purchasing arrangements may be made starting Oct. 11, but in order to maintain the exhibition, paintings may not be removed until Oct. 28 and 29.

For further information contact: Chris Kittredge, Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts, 480 E. Broad St., Columbus.

The Gallery has received a long term loan of 25 modern master works from the Solomon R. Guggenheim Museum.

The exhibition may be viewed from 12-5 p.m. daily.

grated education; discourage segregation by making suburban developers sign preconstruction open housing agreements as a prerequisite to all public services — Raphael Nystrand, assistant professor of education at Ohio State University.

- More big parks and recreation facilities near large cities — Mayor Sensenbrenner.
- Movement toward more flexible tax base and toward school fund distribution based on community needs — OSU Professor Walter G. Hack.

Many of the proposals for revitalization of cities brought before the Urban Affairs Committee involved some consideration of greater state financing — a fact which led Sen. Celabrese to describe some suggestions as "impossible dreams."

Dream or not, the reality of urban problems, remains as witnessed by the experts' testimony.

Company Unveils Replica

East Broad Street travelers will find another historical replica gracing the downtown area as of today.

An original sculpture of Christopher Columbus' flagship, the Santa Maria, has been erected in the plaza of The Columbus Mutual Life Insurance Company, 303 E. Broad St., as part of the down Columbus beautification program.

The sculpture was unveiled by Miss Columbus, Barbara Jean Johnson, to open the Columbus Day USA activities.

Aptly titled, "Onward to New Horizons," the 300 pound antique bronze casting was designed by noted New York artist and sculptor Ralph J. Menconi. Menconi has given the sculpture a sense of forward movement from any angle that it is viewed.

The original sculpture was executed in plasteline over a steel skeleton to the actual dimensions of the final bronze casting. It was accomplished by spraying liquified bronze into molds and reinforcing each section with a resin and fiberglass substructure.

The six foot, six inch tall "Onward to New Horizons" rests on a 5000 pound arch which extends 12 feet above ground giving the work a total height of over 18 feet.

Madison Board Tightens Its Belt As Funds Diminish

Belt-tightening was the byword when Madison Local Board of Education met this week.

The cut in funds anticipated from Public Law 874 at a time when the general fund is near depletion set the stage.

THE ECONOMIES approved included the position the board would not, for the balance of the year, approve employe attendance at out-of-county meetings which involve board expense (substitute teacher pay and expense reimbursement) and direction to administrators not to initiate requisition for supplies (from coal to text books) through Dec. 31.

With similar thinking, the board turned down the request by Eastland Vocational School for the district to provide one or two work stations in the cafeteria or custodial work for the Occupational Work Experience program at Eastland. Next year, when and if financial skies clear, the matter may be reconsidered.

However, as it didn't involve a tug on the purse strings, the Madison Board okayed Eastland's request for use of Madison buses for field trips.

EASTLAND will pay the driver's salary and 12 cents a mile which is a fraction above Madison operating costs.

While emphasizing the fact it does not and will not endorse the idea of a Metropolitan School District, Madison decided to participate in the Metropolitan Cooperative Educational Council.

It is believed that individual districts can, through the council — without losing autonomy — provide better educational service for all youth in Franklin County.

AREAS IN which the cooperative action is anticipated to be especially fruitful involve provision of facilities for the mentally or physically handicapped, purchasing, transportation, vocational facilities, data processing, summer programs and insurance benefits.

Another cooperative venture the local board is looking favorably upon is participation through the Central Ohio Educational Research Council, Inc., with a research project developing at Battelle.

The project will be concerned with problem solving and teaching students to do critical thinking.

HOWEVER, the response to an invitation by the State Department of Education to take part in a research survey was "We are very sorry, but."

This research involves surveying students in grades seven and 12 concerning "student unrest, drug abuse and difficulties in sex adjustment."

The board action is probably fortunate, as it is quite possible parents of 12 and 13-year-olds may have some doubts of the value of a survey determining — for example—their pre-adolescent's views on adultery.

SUPT. PHIL Williams reported to the board that a hearing is scheduled at 10 a.m. Nov. 13, on the proposed annexation of 800 plus acres to the city of Columbus.

The land lies mostly north and west of Brice with 700 acres in the local district and the balance in the Reynoldsburg School District.

Although the hearing deals only with annexation for municipal purposes, the board plans to go on record as opposing the proposal as a forerunner of annexation for school purposes. The land is currently undeveloped.

A POLICY concerning high school credit for service in the Armed Forces was studied with an eye for adoption at the November meeting.

According to the proposed policy, as high as half of credits necessary for graduation may be granted for attendance at service schools, correspondence courses and subject matter examinations, with amount of credit determined by the high school credit.

Furthermore, veterans of World War II or the Korean Campaign and those inducted into the Armed Forces on or after January 1, 1955, may receive a diploma by successfully completing the five General Educational Development tests with four credits earned in an approved high school. Two of them must be earned at the high school issuing the diploma.

IN ADDITION to these four unit demands one unit in American hisory earned by school attendance, by correspondence through the United States Armed Forces Institute, by tutor, or by passing a test administered by the school or the USAFI.

Under no circumstances shall a high school diploma be issued ahead of the members of a class in which the applicant would have conventionally graduated.

Other business included transfer of 15 students from Brice to Madison to alleviate overcrowding, extension of completion date of Madison and Dunloe to Oct. 21, increasing insurance by about $500,000 to cover new construction and report that damage was mostly "ransacking" when Asbury Elementary was broken into by elementary age boys the week of Oct. 5-6.

Corporate Hints Out

A deletion made to a recommendation of the Hamilton Township Citizen's Steering Committee Monday night unveiled a massive annexation plan reportedly underway by the City of Columbus.

The Committee had asked the Hamilton School Board that Obetz residents be assured that, if the Obetz Elementary is abandoned as such, a new facility will be built "north of 270."

AT THE INSTIGATION of Board President Bill Lares, the specific location was taken out.

"We don't want to build a school in Columbus, do we?" he asked.

According to persons queried after the meeting, Lares was referring to the fact that Columbus plans to annex the acreage now in Hamilton Township north of the outerbelt and lying between the C & O Railroad tracks and High Street, are beginning to take shape.

SEVERAL freeholders with property critically located (including that of Lares and township trustee Ernie Grabel) are reported to have consented to go along with the annexation and at least one major housing development is already on the planning boards.

The fairly detailed information available indicates that 1500 apartment units are slated for acreage south of Obetz Road that is controlled by the Schottenstein interests.

Hamilton Faces Threat Of School Shutdown

Summer vacation may come early for Hamilton Township students this year—and graduation in August.

This alarming fact was made crystal clear Monday night when the board adopted Supt. John Savel's recommendation that schools be closed when the money runs out — predictably April — unless voter approval of the 13 mill operating levy is obtained.

SURPRISINGLY, the board, the administration and members of the Citizens Steering Committee who were present agreed that unless additional revenue is in sight, schools cannot even "limp through" the school year.

The situation is aggravated by the cutback in anticipated federal funds announced last month and complicated by the fact that teachers' salaries are protected by contract.

At present, the program calls for a vigorous attempt to pass millage in November.

SHOULD THE EFFORT fail, a special election will be called in December.

If the issue is voted down at both elections, the board can keep the doors open through March by borrowing on a short term basis until an advance on taxes can be collected and federal money received in February.

However, these are only stopgap measures and won't carry the district past March.

IF SUCH A CRISIS develops, the levy would again be placed before the public at the May primaries, and its success would allow schools to reopen and seniors to complete graduation requirements before next Setpember.

Although considerable reluctance was shown to wholesale borrowing of money, the consensus was that the board and administration have a moral obligation to keep the schools open as long as possible, even under adverse circumstances.

It is recognized that, without the proposed millage passed during the current calendar year, all expenditures except salaries and maintenance will have to be terminated Jan. 1.

BEFORE SAVEL presented his bombshell, the Rev. Charles Titko of the Steering Committee presented its recommendations to the board, which were also later accepted.

These included:

- Establishment of a School District Advisory Committee, balanced geographically and by interest.
- A study of vocational education — its place in the curriculum and the feasibility of association with Eastland.
- Informing the community of steps that will be necessary if the levy fails.
- A re-evaluation of the Obetz building and assurance to villagers that a new elementary will be built in the town if the old building proves impractical to remodel.
- Consideration of nine possible cuts in expenditures regardless of the outcome of the 13-mill levy.

These cuts are in the areas of position of administrative assistant, administrative equipment including telephones, expendable classroom supplies (with parents assuming the expense of workbooks, etc.), extended service, sick leave, use of substitutes and field trips.

WITH THE BOARD and administration becoming increasingly defensive on implications by members of the Steering Committee that the present crisis rests on their shoulders, Junior High Principal Vansant restored amity with a factual review of the situation.

Rather than point an accusing finger, he pointed out that, while an excellent school system has been built during the past decade, enrollment has increased three and one-half times.

During this growth, the tax duplicate has increased only from 13 to 19 million and taxes raised by only four mills.

HE FURTHER pointed out that 60 percent of Ohio schools are in the same rocking boat as Hamilton, and at least one district has already closed its doors.

Although the crisis to be faced if the levy fails dominated the meeting, time was taken to adopt a negotiation agreement with the Hamilton Local School Employees Association (the bargaining agent of non-certificated personnel) that has been pending several months.

In recognizing the Association, agreement was reached and the board will negotiate with regard to all matters of wages, hours and working conditions and will use mutually agreed upon channels for appeal in the event of impasse.

OTHER PERSONNEL matters included accepting the resignation of Mrs. Carol Losinske, fifth grade teacher at South, and Mrs. Mary Sansenbacker, high school English teacher, effective Dec. 20.

Employed were Mrs. Hilda Coffenberry as a kindergarten and Lester Doran as a junior high Industrial Arts teacher. The latter replaces Robert Slabaugh, who is on leave of absence through the end of the 1968-69 school year.

Other significant action included reaffirmation by the Board that it still desires an "evaluation of policies and procedures of the Hamilton Local School District in regard to the Board of Education, the staff and the administration" as requested last June.

AT THAT TIME, illness of a staff member of OEA precluded the study being made, but the Professional Rights and Responsibilities Commission is now ready to reconsider the request.

Two board resolutions that may not be relished by the faculty are the curtailment of

'Operation Success' Ready For Action

"Operation Success" will go into action Monday at 7:30 p.m. at a rally at the Groveport Elementary School Auditorium.

More than 400 people are expected to attend the meeting called by the Madison PTA-PTO Council to distribute information to be sent into the district concerning the proposed 8.5 mill operating levy.

WITH PUPILS on full day sessions for the second time in four years, school officials warn a pending crisis, triggered by an annual enrollment increase of 500 students, can be avoided only with additional revenue.

Ray Seelenbinder, director of public relations for Madison, points out that operating costs are currently $456.71 per pupil.

With 30 students in each classroom, classroom operations average $13,701.30 per unit.

WITH 16 additional rooms necessary each year to house the influx of pupils (enrollment has almost tripled since 1960) operating costs go up almost a quarter of a million dollars every year.

Although Madison's costs to educate each child are lower than 12 of the other 17 districts in Franklin County, it will be impossible to maintain the current comprehensive program without additional millage.

ACCORDING TO Seelenbinder, the only alternative to additional income is a curtailment of programs.

Uninformed Vote Falls Upon Kids

"Don't make the students bear the brunt of uninformed voting."

That is the key note this week from Warren Barnett, publicity chairman of the Steering Committee of Hamilton Township.

Four meetings have been set up to discuss the 13-mill school operating levy which will appear on the November ballot which voters are urged to attend.

"Get the facts, accept your responsibility; vote in favor of the operating levy," the plea reads.

The meeting dates (all scheduled at 7:30 p.m.) are Hamilton South, Monday, Oct. 21; Obetz Elementary, Thursday, Oct. 24; Hamilton High School, Monday, Oct. 28 and

Board Wins $3,620,986

Madison Local School District had a beautiful golden egg laid at its door step this week.

It was not only beautiful, it was big — to the extent of $3,620,986.

WHEN THE State Board of Education met Monday, it tapped nine Ohio districts to share the $17,500,000 remaining in the $50,000,000 fund set up three years ago to provide State Building Assistance to relatively hard-up districts. (Priority was given those with bonding capacity limited in comparison with construction needs).

Madison was the only Central Ohio district within the high priority group and its bonanza was second in size only to that granted a Montgomery County school system.

Madison's original request for $6,000,000 was trimmed when the State, in an effort to allow its available funds to serve a larger number of schools, figured need upon a two-year rather than a five-year basis.

According to Phil Williams, Madison superintendent, this change in priorities eliminated funds for a new junior high school which was included in the application.

HOWEVER, THE grant will provide 16-room elementaries on the Ohde site and at an undetermined site in Blacklick Estates and allow the present junior high to be converted to its final phase as a senior high facility. (This will release the Groveport Madison building for junior high use).

The state funds will also allow construction of multi-purpose classrooms and kitchens at Madison, Dunloe and Asbury Elementaries.

The very small catch in the deal is that to take advantage of the "golden egg," Madison taxpayers will have to bond themselves to capacity ($279,000) which amounts, according to Williams, to something less than half a mill and pledge an additional half mill for 22 yenr as partial repayment of the grant.

THIS MILLAGE must be approved within 120 days after the grant is formalized (date anticipated to be Nov. 1) or the next man down the totem pole is given first refusal. (In this case, Hamilton Local was No. 10 on the list).

According to R. Jay Melich, supervisor in the Ohio School Building Division, voters have never turned down the assistance offered during the history of the program.

Supporters Band Together To Promote Tax Increase

By ROBERT TENENBAUM

Managing Editor

Last In A Series

An unlikely mixture of Democrats and Republicans, businessmen and laborers, the wealthy and the poor, are plugging passage of the proposed increase in the city income tax on the Nov. 5 ballot.

Mayor Sensenbrenner's administration has managed to put together a wide base of support for his proposal and the spearhead of the drive has now been taken over by the Forward Columbus Committee, a coalition of major groups working for the increase.

Forward Columbus is dealing with four major areas of concern:

—The need for more policemen, firemen and firefighting facilities to bring Columbus up to near the strength it should already have.

—The need for more sanitation routes to keep pace with the rapid growth of the city.

—The need for great expansion in the city's recreation programs to keep up with the increase in leisure time and population.

—The need for a lot more money to meet the payments the state has strapped on local police and firemen's pension funds.

The pension fund mess is important in consideration of the tax increase but it is perhaps the most difficult area to explain to the average voter.

Under a new state law, cities must begin to share a proportionate amount of the contributions to the new statewide pension fund. Prior to passage of the law, a portion of the city property tax — .6 mills — was earmarked for the fund.

The new law not only drastically increases the city's yearly fund contribution, but the legislature also slapped the cities with an accrued obligation—a backlog of payments due from past years. In other words, an increase in city income is required simply to meet the city's obligations under state law.

But it is the three other issues — police and fire protection, sanitation and recreation — that are being hit the hardest.

What the city and Forward Columbus are fighting is not organized opposition. To date, there is none. Support has come from the Chamber of Commerce, the Development Committee, many business groups and many civic groups.

The battle is against the voters' natural reluctance to tax themselves further — especially in a year when everyone's hand [illegible] to be out for the tax dollar.

They hope to win that battle by laying it on the line, by convincing the voters that the huge bulk of the tax increase will be spent on the three major areas in which the need is the greatest.

They angrily refute charges that the tax increase is not really necessary — that it could be passed next year without any great damage.

Their argument is that to wait until next year would be to attempt to solve a problem in the midst of a crisis rather than trying to avert the crisis in the first place.

They have support in that contention from City Auditor John Price — a Republican — who says his estimates show the city will not now be able to meet its budget for next year.

Price sums it up simply.

"We need it," he says.

Proponents are hoping they can convince the voters of that need.

R. David Thomas and Robert Barney of Colonel Sanders Kentucky Fried Chicken organization present a $1,500 check to Richard C. Sensenbrenner, chairman of the drive to send the West High Band to the Rose Bowl.

West Band Drive Goes City-Wide

The campaign to send the West High Band to the Tournament of Roses parade got a big boost Tuesday when R. David Thomas, regional director of Colonel Sanders Kentucky Fried Chicken organization presented a $1,500 check to Richard C. Sensenbrenner, chairman of the "investment-in-youth" campaign.

Thomas said the gift emphasized his organization's effort as "another example of the area business community's belief in the thousands of responsible young men and women of this community and their fine citizenship."

Sensenbrenner said support was pouring in from the business community, private citizens and even other area high school bands and called it "Youth Power and cooperation in its best sense."

He predicted the special concert to be held Nov. 12 at the Fairgrounds Coliseum would put the drive over the top. Free tickets and a certificate signed by Mayor Sensenbrenner and Governor Rhodes may be obtained for a $10 contribution. Contributions may be made on the coupon below.

Invitations also have been sent to heads of civil rights movements and Negro activists.

Robert L. Lucas, planning coordinator for the meeting, said the conclave was going to attempt to organize to "attack the major problems of black people."

Lucas, formerly chairman of CORE in Chicago, said the meeting was not one for CORE.

"It is a call for all interested blacks to assemble in Columbus to share the future of a radical black organization."

School Levy Can Provide Specialists In Elementaries

Success of the operating levy proposed by the Columbus Public School Board will mean employment of specialists to aid elementary teachers in the fields of art, music and physical education.

The plan to introduce the services of such teachers in all schools is in response to the requests made at the neighborhood seminars in 1963, according to Paul Hersey, executive assistant to Supt. Harold Eibling.

TO DATE this kind of teaching has been left up to individual principals and classroom teachers who have been given a little help from television programs and the limited number of resource personnel now available.

Stating that the program will hopefully allow weekly classes for every youngster in art, music and PE training, Hersey states that specialists can also strengthen the science and foreign language education programs which are now the responsibility of the general classroom teacher.

Hersey explained that a specialist for every school is not being spoken of in these two fields but five or 10 specialists in individual areas to be shared among the elementary schools.

HE ALSO WARNED that music, art and PE specialists cannot be hired overnight if the levy is passed.

"We don't envision placing them all as of January, 1969, of course. But this is a commitment and we'll hire persons as quickly as we can."

He added that recruiting must be done to obtain fully qualified and certified instructors and that in some cases the administration may reassign present classroom teachers talented in the specialized fields.

HERSEY CONCLUDED with the statement that many of the surrounding school districts already have specialists to help the general teachers.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

South Parents Agree On Specialist Needs

Mr. and Mrs. John Mower, 554 Cline St., are among the South Side parents who recognize there is a need for specialists to help out the elementary classroom teachers.

Mower, who has two children at Heyl Avenue, said recently, "Music teachers would reduce the load of work on the classroom teacher. I would even like to see elementary school orchestras."

Responding equally favorably to the proposal of foreign language specialists at the lower grade level, John Abbott, 1264 Grovewood Dr., pointed out, "Our children are not really getting this in most elementary schools. Younger students can grasp foreign languages quicker than older ones."

Mrs. Mower added, "I have a son majoring in Spanish at Ohio State University, and he realizes that he needed more previous training.

"If we pushed this back into elementary as we have done with new math, the secondary schools could concentrate on more advanced language classes."

COLUMBUS CAP SQUADRON SECOND IN COMPETITION

Columbus Squadron 801 was edged out of first place by Cuyahoga Falls Squadron when the Ohio Wing of the Civil Air Patrol held its first annual Rescue Team competition recently under the supervision of Capt. Ronald Early, 1282 S. Yearling Rd., assisted by Capt. Clarence Bower, 2245 Shrewsbury Dr.

According to cadet commander 1st. Lt. Jan Quick, CAP is a program for youths 13 to 21 who are taught drill, leadership and self discipline, attend aerospace classes and receive orientation flights in CAP's Cessna 150.

SHE AND senior commander Lt. George D. Weidensall stress that the activity is one for girls as well as boys. Meetings are held from 6:30 to 9:30 every Monday night at Central High School and membership is open.

During the recent competition which lasts from Friday through Sunday, the squadrons were given simulated missions.

That carried out by the Rangers from the local unit included the problem of locating a pilot stated to have parachuted from his plane.

Given only a general area, the team located the pilot, disentangled him from his lines, administered first aid and, by ambulance, transported him for medical treatment.

THIS EXERCISE was one of three each team was required to carry out.

Time For A Change

The election of Harold Cooper and Michael Dorrian to the posts of Franklin County Commissioners is an absolute necessity if Franklin County is to remove itself from the morass of financial problems, political footballs and mismanagement.

For the many years the Republicans have controlled the Courthouse, they have proved themselves totally incapable of handling the complex problems of county government — problems ranging from garbage disposal to public welfare.

County government has been too long a stepchild—considered unimportant by most of the voters when in fact it controls much of the destiny of our day-to-day lives.

Harold Cooper and Michael Dorrian offer a fresh approach, a break from the tired, hand-me-down policies of the Republican commissioners. Cooper will bring to the post a solid background in business, having served many years as successful general manager of the Columbus Jets. Dorrian brings a tremendous amount of experience gained at City Hall and a great empathy for the problems of the people of this county.

The election of one of these capable administrators without the other will only serve to continue the Republican stranglehold on the Courthouse.

The Spectator Newspapers urge all concerned Franklin Countains — regardless of political affiliation — to elect Cooper and Dorrian and get this county moving again.

What Next?

The Columbus Day Parade here Sunday provided an excellent chance for area residents to have fun and release a little steam.

What was particularly noteworthy (after you got past the cars filled with local political "stars") was the integrated quality of the marching bands, proving at least that integration works in music if it is not an actuality in our community.

What distressed us was a small episode which probably went unnoticed elsewhere.

It might have been all right for a police float to stress "law and order," or city trucks to carry signs calling for passage of the income tax levy.

But when a band — which also happened to be all-white—came marching down Broad Street playing "Dixie," we draw a line between entertainment and insult.

"Dixie," despite its rhythmical attraction, symbolizes all that is supposed to be missing in American life — it is a song associated with white bigots and the die-hard segregationists.

What next, Columbus, a band of white-hooded Klansmen?

Football And Life

By JOHN MORGAN

If half the energy which goes into the production of Ohio State football games were put into solving national problems, we would have fewer crises and a great deal more involvement.

I have nothing against football, least of all against Woody Hayes. But when a game against winless Oregon draws over 70,000 fans, something is being said about the American way of life.

In studying primitive cultures, anthropologists have long held that the direction a culture takes will be determined to a great extent by certain deep-seated values.

IN THE MIDDLE Ages, culture was surrounded by a religious apriori. "All that is done concerns the church, because the church is one and universal," the English poet John Donne wrote. If a historian wants to understand this period of history, he must first understand the workings of the church.

Despite pious talk, one soon learns a sad lesson of life: The values people say they live by do not imply these values are really in operation. This fact explains many of the so-called "gaps" between groups in this country. A man may say he believes in such-and-such; but what he does may be entirely different.

Americans find great reality in what happens to the home football team, because the football field is a better symbol for our culture than we are willing to admit.

Football provides an outlet for our deep-seated feelings. The rough-and-tumble world of halfbacks and guards resembles the universe in which we live. To be a spectator at a football game is to participate in the American dream second-hand, without danger of involvement.

Thus, we cheer the home team when it smothers an "enemy" quarterback behind the line of scrimmage, because this is precisely what we'd like to do to those "enemies" we see around us. If only our enemies would step in front of us on the gridiron!

We also feel a strange affinity for the underdog on the field—a common American characteristic. We like to see the underdog have his moment of glory since we realize that in real life the underdog always finishes last. Not that we want the underdog to come out on top; he is much safer at the bottom of the pile-up.

We also admire the well-drilled team as it marches down the field without mercy. We enjoy seeing defenders squashed before our eyes, although we alleviate our guilt by giving an injured player a round of applause as his battered body is carried off the field. This is war, and "wasn't it a shame that nice boy was injured, but I'm glad now because it helps our side."

FOOTBALL IS more than a game. It is a blatant symbol of those deep-seated values we live and die with.

Football is an observer sport. We want to watch the action on the field, but if anyone suggested we run one play from a backfield position we'd call him crazy. National participation holds the same story.

Football is a violent sport. We applaud the reckless daring of an open-field tackle. Much like our own lives, we enjoy — and yet feel a sense of guilt about violence. But, after all, it's the name of the game.

And when the band strikes up the alma mater and the crowd rises to sing the familiar strains, we feel as if the world were ours. The violence is over, the boys come home — and now we petition the gridiron gods for mercy. Like biblical characters, we repent after the fact.

Football is a game which best symbolizes our national values. Victory, manhood, self-discipline, regimentation, violence under the cloak of sport — all these we live and die with.

WHAT WE HAVE yet to realize is that life must not be a football field where we can crush anyone in our way. Compassion, love, mercy, forgiveness and reconciliation cannot be advocated for 260-pound tackles, but in the workings of the world they are indispensable commodities.

Wouldn't it be wonderful if all the violence and wars of human life were kept on the field and not in our lives.

Looking Down Wall Street

Becoming a millionaire isn't what it used to be. The Federal Reserve Board reports that there were 40,000 in 1958, and 100,000 in 1965. Because of inflation of the past three years, this figure may have doubled or tripled.

One of the easiest ways to attain the status of the millionaire class is based on the principal of compounding interest. The power of compound interest combined with smart investment will enable many people to attain their goals of saving for their future needs and wants.

One of the most frequently cited financial rules of thumb is the Rule of 72. This says that money will double in the number of years that 72 is divided by the rate of compound interest. Thus, if someone were to put $1,000 into a savings account paying four per cent interest, he would have $2,000 18 years later. If the bank raised the interest rate to five per cent, the goal would be reached in a little over 14 years.

No would-be millionaire thinks in terms of four per cent or five per cent. If savings can't earn 15 per cent or better, he is not interested in the investment. Fifteen per cent hasn't been hard to come by in recent years — in shares, not in fixed-interest savings or investments. Over the last 10 years the 25 top-performing mutual funds, with capital gains reinvested, have doubled their liquidating value from two times to more than four times, according to Fundscope Magazine. This is roughly equivalent to compound interest rates of 14 to 33 per cent. The average fund has doubled more than one and a half times, a compound interest rate of 11 per cent or so.

A fund that doubles every five years means that a little more than $30,000 invested at age 40 would become $1 million by age 65. A fund that doubles twice as fast could be started five years later and would require only one-tenth as much at the start. Is it any wonder, that over 3.2 million individuals and institutions have invested in mutual funds?

Fitting Tribute

By ROBERT W. REIDER
Editor And Publisher

REIDER

In these days when law enforcement officials often are discredited and in general have an undesirable image, it is heartening to note that the police chief of Reynoldsburg was recently honored at a testimonial dinner.

Chief William Umpleby a veteran of 34 years of law enforcement, was singled out for tribute by a group of friends and well-wishers headed by Mayor George Twyford.

Chief Umpleby's distinguished career began in 1934 as a state highway patrolman. When he rtired from the patrol in 1960 he was the general headquarters staff officer in charge of enforcement and held the rank of captain.

He was an instructor at the patrol's academy for 13 years, teaching police administration and organization, the Bill of Rights, laws of arrest, court structure and procedure, criminal law, traffic law, laws of evidence, accident investigation and Ohio geography.

In January, 1962, he was appointed Reynoldsburg chief of police by Mayor Twyford.

Recently Chief Umpleby was elected chairman of the executive committee of the Ohio Association of Chiefs of Police.

Two of the chief's sons have followed his example by launching their own careers in the law enforcement field. The oldest, Bruce, is a sheriff's deputy in Stark County after serving as Police Chief in Navarre, Ohio. Stanley is a corporal with the highway patrol, assigned to the Medina post.

It is reassuring to have men of Chief Umpleby's calibre handling the reins of enforcement. It is even more reassuring that his friends have taken the initiative to publicly say so.

Minority Rule

By ROBERT TENENBAUM
Managing Editor

There is a growing tendency in this nation for the minority to repress the rights of the majority.

And it is true on many levels of American life, from the radical left to none other than our own Congress.

The worst of it is that many of those who have loudly deplored the tactics of the left that often stifle the majority are those who are just as guilty of using voter-given power to do exactly the same thing.

There have been two classic examples in the past month. Both have been perpetrated by United States Senators who should know better.

The first was the Abe Fortas nomination as chief justice of the Supreme Court. Although there were more than enough votes for the Senate to advise and consent to the nomination, a minority of Senators from both parties filibustered the nomination to death.

It was a clear-cut case of a minority of the Senate silencing the majority by refusing to let the matter come to a vote.

The second got much less publicity but was far more damaging to the nation.

Sen. Everett Dirksen, the minority leader of the Senate, pulled his troops together and threatened a filibuster of the bill which would have permitted televised debates among the three Presidential candidates.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, knowing he didn't have the two-thirds majority needed to end a filibuster, dropped the bill.

It means we will have no debates. The candidates who don't want to debate can squirm out of it without even having to publicly refuse.

It is a travesty of justice for a minority of the Senate to so deliberately stifle the will of the majority.

And it is even worse for such an action to come from the men who scream the loudest about minority groups on the left stifling majority rights.

Let he who is without guilt cast the first stone.

And not throw rocks into the workings of democracy.

The Fly

By TED BEARDSHEAR

As readers of this column know, I live downtown in a small, but comfortable room.

The other Saturday after work (we go until noon), I went into my room and thought I'd catch an hour's nap before taking in the opening of the Guggenheim Collection at the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts.

Stripping down to shorts, I lay on the bed.

Suddenly and without warning, I felt something land on my nose. Now I have a large French nose, and flies naturally pick this spot to land on.

I brushed it off and tried to get to sleep.

Again, the fly lit on my nose.

Now I have a "Live and let live" policy concerning insects and animals. They leave me alone; I leave them alone.

Again, just as I was dropping off to sleep, the fly lit on my nose.

Angered, I took a folded paper and prepared to defend myself.

The fly had disappeared.

For five minutes, the sly creature refused to show itself. I waited and sweated.

I spotted his shadow on the window blind. He was crawling up the window.

Stealthily, and with the primordial hunter's instinct, I lifted the shade.

He had disappeared.

The fly was supernatural. He appeared behind me some 10 minutes later, sitting insolently on the wall.

SMACK! I missed.

Again, the supernatural fly disappeared.

Insanity set in. I was Captain Ahab stalking Moby Dick.

Time clicked slowly by. The sound of the alarm clock became deafening.

It was no longer just man against fly. It was Conrad's "Heart of Darkness." Man vs. the cruelty of Nature.

It was an affair of honor.

I waited and waited and waited. Sometimes there was a flicker of movement underneath the bed. Investigation proved nothing was there.

The supernatural fly eluded me for over an hour.

Then, finally, I caught him and killed him. Pride welled up. It was Ahab spearing Moby Dick. It was Man conquering cruelty of Nature. It was a tribal boy who killed his first lion.

As I gave the poor insect the usual burial in the wastebasket, I had only one regret.

After all that, I should have taken the corpse to a taxidermist and had it stuffed as my first hunting trophy; a symbol of the superiority of man over insect.

Again laying down, this time without fear of interruption, I slept blissfully past the closing of the museum.

Darn fly ruined the whole afternoon.

But, I suppose, every great hunter has to get used to sacrifice.

Protest Evictions

To The Editor:

The South End Housing Organization would lik[illegible] to comment on retaliatory evictions following the tour of state legislators investigating housing conditions in our city.

Since the tour of the legislators a number of families have been given notices "to vacate the premises."

Although housing conditions in our city, esp[illegible] in the south end, are very poor, it is quite diffic[illegible] secure a place to live. So these families are really hurting.

We wonder if the climate is such that we are more concerned about outer space than our living conditions. Earlier this month there was a local newspaper article on a discarded flying saucer. It was reported that several long distance calls had been made to verify parts of the story. How then can we feel that we are concerned about people when so much effort is made around flying saucers and so little by the newspapers around more down-to-earth problems?

The government thinks nothing of spending billions of dollars on the space program, but when it comes to people—they don't matter

If we spend a bit more time and money in dealing with our slum areas and poor housing conditions we can do a healing service to suffering Americans.

What are we going to do about it? Can the situation be remedied? Let's get to work on it! There is much to be done!

The Great Campaign

By ARTHUR HOPPE

HOPPE

Herewith is another unwritten chapter of political history from "The Making of a Loser — 1968." Its title: "The Greatest Plot of All."

At the time, political observers were at a loss to explain the strange developments of the 1968 Presidential campaign. Their private consensus was that the democratic process had gone mad.

Why had the Republicans nominated their weakest candidate? Why had the Democrats followed suit? Where was George Wallace getting the seemingly-unlimited funds to wreck what little chance either major party had of garnering a majority? What was a Spiro T. Agnew? Who . . .

But in retrospect it can now be seen that the eventual winner waged one of the most brilliant campaigns in the annals of politics.

The story begins with the surprise withdrawal from the race on March 31 of President Johnson, who had no hopes of re-election, saddled as his Administration was with Vietnam, riots and growing public unease.

With President Johnson out of it, the pieces fell in place one-by-one just as the eventual winner planned.

The Republican pros, emboldened by this sign of Democratic weakness, passed up a proven vote-getter like Rockefeller in favor of a two-time loser closer to their hearts, Dick Nixon.

The Democrat pros, figuring that even the most ineffectual candidate possible could beat Nixon, nominated him.

And it was the eventual winner, of course, who secretly financed the entire Wallace campaign.

By mid-October the public was thoroughly appalled by the whole miserable business. The polls showed that 17.2 per cent disliked Humphrey and Wallace more than Nixon; 15.8 per cent had more contempt for Nixon and Wallace than Humphrey; 12.3 per cent hated Nixon and Humphrey more than Wallace; the remaining 54.7 were undecided which of the three would be the greatest disaster.

It was into this chaotic situation that still another bombshell was dropped. On October 21, Mr. Johnson revealed that he had long promised Humphrey that his loyalty would be rewarded with the Presidency. "And as of right now, he's got, it," said Mr. Johnson, "because I resign."

The experts promptly ascribed Johnson's resi[illegible] to a last-gasp attempt at giving Humphrey some [illegible]. But most gloomily predicted that, even so, all three candidates would go down to defeat. They did.

For on election eve a familiar figure strode before the nationwide television cameras to make a dramatic appeal for a write-in vote for himself.

After vigorously attacking "the sorry record of the Humphrey Administration," he called for a change. He cited his experience in high office and noted that he was neither a two-time loser, a sycophant nor a Southern know-nothing.

Here, obviously, was precisely the candidate a confused Nation had been yearning for. Thus it was that the most brilliant campaign of the greatest master politician of them all came to a successful fruition.

And Lyndon B. Johnson was elected President in a landslide.

VLT 'Barefoot' A True Experience

For what seems to be the umpteenth time, Neil Simon's "Barefoot In The Park" is on the boards again. But, it really isn't surprising, after all "Barefoot . . . ." is an enchanting comedy, and sure to please the mature adult.

[illegible]ge Little Theater's pro[illegible]n of Simon's gentle poke at newlyweds opens tonight and will run through Saturday at the First Community Church, 1320 Cambridge Blvd.

Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. If you'd like to chuckle and laugh this is a golden opportunity for not only is the script a Simon masterpiece, but the acting and directing is flawless.

As of Monday's rehearsal, all was going well. As a matter of fact, for one who practically knows the script from having viewed "Barefoot . . ." at least five times in the past two years, I was totally involved in each character.

The sad part is this show only runs three nights. If there was a time for "word-of mouth" next weekend, it would be a sellout.

Each cast member has exploded every movement, gesture, word into a bombshell of laughter. From every character entrance through every exit one sits in awe of what happens when a director of Phillip S. Wilsons' artistic ability and a cast of talented, energetic and creative actors form a marriage that will last as long as the memory.

Each cast member has given to the total play. Each is the star. Cast members are Judy Padfield, Fred St. John, James Ridgeway, Rex Fuller, Greta Seller and Jack Johannigman.

This production is one everyone at VLT can be proud of . . . one that everyone should see . . . those that miss it will have missed a true theater experience.

Around Town

Conducted By

ROLAND SUNKER

Columbus has been fortunate for several years in having a wealth of good entertainment. This is true in all areas of the industry, the supper clubs, lounges and the theater.

Once in a while a bad act is bound to come along. Some times an act can be good, but it is booked into the wrong type of room and consequently does a poor job.

An extreme example of this would be a booking of the best rock and roll group into a very quiet, sedate room. Other times an act is bad because it has absolutely no talent, personality or use any of the professional techniques necessary for it to sell.

The Shirley and Andre Duo

The Shirley and Andre Duo, appearing in the beautiful Da Vinci Lounge of the Sheraton Motor Hotel, falls into the latter category. This act possesses little talent and shows no enthusiasm or professional ability.

Shirley, the pretty half of the duo, sings and plays a full set of drums. While she has a nice sounding voice, she doesn't do anything with it. There is no style or feeling in her voice. Shirley lacks personality in her stage presence and vocal renditions. Her tub thumping ability is nil. The duo would be much more effective if they would discard the drums, have Shirley stand up and master the cocktail drums.

From the musical department, Shirley receives no help. Andre plays the Acord-O-Vox, which is an accordion with a built-in electric organ. This is a beautiful sounding instrument, but he is certainly no master of it.

Reading every note of every song does not permit Andre to develop any style or creativity. Andre needs to learn some arrangements instead of playing the standard, stock arrangements from a "cheat book."

It was obvious that the customers agreed. In an hour and a half, not one person applauded. This act just doesn't belong in the DaVinci Lounge. It doesn't belong in Columbus.

Foster and Farrel

Remember the duo of Foster and Farrel that has played around town several times? They made many appearances at Lincoln Lodge. While there two years ago, they were described in this column as one of the most dynamic duos to ever set foot on stage.

Foster and Farrel are still a dynamic duo, but are playing an entirely different type of music. They have quit the night club field, and are now devoting all of their efforts to gospel work.

Both of them are students at the Way Biblical Research Institute in New Knoxville, O. "We are performing, studying and writing words and music for the power of abundant living," according to Ted.

Ted's wife, Mardell, informs me that Sunday, Nov. 24, they will be giving their first spiritual concert. To be held at the Way Center in New Knoxville, half of the concert will consist of gospel songs written by Foster and Farrel.

After 11 years in the entertainment business, they are doing what they really like. It would be nice if their fans and friends would support them in their first concert. Let's all drive over to New Knoxville Nov. 24.

Trio Opens At Sands

Well-known club owner, Jimmy Joseph of the Sands, 3959 E. Main St., announces the success of his opening of the Sam Blackshaw Trio.

The fabulous trio, which opened Tuesday of this week, has been packing them in at the east side spot.

Blackshaw, who has backed the famous Lou Rowls for several years, is accompanied by two talented musicians.

The Sam Blackshaw Trio has recently appeared on numerous TV shows, including the Johnny Carson program.

They will be at the Sands for a limited engagement.

'BARBARELLA' STARS

About the Loving Cup shown here

The Nuremberg type of "coupe de mariage" is very quaint, and was used in Bavaria, South Germany.

Usually made of sterling silver, some were made of Sheffield plate, and a few of glass. Only one is known to have been made of gold.

This one is made in the shape of a young woman whose long skirt forms a cup. In her upstretched hand she holds a smaller cup, which is hinged and capable of swinging into varying positions.

In order to drink from the cup, the skirt, or larger cup, is filled with champagne or other party drink . . . as well as the smaller cup. The groom drinks from the former while the bride drinks from the latter. Since this action is simultaneous, it is likely to be a spilling affair.

Tradition claims that the one who finishes drinking from the cup first will be the ruler of the household.

THE GERMAN VILLAGE NEWS

DE BAKVNG HISTORIE

Different people in different times and climes have observed different customs in regard to bread:

Dutch mothers, at one time, placed chunks of bread in the cradles of their babies. This was supposed to keep them free from disease.

Many countries to this day observe odd bread customs.

In Batavia bread and butter is eaten with a knife and fork, just the way that we eat steak and potatoes.

Women were forbidden to eat bread for centuries among the Troglodytes of Northern Africa because it was feared that the food would make them as strong as their husbands.

According to obsolete American laws, which apparently are still in the books, it is against the law to carry home a bread purchase in Oregon in a basket that is hung on a pole across the shoulders. It is also against the law in Neligh, Nebraska, to sell donut holes . . . those little round balls that remain after cutting out proper donuts.

Breadmaking is much too social a task to be conducted in the privacy of the home kitchen in some parts of Bulgaria. So homemakers set their oven up in the streets. They prepare their loaves here, as it allows them to gossip while they work.

Strange as it seems, the Capitol in Washington D.C. was one used as a bakery. The exact location was under the Senate Wing, and 16,000 loaves were baked there daily. The time was during the Civil War, and the bread was for members of the Union Army.

In Colonial days it often took more than two whole days to prepare a loaf of bread, and the home prepared yeast which went into it took lots of preparation also. It was made from a combination of malt, potatoes and hops.

Dough was mixed in troughs and the loaves were baked in sturdy brick ovens which were often located out-of-doors instead of inside a bakery or kitchen.

When the Dutch flourished in the 1700's in the New World, they enjoyed a quaint bakery product called "Izer-cookies," and the reason for the name is logical enough, "Izer" means "iron" and these cookies were baked in long handled irons. This added another touch of quaintness to the product because the initials of the owners were often impressed upon the metal, which, of course, rendered letters in relief of the finis ed cakes. Sometimes a da was stamped into the irons. well, especially w ch iron had been pre to th cook as a wedding presen complete with her initials a the groom's intertwined.

These cakes were al known as "splitcakes" b cause even though they we thin they were often split a buttered before they were e en.

Dutch bakery delicacies so consisted of: "Puffertje baked in a special pan, cal a "puffet pan" and eaten with cinnamon and sugar.

"Wonders" were boiled lard and flavored with oran peel. "Portcakes" were ma of chopped pork mixed wi raisins, currants, almonds a spices. As a final touch th were flavored with brandy.

"Wedding cakes" most fa ous then were made with quart of rum, four quarts brandy, 24 pounds of cu rants, 48 pounds of raisi and 12 dozen eggs.

Today, bread baking been revived on occasions part of museum vintage l tory.

It is doubtful however, th these breadbaking episo begin with the "bit of moth yeast" the old timers used.

August Wagner Brewer still carry on this tradition containing a little bit of Mother Yeast in their b making. However, instead keeping it in the cold cellar spring house of old, its mo ernized equipment has te perature controls to assist a aid its work, instead of t hand kneading by wom folks and children in the pa

Food Talk

From 1683 to the Revolution, so many Germans were in Pennsylvania they may have outnumbered the English. Strictly speaking, there [illegible] Germany in that day, [illegible]migrants from the Low [illegible]ntries were loosely called Germans. Most of them spoke Low German. They settled Germantown first, then spread out ever the southeastern part of the colony.

Germans preferred woodland, while the English preferred not easily cleared land. They knew that black walnut trees indicated presence of limestone, and limestone meant good farming land. One might say German's search ended with a black walnut tree woodland.

They were excellent farmers, labored ceaselessly to be free men. The farmer and sons tilled the soil while the women folks cooked and baked, spun and wove, together. When industry yielded full larders, with some left over, it motivated sale of surplus food to less fortunate neighbors. The Pennsylvania German bought little themselves except salt and spices.

They marked changing seasons with festivals. Music and other arts flourished and their book making was the finest in the colonies. Germans were craftsmen, and could make whatever they needed. Their great stone sided barns were ornamented in front with what we call "hex signs." Research shows "hex signs" were carved on barn fronts as directors to travelers that Germans lived here. It must be remembered that many could not read or write.

Hex signs speak a language of their own. These motifs were carried over as quilt patterns, butter molds, and food toppings. Blacksmiths made iron lace trivets, tinkers shaped cookie cutters and "bot schissel" with quaint signs.

Always the pioneer labored to keep records of the family in German script, ornamenting the completed "fraktur" with vines, stars and angels. Today, museums contain these treasures and many others that carry birth certificates, house blessings, flagons, and spice boxes in profusion.

So many are concerned with food "Here is meat and sauerkraut" reads the legend on an old pie plate. One might also carry the marriage record "in the year 1810."

Food is always mentioned first in these old records. Always there was privation. Germans lent themselves easily to caricature because of their customs and costumes. They called themselves "Deutsch" or the folk, then "Deitsch" and finally Dutch, and occasionally "dumb dutch."

Then came 19th century immigrants. Language was always a barrier between their neighbor. For solace, the Dutch turned to music and handcraft. Pennsylvania made rifles turned the tide of more than one battle.

Pennsylvania Dutch cooks taught their neighbor to bake, preserve, and pickle. Brown stew or pot roast recipes are seldom found for every Dutchman knows how to cook them. One will find Sweet dough, dumplings, noodles, and soup ball recipes. Cooking by a German dutchman is instinctive, and "butter the size of a walnut" if often found. Other terms are "as large as an apple," "flour to stiffen." Standardization has taken the life out of a Pennsylvanian recipe.

Soup was a frugal dish, and filling. Whatever food was available went into the soup kettle, and usually two kinds were made. Rich soups could be stretched when company came. It made use of all leftovers.

Laff's Coffee Shop, 193 Thurman Ave., long has served a good hearty German breakfast if you want. Breakfast is served quickly, any way you like by Mr. or Mrs. Laff.

Route No. 5 served Columbus brewery and brewery workers said to have lived in area of present day German Village.

Over these routes came commercial peddlers by horseback and wagon. One was Adam Gobel of Findlay, marketing chewing gum. From 1901 to 1910 he had his chewing gum factory in Roseville making regular trips to German Village retail outlets.

The most popular was the Black Diamond but Rose Bud, Wild Rose and Sassafras brands were also very popular.

Black Diamond was made of sweet anise flavoring, black with charcoal mixture.

Adam's daughter, Miss Irma Gobel of Seneca Hotel recalls working in her father's chewing gum factory near their hardware store in Roseville. The gum was all hand-wrapped. Black diamond was wrapped in tissue paper, with colored fringe. Wild Rose was cinnamon flavored. Miss Gobel still has her father's candy molds.

IT SHOULD HELP

With the median leveled and blinkers erected to warn motorists on New 33 of the intersection of Gender Road in Canal Winchester, local officials have their fingers crossed that the horrible accident rate will abate. Shown erecting the blinkers in the median are State Highway Department personnel, from the left, Lloyd Fleming, engineering technician, Alva Drummond, electrician foreman, and Harry Dunn, traffic control specialist.

It's Just For Kids

Students at Reeb Avenue will jump the gun on their parents this week.

Open house is being held for "their elders" on Tuesday, Oct. 29, but principal Tom Moore is throwing "Open House" — just for his students tomorrow.

It suddenly occurred to Moore who moved from cramped quarters off a stair landing this fall that the only students privileged to view his new and spacious office were those he had invited up for a paddling.

Hence — Friday's Open House.

Room by room, the students will be invited to come up to "Oh and ah" — and to fill themselves with Kool-Aid and cookies.

"Nice switch" — the kids are saying.

Stewart Elects Student Council

Steve Armstrong was elected president of the Student Council in a spirited election held recently at Stewart Avenue Elementary School.

Guyanna Searberry became Council's veep; Linda Constable, corresponding secretary and Lori Frank, recording secretary.

Center Shelters While Mother Is Away

By Mrs. James A. Durbin

Life is happy and safe for the 60 children enrolled at the South Side Day Care Center while their mothers are working.

The Center, 255 Reeb Ave., is one of the 69 United Appeal agencies that will be supported with funds raised during the current $5,252,000 UA drive.

A HOMELIKE atmosphere, a child's dream-backyard, and plenty of play and learning equipment combine to make the South Side Day Care Center the answer for the child who has a need for group care away from home during the day.

Priority is given to children from homes where the mothers' work helps support the family, where there is illness or where the home environment is undesirable and to children who have special physical or emotional needs for day care.

All parents are charged according to ability to pay. There is a review of those enrolled in the Day Care Center every six months, or more frequently if indicated, to determine if continued care is necessary.

THE CENTER is open Monday through Friday from 6:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Children are grouped according to age for activities — three-year olds, four-year olds, kindergarten and school age. Arrangements are made for school age children to attend nearby schools.

THE GADABOUT

By Priscilla Lenox 444-1051

Some of our friends have been gallivanting around the globe just recently, and we hope to sweet-talk them into giving full details of their trips, but this time around, we'll just mention their destinations.

Margaret Ellefritz made the opening ceremonies for the Olympics, held this year in Mexico. Norma Kirkendall, bowling editor for The Spectator papers, is taking lots of pictures while in Peru, South America. (Incidentally, Norma will be showing these pictures to members of the South Side YMCA Mothers' Club in the near future, and the public will be most welcome).

Visit Hawaii

Ruth and Sam Kleinlein have combined a vacation trip to Hawaii with the pleasure of visiting their son, Louis, and his wife, as the younger Kleinlein is stationed in the "island" state.

Glee Oleta McNutt has been busy exploring the southwest and southern parts of the country.

Those who enjoy attending St. Ladislas' annual Spaghetti Dinner are reminded to circle Sunday, Oct. 27, from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m.

It is with regret that friends say goodbye to Millie and Paul Barnhill, but job transfers sometimes occur, so only the best is wished for the young couple in their new "hometown" in New York state.

Another young couple with a new address are Priscilla and Richard Roth, who now reside in Kingsport, Tenn. Richard, a minister, is attending college, and recently delivered a sermon in one of the churches at Oak Ridge, site of an atomic energy plant. We were amused to learn our four-year-old grandson was not enthused to be going to nursery school, but two-year-old Lois Ann was rarin' to go.

to help every child in every school 12 months of every year

The 8.2-mill Columbus School Operating Levy is not a special interest levy. It will help every child in every elementary, junior high and high school throughout the City, throughout the school year and the summer months.

For Columbus school children, the Levy will provide special teachers in reading and math; specialists in art, music and physical education; more classes for disturbed, handicapped and slow learners; more summer courses — tuition-free — a logical first step toward voluntary year-round educational opportunities.

The Levy will also provide funds for expanded elementary libraries, counseling and guidance, testing and evaluation, occupational training — programs planned to meet tomorrow's educational and job needs.

How great is the need for this Levy? Columbus currently spends less per pupil than any other major Ohio city. We spend $509 per pupil each year. Cincinnati spends $596; Cleveland, $587; Dayton, $582. We must prepare our children to compete with children from these other schools for places in colleges, and for jobs.

What will the Levy mean to property owners? 8.2 mills is $8.20 on each $1,000 of assessed property evaluation. On a home assessed at $7,000 (the average for Franklin County) this would mean $57.40 per year or about $1.10 per week.

Bring today's schools up to tomorrow's standards. Say "Yes" to the future of our 108,000 Columbus School children. Care about tomorrow! Vote FOR the Columbus School Levy.

No other issue on the November ballot will produce funds for our schools.

(Not paid for with school funds. Sponsored by Citizens for the School Levy, 4299 Colerain Ave., Columbus, O. 43214) For Information Call 228-3821

Metro 'Magic Number' One For 'Crunch-Grind' Rangers

..Bruce Burnham's "crunch-grind" Hamilton Township Rangers (5-1) reduced their Metropolitan League "magic number" to one Friday with a heady 14-6 victory over Franklin Heights.

The "crunch" was applied by H-T's continuing defensive efforts which gained the superlative tag for the fifth straight week; the "grind" coming from 312 rushing yards — all but 12 of the Rangers' offensive total.

"OUR KIDS really rose to the occasion," Burnham said of his Rangers' "best offensive balance" of the season and a defense which limited the potent Falcons to a bare 112 net rushing yards (plus 50 more in air).

"I felt it would take three touchdowns to beat them," related Bruce. "But, as it turned out, we only needed two."

Again, the H-T defense was magnificant — holding F-H to no gain on 14 occasions and tossing Heights' rushers back for 27 yds. worth of losses.

"OUR GAME plan was to stay on the ground and we were able to inside their ends," the H-T coach added.

Fullback Gary Topping set the pace again (135 yds. in 26 carries) but got plenty of support from halfbacks Jim Gorczyca (92 yds., 13 rushes) and John Cunningham (77 yds., 12 tries).

Overall, Hamilton averaged 5.6 yds. per carry in 55 plays and piled up 20 first downs.

ONCE AGAIN, Burnham assaulted his defensive ends—Dick Coogan and Gene Grubb — who "gave us the key rush and nailed their quarterback six times."

Other defensive standouts were tackle Gregg Fleming and the secondary coverage of backs Gorczyca, Cunningham and Lennie Morris.

The Ranger grid boss also liked what he saw of senior tackle Bob Frohnauer's blocking, calling it of "All-League caliber."

EACH TEAM failed on sure-fire scoring opportunities — the Rangers when they had to swallow a 15-yd. penalty after advancing to the Falcon two late in the first half; the Falcons when they earned a first-and-goal at H-T's eight, only to find themselves back on the 15 four plays later.

Cunningham provided the key stopper on that series, moving up to halt a Heights' sweep attempt on fourth down.

But Burnham and his Rangers hardly have much time to reflect on Friday's victory or even approaching West Jefferson (Oct. 25) with a visit to Hartley (3-3) carded tomorrow evening.

"WE'VE GOT A chance for an outstanding season," Burnham allows, "but we've got another tough one Friday."

For the second week in a row the Rangers take on an opponent which shows a tougher log of foes than H-T has faced this season.

Hawk wins have come over Whetstone, South and Wherle, the setbacks provided by West, DeSales and Springfield Catholic.

GENERALLY genial Hartley grid master Jack Ryan dismissed the DeSales loss with a "we just stunk" and didn't even want to talk about Springfield.

So it's safe to say he'll have his Hawks winging pretty high tomorrow in an attempt to cut short a two-game Hartley slide.

The Hawks' wing-T (with split end) attack is geared around fullback Joe Eichenlaub — unquestionably one of the finest ball carriers in Central Ohio.

WITH THE exception of the Springfield's blanking Saturday, Eichenlaub has tallied at least once in each of the Hawk efforts.

"He likes the quick-hitter," Burnham accounts, "and he shows exceptional balance. He just picks his way behind a back or lineman."

Defensively, Hartley likes a split - 6 with linebackers often forming an eight-man front.

GROVEPORT

IF IT WAS any consolation, Bob Starr's Cruisers (1-5) won the statistical battle vs Mifflin, Friday — but came up short on the scoreboard, 35-6.

"We pushed them all over the field and they never had a drive all night long," Starr lamented—pointing to Groveport's 283 (178 passing) to 225 advantage in total offense (also 15-7 edge in first downs).

"The hardest thing to take," Starr continued, "was the fact that it was our best defensive game of the year.

"THEY, (MIFFLIN) only had two first downs the whole first half and we were still down by a touchdown at halftime."

A long interception return accounted for the Cowpunchers' first tally and Mifflin pushed across its second score with 10 seconds remaining before intermission.

"Our quarterback (Mark Boyer) just got too overcautious after that first interception and score," Starr accounted — attributing four more Mifflin steals to the fact.

THE CRUISER mentor credited sophomore tackle Jim Feucht as Groveport's "defensive player of the week," also lauding the play of fellow tackle Joe Singleton and defensive halfback Mike Featherston.

Only Cruiser doubtful for Bexley's invasion for Groveport's Homecoming tomorrow is middle guard Dave Arthur (knee) with regular center Andy Lyles (pinched nerve) expected back for the Lions.

Starr lists the Lions (3-1 in Mid-Eight, 3-3 overall) as a club with "small but tremendously fast" backs.

BEXLEY operates from a basic OSU-type straight T offense, occasionally varying it with a wing-man (in motion) and shot-gun formations.

Basically a rushing team, the Lions lean on outside sweeps, power off-tackle and middle isolation plays with halfback Bruce Legg most damaging in the Bexley backfield lineup.

"We'll have to shut them off at the line of scrimmage," Starr warns of the speed-concious invaders.

ON DEFENSE, Bexley likes an inverted 6-1 with four backs playing deep.

CANAL WINCHESTER

The outlook brightened considerably for Mike Locke's Indians Friday with the return of halfback Gary Kemmerling helping Winchester to its best offensive total of the season.

C-W totaled up 456 yds. (335 rushing), limiting Liberty Union to a 186 total enroute to a lop-sided 54-6 victory.

BUT THE brightest note was Kimmerling's part in the festivities — 100 yds. on 12 carries, plus a pair of TDs.

The return of number 22 to the Indian backfield also likely took some pressure off work-horse Chuck Carpenter — as evidenced by his three-touchdown splurge (included 86-yd. kickoff return and 60-yd. punt return).

But 4-2 Winchester doesn't figure to enjoy such a repeat picnic over visiting rival Carroll tomorrow — despite the Bulldogs unimpressive 1-4-1 W-L account

"IT'S NO SECRET there's no love lost between the two of us," Locke reminded of his incoming visitor. "You can be sure they'll really be 'up' for us."

In Mid-State play, the Bulldogs show losses to Amanda (26-18), Pickerington (14-6) and Millersport (33-20) with a single victory over Berne Union (25-8) and a tie with Lancaster Fenwick (12-12) the only 'pluses'.

Paul Whitaker (four TDs) has proven to be the top scorer to date in a well-balanced Carroll T-attack with the emphasis on rushing — particularly power plays off-tackle.

ON DEFENSE, the Bulldogs has shown a 5-4 setup.

In the only other area game tomorrow, Teays Valley (1-4-1) — who battled Dublin to an 8-8 deadlock Friday—continues Metro League play with a visit to Franklin Heights (2-3-1).

INDIANS 'LINE UP' FOR RIVAL BULLDOGS

Determined to keep in hot pursuit of league-leading Fairfield Union, Canal Winchester prepares for its date tomorrow evening vs. rival Carroll in Mid-State grid-fare. Above, Indian coach Mike Locke goes over assignments with seven of his line stalwarts. Kneeling (from left) are Keith Schiller (G-LB), Stan Smith (FB-DG), Keith Babbert (G-LB) and coach Locke. Standing: two-way tackle Mike Griffith, two-way ends John Dawson and John Durbin and Don Richardson (T-DE).

The membership approved the requests of Alum Crest and Deshler elementaries and Southmoor Junior High to be included in the plans for CSSO - sponsored Halloween parties this year.

This approval brought the number of parties up to 12 with Heimandale, Kent, Barrett, Schiller, Beery, Barack, Buckeye, the South Side YMCA and Watkins already on the list.

DETAILS OF the parties will be announced in The Spectator next week.

President Earl Johns appointed committee chairmen for the year with other members designating their choice of service.

The chairmen are Harry Ott, social; Elwood Rayford, recreation; Leo Gaffin, education; Paul Stecker, membership; Jim Grothaus, service and safety; Charles Horvath, program; Mike Mileusnich, ways and means; Jim Wagner, public relations; Walter Davison, city council and George Johnson, special.

'SLEEPY JIM' COMING TO WEHRLE

James Crowley, one of Notre Dame's legendary Four Horsemen, will be the star attraction at the first annual Wehrle High School stag smoker Sunday, Oct. 27. Sponsored by the Wehrle Booster Club, the smoker is scheduled from 3 until 9 p.m. Crowley, who will speak at 4 p.m., went on from the Fighting Irish's famous victory over Army in 1924 to become backfield coach at Georgia and head coach at Michigan State and Fordham University. In 1962 he was elected as halfback on the all-time Notre Dame football team, and is also a member of the College Hall of Fame at Rutgers and the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame. Crowley served on Admiral "Bull" Halsey's staff during World War II, and as commissioner of the All-American Football Conference and chairman of the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission from 1955 to 1963. The $2.50 tickets which include all refreshments are available from any Wehrle parents. Crowley will appear through the courtesy of The Genesee Brewing Co., Inc., and its local distributor, The Mid Ohio Dist. Co.

Three Columbus Residents To Head Local Branch Of IPSA

Columbus residents Paul G. Eckelberry, 2218 Bristol Rd., Robert A. Lawyer, 301 Garden Rd. and William M. Johnson, 1429 Matthias Dr., will head the Columbus operation of Independent Postal System of America, scheduled to begin delivery services the early part of November.

Eckelberry will serve as president of the franchise outlet and has named Lawyer to be the general manager. Johnson will assume duties with the Operations Division of the firm.

With national headquarters in Oklahoma City, IPSA is now operating in Dallas, Tex.; Tulsa and Oklahoma City, Okla.; St. Louis, Mo.; Kansas City, Kan., and Columbus, O.

The Columbus-based company will employ 100 or more persons at the outset. Under the system, a client will save on the cost of delivery as well as being assured of the time and day of distribution, Eckelberry said.

Bonded carriers, wearing uniforms similar to those of U. S. postal employes, will deliver door-to-door, operating from a mobile unit bearing the IPSA insignia.

A Columbus native and Upper Arlington resident for the past 12 years, Eckelberry is a graduate of North High School, Capital University, and holds a master's degree from Ohio State University. He has completed requirements for a PhD from OSU this past summer.

For the past seven years he has coached the Whetstone High School baseball team. Prior to this, he was a teacher-coach at Eastmoor High.

Also a native of Columbus, Lawyer has been associated with Ohio National Bank in the credit department since 1963. Previously, he was vice president of Red Top, Inc., a hospital service firm maintaining some 30 hospitals in the western part of the United States.

A commercial pilot and flight instructor at Port Columbus, Johnson has been a supervisor in the state circulation department of the Citizen-Journal newspaper for the past nine years. Prior to this, he worked in the circulation department of the Ohio State Journal.

Clustered around the symbolic bulldog of South High carved in the Bavarian forests and left as a legacy to its alma mater by the class of 1967 are the newly-elected officers of South's senior class. Trick Or Treat Candy Drive Supports Kidney Foundation

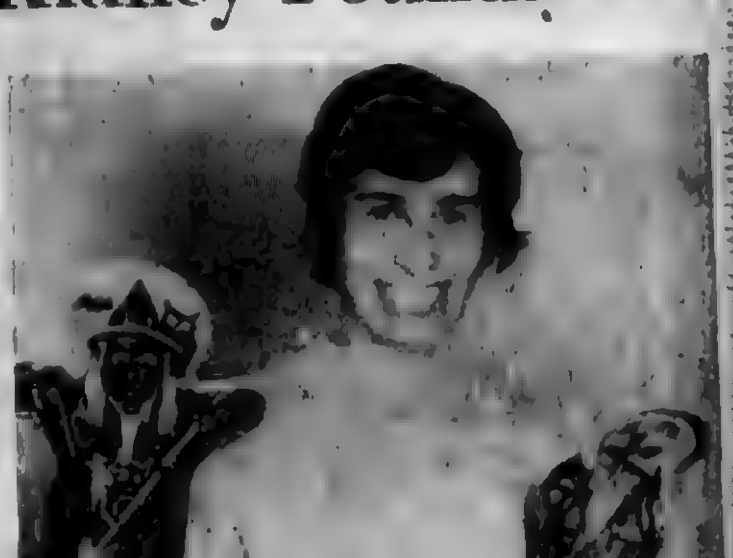
Trick or treat candy sold this year by the Kidney Foundation can not only make a lot of tots happy on Halloween but help the 7,000,000 Americans afflicted with kidney disorders.

Volunteers for the Kidney Foundation of Central Ohio have launched a community-wide project to raise funds through the sale of Halloween candy.

MORE THAN 100 pieces of individually wrapped candies are offered in colorful plastic puppet bags for $1 each and will be available through Oct. 31.

The candy may be obtained from the Foundation office, 4150 E. Main or by calling 235-5077. Cases ordered will be delivered.

The sale will provide funds to maintain and expand the number of patients receiving dialysis (artificial kidney) treatment, to support the Drug Bank which furnishes expensive life-saving medications for victims of kidney diseases, to provide more dollars for research and to sustain a detection program of the disease that takes an annual toll of 100,000 lives.



Among the volunteers selling Halloween candy for the Kidney Foundation of Central Ohio is Mrs. Raymond Trueco, 1638 Berkeley Dr., who is a member of the Women's Board of the organization.

IT'S A FIREWAGON

A little red wagon solved the problem faced last week by Miss Roberta Benson and her first grade pupil Brandon Roberts, at a fire drill at Oakmont Elementary. Brandon was loaded, heavy cast and all, and removed from the building quickly and safely. (The cast is temporary equipment necessitated by a leg broken the week before school opened).

City Of Columbus Handicap Tops Beulah Racing Card

The $15,000 added City of Columbus Handicap (six furlongs) highlights racing action, at Beulah Park Saturday.

Hy Frost, who carried the colors of F. B. Fraser to victory in last year's Ohio Championship and also in the All American Handicap here, is among the nominees for the City of Columbus.

TRAINER Forrest Kaelin has said if Hy Frost runs well in the race, he will probably try for a second All American triumph in the final day of the meeting.

Royal Harmony (sprint star of the River Downs meeting), Do Bid (second in the Decathlon this year), Rullation (a recent smart winner over the Beulah oval) and Cosmos Third, loom as capable of giving any of the City of Columbus entrants a real run for the money.

Also named for the race are Mito Hasty, Happy Irish, Arante Second, Hafiman, Spangover, Port Digger, Barrie B., Great Promise, Irish Dude, Top Wise, Count Petare and Total Talent.

WEEKDAY action at Beulah starts at 2:15 p.m while on Saturdays, the first post is at 1:30.

GG Tune-Ups Begin Nov. 23

THE 1969 Columbus Golden Gloves Tournament will be held Feb. 7-8, 21-22, at Co[illegible] Arena. There will be 1[illegible]ht classes in both the [illegible] (beginners) and open ([illegible]enced) divisions.

Open division champions will represent Columbus in the National G.G. Tournament Mar. 24-28 at Kansas City, Mo.

Youngsters interested in the boxing program are urged to contact the following recreation centers: Windsor, Thompson, Barack, Beatty, or Sunshine.

Hawks Top Browns In Tri-County

The Summit Station Hawks upset the Berwick Browns, 20-18, last weekend to throw the Tri-County Boys' Football League into a deadlock.

The Hawks trailed twice by 12 points before rallying on the combined efforts of Lindsay and Bell — the former racing 50 yds. to paydirt and flipping 40 yds. to the latter for another score.

Berwick's tallies came on two short runs by Rob Hunter and a 40-yd. TD pass from G. J. Seckel to Jimmy Miller.

The Eastland Vikings won, 30-0, over Baltimore as the winners unveiled a potent (four TDs and two conversions-worth) aerial combo in "pitcher" Huffman and "catcher" O'Connell.

A Memorial For Tony

Golf, which isn't too sentimental a game anyway (it usually watches with disinterest as its great champions go over the hill — it had to call information to find out where Walter Hagen was when they wanted to give him a banquet) is at last going to take up part of the slack later next week.

MURRAY

At the Mesa Verde golf course in Orange County, golf's current Open champion is going to dedicate a memorial trophy to a player who might have been the Open champion instead of him—if he had not misread a green in Illinois two years ago and came up short — in a burning airplane.

THE TONY Lema Champagne Room will be opened at the course where the late Tony won his first official tour victory and gained his reputation and nickname by setting up goblets of the bubbly for all hands.

It's easy to romanticize a guy when he's not going to be around to make a liar out of you.

But, with Tony, none of us had that worry even when he was still teeing it up.

TONY WAS one of those guys who really merited the cliche that he was "all man."

Tony had played in 180 tournaments that year before Mesa Verde, but he was a winner only in the "rabbit" tourneys — the consolation opens set in lettuce patches, banana republics, dry creek beds, for the "ghosts" of the tour, the guys who could never seem to make the cut when the resident giants of the game were in the field.

Tony's name would go up on the leader board only at places like Brawley, Maracaibo and the Elko, Nev., Best Ball.

BUT, THAT day in 1962, he found himself standing on the third extra hole of the Orange County Open faced with a makeable 10-footer which would lift Anthony David Lema out of the haunted houses of golf and into the palaces.

I suppose, in a way, Tony sealed his doom sinking that birdie putt.

But, if he had to do it over again, Tony would knock the ball right into the back of the cup.

LIFE DIDN'T owe Tony anything that day six years later when the plane ran out of gas on the golf course like a shot hit too fat.

If I know Tony he probably still thought he had an even chance to get his par.

Tony was in that private plane precisely because he was "Champagne Tony."

HE PROBABLY would have been in the back seat of a four-door Mercury with a dry ham sandwich if he hadn't closed out Bob Rosburg on that third extra hole at Mesa Verde and the press photographer, Les Nehamkin, hadn't come struggling into the press room with a hamper of corked wine instead of canned beer.

What would Tony be today if his plane hadn't quit on the shot that July afternoon in 1966?

Well, he would have won $100,000 by now. You see, Tony did every year.

HE WAS only the third player in history to win $100,000 (in 1965).

Maybe Gary Player wouldn't be the British Open champion this year, either. Tony won that easily in 1964.

Lee Trevino could have heard footsteps—Tonys size 11's—in this year's U.S. Open.

TONY MISSED the playoff in the 1963 Open by only a shot.

And Tony might have signed the right card in the Masters this year. Jack Nicklaus had to get down in two from 40 feet out and downhill to nose him out of that title in 1963 by a shot.

Some of the bubbles went out of the golf tour when they picked Tony and his poor little wife out of the rough that black day in 1966.

BUT, AT least, Lee Trevino will speak for Golf and a lot of us at the dedication at Mesa Verde on the eve of the Haig Open at the course Tuesday.

For once Golf is not going to just play through. And it is altogether fitting.

It was guys like Tony who made tournaments like this into $120,000 tournaments instead of half that amount.

AND IT was Mesa Verde and Champagne Tony who put each other on the map.

I'm sure the Haig people won't mind if the winner sets aside a ghostly crystal containing 12 per cent alcohol after the final hole instead of their 86 proof stuff.

In fact, they could make that two.

I'll hoist one to Tony's memory, too.

IHL Survey For 1968-'69

With the opening of the 1968-69 International Hockey League season close at hand, the IHL's seven coaches are feverishly preparing their squads for the excitement in the chase for the Huber Trophy and Turner Cup.

Here's a look at some of the high points of the respective camps:

MUSKEGON—Heading the list of "familiar" faces for coach Moose Lallo are captain Bryan McLay, scoring champion Gary Ford and former scoring leader Gary Schall.

Ford, last year's point champion, rookie-of-the year and All-Star center, is back to lead the defending champion Mohawks in their run for a second straight championship.

Schall, who holds the team record for goals (71) and points (126), returns to the Mohawks after two years with Cleveland.

McLAY, a veteran winger, is one of Muskegon's all-time scoring leaders.

Also returning from last year are goalie Tim Tabor, defensemen Lynn Margarit and Jim Young and forwards Hugh Harris, Roy Pugh and Jack Brewer.

Missing will be Carl Brewer (coaching in Finland), Jean-Guly Legace (with Amarillo) and goalie Bob Perani and forward Ken Kelly.

DAYTON — Larry Wilson is the new head coach of the Dayton Gems and will also become an active player providing last year's runnersup with an added scoring punch.

GM Lefty McFadden said he expects to go with just about the same personnel as last year.

One addition is winger Frank Golembroskey, who joins the Gems in a trade with Port Huron for defenseman Ron Meier. Bob Bailey has been reinstated but has decided not to play this season.

THERE IS also some question as to whether last year's second top scorer in the IHL —Don Westbrooke — will return. The status of defenseman Alain Beaule is also doubtful.

COLUMBUS — Moe Bartoli's sextet was the surprise team of the IHL last year, finishing third.

This year Bartoli feels he has strengthened his squad with young Tom Bend (St. Louis organization) in the nets. Also high on Bartoli's list is the hard-shooting Doug Volmar of Michigan State and the U.S. Olympic team.

Returning veterans include defensemen Jack Turner, Bill Bond and Jules Bouchard, along with forwards Bert Fizzell, Serge Boudreault, Chuck Kelly, Nelson LeClair, Rheal Paquette, Alton White and Bartoli.

CENTER Ken Saunders was sold to Jacksonville, Nelson Tremblay went to Port Huron and goalies Gordon Dibley and Gerry Fleury departed on waivers.

FORT WAYNE — GM Ken Ullyot has turned the coaching reins over to Len Thornson and Len will welcome back goalie Gerry Randall, defensemen Ted Wright, Lionel Repka and Barry Burnett and wingers Bob Baird, Doug Read and Merv Dubchak.

At center there's Reg Primeau and Norm Waslawski, in addition to Thornson. A pleasant surprise is defenseman Cal Purinton back after a year at Omaha.

The biggest hole Thornson has to fill was caused by the retirement of John Goodwin, the perennial All Star.

ALSO GONE are Randy Gates (Detroit system) and goalie Robbie Irons (St. Louis system).

TOLEDO — Terry Slater has added some punch to his team after just missing the playoffs last year.

John Annable was obtained from Des Moines in exchange for long-time Toledo favorite Chick Chalmers and the Blades sent defenseman Roy Davidson to Port Huron for Rick Hextall.

Old pros returning to Slater's lineup include Greg Jablonski and Stan Maxwell along with Chick Balon on the forward lines, while Joe Kiss and Shorty Melanchuk are at the blue line and the great Glenn Ramsay in the nets.

ALSO ON tap is center Jim Sanko and promising newcomer Dino Mascotto.

PORT HURON — For the second year in a row the Flags have lost their top scorers.

Ted Garvin will be missing Randy Prior, Marty Reynolds, Ken Gribbons and Frank Golembroskey (1-2-3-4 in team scoring).

Back are captain Bob McCammon, Guy "Iron-Man" James, defensemen Jim McCloskey and Marcel Goudreau and rugged winger Bob Kelly.

NEW IN Port Huron uniforms are Nels Tremblay (purchased from Columbus), Gary Harmer and Art Chiupka (obtained from Des Moines) and defenseman Roy Davidson (obtained from Toledo).

Garvin is still worried about goaltending with no assurance that either Ray Reeson or Gaye Cooley will be joining the squad.

Meehan Bonnar and Ken Sutyla were secured in off-season purchases but Garvin promises a lot of new, [illegible] and hustling faces.

DES MOINES — The [illegible] Leafs were busy in the trade market as Howie Milford is making a determined move to escape the IHL cellar.

One of the most active of the IHL teams in the trading game, Des Moines has added forwards Ken Gribbons and Ray Cyr from Port Huron, center Chick Chalmers and winger Terry Kerr from Toledo along with Bill Reid from Johnstown of the EHL.

Milford is looking towards Ivan Prediger and Dave Padzerski for defensive help and scoring punch from Rich Brown and Trevor Fahey now that scoring leader Lyle Bradley has moved to the Montreal organization.

PIN NEWS

Keglers' Korner

By NORMA KIRKENDALL

This is Junior Bowler week, officially proclaimed by Mayor Sensenbrenner — so be generous in your donations for our bowling youngsters of AJBC.

Oct. 26-27 is date of City Employees Council tourney at Riverview. And we hear that a national Government Employees tournament is scheduled at Rainbow in April or May.

AN IMPORTANT area of responsibility that the American Bowling Congress assumed in 1895, and maintains today, is standardization of equipment.

Let's look at today's bowling ball. It sits there looking round, and it is, within ABC specifications of roundness.

It is balanced — not perfectly — but so close there is no built-in advantage. Another ABC specification requires it will not weigh more than 16 pounds nor be more than 27 inches in circumference.

HOW ABOUT a bowling pin?

The ABC provides specifications that none shall be more than 15 inches high, with a tolerance of two/64ths of an inch.

This same slight tolerance applies to the diameter. There are weight restrictions too, and even a specification for moisture content.

OBVIOUSLY, great care and attention has been given by ABC to the actual lane. Here again there are rigid, controlled specifications that assure bowlers — wherever they play the game — that the playing surface will be virtually the same.

Some interesting facts are that a lane must be 41½ inches wide, with a half-inch tolerance either way. It must be 60 feet from the foul [illegible] to the center of the [illegible] pin spot, again with [illegible] inch tolerance allowed.

THE AUTOMATIC pin setting equipment, automatic scoring devices, the automatic foul judge were all approved after long testing by the ABC before being accepted as part of the game.

Local association secretaries check out each lane in their jurisdiction annually to be sure everything will be A-O.K. for the beginning of league play.

THE DODO bird is extinct and so is the dodo ball because of ABC specifications. Another service to the game by the bowler's own organization.

Jaycees Set Jr. Hockey Signups This Weekend

The Columbus Jaycees are once again sponsoring the Junior Ice Hockey Program.

This program (originated last year through the cooperation of the Columbus Checkers) is for boys 6-16. No previous skating experience is required.

Registration will be held Saturday (noon to 4 p.m.) and Sunday (4-7:30 p.m.) at the Columbus Checkers' office on the State Fairgrounds.

Boys may also register at the Columbus Jaycee office (30 E. Broad St.) any weekday — between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Pi Phi 'Fashion Party' Leads Club Parade

A "Pi Phi Parfait of Fashion" is being presented by the Pi Beta Phi Columbus Alumnae Club Thursday, Oct. 24, with a 11:30 a.m. bruncheon followed by a showing of fall and holiday fashions by Jo Tetlow.

Sally Flowers with The Great Gildersleeve on "Meetin' Time at Moore's."

Strictly Female

From 'Meetin' Time' To 'Harmony,' Sally Flowers Logs 37 Entertaining Years

By CLAUDIA ELKINS
Entertainment Editor

I visited Harmony Junction this past week.

It isn't hard to find. As a matter of fact, if you are an early riser, have a television and can find it at 8 a.m., turn to Channel 6 and you will be at Harmony Junction.

My trip was a bit later in the morning, but none the less, 8:30 a.m. is still an unconscious hour. I managed to find the WTVN-TV studios at Harmon and Griggs Roads and spent a pleasant hour chatting with the hostess of Harmony Junction, Sally Flowers.

Has it ever occurred to you how many years Sally Flowers has been entertaining you?

Remember the "Three Belles of the Gay 90's" on WCAH Radio, now WBNS? Remember "Meetin' Time at Moore's"? The radio program was broadcast seven days a week at noon . . . 37 years ago. The television program, "Meetin' Time at Moore's" began in 1949.

How did it all begin?

"I was touring with a vaudeville act. We had come to Columbus for an automobile show and were asked if we'd like to stay and do radio broadcasting. That was in 1931."

For seven years, Sally's voice was heard by thousands of radio listeners. She then free-lanced, and in 1949 The Moore's Stores asked her if she would like to do their show.

So, on Oct. 4, 1949, Sally's first program was aired on Channel 4.

So, on Oct. 4, 1949, Sally's first program was aired on Channel 4.

"There were few television sets then," she recalls. "We used to keep track of how many sets were sold every week. Channel 4, when we started, sat in a cornfield. We all learned together. Oh dear, it was wonderful. I'd like to have the old show back again.

"Billy Scott was with me then. We sang together, he played guitar, I played the piano and Charlie Cesnor played the organ, God rest his soul. We celebrated birthdays and anniversaries on the program. We had movie stars, TV stars and many guests. Some were snooty, but where you found one of them there were always 50 others to enjoy.

"Tennessee Ernie Ford, Jackie Cooper (he was a honey), Dale and Roy Rogers (Roy got into a big plate of fudge someone brought), Thomas Mitchell, Farley Granger and The Great Gildersleeve were among some of the guests.

"The hats were lots of fun. The ones I couldn't save, I'd take up to the Franklin County Children's Home. Even Mrs. Lausche brought a hat to the show.

"I remember the time Billy's wife was expecting her first baby. She had it right before the show went on the air. They brought Billy out in a stretcher. We sure had a hard time keeping him there until the program was over."

The program lasted for nine and a half years. Then for a year she free-lanced. "I was quite ill in 1960, and I was off for about a year."

Then came "Dialing for Dollars" with Gene Fullen. Sally appeared on that show for seven years. In June of 1968, Sally was offered her own show, now entitled "Harmony Junction."

"I'm not sophisticated, by any means. I'm not very modern by any means, although I have nothing against it. I'm just a plain folksy somebody. I like a homey program. So, I'm very happy to have this program with the country and western music, recipes and just visiting here in the sitting room just as you and I are doing."

What does the off-camera Sally enjoy doing?

"No, I don't like to shop for clothes. I'd rather take a whipping. Since my husband and I are both on diets, I've gotten away from cooking. Since my children left home, housework doesn't interest me.

"I have a son and daughter. They both live in Marion. I have five grandsons, but don't get to visit very often.

"On Fridays we take off for our little farm of three and a half acres down near Lancaster. This is my relaxation. Here I've taken up bird-studying. There is nothing so relaxing as to get out like that in those hills in that scenery, especially right now with the leaves turning, and watching birds. It is so peaceful and beautiful.

"I also spend quite a lot of time reading — newspapers, magazines and Readers Digest. But bust of all I enjoy reading the Bible and religious material. I think right now is a time for a great religious turnover in our country."

How about television?

"Oh, I like cowboys the best. I watch for Matt Dillon. Festus used to sing with the "Sons of the Pioneers" and I knew him. You know, he's doing a fine characterization. He is really a nice, handsome man.

"I don't like all the violence. Why don't they do more family type shows? Pretty ones?"

Nineteen years of television work is a career. For Sally it has been enjoyable, but "Meetin' Time at Moore's" is the dearest and nearest her heart.

Her fans are many, for the fan mail proves it. And to this day, many shoppers at the Moore's Stores still mention Sally Flowers.

SALLY FLOWERS

This is a long story befitting a distinguished performer. Thank you, Sally, for helping to recall those hours as a little girl I sat before the new TV entranced with your program.

This small tribute to you can never repay the happiness you have brought into many homes since 1931.

Day Care Centers Serve Great Need

Mrs. Dorothy Perry, president of Hope Advisory Council, describes the value of day care centers this way:

"I think our center is a great help to children because it helps them to meet children from other family situations and teaches them to get along together in preparation for school."

Mrs. Perry was speaking about the Hope Day Care Center, located in a Lutheran Church at Lilley and Livingston Avenues. The center provides free day care services under sponsorship of the Columbus Day Care Council.

"A few years ago," Mrs. Perry explained, "parents thought they should have more voice in school affairs, but felt helpless. Their experience through Hope Center has shown them a way through cooperation, to really have an influence."

Parents in this area were particularly concerned about the shortage of transportation for their children. The parents voluntarily taxed themselves $2 a week to build up a treasury to attack the problem. A bake [illegible] netted them an additional $213.

With the help of CMACAO's Area Six Service Center, the parents were able to find a 54-seat passenger bus for sale. Learning of their desires, the owner of the bus lowered his price so they could buy it.

The fathers of enrollees have volunteered to paint the vehicle and it will be in service soon.

Encouraged by this success, the parents now have tackled the center's need for outdoor play equipment. In the near future they will be holding a sale to raise money.

"The parents have learned that the only way to get things they need is to get together and work for them," Mrs. Perry concludes.

Dr. John Rosemond To Head UN Festival

Columbus Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner announces the appointment of Dr. John H. Rosemond as chairman for United Nations Day, Oct. 24.

McCollum asked mayors and city managers of all major cities as well as all governors in the U.S. to take leadership in organizing a United Nations Day observance.

Dr. John H. Rosemond will be chairman of the United Nations Festival.

Organizations and citizens interested in cooperating with the program are invited to get in touch with Dr. Rosemond at 1314 Mount Vernon Ave. or in care of the Mayor's Office.

STRANGERS IN THE NIGHT — Worthington defender Greg Voutyras (42) obviously has his mind on another matter (or Whitehall back) as he charges past Ram quarterback Butch Sark — the latter enroute to a sizeable gain on this keeper play Friday.

Maverick with muddy shoes

... by Richard Paugh

What will you do if you get lucky?

That's the question I ask my young students during the first session of the fishing clinics.

WE CAN prate about pollution and over-kill all we want to but if we don't know what to do with fish or game after it is killed, we are wasting it.

Dear readers, please make up your mind to either release or clean all the fish you take from that old fishing hole. The same goes for that cottontail or bird that sets sail before your ruthless sights.

Don't squeeze that trigger if you aren't in the mood to clean and cook same.

DON'T RELY on your generosity to the neighbors to save you from a little kitchen duty. Be determined to take care of your own. Most fish and game that pass over the back fence get thrown out after the 'thankyews' are said.

If you insist that the cleaning of the catch is the job of the wife and she say 'you brang 'em, you clean 'em,' it's time to quit branging 'em.

For those of you who find a familiar note in these lines, try shooting trap or skeet. I'll send you some old family recipes for roast skeet.

EVERY ONCE in a while, we bring down a prime pheasant or grouse that we think should be preserved for coming generations

When this occurs, remember, you must field dress the game immediately even though you are going to take it to the taxidermist.

It's best to slit the side of the bird, under the wing. Tear the skin as little as possible. Do not allow blood to dry on the feathers. It will not come off.

TO SKIN a deer, cut down the back of the neck (where the seam will not show when the mount is on the wall). Here again, take care in keeping the hair free of blood.

Get the animals to the local taxidermist as soon as possible. I say local because I have seen some beautiful mounts ruined by botchy work and the hunter didn't know how to get even with the 'stuffer' four states away.

I offer a list of Ohio taxidermists who are well known and, I believe, very dependable. I list them alphabetically, not by their abilities:

K. S. Chappelear, 1969 Marsdale Ave., Columbus, The Copases, 328 Collingwood Ave, Columbus, P. K. Hughes, 1442 E. North Broadway, Columbus, Adrian Kalee, New Albany, A. D. Miller, Benton, Ohio (in Holmes County), Max Shipley, 705 S. Ogden Ave., Columbus.

MOST OF these people also handle an assortment of fine gloves and jackets made from deerskins. Look them up, they are good people to know.

WORSHIP IN THE CHURCH OF YOUR CHOICE

Our Heritage of Faith...

HIGH TIME

Ten minutes early! The service of worship begins at eleven, and the Anderson family has had time to saunter a little . . . gratefully aware of the glorious autumn morning and the serene beauty of their church building. Afterwards, like Christians the world over, they will go home refreshed and inspired by God's Word, ready to meet whatever the week may bring.

Turning from self-service to God's service is never easy, but it is immeasurably worthwhile. When our hearts are completely God-centered, all other concerns fall into their proper places . . . and our lives become richer and more significant than our minds can imagine.

"Everything else can wait . . . but your search for God cannot wait." There is still time. Come to church this Sunday and share in the bounty of His strengthening love. It is yours for the asking.

"Re-Elect a Good Man to a Good Office"

Kathryn Uhrig

Kathryn Uhrig New AMS Prexy

Office manager at the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, Kathryn Uhrig was recently installed as the first woman president of the Columbus Chapter of the Administrative Management Society.

Unanimously elected, Miss Uhrig assumes the presidency of an AMS chapter consisting of 148 members who are interested in identifying, developing, and disseminating modern business management techniques and philosophies as they affect the management framework and climate to which the administrative management function contributes.

A veteran of 34 years of association with the Ohio Chamber, Miss Uhrig is a charter member of the Columbus Chapter of AMS and has been active in the Society's programs and functions.

Gilligan Hits Saxbe On Law, Order

John J. Gilligan, Democratic candidate for the U. S. Senate, Tuesday charged his Republican opponent, Attorney General William Saxbe, with trying to make law and order a campaign issue while returning a "poor" record as the "state's chief law enforcement officer."

"Very simply," Gilligan said, "Attorney General Saxbe has failed the people as their chief law enforcement officer."

Claiming his GOP opponent attempts to make law and order an issue with "lurid television commercials through which he pandered to fear and hatred," Gilligan said Saxbe as chief law enforcement officer in the state had failed "to restore order to our cities."

Declaring the senatorial race was neck-and-neck, Gilligan added: "In the last three weeks we're going to put on a blitz, and I think we're going to win."

He said he was "not surprised" by outgoing Senator Frank Lausche's endorsement of Richard Nixon. "I'm also happy to have Sen. Eugene McCarthy's support. We agree on many things, but not on the man who should be president."

Pen Plan Gets Vote

The Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce has given its support to Gov. James Rhodes' proposal for private development of the 32-acre tract now occupied by the Ohio Penitentiary.

Mrs. Rosemary Martin, manager of the chamber's department of economic development, said she has notified Development Director Fred Neuenschwander of the committee's interest.

Gov. Rhodes made his proposal for selling the penitentiary property for private development when he recently helped break ground for the new Southern Ohio pen at Lucasville.

County Problems Aired

By JOHN MORGAN
Spectator Staff Writer

Is Franklin County financially secure?

Democratic candidate for the post of County Commissioner, Harold M. Cooper, is not at all certain.

"I've got to ask," Cooper said in an interview with The Spectator, "what state is the county in as far as the general fund? How do we really stand financially?"

COOPER

He said he had been led to believe, for example, that there were no questions about the County Jail. "Now, all of a sudden. I read that the jail 'appears certain.' I'd like to know why when we were told it was certain quite a while ago."

COOPER ALSO added that he understood the County Welfare Department had already spent its budget for the year. "Either the present commissioners are going to borrow the money or it's coming out of general fund."

The general manager of the Columbus Jets was uncertain whether present commissioners were looking toward passage of the Alum Crest levy to beef up the general fund.

Cooper seemed certain of one thing, however. "If we (meaning himself and running mate Michael J. Dorrian) were to take over. and look at the financial record, we're going to find a mess."

Terming present administrative policy at the county level "pathetic," Cooper vowed to spend more time and energy finding out what is happening in county operations.

"I MUST KNOW what makes Alum Crest tick. I'll be over at the welfare department. This is what Henry Koontz has not been doing; he's not gotten to this level. He's in the past."

Cooper spoke on what he considered to be the major issues:

- WELFARE: "We've had a mess there for a number of years. What is needed is an aggressive program to tell about the good the department is doing, about the 95 per cent of people on the rolls they're helping. With the facts in hand, we are in a better position to go to the legislature and say, 'Look, $5 a year is not enough for clothing recipients.'

"The only ones who can improve the morale problems are the commissioners. But it's like running a ball club, you've got to improve the morale of employes by letting them know that you care. The only way to correct problems is to carry the answers to people who can change things."

- ALUM CREST: "Now they've improved the facilities but not the programs. We need to bring an atmosphere of helpfulness there, to ask for volunteers. That hospital has to be improved, not only for the patients but also utilized more through federal help through Medicare."
- PLANNING: "This county has to look to the future. You can't wait until a crisis arises to get solutions. Trash removal, fire protection, water and sewage needs, transportation — these should be planned for immediately. The present county commissioners haven't utilized the brains of this community."
- CONVENTIONS: "Columbus used to be a convention center, but now there's only conflict between the county and the city. We've got to cooperate with the city. Now the lines of communication are far apart.

"The Sensenbrenner administration has done a good job. If the county had had the same type of leadership, there wouldn't be the problems we have now. This is not to say I wouldn't disagree with the city; but there has to be cooperation."

Cooper believes the greatest need in county government is leadership.

"I've got the experience despite Mr. Koontz' feelings. Look, I've built a baseball club into a financially stable organization. Few people see how much I've got to administer. I have been among the people; I am a good businessman; I can lead people; I am a hard worker. I intend to devote full time to the post."

Asked why the race for county commissioner has been so much in the spotlight, Cooper quickly replied:

"IN THE PAST the county commissioner post was a 'political plum.' No one rocked the boat.

"Now there are issues — the county jail, Alum Crest and welfare problems. People found out it was the most powerful office in the county. And they are expecting government to get the most out of taxes."

Cooper added that he felt the Democratic Party had two "strong candidates, which is why Koontz and Shawan are spending so much money."

Citing "deplorable conditions at the county level," Cooper concluded he was "running to bring this to the attention of the people."

By SYLVIA BROOKS
Spectator Staff Writer

Franklin County was described as basically "in good shape" financially by incumbent County Commissioner Henry Koontz in an interview with The Spectator.

"The county has the best credit of any county in the state of Ohio. The last few years we have ended in the black. So many other counties haven't," Koontz declared.

KOONTZ

However, Koontz admitted that the basic problem of the county was money. "I'm not interested in putting taxes on people. They are taxed enough. We did vote the license tax, but I was the only commissioner who voted against it."

When asked about a solution to the money problem, he indicated that "We should economize in all departments. We have met the requirements of what the different departments need. We should stay at the present levels of budget and not add any more money to them."

Koontz responded to some charges made against the present county commissioners on the following issues:

ALUM CREST: "The charge has been made that the commissioners never meet a crisis until we have a crisis. At the County Home we saw the crisis coming and almost completed a new county home. We were working on that. The charge was also made that conditions at the county home didn't happen overnight. They didn't It took 21 nights because the union people slowed down on their work and then struck."

COUNTY JAIL: "We had discussed building the jail and court house for the last two years before they had a jailbreak, but we were told by different leaders in the county it was the wrong time it to put it on the ballot,"

LAW AND ORDER: Commissioner Koontz, when asked about responsibilities of the county in this area, responded: "We don't have the control over the sheriff's office that the mayor of Columbus does over the police department because the sheriff is an elected official."

He added that present commissioners have cooperated with the sheriff to assist him in "getting any supplies he may need in case of a riot."

WELFARE AND URBAN PROBLEMS: Koontz feels that welfare is one of the major problems facing the county today. He said he could foresee no solution to the problem until there were fewer people on welfare.

"I have never heard of anybody going hungry. I understand some people don't have enough clothing, which could be possible."

Koontz feels that the county is limited in finding solutions and acting on urban problems.

"The commissioner's office is considered a branch of state government. We can only do what state law allows us to do. The commissioners can't get involved in urban problems unless the state provides for it. We do cooperate with all municipalities. Urbancrest came into the office to ask us to use our influence to help them get sewers and water."

Koontz was indignant at a charge made recently that he was not qualified to be a county commissioner.

"Certainly 16 years would qualify anybody for any position even if he hadn't learned anything," he replied.

Koontz feels he has worked hard on his job. "I have spent more time in the office daily and yearly," he said, "than the other county commissioners."

He further stated: "I think my qualifications are higher than Mr. Cooper's — who has done nothing but baseball and a couple of years on the civil service commission all his life."

When asked why this year's race for county commissioner has been so hotly contested. he responded: "I don't know. I think things are running along fine except for union problems in the County Home and the County Welfare Department."

'Highlights'

By HARMON

There just has to be one Saturday in every football season that's a little "quieter" than the rest—when all heart patients can relax just a wee bit.

And after the events of last week, this week just has to be it.

AND, OF course, the old (or new) Top Twenty went through a pretty thorough over-hauling. Southern Cal took over the top spot with Kansas and Ohio State right on their heels.

Drop-outs were numerous as L.S.U., Michigan State, California, Oklahoma and U.C.L.A. all disappeared from sight. Miami moved back into the select group along with newcomers Texas Tech, Stanford, Auburn and Michigan.

Penn State, number eight, Syracuse, number 11, and Houston, number 17, are all resting on "Quiet-Saturday." However, numbers one, two, and three will all be very busy.

SOUTHERN Cal should get by Washington by about 28 points . . . Kansas is a 20-point favorite over a real upset-minded Oklahoma State . . . and Ohio State is picked over Northwestern by 21 points.

And it looks as though Alabama might lose its second game in three weeks. Sixth-ranked Tennessee is an 11-point favorite over the 19th-rated Crimson Tide in one of these "do-or-die" Southeastern Conference struggles.

The big job of trying to derail the undefeated Arkansas express goes this week to the "almost-ranked" Longhorns of Texas. The Razorbacks, rated tenth, are favored to resist and desist de-railment, however, winning by one point.

SOUTHERN Mississippi gave Alabama a big scare three weeks ago, and they're planning the same type of party for 18th-ranked Ole' Miss this Saturday. This is just a hunch, but we think the Southerners from the "way-down Deep South" are going to tip Mississippi by three.

Real busy mending their Boilers this week, fourth-ranked Purdue may have some trouble with Wake Forest . . . the Deacons are three-touchdown underdogs. Notre Dame, number five, should roll over Illinois by about 35 points.

In the Big Ten, 20th-ranked Michigan is expected to keep pace with Ohio State, handing the Hoosiers of Indiana their first conference loss. The difference is 11 points.

SEVENTH-RATED Georgia will beat Vanderbilt by 23, and Miami, resting in the number nine spot and hoping to stay awhile, is 19 points too strong for Virginia Tech.

Kitsmiller-Bell-Haven Clash Tops Flag Sked

Kitsmiller Motors rolled to its sixth straight victory, 60-6, over Local 189 Sunday but the biggest news of Columbus Flag Football League play came on Bell-Haven's 12-6 win over Franklin Sports.

Elsewhere, Berwick Party House exploded for four first-half TD's en route to a 32-18 win over Bon-Aire Lounge.

BILL RODGERS' 18 unassisted stops and two fumble recoveries set the pace for the Big Red in its defensive-minded battle with Franklin.

Bell-Haven, which has now won three straight after an equal number of opening setbacks, took a 6-0 halftime lead when QB Gerry Martin hit Dave Adams on a 37-yd. TD strike.

Franklin pulled even in the third frame as Joe Biddle found Randy Walker on the receiving end of a 36-yd. tally.

BELL-HAVEN bounced right back, however, driving 60 yds. for the deciding points with Paul Seitz going the last three after Adams' 30-yd. gallop on an end-around play set up the six-pointer.

Franklin took total offense honors with a 143-140 edge but the Big Red defense held the losers to a minus 32 yds. rushing.

BELL-HAVEN now goes against unbeaten Kitsmiller Sunday in the loop feature — the Motormen showing an earlier 18-12 margin over the Big Red this season.

KEITH FRAZIER'S three aerial TD receptions paced Kitsmiller's lopsided victory — the winners trying three-quarterbacks (hit on 12-of-30 passes for four TDs) in the game.

Ken Ramsey tallied [illegible] on runs as did Dean Eby on 61 and 15-yd. aerials from Ramsey.

Jay Sheets (25, run) and Larry Gernell accounted for Kitsmiller's other scores — the latter pulling in one of three scoring tosses from Mike Earlandson.

FRAZIER (140 yds. rushing) and Eby (three catches for 98 yds.) were individual leaders.

Rick Davis (58 rushing yds.) and Ted Dickey (two receptions for 41 yds., lone TD) paced the losers.

Kurt Pollock's three touchdowns weren't nearly enough to offset the three-pronged attack of Berwick's Jack Spohr, Tom Yinger and Clint Allen.

ALLEN GOBBLED up 142 rushing yds. (one TD) while Spohr and Yinger each ran for a six-pointer besides hitting each other on scoring aerials.

Yinger rushed for 88 yds. and picked up another 80 on receptions as Berwick moved into a half-game lead in the Western Division.

'Fearless' Predictions

After another mediocre week in the forecasting business, the "Fearless One" put his computer on overtime to chase down the outlooks for week seven.

Last week's total — 15-7. Overall — 100-33. Try these on for size:

CARROLL AT CANAL WINCHESTER — Both these Mid-State ultra-rivals showed ability to score big last weekend but Indians still in loop race. C-W.

CENTRAL AT HAMILTON TAFT— No relief in sight for winless Pirates. Taft.

TEAYS VALLEY AT FRANKLIN HEIGHTS — Falcons about due for explosion from frustration. Might come here. F-H.

HAMILTON TWP. AT HARTLEY— That Ranger defense isn't made of papier-mache and Hawks hurting offensively. H-T.

GAHANNA AT DELAWARE — Another one of those "sink 'r swim" OCC matches. Lots of beef on the range for this one. Lions "hang in" . . . Gahanna.

BEXLEY AT GROVEPORT — If Lions can keep eyes off final two loop foes, they should make Cruiser Homecoming unhappy one. Bexley.

PLEASANT VIEW AT WHITEHALL — Rams can play it "loose" now. Whitehall.

BROOKHAVEN AT MARION-FRANKLIN — Wounded (and winless) animals like Bearcats have been known to be dangerous. If Devils are wary . . . M-F.

WORTHINGTON AT REYNOLDSBURG — There'll be "no tomorrow" for vanquished here. Raiders' turn to bounce back. Reynoldsburg.

WALNUT RIDGE AT SOUTH — A case of "survival" for both CL entries. Bulldogs stay clean. South.

LINDEN AT EAST — Tigers have been comin' on but shouldn't catch speedy Panther in this non-leaguer. Linden.

HILLIARD AT LONDON — If McElheny can get Wildcats up two weeks in a row, this could create an even-steven Mid-Eight race. However, edge still belongs to . . . London.

WEST JEFFERSON AT DUBLIN— Always a bang-up affair when this pair hooks up. If Riders have one eye on H-T, they could get the black eye. Still . . . W-J.

GRANDVIEW AT GROVE CITY — 'Hounds now hold better finishing schedule but can't afford to take eyes off road. G-C.

EASTMOOR AT WHETSTONE — Warriors keep pressure on Linden. E-M.

MIFFLIN AT MARYSVILLE — Cowpunchers keep [illegible] winless. Mifflin.

NORTHLAND AT NORTH — Vikings should keep fading title hopes alive this week. Northland.

ARLINGTON AT CHILLICOTHE— Hosts looking more and more capable each week and Bears obviously miss Schmidt. However . . . UA.

MOHAWK AT WEST — Indians will be arriving with "long-time-no-see" scalp belts. But Cowboys don't figure to drop three straight. West.

WESTERVILLE AT MT. VERNON —Both clubs loose with title pressure extinct. By a hair . . . Mt. Vernon.

SATURDAY

READY VS. WATTERSON (at Whetstone) — Injury-riddled Eagles still best bet in CCL title run. Watterson.

DESALES VS. WEHRLE (at Central) — Stallions should set up title match next weekend with Watterson if they can keep eyes on dangerous Wolves. DeSales.

Fields, 'Berg, Nemo's Run Touch Records To 5-0

The Columbus Touch Football League has three undefeated contenders for the throne after a few one-sided victories Sunday at Southview.

North Heidelberg's (5-0) Pond Brothers struck again to out-class Creative Printers, 40-14. John Pond connected for five TD's (two each to brother Tim and Mike McGarity, one to Rocky Amicon) and ran nine yards to paydirt.

CREATIVE'S scoring came on a 61 yard interception scamper by Jim Thomas and Tom Main's reception from Thomas.

Fields Brothers (5-0) scored late to beat Lockbourne's tough Skyhawks, 12-0, as Tom Fullove ran it over from the three and passed 69 to swift Al Jordan for the other tally.

Harley-Davidson's Mike Zetz passed for four bombs and the line play of John Palmer and Pat Canini proved too much for Mid-American as H-D won, 26-0.

ZETZ FOUND Ed Tarr (47, 33 yds.) twice and Ken Ramsey (29 yds.) and Mike Crary (18 yds.) once each.

Moores Painting blasted Jacobs and Son Movers, 36-6 as Ed Dorsey caught four TD passes from Skip Smith. The Movers' score came on a three yard jaunt by Jerry Turner just as the game ended.

Remo's Inn (5-0) was pressed to defeat B & A Paints, 14-0, as Tom Myers passed to Tom Wood and Don Yore for tallies.

EDDIE PARKS ran 10, 14, 27, and five yards for touchdowns to pace Craig Realty's 44-6 rout of Central Ohio Welding. Parks topped off a busy day by tossing TD strikes to Avery Godfrey and Les Bridges.

The Welders kept fr[illegible]ing blanked as QB Ry[illegible] and Dave Hardbarger teamed for a six-yard TD.

LEAGUE NOTES

Harley-Davidson's Pat Canini suffered a broken nose and Jim Bright and Howie Williams may be lost for the year with knee injuries.

CREATIVE'S Terry Dean is recovering slowly after a broken leg during the Heidelberg game.

Fields' defensive unit is yielding an average of three points per game, while Heidelberg is breezing along at a 34 pt.-per-game clip on offense — yielding but seven points per game defensively.

LAWN CARE

LAWN RENOVATION IS A MUST FOR GOOD LAWNS

Removal of thatch should be done every year

Catching your grass clippings will not solve the problem. Amazingly grass clippings only amount to one third of the problem. Dead roots and dead grass stalks cause most of the thatch. Old grass is constantly dying and new grass taking its place.

After we loosen the thatch with a verticutter, we vacuum the lawn. Everyone who has swept the house with a broom knows that it cannot compare with a vacuum sweeper, the same applies for removing grass clippings. Raking or using a lawn broom sweeper removes only about 30-40% of the grass while a vacuum sweeper removes 90-95%.

The lawn should be cut first and fertilised after thatching.

All lawns are given a free soil test.

As usual our services cover:
Cutting and Trimming Lawns, Fertilizing, and the Control of Weeds, Insects, and Diseases.

Federated Department Stores Opening Hard-Line Discount Chain

A second discount division of Federated Department Stores, Inc., has been formed, according to a recent announcement of Federated Chairman Ralph Lazarus.

The division, which will concentrate on the sale of hard-line merchandise, will be called Gold Triangle.

Lazarus called Gold Triangle "a logical sequel and complement" to Gold Circle, Federated's existing soft-goods discount division established last year.

According to Lazarus, the two operations are completely separate, each with its own management.

The new division will be headed by Walter S. Mendenhall, Jr., 53, who will carry the title of president and chief executive officer of Gold Triangle Discount Stores. Mendenhall, who was a Federated operating vice president, is a 29-year veteran with Federated. Before joining the parent company home office, he was a vice president and general merchandise manager of F. & R. Lazarus, Federated's Columbus division.

Alan McCabe, 40, former manager of two F. & R. Lazarus branch stores will be Gold Triangle's general operating manager.

The Gold Triangle stores will handle hard goods, including: small and major appliances; radio, television, stereo and components; cameras and photographic supplies; sporting goods; housewares, hardware, home improvement and garden supplies.

"Our objective with Gold Triangle," Lazarus said, "is to add new dimensions of price appeal, quality and specialized selling to hard-goods merchandising."

Lazarus pictured a store which would bid for acceptance in the $25 billion plus hard-goods market by —

- Stress on low prices for quality goods. Merchandise emphasis will be on the middle and top price ranges.
- Skilled sales service to guide customers through the complexity of purchasing. The aim is to match the product sold and the customer's need as exactly as possible.
- Complete selection to make discriminating purchasing possible.
- A low price based on an absence of frills.
- Flexible credit.

Gold Triangle's plans call for the initial three stores of a projected multiple-store operation to be in the South Florida area. The first, in a South Miami shopping center, will open next fall.

Federated already operates a department store — Burdine's — in South Florida. Familiarity with the market gained through this experience was cited as one reason for launching the new venture there.

Gold Circle, the soft-goods discount division, opened its first store in Columbus last April, a second this summer and is building a third in Columbus and will expand next year to Dayton.

"This new Gold Triangle venture," Lazarus said, "goes hand in hand with the simultaneous expansion of our traditional department store business. Rather than signifying a change in emphasis, it is a recognition that the whole spectrum of retailing is growing so broad, so fast, that the alert merchant needs to position himself in several segments of the overall market.

"The growth and expansion of our department stores shows the continuing opportunity for the large umbrella-type full-line store. Our experience with the prototype Gold Circle soft-goods discount stores indicates that the customer thinks we are making good our promise to deliver a more attractive combination of price appeal, fashion emphasis and service than the traditional service counter offers. Now, after a long and thorough study of the hard-goods market, we feel that there is great opportunity for the price appeal, specialized service and wide choice that Gold Triangle will offer."

Mendenhall, who started at Federated's Columbus division as a salesman in 1939, became a divisional merchandise manager of appliances and recreational hard-goods in 1961, and was vice president and general merchandise manager of the basement store when made a Federated executive earlier this year.

McCabe, Gold Triangle's general operating manager, joined the Columbus division at age 26 as a statistical clerk, worked up through internal audit and inventory control to become director of research, became Northland branch manager in 1964 and has managed Lazarus' new Eastland branch since it opened in 1967.

'Any Wednesday' Opens PC's Season

By CLAUDIA ELKINS
Entertaiment Editor

"Any Wednesday" a very befitting title describing the extra-curricular activities of a successful and married businessman on Wednesdays, opened Players Club's 46th season last Thursday evening with much to appreciate, but some areas to question.

But first, an unknown genius at PC, is deserving credit. He is an imaginative person who probably said, "Why not sell the old stage floor to those who have trod upon it, thusly paying for the new floor."

Since I had trod, I exchanged four dollars and 50 cents for a worn board approximately one foot long and four inches wide. The boards are available at the club for you who have trod upon the boards between 1927-1968.

The first visual contact with Players Club's "Any Wednesday" is breathtaking. This in-depth set design, created by Ray Peterson, actually relates the play's plot. Plaids and florals say sweetness and sophistication. Also the colors, set decorations and furnishings tastefully and pointedly create the author's (Muriel Resnick) intent of a humorous look at emotion versus social and personal moral standards. The blending of antique and modern allowed for the mood of an unrealistic life on Wednesday.

The cast of four can be divided into pairs when considering acting and casting, but certainly become entangled as far as which man belongs to the mistress of the apartment that is a tax exemption.

Bev Pettit, as the wife who assumes her husband is so tired on Thursdays because of his work, is superb. Her delivery and stage presence is unquestionably professional.

A newcomer to PC's stage, Alan Gaynor, is equal to the comments given Bev Pettit. His delivery is as smooth as glass. A prediction: he is an excellent performer who will no doubt be an asset to Columbus' list of distinguished actors.

Loomis, as the lucky businessman with a Wednesday retreat, steadily progresses downhill. Cinny Wilson, central figure of the play as the reason for Wednesdays, emits sticky sweetness and no sophistication. Her costume for going out to dinner was created for a ninth grader attending her first dance. Completely out of context as the script points out.

Managing-director Gerald L. Ness' blocking is an excellent showcase of the play. Particularly the second act with six or seven different pairs of the four member cast involved on the two-person sofa at one time or another. Pace was excellent, allowing the audience to enjoy the humor.

Tonight's performance is open to the public.

Tickets are available by phoning 224-6971 or 221-3449.

Tickets are also available at the ticket office prior to the 8:30 p.m. curtain, but Players Club is well attended, so better phone.

IT COULD BE A DIRE EMERGENCY

If you broke a leg, you couldn't get to the Spaghetti Dinner tonight, from 4 to 8, at the Hamilton Township High School. But if it happens, just keep your cool and call the Hamilton Township Emergency Squad. The Hamilton Township Firemen's Association, which is sponsoring the annual feast, has promised transportation to all spaghetti lovers finding themselves splinted when the dinner bell rings. Shown in front of the new squad wagon are, from left, Frank Trout and Charles Titko, chaplain. The victim? Why none other than Chief Paul Stempfle who is ready to go all the way to promote the dinner and the proposed 2.5 mill fire levy (1.9 of which is renewal) which voters will be asked to approve so the department can continue to provide A-1 fire protection and emergency services to the community.

Hamilton Resident Fails To Grasp Tax Picture

The cry of "blackmail" in a "letter to the editor" written recently by a resident of Hamilton Township following the report on the local school district's financial plight could have been anticipated.

Anytime a school district puts its cards on the table and informs the public of a crisis and spells out what it may mean the action is seen as a pressure move. Routinely, the board and administrators are accused of using threats to get a levy passed.

HOWEVER, the accusation made that dependents of Lockbourne AFB personnel are getting a free ride is more difficult to understand.

But apparently, it is a misunderstanding that is not uncommon among township taxpayers.

Within the past week, a call was made by a LAFB-based sergeant who was concerned over the hospitality shown to his children by their classmates who parroted the conception that Hamilton's woes come from the Base.

ALTHOUGH it is an indisputable fact that if the multimillion dollar installation were placed on the tax duplicate, the wealth of the district would spiral, it is also conceded that the value of its acreage, before developed by the federal government, did little to enhance Hamilton's tax base.

And, the federal funds received under the Impacted Area Act are a bonanza to the district.

For every child of a person living on the Base, Hamilton receives $255 reimbursement from the government.

FOR LOCAL TAXES to generate the same amount of money for every child, there would have to be almost $15,000 for each child on the duplicate. The assessed valuation per pupil is actually about $5,000.

The rather complicated formulae allows approximately half the full reimbursement for dependents of persons attached to the Base, who do not live there.

Of course, these families, although disenfranchised, pay the going tax rate of the district through either taxes, or indirectly through rent.

Further, the same amount per child is received from State Foundation funds, without regard to residency.

SUPT. JOHN Savel emphasized that he feels the whole problem revolves around how to educate all the children—and not who is or is not getting "a free ride."

"We don't care where a student comes from," he said. "Our job is to provide him with the quality education to which every child is entitled."

$8 Is Bargain Price For Self-Improvement

Adult education courses offered by the Madison Local School District will begin Monday evening and be held from 7 until 9 p.m. each Monday for the next 10 weeks.

Registrations are now being accepted at the high school office daily from 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. with Monday as deadline.

HOWEVER, AFTER Monday, enrollment is possible in established classes that have not reached maximum size.

With Eastland offering adult vocational education, the local program is basically one of self-improvement allowing adult enrichment through the availability of school facilities.

The subject areas include math, shorthand, typing, art, ceramics, language, history and any other subjects in which at least 12 persons register.

FEES FOR the non-credit courses (a certificate of completion is awarded) is $8, payable at time of registration and refundable only if the class is cancelled.

Generally, materials and supplies will be provided without additional costs.

Persons attending (high school students cannot enroll) are asked to use the east door of the building adjoining the parking lot.

REGISTRATION forms and further information may be obtained by calling 836-5345.

An Apology

In reporting a rumored annexation by the City of Columbus of acreage in Hamilton Township, The Spectator stated Ernest Gabriel, township trustee, and Bill Lares, Hamilton School Board president, were willing to go along with the proposal.

Both Gabriel and Lares state this allegation is false, and that both have long gone on the record as opposing further annexation of the township acreage to the city.

We regret any embarrassment the apparently false report caused either man.

Businessmen, Council At Odds Over Parking

An uneasy truce between local businessmen and Canal Winchester Council was reached this week when village officials committed themselves to enforcing the two-hour parking restrictions set up in the downtown area.

The commitment came after Bill Conrad presented Council with petitions demanding the parking spaces eliminated in recent months be restored and that talk of parallel parking be forgotten.

ACCOMPANIED BY other businessmen, including Warren Moore and Don Gilchrist, Conrad made the plea that loss of even one parking place was a blow to local merchants—and to the community as a whole.

With the official attitude that canceling out the parking slots near the intersection of Waterloo and High was necessary from a safety angle, the petitions carried little weight.

Mayor Mike Miller was particularly adamant on the subject, stating that he was "sick and tired of the matter" and accusing the merchants of caring nothing about the safety of their patrons.

HOWEVER, THE proposal for a crackdown on over-time parking was accepted as a valid one.

Apparently the target will not be the person who stretches downtown errands out to two hours and five minutes, but the employes of downtown businesses who park from nine 'til five and those who drive into Canal, park their car and catch a ride to the city where they are employed.

It was clarified that the purpose of the enforcement is not to enrich the village by the wholesale ticketing of offenders, but to clear the business area of day-long parkers.

TEMPERS flared at the suggestion made by Conrad that the space reserved for the police cruiser be eliminated. This proposal went over no bigger than that made to restore parking at the intersection.

Treasurer Bob Reinhard reported that the curb and gutters installed on Hocking St. and at High and Columbus this spring cost $2,667.41 with seven abutting property holders being assessed $3.93 a running foot. The taxpayers who have a choice of paying their bill outright or having it prorated on their tax duplicate will be charged from $245 to $785, depending upon frontage.

According to Reinhard, the job, done with village labor, was accomplished at bargain-basement prices.

ANOTHER CURB improvement to be undertaken is the repair of the one in front of the Municipal Building which has been broken down by trucks cutting the corner. A barricade will also be erected to protect the new curb—and pedestrians who could conceivably be struck.

Although not asking for immediate action, the mayor stated his concern on the need for tuck pointing of the Municipal Building. He has learned the job can be done for $760. Sandblasting the stone trim would add $75 to the bill and if the entire structure were sandblasted, it would cost $900.

Negotiations on renewal of the franchise between the South Central Power Co. and the village was tabled for 30 days.

BOB CATHERS of the utility company was present to object to provisions asked by the village which South Central believes unreasonably restrictive. Although the company is willing to seek village okay on major installations, it does not want to have to seek the street commissioner's approval before it can replace

Madison Citizens' Committee Begins Door-To-Door Canvass

Three hundred parents trooped to Groveport-Madison High School this week to arm themselves with the facts about the 8.5 operating levy voters of the Madison Local School District will face at election.

Their principal ammunition as they canvass their neighbors between now and Nov. 4 is a brochure "What's the Story."

PUBLISHED by the Citizens' Committee in the belief that an informed vote will be a positive vote, the brochure spells out the problems of a district which, with 500 new additional students annually has doubled enrollment in five years.

A rising tax duplicate and holding down costs per pupil lower than the other 17 districts in the county have enabled the board to offer a quality program without additional taxes during the past four years.

But the economic facts of life have finally caught up with Madison and by January, $340,000 more will be needed annually to continue the program considered essential by those who care about the future of the district's children.

THE BROCHURE points out that failure of the levy will mean either closing the schools when the money runs out or an immediate curtailment of education as it is now offered in Madison's schools.

The areas that would be considered "expendable" if the voters fail to open up their purses to the kids are kindergarten, art, music, athletics, maintenance, health programs, class size, transportation and classroom supplies.

On the more positive side, the Citizens' Committee points out that good schools are not only an investment in a child's future but help today to keep youth of the community wholesome and occupied. The committee further maintains good schools keep property values up and bring business and more income and better living to a community.

ONE TABLE included in the brochure shows exactly what the proposed millage will mean in dollars and cents to the homeowner.

For example, if one's home could be sold today for $20,000 it would be assessed at about $9,000 and the $8.50 additional tax per thousand amounts to $1.48 a week.

The Citizens' Committee is banking that the voters will weigh the future of the children of the community against the cost of the levy, and cast their vote for the children.

FORTUNATELY, THERE ARE NOT TOO MANY LIKE THEM

When the cosmetology students enrolled at Eastland were beaten 12-6 in a powder puff gridiron battle by the girls learning the skills of dental assistants they may well have alibied that their cheerleaders lacked the glamour of those of their opponents. And the above pictures indicate their point would be valid. At the left are the lovely characters who rooted the future dental assistants to victory. From left they are: back — Jim Dobbis of Whitehall and Tom Walker of Reynoldsburg; front — Ed Weekly from Licking Heights and Tom Schieppi of Reynoldsburg. The coquettish four representing the cosmetologists are, from left, Jim Scanlon of Canal Winchester, Allen Pitzinger of Bexley, Richard Barnhart of Groveport-Madison and Chad Robinson of Canal Winchester.

James Birchnell was named deputy marshal of the village and accorded the rank of captain and a corresponding pay increase.

Other Council business included the final reading of the ordinance establishing the one-way traffic (east only) on the first alley south of Mound from High to Trine, the report by Councilman Jack Hunter that house numbering will be complete before the first of the year and the news that the fire department has had a new pumper delivered.

THE OLD ONE has been turned over to the Groveport Department to replace one which has become too costly to maintain.

Water Rates Unchanged; Hopes High On Sewer Rates

The first reading of a water rate ordinance in Ashville Council this week indicates residents will continue to be charged at the current rate.

However, although this figure, regarded by some as rather high, is necessary to finance the revenue bonds that will be issued to almost double plant capacity, sewer rates are another thing.

ALTHOUGH FURTHER study is deemed advisable it is believed sewer rates (which are now figured at 50 per cent of the user's water bill) can be lowered.

With $8,000 in federal money available for the engineering of sewer expansion in newly-annexed areas and the east side of the village, Burgess and Niples were instructed to complete the preliminary engineering plans immediately.

When this improvement was first talked of in the early sixties, cost estimates of $200,000 were made.

HOWEVER, VILLAGE officials recognize that during recent years delayed construction has consistently involved a hike in original estimates.

Convinced that after election a move will be made by the county to levy an additional $5 automobile license fee, Council instructed Dave Kraft, solicitor, to prepare the necessary legislation allowing the $5 to come directly to the village.

By guesstimates there are something over 400 families in the village, averaging at least 1.25 cars apiece.

THIS MONEY which can be spent only for administrative expense of collecting it and street improvement is a tax which officials believe inevitable. They believe their move assures those paying it will benefit from it all rather than from what part of it the county might decide to dole out locally.

In recognition of a rather outstanding job done by Dick Conaway as caretaker of the park, Council determined to raise his salary $120 a year, effective Jan. 1.

This action, described by one official as being long overdue, apparently changed Conaway's mind about his threat to resign made earlier.

WITH FOUR applications received for the job of street maintenance man (a fulltime post), interviews will be set up with the entire Council at its next meeting, Nov. 4. It is anticipated the decision will be made that evening and the turnover made effective Jan. 1.

Other business included authorization for a pep rally and bonfire at the Teays Valley High School Thursday, the eve of the Vikings' hosting Canal Winchester at homecoming.

Two Nights Of Fun Set In Groveport

Jack O'Lantern time will begin next Wednesday in Groveport with Mayor Roger Higgins officially proclaiming Beggar's Night between 6 and 10 p.m.

The annual Halloween party, sponsored by the Groveport Lions, will begin at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 31. Scheduled on the football field, it will be moved into the high school gym if the weather is bad.

The party will be preceded by a parade which will form at the high school at 6 p.m., march west on Main to Walnut, north to Elm, east to Front and back to the school.

Under the general chairmanship of Ken Foley, cider and donuts will be served to the 600 guests expected.

Prizes for the prettiest, funniest and ugliest costumes will be awarded in eight age categories ranging from preschool to adults.

Alum Crest Open House Set Nov. 3

Alum Crest, Franklin County's new home for its aged, will be on view when the Friendly Visitors and the Alum Crests hold open house at 1599 Alum Crest Dr. from 2 until 4 p.m., Sunday, Nov. 3.

County Commissioners Henry Koontz, Robert Southwick and David Shawan; Erwin A. Petzinger, Alum Crest superintendent; Mrs. Robert Draper, Friendly Visitors president and officers of participating groups will be in the receiving line.

Mrs. Robert Maher is general chairman of the open house.

S/Sgt. Douglas At Tuy Hoa AB

S/Sgt. Joseph C. Douglas, son of Mrs. Mae Douglas, 496 Glendower Ave., is on duty at Tuy Hoa AB, Vietnam.

Sgt. Douglas, a jet engine mechanic, is a member of the Pacific Air Forces. Before his arrival in Vietnam, he was assigned to Forbes AFB, Kan.

The sergeant, a 1955 graduate of Marion-Franklin High is married to theformer Zelma L. Robinson.

Lutz Reviews Costs Of Busing Operation

School bus business is big business in the Teays Valley District — and one entailing tremendous responsibilities.

These facts were spelled out this week in a report prepared by Teays Valley superintendent, Benis Lutz.

According to Lutz, it costs $88,000 or 8.5 percent of the districts budget to transport 2,000 students 210,000 miles annually.

The most recent cost study shows the largest single item budgeted to keep the 25-bus fleet rolling is $38,819 paid out for salaries.

Other costs include: body and chassis repairs, $11,372.40; tires, $2,152.59; gas and lubrication, $11,50[illegible]; insurance, $957.87, and bus replacement, $24,000.

Currently although only 10 years service is anticipated from the average school bus, only 13 are later than 1960 models indicating 10 other buses, some already 12 and 13 years old, will have to be replaced within the next two or three years.

Lutz figures captial outlay and salaries add 31 cents per mile to actual operating expenses, bringing the total to 44 cents per mile at a daily cost of $493.40.

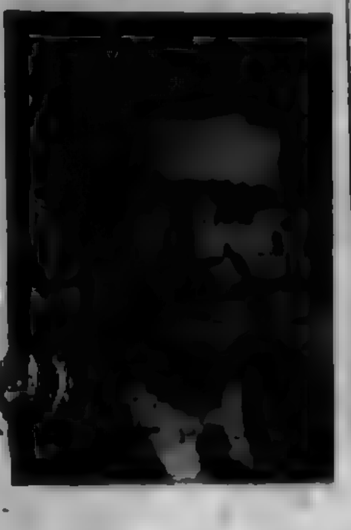
Race For Commissioner Gathers Full Momentum

Jacob A. Shawan



JACOB A. SHAWAN

By SYLVIA BROOKS
Spectator Staff Writer

Jacob Shawan, candidate for Franklin County Commissioner, has found himself in the middle of one of the most active and contested races in county politics.

Shawan attributes this new interest to an increase in vocal dissent, both nationally and locally. "I feel there are more militants in small groups in our community and across the county. Many minority groups who depend on welfare raise their voices — whether righteously or not."

The GOP candidate does not feel any county problems are beyond a reasonably quick solution. "Franklin County is unusual in being at a point of staying in the black. I think it has had good management and we can be thankful."

Shawan feels the fiscal situation in the county is "in good shape basically. We don't have any fiscal problems. The other problems are minor."

This is what Shawan had to say about other issues in the commissioner race:

ALUM CREST: "Because of the five-step program set up for Alum Crest, we do need the funds from the proposed levy. There has been a lack of good reporting by some papers. The new money will go to the operation of the program. If we don't get the levy, the present money will have to go toward operation and the construction phases will have to be neglected."

Shawan was asked what he thought of the present facilities: "I am most impressed . . . It is one of the finest rest home areas; there are fantastic kitchen and hospital facilities. There is nothing like it in the state and it would be a model for anyone to copy who is moving into this field."

URBAN PROBLEMS: Shawan feels commissioners have a great responsibility in this area. He told The Spectator: "The County should encourage the development of local out-of-city limits sewer and water supplies which will be eventually connected into Columbus sewer lines. People keep moving in and we do not have adequate facilities."

He emphasized the importance of "looking now for solutions to these problems. Planning in urban problems is one of the most important things. The water supply, food supply and sewage disposal are the basics. We have to start working with them."

WELFARE: Shawan said he saw many encouraging signs in the area of welfare. Within the last 30 days, he pointed out, the general relief caseloads have been reduced at a rate of one to two per cent weekly. Also, he feels top administrators have "a feeling that it is a business organization; attitudes are changing."

Shawan has been talking with representatives of the National Alliance of Businessmen and church organizations. He stated the NAB project can "help people get back into the mainstream of the system" and off welfare roles.

The commissioners, according to Shawan, hope to work with church bodies on starting more day care centers. He said this action is needed because over 50 per cent of the welfare cases fall into two categories — mothers, and children under 18.

DISSENTING GROUPS: Shawan related an incident which occurred during a meeting with Welfare Rights Organization representatives: "I think it indicates a bad state of affairs when you ask them the question, 'What are your responsibilities to yourself,' and you get the answer, 'To see that you commissioners give us more.'"

Shawan implied he does not like the tactics of dissenting groups, but added, "I do have compassion for the unfortunate."

DEMOCRATIC opponents: Shawan feels the two Democratic opponents are "very fine people. I am sure they wouldn't be in their positions if they weren't capable and able."

He sees "nothing but a good future" for the county. "I am enthused about the things that can be done on a county level and hope to be in a position to do something about it."

Shawan was appointed county commissioner after Commissioner Glen Myers resigned in September.

Michael J. Dorrian

MICHAEL J. DORRIAN

By JOHN MORGAN
Spectator Staff Writer

Democratic candidate for the post of Franklin County Commissioner, Michael J. Dorrian, sounded a note of optimism concerning his chances in the November election.

"Our reports," Dorrian said, "show that people in Franklin County are responding to the many new ideas we've presented in the campaign."

Continuing along the same lines, Dorrian added: "We have strong indications of support throughout the community for a change in the county commissioners' office."

Part of the reason for this support, the assistant city safety director believes, is because "we've been talking about the issues all through the campaign. The commissioners' post used to be a gift to party faithfuls. Thus, the people in this job were not responsive to the needs of people."

Meeting the needs of people — this has been a campaign slogan used by both Harold Cooper (other Democratic candidate for the post) and Dorrian, who spelled out what he meant.

"The commissioners always say they don't have enough money. But there also is a lack of concern on their part. This is the barrier of indifference which separates them from the people.

"Going into office you have to have a willingness to listen so that progress can be made."

Here is how Dorrian viewed key issues in the campaign:

- TRANSPORTATION: Citing a Battelle Memorial Institute report which showed the inability of county residents to get to places of work, Dorrian said one need was to subsidize a transportation system on a countywide basis.

He added the new system could provide for better transportation for inner-city residents to places of work and also make way for mass transit means downtown from the perimeter of the city for those living in the suburbs who have difficulty driving to work.

- ALUM CREST: "This is the only issue on the ballot which has not been fully explained by the people who proposed it. The commissioners have not cited the full reasons why the public should vote for it. I think there are good reasons for more money at Alum Crest.

"There was an advisory board who made recommendations to make needs — such as the types of care programs and what is needed."

- FISCAL SITUATION: "The present commissioners," Dorrian said, "have been telling county people there is no money available, and yet telling others they will come up with money for such things as the courthouse.

"We have access to the county budget for 1968 but not to the estimated revenue," he continued.

"They are telling the poor there is no money, but in other areas they seem to find it."

- WELFARE: "Everyplace you go the common denominator is welfare.

"I am concerned," Dorrian said, adding that he felt the commissioners had never been receptive.

"The adult males on welfare have to be guided into retraining programs and there has to be more emphasis on job opportunities for young adults.

"The biggest untapped market is the welfare mother," he commented, citing a need for more day care centers and built-in incentives to work to

DOLLAR FEDERAL FIRST

Earmark $5 Million For Ghetto Housing

A call for other financial institutions to involve themselves in the rehabilitation of the ghetto was made this week by H. C. Gockenbach, president of Dollar Federal Savings and Loan Association —a private firm which has earmarked $5 million to be used in a low-income housing program.

Dollar Federal is the first Ohio financial institution to commit a multi-million dollar fund for mortgage loans involving Federal Housing Administration sections—which provide a framework for government backing on loans that would be turned down under normal conditions because of high-risk factors.

PRESENT DURING announcement of the new venture were State. Rep. Keith McNamara and Congressman Chalmers Wylie. Wylie termed the private enterprise venture a "pilot program which can help others."

McNamara, head of a legislative subcommittee studying substandard housing in Ohio, commended Dollar Federal. He said the venture would show the desirability of home ownership among low-income families and provide loans for rehabilitation for such families.

"We expect this program to be widely accepted in the Model Cities' areas," Gockenbach said, "but it will be equally available to all of the older areas."

Gockenbach said the project is aimed at the occupant owner of a single-family house. "To those low-income workers who have dreamed of owning their own home but felt the dream was unattainable, we have the answer."

Loans will be made for any amount up to a maximum of $13,000. The borrower will have as long as 30 years to repay the loan.

Monthly payments of about $95 for an $11,000, 30-year loan were cited as a typical example of the financing involved in the program. Thus, a decent home would become available to families with incomes less than $5,000 per year.

GOCKENBACH intimated almost 400 loans could be made during a three-year period at a maximum value of $13,000.

Under this program, a home owner can obtain a mortgage which will refinance his home and also cover the cost of rehabilitating the structure. Or, the home owner can borrow money solely for the purpose of repair or improvements.

A minimum down payment of three per cent is involved in mortgage loans made on the purchase of low-priced homes. The mortgage can be repaid in weekly installments — a rare departure from the traditional monthly payment procedure.

Roy D. Allen, director of FHA's Columbus office, told Dollar Federal officials his office would do everything possible "to contribute to the success of the program."

David P. Barker, assistant vice president at the savings and loan association, was named as the officer in charge of the program. A graduate of Ohio State University, Barker worked for the State Department of Finance before coming to Dollar Federal in 1964.

Gockenbach explained the firm's reason for this unique venture in these terms:

"Leaders in many different government departments and representatives of both the white and black communities have been urging business to participate in efforts to help the poor and solve the prob

Litter Law Cutting Back On Pollution

A new Anti-Stream Litter Law is "fast becoming an effective tool in Ohio's overall water pollution control program," according to State Rep. Keith McNamara, one of the sponsors of the House bill.

McNamara said the Department of Natural Resources officials report arrests are averaging about 10 a week for violation of the new law.

The new law prohibits disposal of garbage or other unsightly materials in Ohio streams and along their banks.

PITY THE POOR CONSUMER?

Quick Sales, Ignorance Give Edge To Sellers

Big problems sometimes come in small print. And the consumer usually stands to lose if he doesn't take time to read what he is signing.

One such problem which has cropped up recently in this area concerns the small, fine-print clauses in contracts signed by too-eager customers.

THE FINE-PRINT clauses which sometimes take a magnifying glass to read — [illegible] appear on the back of an airline ticket, parking stubs, product warranties or even in more formidable-appearing documents.

These small-print clauses are mild examples of what most consumers fail to read before signing contracts.

According to the State Attorney General's office, many complaints received by them are a "result of people neglecting to read a document before they sign their name."

A study some years ago showed Ohioans were being bilked of an estimated $300,000,000 annually by sharp operators.

"The best consumer protection," an attorney at the state's Consumer Frauds and Crimes Division declared, "is the informed consumer who can protect himself."

These recent examples of what can happen to uninformed consumers were furnished by the Attorney General's office:

- A man thought he was signing a "personal reference" for a friend. Instead he signed a note for goods.
- A company representative called a couple to tell them he had a $5 check for them if they let him demonstrate a machine in their home. He showed them the machine and then handed them a folded piece of paper to sign. They did. The next morning the note was discounted to a finance company and the couple was $449 poorer.
- A consumer thought he was "renting furniture." He signed an agreement which stipulated that he buy the furniture.
- A salesman calls people offering them a "free gift." When the salesman comes to the home he does bring the gift—and more items to sell.
- An advertisement appears in a newspaper for a repossessed stereo which costs $35. When the repossessed stereo is brought to a home it generally is in very poor condition. The salesman tells the potential consumer he "just happens to have another stereo" in his car. The other stereo — which is the one he wants to sell — is overpriced. And the consumer buys it.

A CONSUMER Frauds and Crime bulletin recently warned Ohioans that "at least for now, the sad fact is that too frequently the seller in the American market place is more sophisticated and more cynical than the buyer."

One of the more fruitful areas for those utilizing some form of misrepresenting their product or a contract is in poverty areas, where levels of consumer sophistication appear lowest. A consumer fraud division bulletin, noting a survey of 300,000 buyers showed some level of understanding on their part concerning buying practices, noted "that hopefully they are the embodiment of a trend in our society."

Some of the means used to bilk Ohioans of money are often due to consumer misunderstandings.

A WIDESPREAD practice for tricking housewives and other victims involves agreements with "no money down." The gimmick is that by merely signing a harmless-looking piece of paper you authorize delivery of goods or services.

The trick, however, is that the consumer often signs an important legal document known as a "cognovit note." The con man sells the note and departs for points unknown, leaving his customer stuck to pay — even if the purchase turns out to be unworkable or phony.

Another area of concern to those seeking consumer protection is warranties and guarantees. Often a consumer discovers limitations on the guarantee after the product or services have failed and he seeks performance of the guarantee.

"Lifetime guarantee," for example, is worthless unless the life referred to is clearly described. If a muffler is guaranteed "for life," does it mean the life of the car or the life of the car owner?

"SATISFACTION or your money back," standing alone, means nothing unless it describes the expiration time for a refund and where and how to get the refund.

The best protection against consumer fraud, most experts agree, is two-sided: legal and educative.

Legal minds long have questioned the validity of harsh contracts and fine-print clauses. But the best defense against a shady deal is consumer education.

A wise man will think twice and read carefully before entering into any potential deal.

Mrs. Richard Edwards, 1892 Edgemont Rd., chairman of UNICEF Trick or Treat in Franklin County, shows Mark and John Rogers, children of Rev. and Mrs. Grady Rogers, 34 S. Westgate, how just five cents will fill 30 cups with milk for children in underdeveloped countries.

UNICEF Benefits From Trick Or Treat

"Trick or Treat" will be the cry heard Wednesday evening, Oct. 30, when the children of this community will join over three and a half million other American boys and girls in celebrating National UNICEF Day.

Pirates and witches, cowboys and goblins, space men and ghosts will all be visiting homes in the Columbus and Franklin County area. The UNICEF Trick or Treaters will be identified by their official collection box; an orange and black container with a small symbol of a mother and child. Only children carrying this carton will be authorized to collect funds for UNICEF.

The odds that confront the average child today in a developing country are four to one against his receiving any medical attention at birth or afterwards. The chances are three to one that he will suffer malnutrition at some time during the pre-school age period.

If he survives until school age, the chances are over two to one he will not complete elementary grades. Before he has reached his teens he will probably be working full time to help maintain himself or his family.

To a child in this country, UNICEF is their opportunity to help other children. To a child in the developing countries, UNICEF is food, health and the hope of an education.

Gilligan For Senate

Ohio voters have an opportunity to send a uniquely qualified man to the Senate this year.

John J. Gilligan is not an ordinary politician. In his brief but impressive political career, he has proven himself a man of great vision and compassion — an intelligent, probing public official.

He has also proven his courage. His eloquent plea for the minority Vietnam plank at the Democratic National Convention got him in plenty of political hot water but he refused to compromise his principles for political gain.

Gilligan is a politician in the Kennedy mold. His concern is with Ohio's people and their problems — the problems of crime, of welfare, of housing abuses, of the need for better education.

What Ohio needs is what John Gilligan has to offer — a new vision, a clear voice for justice, a hand held out in hope to those stranded in poverty and discrimination, a political way out of the wasteland, appealing to both old and young.

John Gilligan struck the first blow against the forces of reaction in May when he retired Frank Lausche from the Senate.

He now deserves the opportunity to put into practice in the Senate those policies which led him to victory over Lausche in May.

The Spectator Newspapers wholeheartedly urge their readers to vote for John J. Gilligan for Senator on Nov. 5.

The Legislature

The election of members of the Ohio Legislature takes on added significance this year.

During the past two years, Ohioans have been made aware of state problems in many areas — highways, mental hygiene and notably in the state's archaic corrections system.

Thus the election of qualified members to the State House and Senate is vitally important if the state is to solve these problems.

With this in mind, The Spectator Newspapers make their endorsements for the legislative seats:

58th District—There is no incumbent. James W. Muldoon, the Democrat, has shown a grasp of the issues and should be elected.

59th District — Republican Alan E. Norris has represented the views of his constituents well and should be reelected.

60th District—Democrat Gene Shepard appears qualified but his campaign has not been aggressive. Republican Roger Tracy is an intelligent, capable legislator and deserves re-election.

61st District — After pulling off a major upset two years ago, Republican A. Mack Pemberton has served faithfully but with no particular distinction. Democrat John D. Ryan appears well acquainted with the problems of the district and deserves election.

62nd District — Republican Rep. Robert G. Jones is the outstanding member of the Franklin County delegation. His loss would be a loss to the entire state of Ohio. He has won disfavor from some Republicans for bucking the administration but this is to his credit.

63rd District — Democrat Phale D. Hale has served his troubled district admirably and should be retained.

64th District — Two outstanding candidates are vying for this seat. Incumbent Republican Keith McNamara is a capable legislator but his voting record indicates he too often ignores the obvious needs of his district to follow party lines. Democrat William A. Kopp is concerned with these "gut" issues and should be given a chance to represent the district.

16th Senate District — Republican Robert Shaw has served this district with distinction. He is an outstanding member of the Senate and should be re-elected.

'Yes' For Schools

In the year of numerous requests for tax money, many area residents seem hesitant to approve school tax levies, some of them for rather large amounts.

It would be extremely damaging if this trend were allowed to take its toll on Nov. 5.

The Spectator recognizes this natural reluctance and strongly urges the adoption of all of the school issues on the ballot—from the Columbus levy to those for the smallest districts.

It is unfortunate that property taxes must provide so much of the operating budgets of our schools. But until the State of Ohio wakes up to its responsibilities the taxpayers will continue to have to bear the burden.

Nothing is more important to our young people than a quality education. There is only one way to assure this quality and that is to vote the funds needed to provide it.

We strongly urge voters to keep their young people in mind when they vote on these important issues.

15th District: Wylie

It is with a great deal of pleasure and satisfaction that these newspapers urge 15th Congressional District voters to reelect Republican Rep. Chalmers P. Wylie.

Two years ago, Wylie's campaign convinced us to endorse him for a first term. In his freshman term, he has convinced us he is the ideal representative for the 15th District.

The Spectator has not always agreed with Wylie on the issues. We have publicly praised him and prodded him during the past two years.

But we firmly believe that Wylie represents the views of a majority of the voters in his district — and this is the best set of credentials a congressman can present.

Unlike the deplorable situation in the 12th District, the powers-that-be have presented both parties with acceptable candidates. But it is our opinion that Wylie should be permitted to continue to serve his district for another two years.

Laugh-In

By JOHN MORGAN

What is left unsaid by politicians is often more important than their public statements.

Pity the poor voter, who is so confused by statements and counter-statements that he finds it difficult to get much further than "let George do it" or "Nixon is the one" or even "at a time like this it ought to be Saxbe."

I have finally figured out what politicians really mean.

Richard Nixon: "I think part of the reason for Wallace not going down is that the Humphrey campaign hasn't caught on."

(What I really mean to say is that Humphrey hasn't aimed his speeches at the hate-mongers in our society. The next time he is heckled he ought to bring along a Greyhound bus and tell the hecklers to step in front of that.)

Ex-Gov. George Wallace: "We're going to steer the Constitution right."

(We're going to bend our constitution about as far right as we can and teach them pseudo-intellectual, bureaucratic, liberal-swinging, pinko journalistic, anarchistic, Viet Cong-supporting, un-American blankety-blank people a lesson.)

Hubert Humphrey: "I am my own man."

(But my heart belongs to daddy.)

• • •

THINGS I would like to see:

President George Wallace blocking the White House doors to an ambassador from Africa.

Some politicians trying to clothe their children on the state allowance of $3 a year for clothing welfare children.

A community college dedication without Gov. James A. Rhodes.

A confrontation between Columbus Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner and comedian Don Rickles.

A "ruthless" reporter having to face questions on political science in front of television cameras.

Bullet control legislation.

A law separating public relations and political campaigns.

A militant student group having to face the awesome task of running a university.

• • •

I WORRY about:

Getting to work down the Olentangy Freeway after the first snowfall.

Humphrey hecklers being given equal time on television.

George Wallace naming former Sheriff Bull Conner as Attorney General.

Convention Challenge

By ROBERT W. REIDER
Editor And Publisher

REIDER

Columbus rightfully prides itself on leadership in many areas. For years it has been favorably known as the "convention city" in Ohio.

Today — for various reasons — Columbus' hold on that title is in serious jeopardy.

Not because convention groups have lost their desire to come to the capital city. Columbus is as attractive as ever, particularly for the regional type convention.

But the hard facts are that Columbus no longer has the facilities to offer. A top-notch convention and exposition center is needed to make the most of our location and other assets that could quickly and easily make Columbus the convention city it was once.

It is heartening to note that Nationwide has taken the lead in studying the problem and in making an effort to bring about the action required to put Columbus back on the convention track.

Alert business and civic leaders like Edward F. Wagner, James Foley and Blaine Sickles have recognized that the importance of convention business extends far beyond the sale of hotel rooms and the filling of restaurants.

They realize that a fine convention center can be the showcase of any leading community. It is obvious that attracting conventions to Columbus provides a direct means to attracting new business and industry.

A top-notch convention and exposition center could again transform Columbus into a regional center attracting conventions, dollars and jobs. Plus important industrial prospects.

The need and challenge is evident. Certainly Columbus leaders will rise to the occasion.

Vote November 5

By ROBERT TENENBAUM
Managing Editor

This will be short and to the point, because you'll hear the point pounded home over and over in the next two weeks.

Vote on Nov. 5.

There is no more important message on any subject.

On Nov. 5 the American people exercise the most sacred right they own — the right to select the President who will lead them through the next four years.

This has been the most unusual political season in memory. There are those of all political persuasions who are unhappy with all of the choices. Many of them have threatened to stay home a week from Tuesday.

To do so would be a tragic mistake. There are too many offices, too many issues at stake to stay home and pout.

These are, as the cliche goes, perilous times.

They are times when the American people must rally to the system that has led this country through nearly 200 stormy but successful years.

Voting has ceased to be a privilege. It is a duty, a responsibility.

Exercise that responsibility by voting Nov. 5.

Dear Hippies:

By TED BEARDSHEAR

Dear Hippies:

I've been strolling through the campus of Ohio State University and I've dug your long hair, beards, beads, chino pants and sneakers.

Over the news, I hear about various raids on OSU area apartments where Mary Jane is confiscated, along with speed, LSD et all.

Nationwide, I watched you converge on the Democratic Convention and just lately, in California, I watched your satirical support of Gov. Wallace.

Man, I dig your rebellion. In the age of the New Morality, The Bomb, Christless Christianity and the mores and morals of dominant middle class which you've found phony, etc., I don't blame you.

You're young and it's time to rebel.

But man, what do all those picket lines and placards accomplish? It doesn't affect The Establishment. In fact, in Chicago, you got your brains batted out.

And dressing weird . . . where does that get you? Off campus on Broad and High you're just another freak . . . laughing stock.

Don't misunderstand. I'm not knocking it. I'm trying to talk from the vantage point of over 30 . . . 10 years of which I spent in the same type of bag.

Sooner or later, you're going to cross the magic 30 line.

And when you do, you're going to look back on those 10 or more years of rebellion. If you managed through it all to get a college degree, you're going to be in decent shape.

Because baby, after 30 you start thinking of those 40 some years ahead. You're going to think in terms of job and family.

And face it, by that time a new generation will have a new bag and being over 30 you're going to be a has-been.

Rebellion is a young man's game. After 30, you're an alky or a junkie or a bum. There's Skid Row in every city in the U. S. just waiting for you.

So dig it now, baby. Now's the time. But hang in there for a degree.

Burn your draft card if you must and be a "hero" by going to Federal prison.

At 31, you'll find a blank on every application form asking if you have a criminal record.

Every employer is going to ask what you've been doing for the past decade.

And baby, what the Square World doesn't want is a professional rebel.

You'll have to start at the bottom with some job you hate even to start. Meanwhile, the wife is nagging, the kids are growing hungry and out of clothes and you're making starvation wages.

All the long hair, beards, beads, chino pants, sneakers, draft card burning, junk, women . . . the whole bag will have not changed The Establishment.

The Establishment goes on forever in every modern society and in every modern culture.

Get hip. You're going to cop out sometime. Include it in your plans.

The first place reform begins is in oneself. You'll never change the world but you can change yourself.

Take it from an ex-rebel who made the transition. The secret is not in fighting.

The secret is manipulating your own personalized niche in The Establishment.

And it's not a real cop out. You can live and believe what you want. It's a free world.

Nobody's going to force you into Kiwanis or the PTA.

Your friend,
Ted

Dislikes Hoppe

To The Editor:

In regard to the editorials in the last two issues by Arthur Hoppe:

This is the United States — the land of the free. how free would it be if everyone talked like A[illegible] Hoppe.

How can you allow such an editorial to be p[illegible] in the All-American city.

The terrible things that Hoppe has said about George Wallace are much worse than what Wallace has said in his speeches, or what his record shows as governor of Alabama.

I pray God that there are not very many people in this world like Arthur Hoppe.

One complaint may not help Hoppe but maybe a psychiatrist could. He has too much hate in him.

I voted for Nixon before and expect to vote for him again in November.

In this country, no one has a right to talk as does Arthur Hoppe.

Incidentally, I'm a white person and neither like Wallace nor hate him.

Nixon—With Catsup

By ARTHUR HOPPE

HOPPE

One of the great debates now dividing America is whether The New Nixon is any different than The Old Nixon. After campaigning with The New Nixon through Southern California and the Midwest, I can report that the changes are marked.

For one thing, as Mr. Walter Lippmann has so accurately pointed out, The New Nixon is eight years older than The Old Nixon was in 1960, though he doesn't look it.

For another, his speaking style has changed radically.

Never once in 1960 did The Old Nixon attack the current administration and issue a clarion call for "new leadership" — as he now does three and four times a day. No, that was The Old Nixon in 1962.

And never did The Old Nixon raise both arms above his head, fingers extended in the V-for-Victory sign, as he now does a dozen times a rally — at least he never did before he met Ike and Winston Churchill. (There is some minor dispute as to whether he does this to expose his well-muscled forearms or to hide his five-o'clock shadow under his collar, into which it invariably disappears.)

But if a clincher should be needed as to the radical changes in the man, there is the matter of what The New Nixon eats for lunch.

• • •

NOW THE OLD NIXON, as we Old Nixon campaigners can testify, lunched whenever possible on a hamburger and a chocolate malt. It was as American as cherry pie, which he publicly recalled in virtually every speech.

Now The New Nixon. The New Nixon lunches today, whenever possible on cottage cheese with — and I have this on the highest authority — catsup on it.

Staff aides weakly explain that Mr. Nixon eats cottage cheese to lose weight. But why catsup on it?

"Because it's better," says Mr. Nixon, himself with simple candor when asked this question flat out, "than without catsup on it."

• • •

WHILE A BOLD statement like this on the issue may cost Mr. Nixon the Wisconsin vote, it goes a long way to explaining the radical changes in The New Nixon.

Is it any wonder he never once mentions his mom's great cherry pies any more? Is it any wonder that reporters see him exuding a new glowing confidence? Could a man who daily faces up to a bowlful of cottage cheese with catsup on it face the future with anything less?

And talk about sincerity. When a man who eats cottage cheese with catsup on it pledges "A Change for America — A New Path to Progress," you'd better believe it.

So we have The New Nixon — a daring inn[illegible] a bold planner, sophisticated, confident, sincere and [illegible] still as American as — well, as American as cottage cheese with catsup on it.

Don't Blink! You Might Miss This

Blink and you have passed it.

It is a new restaurant now under construction and scheduled to open some time this month.

It will be called the Laneneil, not very imaginative, but very apropos. As the name implies, it is located just north of Lane and Neil Avenues, about one-half block.

This tiny building which once was an old house, has been practically torn down and rebuilt in a German motif. A flower garden will enhance the front entrance while the side entrances will lead either up or down.

Inside, there will be three floors used to serve customers: the top floor, where there is a view looking south toward OSU; the main floor where there are more doors and stairways than in a house of fun and the lower floor where beer on tap flows, all combine to offer a seating capacity of 125.

Small and cozy, the crowds walking to the football and basketball games will be pleasantly surprised to happen upon such a cozy little nook.

The owner is Mike Moratis. You are right if you've guessed, Greek. And also right if you think you know him. He is the manager of the Bistro. Anyway, in a couple of weeks the German motif so much like that offered in German Village can be found in the north end of town.

But don't blink, you will have passed it by.

'Lonely Hunter' Deserves Attention

By CLAUDIA ELKINS
Entertainment Editor

It was bright and sunny last Wednesday . . . outside. But at the Great Western Cinema the world of "Mr. Singer" created a dark and lonely feeling — inside. Inside "The Heart Is A Lonely Hunter" was grief.

Grief can be lonely, but loneliness can be grief. Both occurred as the reels of "The Heart Is A Lonely Hunter" unreeled the life of "Mr. Singer."

This film, based on Carson McCullers' novel of the same name, is sure to be a contender for several Academy Award categories this spring.

The beauty is there. Life's beauty, no matter how empty, life's beauty, no matter how cruel, life's beauty, no matter how innocent, has been created so stirringly through the telling of the story of "Mr. Singer's" hunt, that tears come unashamedly. Simplicity is the key to quality.

Perceiving human error through involvement comes easily as "Mr. Singer" touches the lives of a teenage girl blossoming into womanhood, a Negro doctor's fight with racial strife and another deaf mute's helplessness is conquered in death.

Easily, because of believability . . . hard, because of the fast-paced cynical world of today . . . but, the tears came.

Alan Arkin as the searching deaf mute, masterfully silent, weaves every ability, talent and understanding into this lonely man. It is a stellar performance.

Refreshing, talented and unforgettable Sondra Locke as the teenage woman commands attention. Her sensitive homeliness is appealing.

The entire cast, with Laurinda Barrett, Stacy Keach Jr., Chuck McCann, Biff McGuire, Percy Rodriquez, Cecily Syson and Jackie Marlowe in supporting roles, has been blended with the eye of a painter by director Robert Ellis Miller. His masterpiece is our gift.

A gift of tasteful distinction, a film well worth any price, any time, anywhere.

This film is also being shown at Loew's Morse Road. It is a very touching story deserving of attention.

Jazz 'Bag' Filled At The Sands

If jazz is your bag, be sure you catch the Sam Blackshaw Trio currently at the Sands.

With Sam on organ and backed up by two excellent sidemen, expect nothing but the best.

For you who are followers of Lou Rawls, Sam Blackshaw is no stranger to you. He has backed Rawls for many years.

But in his own light, Sam certainly shines.

He has an unbelievable approach to music. The way he weaves melody lines through his maze of improvisations is amazing.

The Blackshaw Trio's music is really soul music employing typical modern jazz tempos.

If you are a devotee of modern jazz, don't miss the Sam Blackshaw Trio at the Sands.

Although they opened three days late because of an auto accident, they will be there for a limited engagement.

Motion Picture Industry Institutes Film Rating

For the first time in the history of the American motion picture industry, all essential elements involved in motion pictures have come together to institute a voluntary national film rating program to guide parents, with a special consideration for children.

This announcement was made at a recent press conference by Jack Valenti, president of the Motion Picture Association of America; Julian S. OSU Theatre Season

Opening the Ohio State University Theater season will be the Columbus premiere of a new play, "Summertree."

The first work of 23 year old playwright, Ron Cowan, was originally produced last spring in New York at the Forum Theater in Lincoln Center.

The story concerns a young soldier in Vietnam and his memories of home and family. The play is now being distributed across the US by the Ohio State University based American Playwrights Theater.

William Shakespeare's "The Tempest" will be the next production. This play has been called one of the most beautiful literary objects ever created.

"Oh What A Lovely War" is a musical that takes a satiric look at World War I. This will be followed by Edward Albee's "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?"

Concluding the season in the late spring will be Georges Bizet's "Carmen." One of the most famous music dramas in the repertory, its score includes Carmen's "Habanara" and "Seguidilla," and Don Jose's passionate "Flower Song."

Production dates and location will be announced later. Season coupon books are now on sale. For complete information phone the theater at 293-2295.

Wilder Classic Opens Otterbein

Opening show for Otterbein College Theatre's 1968-'69 season is Thornton Wilder's satiric testament of faith in humanity to survive both through time and calamity, "The Skin of Our Teeth."

This Pulitzer Prize winner will open Oct. 31 and play a three night performance.

Off Broadway Continues Satire

"The Guru," "My Stamps Shall Be Redeemed," "The Just Married Game," "A Modern Fairytale" and "The Reluctant Rabbit" are just a smattering of subjects dissected in Off Broadway Theater's current musical revue, "You're Pulling My Leg."

The titles imply the humor intended, with skits pinpointing the satire in living, standards and fads.

Located at 2210 Summit St., the theatre runs Wednesdays and Thursdays with an 8:30 p.m. show and Fridays and Saturdays with an 8:30 and 11 p.m. performances.

VISIT THE OLD WORLD HERE IN COLUMBUS

THE GERMAN VILLAGE NEWS

Dorothy Bussart plays a 120-year old Chickring piano for Mohawk Grill's Sing-A-Long on Friday and Saturday nights. The antique has been in the Bussart for more than 40 years.

The Sing-A-Long draws many oldtimers to the Mohawk-Kossuth corner. Mostly they are folks who love to sing. However, the biggest attraction is 70 year old regular known as Stella. She creates more excitement than anyone.

Mohawk Grill is again open on Sunday's. Music is supplied by Andy and his accordion for the evening diners.

National Bible Week is in effect, Oct. 20 through the 26th.

It is fitting that German Village, U.S.A., take a retroactive look at religious affairs of the centuries, for Semitic Forms were first translated into German words before Hebrew was created.

The birth of the label "Bible" was in 1235 A.D., the same year of Bartholomew's Encyclopedia. Bartholomew is Catholic origin, and hence it is not surprising to find Bible derivative from Latin, Bi (two) and Biblus (papyrus of the Nile). However, Sanskrit transliterated means "to drink" Virgil establishes it as "to breathe in" or the "Breath of Life."

Coinciding with "Sachsenspiegel," Germany's main medieval Code is Iceland's Njalssaga. The year 1244 found manuscripts of the Bible broken into chapters, but one must remember the word "Chapters" was a part of the German Masonic Order or Degrees.

One hundred and forty-five years after instigation of the label, Wycliff added "Holy" to the name Bible, in 1380 A.D. Fifty-four years later, Gutenberg printed with movable type, and 14 years later the Old Testament was broken into verses. Eight years later, it became the first book to be printed.

It was printed in Weimar, by a Professor Weimar. Today, it is the capital of Thuringia, central Germany.

In 1495 the Germain Imperial Court was established while the first German faculty of law was organized at Heidelberg. A quarter of a century later, Martin Luther split religion into three groups, and in the same year the myth was invented that the Bible was infallible.

The same year Luther printed the first German Bible, excluding the trinity reference, Loyola founded the Jesuit Order. These movements occurred nine years after the appearance of the New Testament of Lyndale's.

Julian calendar came in 1502, and coincides with the Japanese New Year while the Romans still maintained Jan. 14 as the beginning. The Julian Calendar is part of Professor Weimar's works, and is contained within the sixth and seventh books of Moses, long ago removed from the Bible.

Recent research into this portion of German history has led into still further research to establish that students of Professor Weimar at his religious colony found their way into the Ohio Valley around 1800. Coincidental with that unfinished research is the possibility that certain early Ohio leaders were a part of the excommunicated Loyola student conclave who became heads of families, and leaders in political and medical works in the Ohio bulwark.

As Lutherism grew, so did many other religious groups. Almost all are said to have originated in Switzerland. Anabaptists are said to have originated in Germany, slid over into England to scale the high seas to America. Also from there were the Seventh Day Baptists founded by J. C. Beissel, a Palatinate German, and Becker, of Germantown, who called his church the Dunkards. The Dunkards first established their church in the area long known as Roberts Station, Muskingum County. It was a church for all people, yet the church WAS the people, a community family togetherness. Too often German cemeteries carried no or little markers. German religionists were long a persecuted lot.

Genealogical research shows many Germans embarking for America from Switzerland. Switzerland, never larger than combined Vermont, Connecticut and Rhode Island, served as ante chamber for Europeans seeking freedom from religious persecution.

There were four adjacent rooms from Swiss mainland. Inner doors opening outward to adjoining countries were necessary for financial security. Overpopulation there meant indentured soldier and life abroad. Thus, Ge mans to the no passe through Switze oft times defecting e iller pay, with destin bei the New World.

Songs of Deborah, and forms that are related to the first translations of those 26 Letters from which both the Hebrew Forms and the first German translations derived. Today, these 26 Letters are called Hebrew Forms, but they were in existence in 975 B.C., before the name Hebrew originated in 132 B.C. The letter J was first used in 850 B.C., while E was created 100 years later. In 650 B.C. J and E were combined, therefore this had to be the beginning of the name JEW. In 550 B.C. J, E and D were combined and P created in 475 B.C. In B.C., letters J, E, D and P were combined with S and so Jesus' name is found in translations of ancient law, all of which were printed by the learned scholars.

The German monarch is said to have been founded in 919 A.D., as man knows it today. One method of learning the Germans taught their offspring was "to weigh" one thing against another. They learned from nature and animals. Their rod of measure was work. Translation and transliteration of the word "work" takes one back into the sixth and seventh books of the Old Testament, that Julian decreed be omitted for all time.

Going back to the original 26 letters, one finds G-D standing for the Great Creator man today calls God. Man is made double, is both male and female, one predominating according to the work output of the pituitary gland, a twin unit gauging thought projection and feminine or masculine activity in nature. This is the Heiraic interpretation.

In German it was G-Ri, meaning man of earth. From this came the peoples of the Aryan language.

It is said the Germans were originally of the Aryan race. Aryan Name is a language spoken by people in south Asia 4000 years ago. One branch migrated to Europe, and moves created nations, one being Indo-German speaking the Aryan language.

The beginning of the Old Testament tells of the Tower of Babel, and the speaking of many tongues. It meant a polyglot of immigrants then as in 1776 in the New World.

There are more than 5,990 dialects spoken throughout the world. One cannot really say today there is High German and Low German, High French and Low French, for wars have integrated the language barrier until English and German are said to be the most spoken languages anywhere. But soldier boys will tell you that their college German or French was not quite right when spoken in those countries.

Whichever country one enters, however, the Bible is there. The story of the Virgin Birth is also there, no matter what era is depicted. There is always the Bible and always the Divine Law of Creation.

The Bible is a Living Rod of Measure, but only the Germans wrote of the long, hard trials and days of work to obtain its Gift of Freedom.

Metropolitan Park Board Asks Levy For Development

Franklin County voters in 1960 approved a small tax levy of .3 mills to buy land and make improvements for more metropolitan parks.

Now, eight years later, county voters are being asked to renew the tax levy for parks at the Nov. 5 general election.

Proponents of the tax renewal point out that while no increase in the tax rate is involved, the Metropolitan Park Board has used 81 per cent of tax income from the 1960 levy to buy land, add new facilities and plant thousands of trees.

THE LEVY VOTED in 1960 will run out in 1970. It can be renewed with no increase in the overall county tax rate.

Renewal of the levy, park officials point out, will provide funds for a 10-year program to develop new facilities on park district lands.

The plans for the park district will include many new picnic areas with hundreds of picnic tables and outdoor grills. Parking and playfields also would be provided for each new picnic area.

Other plans for the future of metropolitan parks include:

- Reservable facilities for larger groups and organizations.
- Heated lodges for winter use.
- New areas for day camps.
- Nature centers and park trails.

A RENEWAL of the small tax levy might also include the possibility of a children's farm and museum, an outdoor amphitheater for dramatic presentations and musical festivals and historical restorations, such as a backwoods pioneer home complete with a log cabin in the forest.

Advocates of the park levy renewal point out that anyone who has visited the metropolitan parks and appreciated the opportunities for outdoor recreation will understand the need for more facilities. They fear that those who have not visited the parks may be prone to underevaluate their importance in metropolitan life.

Prime park land, 5,200 acres of it, in seven major reservations already has been purchased. Three reservations — Blacklick Woods, Blendon Woods and Darby Creek — have been developed and are now used extensively by county residents.

Four big tracts — Highbanks, Sharon Woods, Chestnut Ridge and Slate Run — ranging from 343 to 1,744 acres, await development. Funds must be voted before this development can take place, however.

A majority affirmative vote by county residents for the park renewal levy will continue development and expansion and provide sources of relaxation and fun to thousands of county residents — from inner-city people getting away from hectic urban life to such voluntary agencies as the Girl Scouts, YMCA, Camp Fire Girls and church and civic organizations.

'Highlights'

By HARMON

There may still be another month left of the college football season after this Saturday, but the possibility of bowl-bids and conference titles is already putting the pressure on many top teams.

Ten games in particular this week have direct bearing on the leaders in six conference races.

SURPRISINGLY, there are just three undefeated teams left in Big Ten Conference play — second-ranked Ohio State, 18th-rated Michigan and Minnesota.

The Buckeyes are heavy favorites to remain undefeated, whipping Illinois by 38 points.

The Wolverines, however, might run into trouble in their annual Little Brown Jug struggle with Minnesota. This one will be close: Michigan by three.

IN THE Southeast Conference, Georgia, number seven, and Florida are the only leaders meeting conference opposition. The Bulldogs, having just a tie with Tennessee on their record, meet Kentucky, and Florida plays Vanderbilt. Neither top dog has a push-over . . . Georgia is favored by 16, Florida by nine.

Undefeated Kansas, ranked number one in the nation this week, takes on Iowa State in the Big 8 Conference.

17th-ranked Missouri meets Kansas State, and Oklahoma tangles with Colorado. The high-scoring Jayhawks will ride over the Cyclones from Ames by 20 points, and the Mizzou Tigers should top K-State by 17. The Sooners, with a tougher assignment, are favored over Colorado by 11 points.

THE ATLANTIC Coast Conference has just one team leading the league race — North Carolina State. And the Wolfpack will breeze over Maryland by 17 points.

The feature attraction in the Southwest Conference matches the two teams tied for the lead — 19th-ranked S.M.U. and Texas Tech. The air-minded Mustangs will barely fly by the Red Raiders —Southern Methodist by two.

And in the Pacific Coast Conference, Oregon State meets Washington State. The Beavers are favored to remain tied with Southern Cal and California for the league lead . . . Oregon State by 10 points.

HERE ARE three other real flea-wallopers! The fifth-ranked Irish of Notre Dame will clip the Spartans of Michigan State by 17 points . . . Syracuse, number 10, will just slip by 11th-rated California . . . and Houston and Mississippi (13th and 14th respectively) are just three points apart. The favorite, Houston.

'Fearless' Predictions

Another "so-so" weekend of forecasting (18-4) lifted the "Fearless One's" overall right-wrong total for 1968 to 118-37.

With time running out on The Spectator seer's hopes for a "perfect" week, here's the outlook for week eight:

BROOKHAVEN AT SALEM—Bearcats crack win barrier in non-league tilt. Brookhaven.

DUBLIN AT FRANKLIN HEIGHTS—Falcons hurry to patch together makings of decent campaign. F-H.

MIFFLIN AT GRANDVIEW—Bobcats have been showing some signs of strength but so have Cowpunchers. Close but . . . Grandview.

GROVE CITY AT MARYSVILLE—Hounds keep their end of bargain, hope for league assist vs. London. G-C.

SOUTH AT EASTMOOR—Should be a dandy for City League followers. Warriors show a little bit more offensive punch. E-M.

PLEASANT VIEW AT WESTERVILLE—Wildcats broke through losing doldrums last weekend, figure to continue. Panthers. Westerville.

REYNOLDSBURG AT WHITEHALL—Both still hanging to flickering OCC hopes. Can't see Raiders dropping three straight. Reynoldsburg.

WEHRLE AT REEMLIN—Wolves get back on winning path. Wehrle.

HAMILTON TWP. AT WEST JEFFERSON—This one's for all the Metro marbles. Ranger defense will be trying to regain pride after Hartley's 20 pts. but Rider backs explosive. Very close but . . . W-J.

MOHAWK AT CENTRAL—Neither club has been able to show much punch but Indians might enjoy paper-thin edge. Mohawk.

MARION-FRANKLIN AT WHETSTONE—Devils ripe for upset and Braves look harmless enough. M-F had better keep eyes on South or that little showdown'll be "just another game." M-F.

MT. VERNON AT GAHANNA—Lions getting to point where they can almost taste that OCC title. But Jackets will have sting. No runaway for . . . Gahanna.

GROVEPORT AT LONDON—Can Cruisers pull off second straight upset on Mid-Eight's upper crust? Possible . . . but not likely. London.

DELAWARE AT WORTHINGTON—Cardinals have shown a liking for the fire in that OCC "furnace" but have another king-size obstacle here. We'll try . . . Worthington.

HILLIARD AT BEXLEY—Lions don't figure to make some mistakes again this week but Wildcats tougher than Groveport. By a hair . . . Hilliard.

EAST AT WALNUT RIDGE—Tigers aren't supposed to be "second-half (of season)" ball club but the script looks different this fall. East.

THURSDAY GAMES

NORTHLAND AT LINDEN—Panthers got quite a scare last week but this one's got "City League" stamped on it. Linden.

WEST AT NORTH—Cowboys might be back in saddle after mid-season lapse. Better prove it here. West.

SATURDAY

WATTERSON VS. DESALES (at Brookhaven)—This one's the CCL title game and Stallions look better prepared than in years past. However . . . Watterson.

HARTLEY AT READY—Hawks apparently can win without Eichenlaub TDs, get slight edge vs. Knights. Hartley.

Little Bucks Roll On, 66-0

The Little Buckeyes blasted the Little Gophers, 66-0, to maintain their lofty 5-0 position while the Leawood Raiders and Devonshire Chargers battled to a scoreless deadlock in BAAL (Boys All-American League) play last weekend.

The Little Buckeye offensive unit rambled for 10 TDs while a stingy defensive crew maintained its unspotted scoreless mark for the season.

Craig Woods paced Little Buckeye scoring with three tallies (32, 46-yd. runs, 12-yd. pass) while Ron Callander (40, 1 runs) and Rick Ellis (67 yd. run, recovered punt in end zone) were close behind with two each.

Other six-pointers were contributed by Ron Gorman (35-yd. pass), John Wirthman (29, run) and Ed Hatem (8, run).

Outstanding defensive play by Chip Jakeway (blocked punt), Jack Spring and Mike Keeney held the Little Gophers inside their 30-yd. line throughout the game.

Kitsmiller Flag Titlist; Berwick Gains Ground

Kitsmiller Motors (a 33-25 winner over Bell-Haven) nailed down the title in the Eastern Division of the Columbus Flag Football League while Berwick Party House (a 13-7 victor over Franklin Sports) moved into a game-and-a-half lead in the Western Division following loop play Sunday.

In other league action, Bon-Aire Lounge downed winless Local 189, 37-12.

UPSET-MINDED Bell-Haven, seeking its fourth straight CFFL victory, shot off to a 13-7 halftime lead vs. Kitsmiller — only to be rocked by a four-TD second half by the unbeaten Motormen.

Ken Ramsey of the winners ran wild after intermission, rushing for 177 yds. and completing 14 of 22 aerials for 341 yds. and four touchdowns.

Vince VanHorn (four grabs for 146 yds.) was on the receiving end of six-point flips from Ramsey twice while Larry Bernall (four catches for 125 yds.) and Keith Frazier pulled in the other pair of TD aerials.

RAMSEY RAN 14 yds. to paydirt for Kitsmiller's other tally.

Big Red quarterback Garry Martin fired TD passes to Terry Robb (60 yds.) and Nick Cooper (32 yds.) to pace Bell-Haven scoring.

Paul Seils (45-yd. interception run) and Robb (plunge) accounted for the losers' other six-pointers.

JAKE SPAHR'S 12-yd. TD pass to Bob Maxon in the final nine seconds of play sparked Berwick's tight victory.

Dick Lucas' 80-yd. interception return touchdown has boosted Berwick into a 6-0 first-period lead in the defensive battle but Franklin went on (7-6) at intermission — thanks to Randy Walker's 11-yd. scamper.

Ball control was the key to Berwick's victory — Clint Walker (113 yds.), Tom Yeager (86 yds.) and Spahr (78 yds.) splitting up Berwick rushing duties.

Walker paced Franklin with 18 rushing yards.

KURT POLLOCK'S single-game league rushing record of [illegible] (plus four TD runs of 80, 40, 30 and 16 yds.) guided Bon-Aire to victory over Local 189.

To complete his "red letter" day, Pollock also hit on 16 of 18 aerial attempts (160 yds.), two of them 20-yd. TD strikes to Roger Middaugh and Bob Gear.

Ted Dicke's 136 rushing yards (including 80-yd. TD gallop) paced 189.

By ART GOODMAN

If all the lanes and approaches used to stage the first 66 American Bowling Congress tournaments were laid end-to-end they would form a bright, glistening, wooden road bed 30.3 miles long.

Including the 40-lane installation in the new, beautiful Dane County Memorial Coliseum at Madison, Wisc., —site next February for the 1969 ABC—the greatest show in bowling has been held on 2,053 lanes installed especially for the event.

IT ALL began in 1901 when six lanes were put in the Welsbach building in Chicago. That first ABC attracted 41 teams and was for a four-day affair.

From that modest beginning the event has grown into a sports spectacular attracting between 25,000 and 30,000 men each year trying for tenpins top honor—an American Bowling Congress Championship.

As interest increased, so did the size of the tournament operation. Nowadays the normal setup is 40 lanes whenever space is available.

THE LARGEST installation was in 1949 when 40 lanes were used in the Atlantic City Convention hall—a building so large 40 more lanes could have been put in without any problem.

These special installations give off an aura of splendor, a colorful, flag bedecked championship atmosphere. Despite its glitter and glamor, there is no qualifying to earn a spot in the big show.

Captains and their teammates decide to enter, file a reservation form, work out an acceptable date, send in entry forms and fees and then the big moment.

TEAM CAPTAINS h reservations for the ABC must file their fees and forms by Nov. 1 to assure themselves of their chosen dates.

After Nov. 1 entries will be accepted on a "first come-first served" basis until the final closing day Jan. 21.

The tournament will open Feb. 22 and run 68 days through Apr. 30—a far cry from 1901 and that four-day schedule.

NO WONDER the ABC the world's largest sports participation event.

Big Run And Other Parks Remain Closed Operational, Maintenance Funds Lacking

Four hundred and sixty acres of Columbus' world of recreation will be going to waste next year if citizens defeat the proposed one-half percent increase in the city's income tax, according to Harold Frieheit, Columbus superintendent of Parks and Forestry.

The land, Big Run and Walnut Bluffs parks, is now being developed into recreation areas which are scheduled to be opened to the public next year — if Columbus citizens approve the city income tax next month.

Tax money is necessary to hire maintenance crews, Frieheit explained. Big Run Park, [illegible] acres of woodland and [illegible] complete with a picnic [illegible] paved Soap Box Derby [illegible] a winter sports area, is now ready for use but cannot be opened until funds for maintenance crew are provided.

Access to the park, located between Clime and Demorest Roads in the southwest section of the city, has been barred because trash haulers have been using the area for dumping refuse and existing park manpower is not adequate to maintain the area.

The parks are two of four areas scheduled to be developed for public use within the next five years. Alum Creek Park, located on Columbus' East Side, is set for a 1970 opening while Three Rivers Park, to be developed in the city's southeast section, should be open for public use in 1972.

"Each of these area parks will have special recreation facilities to draw people from all over Columbus," Frieheit said. "Big Run has the Derby Hill and winter sports area while Walnut Bluffs will have excellent water sport facilities and camping areas."

Plans for Alum Creek Park include a winter sports area and a small lake for fishing and skating while Three Rivers Park, 600 acres of woods and inter-connecting lakes also will have an 18-hole golf course.

The voters' rejection of the proposed tax increase would not only result in the delay of opening these area parks but also existing park maintenance work such as mowing and trimming, park cleanup and work on baseball diamonds would be cut back drastically, according to Division officials.

Brad Linley, 8, left, and Danny Butan, 9, both of Georgian Heights, gaze wistfully into the as yet unopened Big Run Park, 300 acres of woodland and fields, complete with a picnic area, a paved Soap Box Derby hill and a winter sports arena, which is now ready for use but cannot be used until maintenance crew appropriation funds are provided. Children such as Brad and Danny might also wonder why the access between Clime and Demorest Roads has been barred because trash haulers have been using the area for dumping refuse and existing park manpower is not adequate to maintain the area.

lems of the inner city . . . we believe we have found a way to provide substantial assistance towards solving the housing problem."

Gockenbach estimated that $100,000,000 could be committed to increasing and improving the number of owner-occupied single family homes by low-income workers if all members of the financial community would participate.

Both Wylie and McNamara felt the entrance of private enterprise into the housing problems of the inner city was noteworthy. "A person who owns his own home is more likely to paint-up and fix-up," Wylie commented.

MAVERICK

By Richard L. Pough

WITH MUDDY SHOES

Great heaps of unresolved rubbish spoil Ohio's landscape as the scum mounts higher in the streams and the smog clouds become a bit denser every day over our cities.

I wrote in this same vein two years ago, hoping to awaken some of our lawmakers out of what surely must be a record sleep.

HERE'S THE way the game is played: Incumbent "A" carelessly promises to clean up Ohio's air — or water — or landfills.

In order to do this, incumbent A must verily stomp on some party-supporting industrialist. Quickly, Incumbent A is called downtown for a very polite luncheon at the Athletic Club and the facts of party support are explained to him.

Never again does he try to clean up Ohio.

FURTHERMORE, he won't ever try to vote until he has exact instructions from machine headquarters.

Incumbent "B," realizing that a great deal of the air and pollution come from inadequate sewage plants and municipal plants that are "above" the law, decides he will force the towns and villages to clean up their environment.

He too, is called aside and the facts of life are explained to him about how the voters don't want further levies passed "at this time" (actually never).

IF INCUMBENT B insists on carrying out his proposals, he is defeated — never to run again.

We are at the threshold of another General Election. There is no more pressing problem than the residue of humanity that is burying us.

We are 100 times more apt to die from the cesspool condition of our state than we are apt to die from a hydrogen bomb.

YET, WITH everyone from dogcatcher to President running for office, almost never is the conservation cry heard.

The only possible effect of this upcoming election on the great outdoors is to give the hopefuls an excuse to litter the roadsides with smug-faced pictures.

Having watched these roadsides for 30 years, I can assure you half of the posters will still be nailed onto beautiful trees on Christmas morning.

LOCALLY, the only hopeful that has ever mentioned the outdoors is Jim Hughes, running for Representative in the 62nd District.

He suggests the Administration include solid waste disposal in their water pollution bonding plans.

I believe this is a fine idea and would allow counties to buy incinerators on a long-term basis.

I WOULD also suggest air pollution be added to trash and sewage disposal. All three are closely akin and effect all parts of Ohio.

I'm sorry if this writing sounded pessimistic. But, once in a while, we have to look in the mirror.

None of us really own the land. We are wardens of it while we spend a short time on earth.

I AM very sure that we won't be handing it over to our children in the wonderful condition it was passed down to us — unless we act immediately.

Larry and Donna Webster of Renton, Wash., have become the third husband-wife combination to possess 300 games, according to ABC records.

Mrs. Webster recently registered a perfect game in a Seattle Traveling league. Her husband previously had rolled not one — but two 300's in 1961 at Kent, Wash.

THE TWO earlier husband-wife 300's were rolled by Al and Mazie Laureys of New Carlisle, Ind., in 1962 and 1963, and Bill and Joanne Doyle of Redwood City, Calif., in 1962 and 1965, respectively.

We want to point out to young bowlers and parents alike — if you are 19 or under be sure to have a parental consent form signed before participating in any adult league or any league which pays cash or merchandise dise prizes.

This may not seem important at the moment—but when you get into high school or college athletics, you will appreciate the fact that you have kept "simon pure" as regards to amateur athletics.

LEAGUE secretaries should be particularly vigilant in insisting on these parental consent forms for both young boys and girls.

Bowling continues to rank as the fourth most popular sport in America. Latest figures released by pollster Lou Harris reveals that bowling is tied with hockey for fourth place behind baseball, football and basketball but has gone ahead of golf in terms of "favorite sport in 1968."

In terms of which sports is most followed, bowling is tied with golf and ahead of hockey.

SPORTS trailing bowling in the poll included skiing, auto racing, boxing, horse racing and tennis. Soccer wasn't listed as having any interest.

Another good bowling exercise:

STICK LIFT: Get a 10-pound weight and attach it to a cord. Tie the other end of the cord around a thick, round stick, such as a cut-down broom handle.

Hold the stick out straight at shoulder level, letting the weight dangle near the floor. Now roll the weight up by twisting your wrists.

When you get it to the top, let roll back down slowly. Turn over wrists, do the same again. Strive for eight repetitions.

THE ABC National Senior tournament is growing in popularity every year. In 1968, 1347 men (55 and over) competed at Milwaukee's Red Carpet Lanes — an increase of 200 over 1967.

The 10th annual Senior event will again be held at Red Carpet, starting a five-week end run on Apr. 19, 1969.

Eagles Battle Panthers For Ban-Tam Title

The Ban-Tam Boys Football League completed its final set of games Sunday as the LAFB Falcons downed the Reynoldsburg Mustangs, 19-12, in the lone loop contest.

Chip Rader (plunge) and Jonathan Hill (50-yd run with recovered fumble) accounted for Reynoldsburg scoring — all in the first half.

TERRY GALLOWAY, Falcon halfback, tallied two second-period touchdowns on runs of 65 and 55 yards to provide a 13-12 halftime lead.

Alan Talib's 35-yd. run to paydirt completed scoring for the Falcons who picked up their first win of the season.

In a pair of non-league encounters, the unbeaten Linden Eagles blanked St. Mary Magdalene's reserves, 21-0, and the Reynoldsburg Ponies overpowered the LAFB Falcons "A" team, 38-20.

THE EAGLES (7-0 in league, 10-0 overall) now face Western Division champ Grove City Panthers Saturday (8:30 p.m., at Reynoldsburg's Huber Park) in the Ban-Tam championship game.

In the 7 p.m. prelim, divisional runners-up West Mound Rams and Reynoldsburg Ponies will do battle.

Strictly Female

Channel 4's Vivienne Della Chiesa Really Relishes The Challenge Of TV; She Hopes To Go National

By CLAUDIA ELKINS
Entertainment Editor

Last week we featured Sally Flowers, hostess of Channel 6's "Harmony Junction." This week we visit another female entertainer, as different from Sally as night is from day.

This difference is personality and character. The result is that quite naturally their shows would be different.

Vivienne Della Chiesa is the hostess of her own show, seen locally over Channel 4. Although her show is almost two years old, it arrived here only this past Sept. 9.

I visited her in a studio at Channel 4. Upon entering the studio, Rod Warner, in charge of promotions at the station, asked me if I would mind waiting while she taped a spot announcement promoting her show. Why should I mind? Television is a grand world, as long as I'm just watching.

It was a 30-second spot . . . that lasted 26 seconds. That's Vivienne . . . I'm sure she could outdistance anyone at talking.

The Vivienne Della Chiesa Show is on for one hour, every weekday at 4 p.m. What preparations are needed for this?

"I could work as many hours as I wanted to. Monday's are for selecting and rehearsing the song numbers for the week. We start at 1 p.m. But before this, I have usually been talking with advertisers, studying the advertisements for I like to ad lib them and reading magazines and books. The New York Times really keeps me current.

"We go after our guests. We like to be independent. By reading we can find out what guests would be interesting.

"We rehearse every day from 2 p.m. until 3 p.m. Then I change clothes and re-do my makeup, visit with the guests and before you know it, the show is ready to go. I haven't the slightest idea where it is going to come from . . . the monologue at the beginning of the show."

How did the show come into existence?

"AVCO saw me in Chicago and asked me to take over the Ruth Lyons Show while she was on vacation. Then when Paul Dixon went on vacation I subbed for him. The offer came after that.

"It presented such a challenge. This is the kind of challenge you can't find in New York or California. They don't take the time to find out if the show is going to work or build a star. AVCO allows you to really prove whether you are good or not.

"The show caught on, much to everyone's surprise, including mine. Oh, I always had believed in myself, but they had had other shows in the same time slot, but they hadn't worked.

"If you believe in astrology, maybe the stars were right. The odds were with us."

Candidly, I asked Vivienne if she would like to go national. "Positively. By all means. That has always been my goal, from the very first day."

Would she write a book about her life which includes a wide variety of tragedy and happiness? "Writing about myself? I don' tknow. Well . . . who would be interested in my life? I feel people would say . . . so what?

"I've had so many tragedies no one would believe them. I think when you write a book, you'd have to be very truthful and not be afraid to bare your soul. I'm the kind of a person that keeps my private life to myself and guard it jealously. I've been in public life since I was a child. I feel that those private moments should belong to me. I don't know how I feel about discussing myself.

"Yes, I have thought about it though. I could tell you about the first chapter. When I was born I weighed under three pounds. I came from a family that loved music. A very fascinating family. I'm a first generation American. Many of the old world ways are a part of my life.

"For instance, my uncle picked me up and put me into the speaker of a Victrola and played Caruso and Puccini. That's how I was initiated into this world. My life was filled with music practically as soon as the doctor stopped spanking me."

Will she be recording in the near future?

"I want to make records, but I'm going through litigation to get three albums released that I've recorded some years ago. Then I will. But everything has to be done in the right way. I don't like to do anything in a slipshod manner . . . it's gotta' be done properly."

One more question came to mind, her being a woman . . . how does she feel about Christmas? How does she celebrate Christmas on her show?

"My first Christmas season was very religious. I believe in Christmas. To tell you how much, I have a glass Christmas tree lit every day of the year. I think every day should be like Christmas. There's a warmth about Christmas we don't have the rest of the year. My chest feels like it is bursting with warmth. I think of my parents and the people I've loved . . . lights and snow. We will definitely have carols and other religious material during the holidays."

Vivienne loves clothes and makes many of her own. She dresses very fashionably with square toed shoes topping off her outfits.

She always wears bracelets . . . as many as the arm can bear. She has at least nine watches, to match her outfits, and is usually changing her hair style to fit her mood. She uses the razor blade system.

Vivienne knows what she wants . . . goes after it and if the stars are right she comes out on top of the world.

South, M-F Seek 'Showdown' Tickets In Road Tests

By JACK WITTENMEIER
and
BOB WHITMAN

Marion-Franklin's Jim Harper is looking for "something different" while South's Bob Jackson is expecting "more of the same" tomorrow as the pair of Southside City League co-leaders branch out in opposite directions. And both veteran mentors hope the path will lead back to a major, season-ending showdown game between the pair a week from tomorrow.

HARPER'S RED Devils (6-1) set out for Whetstone (1-6) while Jackson's Bulldogs (4-3) hit the road for rugged Eastmoor (6-1).

In other area games tomorrow: Mohawk (2-5) visits Central (0-7) — each club seeking its initial City League win of the season — and Wehrle (2-4-1) heads into Fairfield County for a visit to Reemlin.

MARION-FRANKLIN

Jim Harper looks for some major personnel and procedure revisions tomorrow at Whetstone in the wake of back-to-back 67-6 (to Eastmoor) and 59-0 (to DeSales) Brave setbacks.

"AFTER BEING clobbered like that two weeks in a row, I would imagine he'll (Whetstone coach Bill Schmitter) be making some changes this week," Harper surmised.

The big, strong and speedy Braves, who have been their own worst enemy all season long, are "psychologically hurting," according to Marion scouts who second Harper's belief that Whetstone's normal wing-T offense and 4-4 defense might be nowhere in sight by the time Devils arrive tomorrow evening.

"They seem to be searching for something offensively," Jim continues, "looking for something their kids will like and take hold of.

"IF THEY DO change everything for us, it won't be as much of a surprise as it was last year," added Harper as the rushing-conscious '67 Braves passed from the first play on vs. his Devils.

The only possible hint of what Whetstone might be planning for Marion might have come from Friday's king-sized setback to Eastmoor — the Braves exhibiting some I formation offense vs. the Warriors.

"But we might see a 'shotgun'-type attack or just about anything," Harper related. "We do expect more passing. Their quarterback (Bob Yorde) looks pretty decent throwing the ball ("look-in," and in - flanker out and 'hook' patterns)."

DEFENSIVELY, Jim suspects Whetstone might be readying a 6-3 alignment. "They've always had pretty good luck against us with it," he concluded.

While Whetstone was stewing, M-F was brewing Friday — to the tune of a 49-0 blanking of Brookhaven.

The Red Devils amassed a total of 407 yds. (292 rushing) while limiting the Bearcats to a fantastic minus eight rushing total, no first downs and an 0-for-13 evening in the passing department.

M-F USED 12 different ball carriers and found six different scorers in the game with second-string halfback Gary Ross heading rushing efforts with 62 yds. in five carries.

Overhead, Devil QB Lloyd Ball clicked on five-of-five for 115 aerial yards.

Offensively, Harper credited the entire forward wall, plus backs Ball, Marty Donley and 135-pounder Mark Henderson — the latter turning in a fine blocking effort in relief of injured flanker back Rick Austin.

DEFENSIVE "Devil of the Week" was linebacker Norm Johnson (three interceptions, one recovered fumble) with Otie Ross (six solo tackles, five assists), Dan Wright, Steve Grabovich and Mark Trivanovich also in line for Harper praise.

M-F compiled its margin vs. Brookhaven without the services of regular back Clarence Jeter, Austin and Billy Harris.

CITY Sports

Jeter is the only doubtful starter of the trio for tomorrow's visit to Whetstone.

SOUTH

UNFORTUNATELY, Bob Jackson sees little difference in tomorrow's Eastmoor squad from the one which hung a 28-6 shiner on his Bulldogs last fall.

About the only difference is record — E-M standing 7-0 at this time in '67, an earlier 28-24 setback to title-hopeful Linden reducing the count to 6-1 this fall.

"It's still pretty much (halfback Jim) Tucker and (QB Tim) Pettorini," reports Jackson — the senior pair providing the Warriors with "the" one-two punch of the City League circuit.

TUCKER (leading E-M scorer with 10 TDs to date) favors the quick-pitch to the outside and a power sweep while Pettorini "loves that option," according to the Reb mentor.

Major inside threat is fullback Dave Perkins, the "forgotten man" in the Warriors' wing and wing-T (with split end) attacks.

Perkins is plenty capable of wrecking the opposition defense, however, if it keys on Tucker and Pettorini's outside thrusts (as Canton Lincoln — a 26-6 E-M victim earlier this season — learned the hard way).

PETTORINI, a roll-out-type quarterback, passes "when he has to" off play-action setups. Jackson rates Eastmoor's aerial game as only 20-25 per cent of the Warriors' attack.

But, despite its limited use, the forward pass has been fruitful — as evidenced by Pettorini's 10 touchdown tosses to date.

Statistically, Eastmoor holds a 243-60 point advantage on seven foes (near 35 pt.-per game offensive average, about 8.5 yielded per game on defense).

OF THE nine touchdowns allowed this fall, four were credited to offensively potent Linden.

Defensively, Jackson looks for Eastmoor's regular Notre Dame '6' which varies the position of two linebackers.

That inter-changeable pass-catch combo of Les Payne and Jerry Driggs pulled down a big chunk of Jackson credit for Friday's 30-14 Homecoming victory over Walnut Ridge.

DRIGGS CLICKED on six of 14 for 130 yds. while Payne added six-of-nine for 41 yds. as South tacked on 131 rushing yards (Wil Prysock leader with 97 yds. in 18 carries) for a 302 total.

Defensively, Jackson credited his interior line for its best performance of the season.

Heading the list was weekly standout Don Caldwell (13 solo tackles), closely followed by Pat Hartung, Bob

HOLD IT, WILBUR! — Walnut Ridge defenders Ed Zoog (at right) Mark Rockefeller (41) apply the brakes to this nine-yard first-period gain by South's Wilbur Prysock Friday. Bulldogs kept City League slate spotless with 30-14 victory over Scotties.

Fosbury–The Only Way To Fly

MEXICO CITY — If this comes to you garbled, don't blame the newspaper.

I'm wearing my black glove.

The purpose of an Olympics is to foster international good will and fellowship among men.

IT HAS succeeded only to the extent it hasn't started any wars.

But give it time.

I mean, I don't care much for the Star-Spangled Banner, either, but I keep my shoes on.

MURRAY

WELL, now our secret is out: we got race problems in our country.

This will come as a great astonishment to the reading public of the world, I am sure.

The Olympic Village has been aswarm with panting journalists waiting on the latest word in world politics from 19-year-old sprinters and broad jumpers.

SO, I thought I would single out Dick Fosbury.

But not before I tested my repertorial technique on a fellow I found in the sweatsuit of the Bulgarian track team.

I believe his name was Haravanko.

"D YOU understand the demonstration of the presentation ceremony?" I asked him.

"Oh, yes," he assured me. "Tommie Smith's mother is a political prisoner in America."

Well, so much for international good will and geopolitics . . .

WHAT MAKES Richard Douglas Frosbury unique is the same thing that would make a left-handed third-baseman, a Jewish newspaper, or a football coach's film, unique.

He does everything backwards.

As a high jumper, Fearless Fosbury goes over the bar like a guy being pushed out of a 30-story window or like a reluctant parachutist out of a plane's hatch.

MOST JUMPERS, you know, prefer to defy gravity while looking at it.

Not Fearless.

He makes his run to the bar (one of the fastest in the sport) stops, turns to the crowd, and then flips himself backward like one of those dogs on the Ed Sullivan Show.

A WHOLE generation of coaches have turned white and covered their eyes when they espied his technique—if it can be called that.

His high school coach drew him aside after seeing it. "Look, kid. Have you ever given a thought to the chess team? It's a barrel of laughs."

Not even when he won a national junior championship with a remarkable 6-7 was anybody convinced.

"THINK WHAT he could do if he knew how to jump!" groaned one coach.

He enrolled at Oregon State as a civil engineering major, a non-scholarship student, and, when the coach saw him jump, he suggested he go back and learn how to build bridges.

Another watched his back flip and inquired, "Tell me, does he break his neck a lot?"

FOSBURY'S style is such that, in Vaudeville, he would require a "catcher," not to say an "understander."

Some say he picked up the idea from an old Marx Bros. movie, and that he's not an athlete, he's an acrobat.

At Oregon State, his coach, Bernie Wagner studied Fearless' swift run at the crossbar, his impressive spring, and his coordinated ability to wrap himself about the bar without touching it with his body — even the wrong way — and he rubbed his hands.

"BOY!" HE said, "we'll make you into a high jumper! Now, if you'll just throw away

South High Speaks Out

Sex Education and Schools

By Nola Swarmer

The major improvement I would like to make in our school system is a more instructive program on sex education, starting in an earlier grade. Since many teenagers today get little or no education on sex in the home, the schools should make an earlier effort in teaching sex.

By the time teenagers enter the eleventh grade, many already know about all we are taught in school about sex. But, those who do not know about sex are often ashamed of their lack of information. So, they, by "experimentation," learn about sex. However, all to often they suffer grave consequences from their desire to learn.

I feel that in sixth grade a pre-sex course ought to be taught. If not the boys, at least the girls should be started on some sort of program.

The girls are now maturing sexually and should learn a little about sex from a qualified instructor; not from big brother or sister.

In the eighth grade, during the health course, pupils are taught what determines a baby's sex, how multiple births occur and see a few cartoon movies on menstruation. This is the extent of the program.

During this period, the students also hear some new words: syphillis and gonorrhea. But, we are assured that we need not worry about these words. We will learn about them in our eleventh grade health course.

Finally, the eleventh grade health course has come. So, we enter the classroom as ignorant of the meaning of sex as we were in the eighth grade. It's really too bad that some of the birls and boys in our eighth grade health class are not here to finally learn about the "birds and the bees."

Where are they? They are some of those uneducated students who learn through experiment and had to pay the price.

Starting sex education in earlier grades would be beneficial to everyone. If students do not get any form of education at home, they will at least have an idea as to what sex is all about before the eleventh grade.

I feel that earlier sex education would decrease the amount of teenage pregnancies and teenage marriages. Thus, many more teenagers would have a chance to at least have a high school education.

However, these are not the only reasons for earlier teaching of sex education. We are living in a fast-moving world and we need to be enlightened on the subject which has been considered taboo for so many years.

Devine Foresees Vietnam Change; Comments On Law And Order

Samuel L. Devine, congressman from the 12th Congressional District and candidate for re-election to that post Nov. 5, told The Spectator newspapers that he expects new developments in the Vietnam situation before election.

Devine commented: "I won't be surprised if something dramatic isn't announced out of the White House designed to assist the Democratic presidential candidate. I feel that the American people are smart enough that they won't be hoodwinked."

Devine is a long-time supporter of Republican presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon.

He noted that things have changed rapidly since he was elected to Congress 10 years ago. He feels, "People have become more educated on the key issues facing the nation. Ten years ago people weren't discussing in depth our involvement in brushfire controversies.

"Also, the basic responsibilities of a Congressman," he added, "have broadened along with everything else. Rather than errand type requests from constituents, people are requesting information and education on problems facing our country."

Devine was asked about his voting record against social legislation designed to assist the poor. He answered, "I think there is one solution to the problems of Negro minority groups and persons on welfare, and that is in order to maintain their pride and dignity they have to have jobs so they can earn their own living."

Devine maintained that he had voted for legislation providing for manpower training, retraining and vocational rehabilitation programs.

Devine notes that in his opinion the American people are happy to assist those in need. But he sees a growing resentment about helping people who are "unwilling to help themselves."

He objects to the way money is used in the federal poverty programs. He observed that some federal programs employed persons who could be called "militants" and said he does not think federal funds should be used for militant causes.

Congressman Devine feels that law and order has become a controversial issue because crime "has increased eight times faster than the population. I doubt if many people in this town would think of walking down Mt. Vernon Avenue late at night. They might not have felt this way 20 years ago."

He also attributes much of the controversy to what he calls the "permissive generation," where, "when authority is exercised all too often we call it police brutality."

The Recent Supreme Court Decision on matters involving law and order, according to Devine, have given the public the impression that lawbreakers are being protected while the "97 per cent of persons who are law-abiding citizens are not being protected."

The science display at the Groveport-Madison Junior High Open House last week seemed to have a skeletal message for persons who habitually find themselves with a bad case of "hoof in mouth" disease.

Open House Offers 'Something Different'

The faculty at Groveport-Madison Junior High School went all out last Tuesday to make their school's third annual open house "something different."

Principal James Pence expressed his appreciation of the faculty for their efforts in producing the imaginative program, calling this year's staff the "youngest, finest and most energetic group of people I've ever had the pleasure to work with."

THE PROGRAM, under the general chairmanship of Robert Stauffer, featured a display presented by each department in the school. The English department prepared an 8-mm movie of school activities.

The entire evening was designed for parents and they were given a chance to tour the new five-room addition at the north end of the building.

The additional classrooms, paid for by a recently-passed bond issue, are just enough to keep up with increasing enrollment, according to Pence.

"OUR SEVENTH and eighth grades have a total of approximately 660 students," he said, "and the number increases by about 90 to 100 each year."

In welcoming the parents, who turned out in good numbers, Pence defined the purpose of the open house as a program enabling parents to see the educational opportunities available for their children, and at the same time find out where their tax money has gone.

ALSO ON the planning committee for the open house were Ken Prater, Frank Schwartz, Tom Iles, Mrs. Barbara Williams, Russell Swope, Judy Phillips, Mrs. Joan Kelly, Don Pengov, Doug Osborn and Mrs. Sue Williams.

'MOM' TAKES THE KEYS

As an overbearing mother, Claudia Elkins pains her son, "Danny," portrayed by Bud Rechart, 965 Lockbourne Rd., in the production of "Laura," scheduled at 8:30 p.m. at Woodward Park Junior High School Nov. 1 and 2. Maxine Turner, who has the title role, is pictured at the left as she attempts to understand the unrelenting attitude of "Mrs. Dorgan" in the Curtain Players production. Tickets will be available at the door.

Saxbe Urges Ohio Election Law Study

The Ohio Legislative Service Commission has been urged to consider Ohio election laws and prepare legislation for consideration by the 108th General Assembly.

The prompting came from Attorney General William B. Saxbe on the heels of a decision by the U. S. Supreme Court on George Wallace.

"Upon consideration of the decison of the Supreme Court that Ohio's election laws are inadequate, it is the duty of the Ohio General Assembly to conform them to the decision," Saxbe said.

Saxbe urged the legislature committee to study the opinions rendered by the high court in the Wallace case and "prepare legislation to be considered by the 108th General Assembly when it convenes in January."

Riders Plan Harried 'Homecoming' For H-T's Burnham

By JACK WITTENMEIER
Spectator Sports Editor

Tomorrow night will mark "Homecoming" for Hamilton Township coach Bruce Burnham as West Jefferson rolls out the welcome mat for his Rangers.

The Madison County town isn't known for its poor manners but W-J coach Gene Keel and his Rough Riders (6-0-1) have every intention of pulling the carpet right out from under Bruce and crew.

BURNHAM, who taught four years (and coached one) at West Jeff, isn't looking for any favors from the state-ranked Riders.

There's a little item called the Metropolitan League football title at stake and that'll leave little time for any "auld lang synes."

There's no argument the Riders represent Hamilton's severest test of the season.

WEST JEFF has out-pointed seven foes, 255-60 (averaging 36.5 pts. per game, yielding 8.5)—the only blot on an otherwise clean slate a 26-26 loop-opening deadlock with Franklin Heights.

W-J's "versatile" multiple (full-house T, wing, slot) offense has exploded for 2694 yards in seven games, averaging 295 per game rushing and an additional 90 in the air.

Rider opponents, meanwhile, have been limited to an average of 160 yds. per try.

THREE BIG pluses the Riders possess, according to Burnham, can't be measured in statistics.

"They have a winning tradition, plenty of confidence and are well-coached," the H-T mentor relates.

Biggest selling points for W-J's potent offense, in Burnham's estimation are "deception and execution. They're superb in both those departments," Bruce relates.

NUMBER ONE gunner in West Jeff's well-balanced offensive attack is halfback Obie Folden, a springtime track sprinter who shows 13 touchdowns to his credit to date.

But Rider foes, who have keyed on Folden, have been sadly mistaken with halfback Bill Rhoades (seven TDs) and fullback Rusty McDowell (six TDs) more than capable of taking up the slack.

Keel's "ace in the hole" has been quarterback Mark Pelphrey, whose older brother Gary guided West Jeff to an unbeaten season and the mythical state title in the early sixties.

"HE'S THE best passing quarterback in the league," Burnham scouts—pointing to Pelphrey's near 70 per cent competition average.

The W-J signal-caller has hit for five TD aerials this season — his favorite target end Neil Ater.

"He likes to hit Folden deep down the middle but if he's covered, he'll throw to a back or end short—whoever's open at the time," Bruce adds.

"OFFENSIVELY, they're much like Franklin Heights. They just hit you anywhere, quickly," the H-T skipper added.

Despite Pelphrey's passing ability, the Riders would rather run than pass.

"They're basically a power-type offensive club," continues Burnham. "They like to go inside end but they'll slide outside if you've got them covered there."

PELPHREY, a good blocker, favors the option play but generally pitches to Folden or Rhoades.

Defensively, Burnham expects either a five or six-man front from one of W-J's various defensive alignments. "They just experiment until they find something (defense) that's working and then just stick with it."

Hartley snapped Hamilton's five-game winning skein, 30-6, Friday—compiling 285 yds. to the Rangers' 215 (175 rushing).

"THEY HANDLED us pretty easily," Burnham related. "Our offense was very bad and we made too many mistakes." The Rangers got in only 40 offensive plays.

Offensive leader was John Cunningham (120 yds., 70 on one play). Fullback Gary Topping was limited to 70 yds. in 15 carries.

COUNTY Sports

GROVEPORT

It's back to "terra firma" for Bob Starr and his "giant-killing" Cruisers (2-5) this week after a 14-12 upset victory over Bexley Friday.

GROVEPORT'S Homecoming victory all but disposed of Jim Click's Lions in the '68 Mid-Eight title run but the Cruisers will find a second straight major upset tougher to come by with tomorrow's visit to league-leading London (6-1).

"It's a typical Jim Bowles team," relates Starr, "but the thing that really impresses you is their excellent execution."

Since a narrow 20-13 setback to Urbana in their second outing, London has charted five straight loop victories—piling up a heady 164-28 point advantage on Grove City, Mifflin, Marysville, Grandview and Hilliard.

SENIOR Howard Porter, (6-1, 174)—tailback (or deep man) in London's I formation—is still doing the majority of damage on opposition defenses with his basic outside and off-tackle bursts.

Porter, one of the prime targets for Raider QB Steve Gibson (has thrown seven TD passes this season), has scored 12 touchdowns in London's last four outings.

The versatile gridder also kicks, punts, receives passes and serve as London's top defensive back.

ON DEFENSE, London has exhibit a 5-2-4 setup.

Four of the Mid-Eight's top scorers will trade talents tomorrow, Starr points out.

Porter paces the circuit in scoring, Cruiser end Steve Jacklin and QB Mark Boyer rank third and fourth respectively and Raider halfback Bill Markley (5-11, 175 lbs., six TDs in last six games) holds down the fifth spot.

STARR labeled Boyer's last-period fourth-and-eight first-down aerial to halfback Larry Stinson as the "key play" in Groveport's upset win Friday.

Boyer hit on 10 of 22 aerials for 177 of Groveport's total 252 offensive yards besides scoring one TD, hitting Jacklin with the tying points and adding the winning conversion points.

Bexley was limited to 186 total (161 rushing) by a Cruiser defense which "really jelled in that second half," according to Starr.

OTHER offensive standouts were ends Jacklin (six receptions for 120 yds.) and Dennis McKinster (three grabs), 37 yds.) and fullback Dick Scott (drew three tacklers with excellent fake on Boyer's conversion run).

Defensively, Starr lauded the efforts of leading tackler Bub Franks and his halfback mates Mike Featherston, Robin Worsh, and Frank Rigsby.

Steve Williams was credited for blocking the Bexley punt which got Groveport en route to its first touchdown.

CANAL WINCHESTER INDIAN MENTOR Mike Locke would be happy with more of the same from his Winchester eleven (5-2) tomorrow evening at Teays Valley's (1-5-1) homecoming.

The Indians struck for 366 (298 rushing; 68 passing) offensive yards with Gary Kemmerling (116 yds. in 13 carries, including 91-yd. TD run), Chuck Carpenter (92 yds. in 12 tries, including 69-yd. scamper) and Chris Hanners (hit on six-of-11 aerial attempts) showing the way.

DEFENSIVELY, [illegible] credited steady Keith S[illegible] and Stan Smith.

Teays Valley, a 32-14 loser to Franklin Heights last weekend, will provide some definite problems for the Indians with its power-I attack and 5-3-3 "Eagle" defense.

"They like counters, fullback veers, belly-option and power off-tackle plays," Locke scouted on the Vikings.

T-V'S SINGLE victory this season came at the expense of Logan Elm, the tie an 8-8 deadlock with Dublin.

Vince Hendrix and Nick Ferguson — the latter getting back into form in a hurry after missing the last five games via injury.

JACKSON listed end Tom Werner (knee) as out of action for the Eastmoor game with fullback Paul McCamey (knee) ruled out for the remainder of the '68 campaign.

MOHAWK

Mohawk and Central, a couple of winless wonders, whose records haven't done their scores justice this season, are matched in City League cellar action tomorrow night.

As a matter of fact, Mohawk came close to upstaging West last Friday before bowing 14-0 in John Butler's ex-stomping grounds. Meanwhile, Central was reeling in self-professed mistakes (40-12) at Hamilton Taft.

"WE PLAYED good ball, but a wet ball hampered our movement," noted Butler on his group's hard-nose game with the Cowboys.

"The defense deserves a great deal of credit for their play," he continued as he mentioned a pair of stocky cornerbacks in Henry Grant and Sam Hancock for standout play on West's sloppy grid.

"We got good line play out of Charles Rogers, George Palmer, Jerry Struther, John Ebron and Fred Saunders also," John added.

BUTLER figures that Central's halfback-fullback combination of Jackie Mayle and Jackie Roberts must be stopped as "they seemed to do most of Central's off-tackle damage."

But quarterback Larry Beck was also mentioned to be watched as he can trigger the Pirates through the airlanes.

"They have been up against stiff competition and have been in most of the games," Butler said of his opponent. "It should be a hard game."

THE GAME marks Mohawk's final opportunity to upset a modern-day "rookie jinx" which shows no first-season City League entry gaining a loop victory.

that whatever-it-is and learn to straddle, face-down."

Fosbury, who had been clocking 6 foot 10's with his whatever-it-was, promptly improved to 5 foot 10 with conventional techniques.

He got so he would stumble trying to get over a rock. For four months, his technique got better and better — and his height got lower and lower.

PRETTY SOON, he felt, he wouldn't be able to clear sea-level. He would rap out on the sand bags.

Finally, he pleaded, "Please, coach, I'd rather do it myself."

"Okay," sighed the coach. "But you could have been a great high jumper. Why, you could have cleared seven feet."

EVERY TRACK meet he went to, he was the comic relief. The crowd thought he was like the clown divers in the aquacade.

They were laughing so hard they didn't notice he won. He won the NCAA, the conference, and the Olympic trials in Los Angeles, despite being penalized a jump for taking too much time between attempts.

It was like spotting the pitcher the first strike.

HE JUMPED 7-3 at the final trials in Tahoe this summer.

Fearless Fosbury has no more idea where his technique came from than a lion.

"But the way I look at it," he explains, "the whole idea is to go over the bar with your center of gravity as low to the ground as possible.

"IN THE old scissors type of jumping, your center was eight inches over the crossbar. In the straddle, it was less than two inches, and mine is less than two inches."

There is, of course, the added advantage that he can, like the gooney bird, see where he's been.

If he wins the gold medal, he'll be easy to spot. He'll be the one with his back to the Marquis of Exeter.

ALSO, UNLESS it's snowing, he won't be wearing gloves.

'BIG PLAYS' IN CRUISER UPSET WIN

No plays in Groveport's 14-12 Mid-Eight upset victory over Bexley Friday were any bigger than the three pictured here in Cruisers' fourth-period drive for second TD. Above (at left), Groveport halfback Larry Stinson begins juggling act with vital fourth-and-eight toss from QB Mark Boyer. Stinson held on for first down at Bexley 20, 5:39 remaining in game. Above (at right), end Steve Jacklin hugs seven-yd. touchdown flip from Boyer as Groveport pulls even at 12-12. Below: QB Boyer is flat on his back but safely in end zone with conversion points which boosted Cruisers into lasting 14-12 lead with 3:04 remaining.

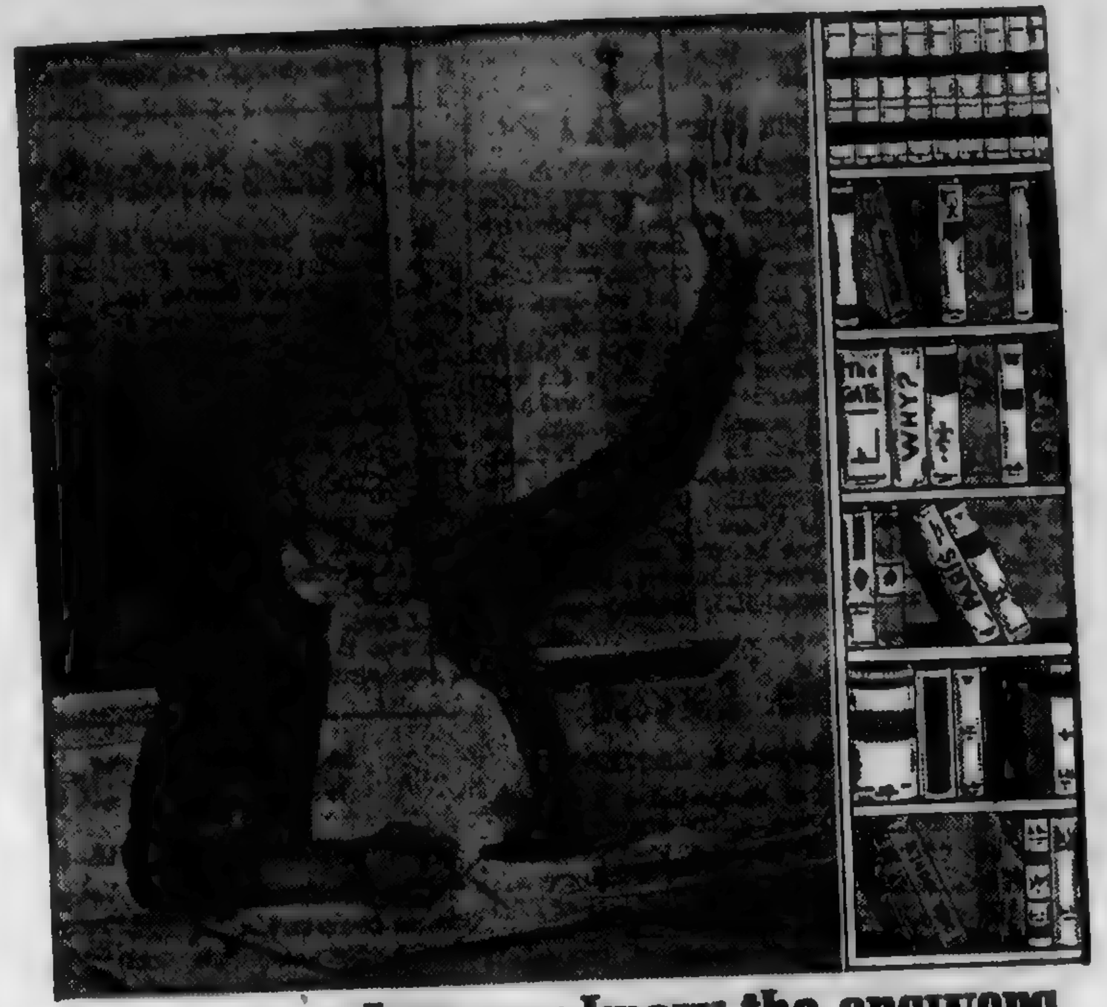
WORSHIP IN THE CHURCH OF YOUR CHOICE

Our Heritage of Faith...



It's easy–when you know the answers

All of life is not far removed from the classroom. There are truths to be learned every day. And there are questions to be answered.

But some people don't have the answer when they need it. And some people do . . .

Any teacher will tell you it's a question of preparation. And any preacher will tell you the same.

The people who go to church on Sunday have no more problems than those who stay home. Nor do they expect as a result to have any fewer.

They believe simply in preparation—preparation of the mind, conscience, heart and soul . . . faith.

This is the preparation God offers men . . . for the questions that will confront us all tomorrow!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
. . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

LAWN CARE

LAWN RENOVATION IS A MUST FOR GOOD LAWNS

Removal of thatch should be done every year

Catching your grass clippings will not solve the problem. Amazingly grass clippings only amount to one third of the problem. Dead roots and dead grass stalks cause most of the thatch. Old grass is constantly dying and new grass taking its place.

After we loosen the thatch with a verticutter, we vacuum the lawn. Everyone who has swept the house with a broom knows that it cannot compare with a vacuum sweeper, the same applies for removing grass clippings. Raking or using a lawn broom sweeper removes only about 30-40% of the grass while a vacuum sweeper removes 90-95%.

The lawn should be cut first and fertilized after thatching.

All lawns are given a free soil test.

As usual our services cover:
Cutting and Trimming Lawns, Fertilizing, and the Control of Weeds, Insects, and Diseases.
